HAVE YOU HAD TROUBLE LATELY with slightly soluble inorganic salts in light or heavy water? If you have, you might be interested to know that at last something is being done about it. At least $17,600 worth of research will be conducted on a basic study of the solubilities of the above-mentioned salts.

The National Science Foundation has provided a three-year grant to Dr. Richard W. Ramette, chemistry department chairman at Carleton college, in the amount of $17,600 to carry on this research. It is entitled, "Thermodynamic Studies of Solubility in Protium and Deuterium Oxides." According to a release from the college, he expects to improve scientific knowledge about ions in ordinary water and complete some of the first such work in heavy water. Good deal, huh?

But that ain't all. Of particular interest will be the use of radioactive materials as an aid in measuring extremely low concentrations of dissolved substances. For this purpose NSF grants have provided funds for accurate gamma and beta radiation measuring equipment, including a scintillation spectrometer. That's what the story says. We should be overjoyed, I guess.

What the story doesn't say is in the information the public library provides. That's what is interesting. The National Science Foundation, an independent agency of the federal government, is THE ONLY FOUNDATION SUPPORTED BY TAX FUNDS and was established in 1950. It promotes basic research, scholarship and program coordination in physical and biological sciences.

When we read a story like this, a large percentage of us are indifferent. We don't know what the purpose of this research is. We don't particularly care, I might add. I would suppose that there is some purpose.

But I'm not so sure that I want my tax money spent for research on "Thermodynamic Studies of Solubility in Protium and Deuterium Oxides". And I'm not so sure that such research will have any practical result. Maybe I'm wrong. More than once has unnecessary expense been involved due to an all-out push for a currently popular field. I hope advocates of the science surge do not go overboard and drown in their own whirlpool of hysteric confusion.

With apologies to Edgar Allen Poe, one of the most talented drug-addicts in history, I offer the following parody with the advice to husbands that, 'Fore warned is fore armed."

THE CRAVEN

While I pondered, weak and weary,
On the winter, bleak and dreary,
Suddenly there came a knocking
(Like Bikinis, bold and shocking)
Loud and long, incessant knocking,
Beating down my outside door,
Such I never heard before.

What in heaven's name, I pondered,
Could have broken loose and wandered
Out into the blizzard, walking.
Once again there came the knocking.
Portal opened, there in stocking
Cap and mittens, blizzard mocking,
Stood the little boy next door.
Wondered what he'd want me for.

"Could I borrow, please, your shovel?"
Asked the lad, while in my hovel
I could hear the north wind roar.
"Sure," I gasped and slammed the door.

Presently, detecting scraping,
I peered through the window draping.
There in motion often frenzied,
Filled with youthful zest I envied,
Worked the lad to clear the snow
From his walk by street light glow.

In a flash there was beside me
My good wife to duly chide me.
"See that poor boy hard at working
While you loaf around here shirking
Tasks which womenfolk abhor."
Her words cut me to the core.
Being mate of deep devotion,
Though my movement is slow motion,
Out I went and closed the door.
How I hate this winter chore!

Now, with feet in pan of water,
Point of fun for wife and daughter,
Near a pile of snow-soaked clothes,
Deeply chilled with running nose,
Suddenly I hear a knocking
Rattling the portal locking.
There's the same beast as before.
Will I answer? NEVERMORE!!!

Compact American Becoming Rare

UP, UP, UP go American men and women as each succeeding generation gets taller and heavier. And the rate of increase is speeding up, says the Nutrition Research Division of the Department of Agriculture. Statistics taken from many sources show that men born in the late 1920's average a minimum of an inch taller than those born about 1900 who, in turn, are an inch higher than men born in the 1870's. Today's average man, the department says, is 5 feet 10 inches tall compared with 5 feet 9 in 1925 and 5 feet 8 in 1900. Women are taller, too. Those 17 to 25 years of age average 5 feet 4½ inches, an inch above the girls of the 20's. The average weight of today's fully grown male is 158 pounds, compared with 134 in 1900. . . if the earth were as smooth as a ball, the seas would cover the planet to a depth of 12,000 feet.

Children who fear medical treatments are reassured by the appearance of a breathing apparatus called a pediatric Ventalung. Its control box is made to look like a clown's face! Each time a patient draws a breath through the candy-striped hose, the smiling clown rolls a friendly "eye" which is actually a pressure guage. The red "nose" is an emergency button that starts artificial respiration. This design makes children more responsive to breathing treatments for cystic fibrosis, asthma, emphysema, bronchitis and other ailments.

Appearance is the thing with seed potatoes, says the Department of Agriculutre. Some growers have rejected whole shipments if a few were found to be frozen. Researchers now report that unfrozen potatoes from lots containing some that were frozen produce as well as any. So if you can't see actual freezing damage, go ahead and plant them.

Gizzard stones were for dinosaurs what grit is for chickens. Like the pebbles swallowed by barnyard fowl, good-size stones enable the hugh animals to grind food which their jaws or beaks could not chew. A collection of these stones is on display at the California Academy of Sciences in San Francisco. They were gathered in Nevada, Colorado Utah, Montana and Wyoming. . . Rotating restaurant will attract diners at the Century 21 Exposition in Seattle, Wash. The eatery will be atop a 550-foot tower.

It took the University of Michigan Medical Center 10 years to establish scientifically what everybody has known all along: it's tough to get rid of warts. The University's report comments, sadly, that "despite caustics, curetting, electro-surgery, excisional surgery and cryotherapy (freezing)," removed warts reappear.

Another of man's headaches is this: we have about one acre of decent farm land for each person in the world. The population is increasing about 100,000 per day (excess of births over deaths) and our productive lands are eroding away rapidly. What will another thousand years of this bring???

WILDLIFE in Minnesota

by JIM KIMBALL

It has long been known that the amount of fish produced in a lake depended upon the fertility of the water. Often a shallow lake, though it contains less water, will produce more fish than a deep lake which is likely to be less fertile. Now our fish reserchers seem to have figured out a way to get double duty out of some of the deep lakes.

Robert E. Schumacher, one of our capable research biologists, says, "Two-story fish lakes are successful and are here to stay." He cites the results from Grindstone Lake near Hinckley which has been used as an experimental "pilot plant" lake for this kind of management during the past seven years. "Two-story fish management," says Schumacher, "is possible for lakes in which the upper warm layer of water and the cold water below the thermocline both contain enough oxygen for fish." Grindstone, a clear lake of 493 acres and which is 171 feet deep is ideal for this type of management. Many lakes, Schumacher points out, are not suitable for this kind of management because the lower story often has no oxygen.

Grindstone now has lake trout in the deeper colder waters and at least seven lunkers weighing between 9 and 12 pounds were taken this last summer. The upper waters have been stocked with rainbow trout and have provided good fishing. Earlier in the experiment brown trout were also stocked and the state record brown trout came from this lake the past summer. It weighed 16 pounds and 5 ounces. However, brown trout stocking is not planned for the future because rainbow trout can be expected to provide more 2 to 3 pound fish than the browns. There is also fishing for crappies, smallmouth bass, northern pike, rock bass and bluegills in the shallows along shore.

Success of two-story management of Grindstone has resulted in selection of six other lakes, using lake survey information, on which a similar approach is being tried. They are Hungry Jack and Greenwood near Grand Marais, Long Lake near Bagley, Kabekona in Hubbard County, Trout Lake in the Whitefish chain near Brainerd and Little Lily Lake at Stillwater.

Just as the farmer has learned to greatly increase production on his land, we must learn to increase the pounds of fish produced from each acre of water. Many approaches to this are being studied. Congratulations, Bob Schumacher, for developing one that will work on some of our lakes.

Week's Record in Gatzke Area

Mrs. Aksel Gormsen, Gatzke

Mr. and Mrs. Holger Nilsen and family visited a few days during the Christmas holidays at the Elving Nilson home at Anoka.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Berg, Terri and Russell were Friday supper guests at the Juell Aase home. Russell and Terri had spent the day at the Aase home.

Visitors last Monday evening at the Roger Kilen home were Mrs. Ellen Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Alberg and Ricky, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Christofferson and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Peterson and family, all of Middle River and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Berg and children.

Mrs. Mylan Abrahamson, Bradley and Baryth and Mrs. Arnold Engelstad were Thursday visitors at the Juell Aase home. Sunday callers were Arlette, Janet and Bonnie Brekkestran, Diane Severts, Baryth Abrahamson and Joe Hanson and Johnnie.

Elwood Gormsen and Roger Loven returned to Minneapolis on Tuesday where they are employed. Roger had been home the past couple weeks, while Elwood came home Monday.

Reuben Gramstad returned to his home in Roseau Sunday after spending the past two and a half weeks at the Peter Aune home.

4-H Meeting Held Thursday

The Busy Beavers 4-H club held their January meeting Thursday evening at the school gymnasium. The parents night program consisted of demonstrations by Mrs. Petra Larson and Mrs. Ed Engelstad, a project talk by Mrs. Arnold Engelstad. A skit "Bethlehem Mayor" was presented by Reuben Engevik, Mrs. Sam Pearson and Mrs. Carroll Curtiss. Mrs. Walter Lunsetter acted as president, Mrs. Bernard Engevik as secretary and Mrs. Gorge Severts as treasurer. A brief discussion on the one-act play and music contest was held. Recreation was directed by Mrs. Juell Aase. Refreshments were served by George Severts and Carroll Curtiss.

Mr. and Mrs. Juell Aase, Linda and Lorri visited Tuesday at the Mrs. Bertha Landsrud home at Grygla. Lorri remained at her grandmother Landsrud's home until Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Odin Avron, who have been living in East Grand Forks the past year, are back on their farm and Jimmy is again attending the Gatzke school where his many former classmates welcome him back.

Sunday afternoon and evening visitors at the Gene Berg home were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Berg and Earl and Mr. and Mrs. Juell Aase and Lorri.

Our deepest sympathy is extended to the family of Nels Nelson, who passed away Monday evening at the age of 83 years.

Earn Academic Honors

Judy Bredeson and Barbara Monson, area students at Bemidji State College, were among the 218 students at that college who were placed on the deans list for academic honors earned during the fall quarter. Congratulations, girls.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Nelson and Dean were guests for supper at the Sam Hodne home at Karlstad last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Selmer Larson and Sheila attended the wedding of Charles Walton and Sharon Johnson of Warren, at Our Saviors Lutheran church at Warren Saturday, January 6. Mrs. Larson, aunt of the groom, cut the wedding cake together with Mrs. Frank Halme of Middle River, also the grooms aunt, at the reception following the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Orpen and girls, Mr. and Mrs. Gust Wottestad, Mrs. Hilda Orpen and Mrs. Bertha Folden of Middle River were supper guests at the Sam Pearson home Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Simmons were Tuesday afternoon visitors at the Elmer Korpi home at Middle River.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Anderson children of East Grand Forks arrived at the Clarence Llan home Wednesday for a few days visit.

Mrs. Mildred Olufson, Charles and Myron were among the Sunday visitors at the Albert Dahlquist home at Wannaska.

Maureen Peterson spent from Sunday until Wednesday at the Emmett Wagner home at Middle River.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Additional information or assistance on veterans' benefits may be obtained by visiting or writing the VA Contact Office at the Fargo VA Center, Elm Street and 21st Avenue North, Fargo, North Dakota.

Q—May creditors seize proceeds of a GI insurance policy to get money owed them? My veteran husband owed a few bills at death which I fully intend to pay.

A—Proceeds of GI insurance policies are exempt by law from any claims of private creditors, they may not be seized nor attached to pay your husband's debts.

Q—Does the Veterans Administration administer the unemployment pay program?

A—No, unemployment benefits are administered by the U. S. Department of Labor through their offices in each of the 50 states. In addition, state offices of the U. S. Employment Service offer job finding assistance including counseling and placement where employment is available.

Q—My father, a World War II veteran, died recently from nonservice-connected causes. Since I am not yet 18, what service requirements must my father have met to make me eligible for pension?

A—Your father must have had at least 90 days service, part of which was between December 7, 1941, and December 31, 1946. He must have been discharged under conditions other than dishonorable. In addition, you must be unmarried as well as under 18.

Q—I was divorced from a veteran a short time ago. He is now in the hospital and is unable to make his payments to support our two children. Can I get VA payments toward the support of these children?

A—If your husband has more than 30 percent service-connected disability, and if he is receiving compensation payments because of it, you should contact the nearest Veterans Administration office and discuss your case with representatives there.

Q—I am a veteran of World War II seeking further education. Can the VA be of assistance to me?

A—All educational rights for World War II veterans with nonservice-connected disabilities have expired. If you have a service-connected disability, contact the nearest VA office.

Q—I received a death gratuity payment because of my late husband's military service. Is this money subject to Federal income tax?.

A—No, such payments are not taxed by the Federal government.

Q—What happens when a veteran has neglected to name a beneficiary in his National Service Life Insurance policy?

A—If no beneficiary has been named or if the beneficiary named is not alive at the time the insured veteran dies, the proceeds are payable in one lump sum to the veteran's estate.

Q—I am receiving compensation for a service-connected disability rated at 40 percent. Does this allow extra compensation payments for children under 18?

A—No, only veterans with disabilities rated at 50 percent or higher are granted additional allowances for dependents.

March of Dimes Clinic Head Forecasts Pre-Marital Tests for Birth Defects

Before most thoughtful young couples marry, they do a great deal of planning for the future. They ponder about jobs, homes of their own, saving money for their retirement years.

All well and good, but—

The pediatrician-in-chief at famed Johns Hopkins University Hospital, Baltimore, Md., wishes they would invest as much thought—before marriage—in their planning for healthy children.

Dr. Robert E. Cooke predicts the development of pre-marital tests which would forewarn of genetic deficiencies or flaws in either or both parties to a marriage that could cause their children to be born with serious defects due to heredity.

Dr. Robert E. Cooke

Dr. Cooke speaks from extensive knowledge of the problem. In addition to his academic position, he is responsible for the Birth Defects Special Treatment Center at Johns Hopkins, which is financed by March of Dimes contributions from the Baltimore City and County chapters of the National Foundation.

The genetic tests which Dr. Cooke sees for the future would bring to light gene patterns in potential parents that could cause their children to be born deaf, blind, mentally retarded or malformed.

By the same token, the tests when adequately developed would also reassure the vast majority of young couples of the likelihood of their having normal, healthy families.

What if a young couple agrees to undergo these searching tests, and the results show they might have babies with congenital malformations? Would such a marriage be forbidden?

Tests Are No Bar To Marriage

"By no means," Dr. Cooke said in a recent interview. "The tests should be voluntary. An unfavorable prognosis or prediction should not provide, in my view, either legal or moral grounds for advising against marriage.

"The results of biochemical examination of their blood and cell enzymes should be made available to prospective parents and the outlook for their offspring made quite clear. But ultimate decision as to marriage should be left to the individuals themselves."

Dr. Cooke added that genetic defects in the husband and wife may also be the cause of childlessness.

Pursuing his line of thought further, Dr. Cooke said that our young people should be given a better understanding of this subject. Proper instruction would minimize anxiety and permit them to plan their futures in a mature manner. The noted pediatrician would like to see more genetic investigation and counseling of patients by physicians—he calls it "anticipatory medicine." He feels that medical students should become much more knowledgeable about human embryology.

"More than a quarter of a million babies with significant birth defects are born every year in the United States—almost 700 daily. Until scientific research can develop means to prevent these tragedies, young people who are the mothers and fathers of future generations should understand how and why they happen," he said.

Such premarital tests as Dr. Cooke advocates are not practical today on a widespread basis because of a lack of appropriate laboratories.

"But with increased research in birth defects, and with improvement in our medical technology and our laboratory facilities, genetic tests will soon become practical and feasible," he predicted.

"Through them we may well come to the actual detection of future birth abnormalities and possibly prevent many by proper handling of the pregnancy."

He Defines 'Birth Defects'

Dr. Cooke says there is a great confusion regarding the term "birth defects." Medically, these are congenital anomalies caused by genetic factors or by injury to the embryo during its life in the womb. Most of the general public mistakenly believes that birth defects are limited to those apparent at birth, such as missing extremities, an enlarged head (hydrocephalus) or open spine (spina bifida). But many more subtle birth defects are not disclosed until maturity and even middle age.

For example, severe high blood pressure appearing in later life has been shown in many instances to result from congenital malformations of the blood vessels of the kidneys, a disorder present at birth but unrecognizable at that time. Birth defects also account for many cases of diabetes, urological disorders and gout that do not become apparent until middle life. The list could be substantially lengthened, Dr. Cooke pointed out.

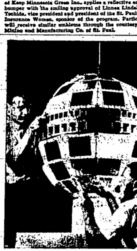
The Birth Defects Special Treatment Center at Johns Hopkins is one of a rapidly growing number of centers in various parts of the nation financed by National Foundation chapters using March of Dimes contributions. They provide comprehensive medical care for victims, with emphasis on early diagnosis, prevention of disability, rehabilitation and expansion of knowledge concerning birth defects.

In addition, the voluntary health organization has established university-affiliated birth defects clinical study and research centers in Columbus, Ohio, Oklahoma City, and Nashville, Tenn. A similar program of March of Dimes-supported treatment and research centers in arthritis is also in effect across the country.

"Birth defects cause 21,000 deaths each year in the United States," says Dr. Cooke. "That's twice the toll taken by tuberculosis and ten times the annual number of deaths from whooping cough, measles, polio and infectious hepatitis combined.

"The National Foundation-March of Dimes is taking a historic forward step in searching for a preventive. Until it is found, one thing we might do is to determine, before marriage, what types of family genetic histories are likely to lead to the calamity of major birth defects. The means to do it are within our reach."

More than 3,000 independent insurance agents in Minnesota will help curb forest fires in 1962. Dr. Frank H. Kaufert, president of Keep Minnesota Green Inc., applies a reflective emblem to a car bumper with the smiling approval of Linnea Lindall and Dorothy Tschida, vice president and president of the St. Paul Association of Insurance Women, sponsor of the program. Participating agents will receive similar emblems through the courtesy of Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co. of St. Paul.



Bell Telephone Laboratories technicians ready a 34-inch experimental model of a Bell System active communications satellite for radio measurement tests inside a special laboratory. The lab simulates the radio environment of outer space. The satellite is covered with thousands of Bell solar cells to power its receiving and transmitting equipment. Next spring, the Bell System will launch an active satellite and conduct experiments which someday may lead to a world-wide communications network thousands of miles above the earth.

TURBINE ENGINES SOON MAY POWER MANY FAMILY CARS

DETROIT — Family passenger cars powered by the gas turbine engine moved a step closer to reality as Chrysler Corporation weighed a decision to build a limited number of gas turbine powered passenger cars for use by selected typical motorists.

Announcement of Chrysler's advance in the revolutionary gas turbine field was made jointly by Robert Anderson, vice-president and director — Product Planning and George J. Huebner, Jr., executive engineer — Research, for the automobile company.

They spoke at the start of a 3,000-mile, five-day test evaluation run from New York to Los Angeles by a modified 1962 Dodge powered by a gas turbine. In Los Angeles, the Turbo Dart was joined by a 1962 Plymouth Turbo Fury, also equipped with a turbine engine. Together, the cars began a tour from Los Angeles to Cleveland, Ohio, for public display in dealer showrooms.

"The coast-to-coast Dodge trip is one phase of a program of evaluation we are taking at Chrysler Corporation to guide us in our decision — to build a limited number of turbine powered automobiles and to place them in the hands of typical motorists who will use them under a variety of normal driving conditions," Mr. Anderson said.

"On the basis of the public interest shown in our turbine engine, and on the basis of our own knowledge of the engine's many advantages and benefits, we believe a market for a turbine-powered automobile may be possible."

Mr. Huebner, who directs Chrysler Corporation's turbine development program, listed the following passenger car gas turbine engine benefits.

The gas turbine has only about a fifth as many parts as the reciprocating engine, it runs smooth and practically vibrationless, it does not require a distributor or breaker points, needs only one spark plug, and no oil changes. In addition, the Chrysler gas turbine has a clean, cool exhaust, with no carbon monoxide and no unburned carbon.

If built in a volume comparable with a piston engine, turbine costs would be comparable with those of piston engines, Mr. Huebner said.

Booklet information on the Chrysler-developed gas turbine is available to the general public at all local Chrysler, Plymouth and Dodge dealerships. Printed matter includes turbine engine illustrations, diagrams of Chrysler-developed regenerative turbine engine principle, engineering data and statements of the company's program for the development of the turbine engine in future passenger car production.

Factory Capacity to Limit Beet Acreage

There will be no Governmental acreage restrictions on the 1962 crop of sugar beets, but other factors will need to be considered by farmers interested in growing this crop, Edward A. Johnson, chairman of the Marshall county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, said today.

Sugar beets are grown as an annual contract crop, Mr. Johnson explained. The opportunity to expand acreage is limited in some areas where sugar beet factories are already operating at their capacity.

The removal of acreage restrictions on sugar beets in 1961 resulted in record production, 35 per cent larger than the 1950-59 average but just 9 per cent larger than in 1960, when governmental acreage restrictions were in effect. The capacity of beet sugar factories, which are the only market for this crop, is a strong factor that holds acreage increases within reasonable bounds, the chairman said.

Considerations, other than the commercial market limitation, on which the United States Department of Agriculture based the decision to remove acreage restrictions, according to Johnson, included:

Beet sugar production from the 1961 crop is now estimated at only 2,525,000 short tons, raw value, about 200,000 tons less than was expected when the harvest began.

A drop of about 100,000 tons in the inventory of beet sugar during 1961. Major uncertainties regarding the beet sugar quota for 1962, when most of the 1962 crop will be marketed.

The maintenance of sizeable stocks of beet sugar appears prudent, in view of these uncertainties and other considerations.

Mr. Johnson said it is understood that special consideration will be given to sugar legislation during the current session of Congress. The present Sugar Act expires June 30, 1962. The essential features of the present program have operated successfully since 1937, but the cessation of imports from Cuba in mid-1960 changed the circumstances with which the program must deal. Cuba had supplied more than one-third of our total sugar supplies. Quotas for the first half of 1962 have been established for sugar to be purchased from other countries to offset, in part, the zero quota for Cuba. Under the present Sugar Act domestic areas would supply about 55 percent of this country's total needs this year.

Grass and Legume Meeting Set for Roseau January 26

U of M Scientists To Present Latest Results of Research Program

Scientists from the University of Minnesota, working in the field of grasses and legumes, will present the latest results of their work at a public meeting in the Roseau municipal auditorium on Friday, Jan. 26, states William Provance, Roseau county agricultural agent.

The report will include the results of work done at the University farm in St. Paul and at Rosemont experiment station, as well as work done in Roseau, Kittson, Polk, Clearwater and other northwest Minnesota counties. These studies have been conducted over a period of several years and are carried on jointly by workers in the fields of agronomy, soils, entomology and plant pathology.

Discussion periods will be allowed during both the morning and afternoon to allow persons attending to ask questions regarding application of the presented data to local situations.

Program for the morning will be as follows:

9:15, Introduction and Welcome (Roseau Group); 9:25, Report on Grass and Legume Disease Research, R. D. Wilcoxson; 9:55, Kentucky Blue Grass Breeding, H. L. Thomas; 10:15, Insect Problems in Blue Grass, F. S. Holdaway; 10:35 Fertilizing Grasses, Wayne Carlson; 11:00, Discussion; and 11:30 lunch.

Afternoon events will be as follows: 1:00 Soil Fertility Studies with Legunes, P. M. Burson; 1:20 Red Clover Seed Studies and Recommendations, L. J. Elling and A. G. Peterson; and 2:20 The Future of Legume and Grass Seed Production in Minnesota, Mervin Syverson, Deputy Commissioner of Agriculture.

Questions and discussion will follow the program.

Living-Industry-Farming-Education

By Rolly Larson
Manager Chamber of Commerce

One year ago President Kennedy launched a crusade to accomplish New Frontiers. He told us that we should not ask what the country could do for us, but rather what we could do for the country. He also spoke of sacrifices. Certainly as we look back over the past year we can easily see some of the transitions that have taken place and we can readily point to some "sacrifices" that have been made.

Last week the State of the Union message delivered by the same President told us that about the only thing that is certain is uncertainty. He stated that coping with todays' challenges will be "a struggle we did not start in a world we didn't make."

Out of all this we can deduce that Mr. Kennedy feels that we must be stronger within ourselves if the United States intends to meet the challenges of our times. The strength within lies in our industries, in our farms, and certainly in our people. It is at this point that one can properly comprehend the significance of the role each community must play in our economy.

Here in and around Thief River Falls the potential of our land and our people is apparent. Each one of us has an opportunity to improve, to do better, to strengthen ourselves if we so choose. If each of us makes that choice the community as a whole has no alternative but to move forward and upward. Progress seldom bequeaths itself on a community unless the citizens first choose to extend themselves in an aggressive, strong and forceful manner. The individual is still the key to progress here in Thief River Falls now and in the future. It would be well if we would all bear that in mind at all times.

You will find, too, that you are welcome at all times in your community if you Shop and Trade Where Bargains Are Made—Here in the Heart of Northwest Minnesota, Thief River Falls.

Veterinarians to Convene in St. Paul

Dr. Frank W. Hazard Plans to Attend Some Sessions

The continuing drive against epidemic animal diseases that pose a constant threat to Minnesota's $550,000,000 livestock, dairy, and poultry industry, will be further intensified when 600 members of the Minnesota Veterinary Medical association meet in St. Paul, January 22-23-24, for their 65th annual convention and seminar. Dr. Frank W. Hazard of this city plans to attend some of the sessions.

The meeting attracting experts from all parts of the country, is particularly significant this year because of the nationwide movement now under way to eradicate once and for all the threat of hog cholera which has cost U. S. swine producers millions of dollars every year since it was first discovered in Ohio in 1833.

Fighting hog cholera in the different states has been like fighting 48 separate grass fires with the wind blowing sparks back and forth over state lines as hogs are moved from area to area without the control of a uniform code of health.

The enabling act for this war on hog cholera was passed by congress last fall and signed into law by President Kennedy. It authorizes the U. S. Department of Agriculture to undertake a broad federal-state attack on the pestilence.

May Enlist in Navy for 3-year Term

Recruiter N. Capistran Announces New Program

Chief Norman O. Capistran, navy recruiter in Thief River Falls, anounces a three year enlistment program has been instituted, one year less than the former minimum.

Also the navy will allow men who have been released or discharged for more than three months, to reenlist for two or three years. Prior requirements for reenlistment was four or six years.

This experimental program will remain in effect until June 30, 1962. For further information, those interested may contact chief Capistran at the navy recruiting office in the municipal Auditorium.

Winter Shows Talent Festival Set Feb. 20

The Red River Valley Winter Shows annual Talent Festival this year will be co-sponsored by the Crookston Jaycees and the Red River Valley Winter Shows board of managers.

The contest will be held at the Central High School auditorium in Crookston, Feb. 20 and entries must be in Feb. 12.

Auditions will be held at 1 p. m. Feb. 20 with 15 to 20 acts chosen to compete during the evening program.

Anyone 12 to 21 years of age is eligible to participate, according to general co-chairmen Dwayne Gunderson and Ralph Taylor of the Jaycees. Entry blanks and information may be obtained by writing Taylor at 1512 Stephens Drive, Crookston, or calling him at 281-2747.

The board of managers of the Winter Shows are offering $100 in cash for first prize, $75 for second and $50 for third. All evening contestants will receive $10 for appearing.

Any ties for first, second or third place will split the prize money and prize money will be the same whether the act is an individual or a group.

INCOME TAX ADVICE

By Minnesota State Bar Assn.

Personal Exemptions and Credits

This is the fourth in a series of articles on income taxes made available as a public service by the Minnesota State Bar Association, Public Relations Committee.

You are entitled to a $600 deduction on your Federal income tax return for each exemption. If you are in an income bracket where you will have to pay a tax, this will result in a minimum reduction of your tax of $120.

The basic Federal exemptions are those for the taxpayer and his spouse. You and your spouse are entitled to one exemption each, plus an additional exemption of $600 for each of you who is 65 or over by the end of the year or who is blind. The personal exemptions can be taken only once, however, so that you cannot increase the total number of exemptions by filing separate Minnesota or Federal returns.

All deductions for exemptions are based upon the happening of an event during the taxable year. Thus, subject to other rules determining dependency, exemptions can be claimed for children who are born at any time during the taxable year, for parents who live only a part of the taxable year, and for spouses you acquire by marriage or lose by death during a taxable year.

In addition to exemptions for you and your spouse, you may claim a $600 exemption for a relative who receives less than $600 gross income during a taxable year and who receives more than one-half of his support from you during the taxable year. Non-relatives can also constitute dependents which will entitle you to an exemption where they satisfy the above-described rules and also live in your home.

A child who is under 19 or who is a student can be a dependent for whom you will be entitled to an exemption, whether or not he earns in excess of $600 gross income, where you provide more than one-half of the actual cost of supporting the child. Under this provision, both you and the child are entitled to a $600 exemption for the child, but this $600 exemption cannot be claimed by you where the child is married and files a joint return with his or her spouse.

You may be able to claim an exemption under Federal law for a person who otherwise qualifies as a dependent even though you contribute less than one-half of his support. This situation occurs where several persons contibute to the support of the dependent, and where the group does contribute more than one-half of person shall be entitled to the exemption and file Form 2120 to formally bind the group to this decision.

In computing your state income tax you will be allowed credits against your tax rather than deductions from your income. In general, state credits are allowed on the same basis as the Federal exemptions. One significant difference is that the state credit must be apportioned by you, based upon the period during which the right to credit exists. For example, you would be entitled to only one-half the total credit where a child is born to you on July 1st. Apportionment must also be made where marital status changes during the taxable year, where you become a resident of the state during the year or where you are claiming a credit for a dependent who died during the year. However, the over 65 credit and the blindness credit are not prorated if a change of status occurs during the year.

(This column, based on Minnesota and Federal law, is written to inform, not advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of a trained expert who knows the facts, because the facts may change the application of the law.)

S. St. Paul Stock Market Is Second Biggest in Nation

The South St. Paul Terminal marketed 4,598,774 head of livestock last year to retain its position as No. 2 in the nation, trailing only Omaha.

The 1,097,770 head of cattle handled came from 18 states and Canada and represented a one per cent increase over 1960. Calf receipts were down nine per cent, to 331,794.

Sheep and lambs were up 13 per cent to a 711,865 total but the 2,457,345 hogs marketed represented a three per cent decrease.

No Six-Guns, Horses, Violence

African Scholar Finds Unexpected in U.S.A.

by Marv Lundin
City Editor

Grenson H. Lukwesa of Norther Rhodesia, Africa, did not find the United States what he expected i to be. And it is to the credit of this country that the Fullbright scholar did not have his preliminary expectations completely fulfilled.

The 29-year-old Lukwesa, in this country in quest of expanded learning in the field of education, visited Thief River Falls schools Wednesday. He is currently staying at Warroad. A brief visit with him at the school provided a great deal of interesting information.

But back to the doomed expectations mentioned earlier. With opinion largely influenced by American movies which are shown in African cities, Lukwesa fully expected to be met by cowboys with drawn six-guns when his plane landed in New York August 29. The absence of gunfire and galloping hooves was what he immediately noticed.

In fact, his friends and relatives feared for his safety when they heard he would be traveling from New York to Chicago and Salt Lake City. Chicago is apparently the epitome as a source of bloodshed and violence in the minds of most Africans. "They thought that I would be fallen upon and pummeled into the ground," Lukwesa grinned.

"I was as surprised with what I found here as most Americans would be with what they find if they come to Africa," he continued. "In the past 20 years my country has made remarkable progress. Education is needed badly and the government is finally realizing that we must provide education for the youth of our country."

The south-central African nation, 290,000 square miles in size, is "heavily forested", Lukwesa stated. The elementary school at which he is principal has 560 students in grades one through eight and employs 16 teachers. In addition to duties as principal, Lukwesa teaches seventh and eighth grade classes in English, Science and geography.

Copper mining is the main source of income for the nation and if Minnesota iron companies think they have tax problems, they should converse with the Northern Rhodesia copper firms. Of each three dollars received by mining companies for copper, the government takes one dollar for use in the country. Much of this is used in the country's educational program which is now being steadily upgraded.

The Rhodesian school system offers eight years of elementary school of which four years are re-

STUDYING records kept at Lincoln junior high school is Grenson H. Lukwesa, elementary school principal in Northern Rhodesia, Africa, while visiting Thief River Falls schools Wednesday. Assisting with the record check is Miss Carol Haack, secretary in the office of Francis Hamerlinck, local junior high school principal. The 29-year-old African arrived in the United States on August 29 as a Fulbright scholar to study the American school system and recently elected to study at the high school in Warroad. For details on his impressions of this country and problems at home, read the accompanying story.

Tax Delinquency Is Down Slightly

Of a total tax levy in Pennington county of $1,266,822.71 payable in 1961, $1,230,418.92 was paid during the year and $2,457.14 was cancelled or abated, leaving a net delinquency of $34,571.04 or 2.73 per cent, it was revealed this week in a tabulation prepared by County Treasurer Ellsworth Jorgenson.

The 1961 delinquency is slightly below the 3.04 per cent registered in 1960, but is higher than the figures of 2.23 per cent in 1959 and 1.8 in 1958.

In the city of Thief River Falls the total 1961 levy was $730,599.55, of which $716,060.75 was paid and $992.22 cancelled or abated, leaving a delinquency of $14,040.36 or 1.92 per cent, compared to 2.50 per cent in 1960 and 1.60 in 1959.

For St. Hilaire the delinquency amounted to 9.65 per cent, compared to 11.22 in 1960 and 10.37 in 1959.

For the village of Goodridge the 1961 delinquency was 12.93 per cent, while in 1960 it was 6.43, and 8.30 in 1959.

Delinquency in the various townships in 1961 was as follows: Black River, 4.49 per cent; Bray, 8.67; Cloverleaf, 4.75; Deer Park, 7.06; Goodridge twp., 6.68; Hickory, 7.70; Highlanding, 3.14; Kratka, 2.03; Mayfield, 3.49; Norden, 2.13; North, 2.23; Numedal, 13.55; Polk Centre, 1.47; Reiner, 13.18; River Falls, .01; Rocksbury, 1.20; Sanders, 4.82; Silverton, 1.71; Smiley, .93; Star, 3.80; and Wyandotte, 4.18.

The tabulation reveals that total tax levies in 1938 were $320,078 and in 1951 $677,610, compared to the 1961 figure of $1,266,822.

'62 Weed Meeting Set January 24 in City Auditorium

Annual Plant Industry Conference Arranged by Commr. of Agriculture

The annual plant industry conference for Pennington county will open at 10:00 a. m. on Wednesday, January 24 at the city Auditorium in Thief River Falls, Duane A. Wilson, state commissioner of agriculture, announced this week.

Township officer and mayors or their assistants are required by law to attend this conference. "If, for some reason," said Wilson, "you are unable to attend, arrange for someone to attend in your place. If you plan to appoint an assistant inspector, whether in the township or municipality, to carry out your responsibilities as weed inspector, do so before the meeting and arrange for his attendance."

To be presented at the meeting is the latest information on chemicals and their proper use in spraying weed infested crops, etc. Methods of control of insect pests and plant diseases will be presented. The procedure to follow in carrying out regulatory duties will also be discussed.

The requirements for selling agricultural seed by dealers, farmers, sales clerks, auctioneers and others will be explained. Information of importance to those who are purchasing seed will be emphasized.

Wrestling on JC Program Tonight

Thief River Falls Jaycees will be given a demonstration of wrestling holds and point scoring tonight at the meeting to be held at 6:30 p. m. in the Elks club rooms. Coach Al Shaff and his Lincoln high school wrestling team will present the program.

On the business agenda for the meeting will be committee reports on membership by James Carlson, teenage dance by Lloyd Tanem, boss-employee banquet and Jaycee Week by Marvin Lundin and coming regional and all-state meetings by John Elsbrener.

At a board of directors meeting held this week, directors of the organization voted to continue the Miss America preliminary contest which was initiated last year in connection with the annual aquacade. A water show will be held again this year if conditions permit. Other action at the board meeting centered around a concentrated membership drive during Jaycee Week, January 21-27.

Winjum Follows Lundgren as NW Hospital Head

James H. Winjum was elected to succeed the late Paul A. Lundgren as president of Northwestern Hospital at a meeting of the board of trustees Monday night. Succeeding Winjum as vice president was Lawrence Bjorkman.

A nominating committee was selected to place the names of two members before the board as nominees to succeed Lundgren as a trustee. Members of the committee are Dr. Orion Belch, Lawrence Bjorkman and R. J. Dryden.

TRF Bank Debits Up 7 Per Cent During December

Bank debits in Thief River Falls were up seven percent in December, compared to December of 1960, and for the year the 1961 total was up three per cent. Crookston was down seven per cent for December and up two percent for the year. East Grand Forks was down 18 per cent for December and up three per cent for the year.

Moorhead had an increase of four per cent for the year; Bemidji remained the same, Detroit Lakes was up eight per cent, Alexandria up five per cent and Grand Rapids up three per cent.

Bank debits are mainly checks against depositors' accounts and are looked upon as one of the yardsticks of business volume.

Newfolden Man Injured in Auto Crash Yesterday

Oscar W. Johnson, 60, in Good Condition at Northwestern Hospital

A collision at 12:20 p. m. Wednesday resulted in one man being hospitalized from inuries received when he was thrown from one of the cars involved in the accident at Fourth st. and Main av. in Thief River Falls.

Oscar W. Johnson, 60, Newfolden was driving west on Fourth st. and had started across Main av. when his car was struck in the left rear fender and door by a northbound car driven by Ralph D. Jorstad, city.

Johnson was thrown from his car by the impact, which caused [illegible]50 estimated damages to his car, $300 to Jorstad's. Johnson was taken to Northwestern hospital, where his condition today was described as good. His injuries were described as lacerations and abrasions of the head.

Police are still investigating the accident.

Potato Growers To Study Plans for Production

Farmers interested in production of potatoes for processing in this area are encouraged to attend an organizational meeting to be held Saturday at 2 p. m. in the meeting room of the Pennington county courthouse in Thief River Falls. James Engelstad, local potato grower, will preside at the meeting.

Letters of invitation have been sent to farmers previously interested but all interested persons who have not been contacted are also urged to be in attendance. A general discussion will be held on potato buying, storage and washing facilites.

Christianson, second ward alderman; Mayor Orin Green; Donald M. Olson, third ward alderman; and Gordon Relerson, assistant city clerk.

Council Views Workmen's Insurance, T-V Proposition

Several Items Tabled To Adjourned Meet Wednesday, Jan. 24

Primary consideration was given to the city's workmen's compensation insurance program and an application to provide "piped in" television to the city at the regular meeting of the Thief River Falls city council Tuesday evening. Action on the fire underwriters report, 1962 salaries for city employees, appointment of department heads and committee appointments were tabled with several to be taken up at an adjourned meeting January 24 at 7:30 p. m.

Jerry Stevens, representing Employer's Mutual of Wausau, appeared before the council again to present his firm's application to provide workmen's compensation insurance to the city. Discussion centered around the 17 per cent debit which the city currently has as a result of several large payments made for accidents involving injury to city employees.

Stevens told the council that the 17 per cent debit means that the city is currently a 17 per cent greater risk than the average municipality in the state and that insurance rates are correspondingly high. This debit cost the city an additional $1,164 during 1961, Stevens said. He also outlined a safety program which his company offers to help reduce accidents and as a result also reduce the insurance rate.

Robert Lund, representing Auto Owners Insurance company, current holder of the city's workmen's compensation policy, appeared later in the council session to present advantages of continuing with his firm. The question was referred to committee for further study.

Lynskey Named Top Speaker in Debate Tourney

Thomas Lynskey, Lincoln high school senior in his second year of debate competition, was named the outstanding speaker in the high school debate tournament held Saturday at the University of North Dakota in Grand Forks. He was chosen from 88 speakers in the A division of the tournament.

Lynskey was a member of the negative team entered by Lincoln high school in the A squad division which won two and lost two in the tournament. The affirmative. A team won one and lost three.

In competition against other B squads in the tournament, the local school fared better and came out on the winning side. Compiling an overall five won and three lost record was the B team comprised of Rolf Wangberg, Kathy Wold, Gail Stromsmoe and Arlene Ekdahl. Joining Lynskey on the negative team in A squad competition was Mary Dryden while the affirmative team included Kathy Hartje and Linda Thorkelson.

Dairy Day Group to Hold Election Thursday, Jan. 25

Six members will be elected to the board of directors for three-year terms at the annual meeting of the Northwest Dairy Improvement association next Thursday afternoon, January 25, at 2 o'clock in the downstairs room of the Rex Cafe, and officers also will be elected. Stuart McLeod of this city has served as president ever since the group was organized in 1949 to sponsor the annual Northwest Dairy Day, which this year is scheduled in Thief River Falls for Tuesday, June 12.

SOIL SAVER award presentation was made to Earl Peterson, right, outstanding cooperator in the Pennington County Soil Conseravtion District in 1961, at the annual meeting of the district held Tuesday afternoon in the county courthouse in Thief River Falls. Presenting the award, which is furnished by the Minneapolis Star and Tribune, is J. J. Womack, president of Union State Bank in this city and one of the judges who determined the winner in county competition. Peterson has practiced many conservation measures on his farm including a stock water pit, field drainage, farmstead windbreak planting and considerable land clearing.

State Man Points out Benefits Derived by Community Planning

Community planning as it functions under the present federal program, directed in this state by the Minnesota Department of Business Development, was explained Wednesday noon to a representative group of citizens at the Rex Cafe by Guy Kelnhofer, director of the division of community planning.

Following his discussion there was a short question and answer session in which some of the local problems were referred to.

Kelnhofer stated that there now are about 150 communities in th state that already are doing effective planning with consultants. The federal government participates in the expense of consultant service to the extent of two-thirds of the cost, he said. Other federal aids are available to communities that are operating under an approved planning program.

He pointed up several direct benefits from good planning on a community basis. Too often communities have no plan for orderly development, and the most important needs are sometimes set aside for less important projects sponsored by more effective pressure groups. The planning commission serves only in an advisory capacity, he pointed out, and in most communities the services provided by the commission are helpful and appreciated by the local officials who must make the decisions, generally with the consent of the citizens.

Problems under study by Minnesota's present planning commissions cover a wide range of subjects including zoning, subdivision additions, mapping, streets and highways, parks, recreation facilities, education needs, urban re-

Advance Ticket Sale Brisk for Annual CC Event

Concessions To Ladies Promise Large Number Of Wives at Banquet

Advance ticket sale for the annual meeting of the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce is progressing satisfactorily with early sales indicating a large attendance of wives of chamber members at the event, reports Donald M. Olson, ticket chairman for the banquet. The event will be held Thursday, January 25, beginning at 6:30 p. m. in the St. Bernard's Catholic church basement.

Added incentive to get as many wives as possible present at the meeting includes a reduced price for tickets and free orchids to all women attending. Directors of the organization believe that the educational program to be presented will be of special interest to all chamber members and their wives.

Dr. Orion D. Belch, former mayor of Thief River Falls, will serve as master of ceremonies for the event. Tickets are available at the Chamber of Commerce office or by contacting Donald M. Olson at Coast-to-Coast store.

Membership Need Studied

Progress Made by New Fair Group

Further progress on details for activating a re-vitalized Pennington county fair was noted at a reorganizational committee meeting held Monday afternoon in the commissioners' room in the Pennington county courthouse. Ray Oen, committee chairman, presided at the meeting.

Membership in the new organization was a major topic of discussion Monday in preparation for the general committee meeting to be held February 1. It was the concensus of thinking among members present that emphasis must be placed on two major factors — number of people holding membership in the organization and amount of finances which can be obtained.

Sale of non-profit memberships in the non-profit corporation will be necessary to accumulate needed funds for purchase of assets now held by the Pennington County Agricultural Society, the stock company currently operating the county fair. These memberships will be in the form of a contribution since they are not redeemable in cash, but will be in effect for the lifetime of the purchaser and entitle him to vote and take part in operation of the corporation.

Cost of these memberships was thoroughly discussed at the Monday meeting but no final decision was made. A recommendation concerning this figure will be presented to the entire committee at the February 1 meeting. At that time a final figure will be agreed upon.

"We are faced with a difficult problem in the establishment of the price of membership in the organization," Oen stated. "We know that we will need a considerable sum of money to assume the present fair assets when dissolution of the present organization is accomplished. We also know that we must keep the price low enough to enable as many individuals as possible to become members of the organization. Both membership and finance must be kept in balance to assure a strong, working organization."

District chairmen will be selected to conduct the sale of memberships throughout the county and discussion was also held on the selection of a general county chairman to serve as coordinator of the campaign. It would be the duty of the chairman to supervise campaign activities and serve as a central agency for distribution of campaign material and collection of funds.

"From the interest which has been displayed during the early stages of this reorganization, members of the committee are convinced of county interest in continuation of the county fair," Oen added. "Continued support through the purchase of memberships to place the new group in a sound position will be proof that this county has a definite interest in its promotion and pride in the products of its land and people.

Janice Harbott United in Marriage to R. S. Eckstein

Miss Janice Ann Harbott of this city became the bride of Robert S. Eckstein, also of this city, in a double ring ceremony Saturday, December 30. Rev. M. Uhlig performed the 11 a. m. ceremony at Our Saviors Lutheran church in Sprague, Manitoba.

Poinsettias graced the altar as the organist, Miss Evonne Droits of this city played the traditional nuptial music and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. John Ulrich, singing "Lords Prayer."

The bride was gowned in a floor length Chantilly lace and tulle over taffeta gown. The fitted bodice was styled with stand up jeweled collar and long tapered sleeves coming to a point over the wrist. The bouffant skirt with braids of lace on tulle fall over cascading layers of tulle ruffles, net and taffeta. Her bridal bouquet consisted of red roses and white feathered carnations centered on a white Bible trimmed in satin and lace. A veil of silk illusion was arranged from an aurora borealis crown of pearls. Her necklace and earrings of tiny cultured pearls were a gift of the groom.

Attending her sister as maid of honor was Miss Marlene Harbott of this city with Mrs. Charles Anderson, sister of the groom, as bridesmaid. Both wore red satin sheath dresses that fell into a soft flare in the back with matching red satin shoes.

White fur muffs with attached sprays of holly and red berries were carried by each and matched their fur head bands.

Forage Questions To Be Answered at Seed & Feed Show

Feed production is an important item on most farms in the Thief River Falls area. Ways to make forage production successful and profitable will be discussed by Dr. William Hueg at the annual Thief River Falls Seed and Feed Show to be held Friday, February 2, in the city auditorium, according to Silas Hanson, show chairman.

Program for the show starts at 1 p. m. Judges of the seed and feed exhibits will make comments on qualities of good seed and feed. This will be followed by talks on forage and dairy topics for farmers.

A special program on meat quality and prices is scheduled for homemakers. This program will start at 1:30 p. m. in the basement of the city auditorium with Laura Duerst, Pennington county home agent, leading the discussion.

Dr. Hueg, extension agronomist at the University of Minnesota, will open the afternoon speaking program with a discussion on "What is Good Forage Really Worth?" He will answer such questions as: Is there more food in early cut hay? When and how should hay and silage be handled for most food from every acre? How does cutting hay twice a year compare with three times a year? What can we do to pastures and hay meadows to get more livestock product from each acre? How do costs enter into all this so that the farmer gets more for his effort?

Exhibits in the show must be in place by 10 a. m. Farmers, 4-H'ers and FFA members are urged to bring in seed and feed exhibits. Two quarts of any cleaned grain may be shown with the variety label attached; One bushel of bin-run, uncleaned, grain can be shown as well as one quart of legume or grass seed if it's cleaned or two quarts if the legume or grass seed is bin-run. Twenty potatoes or ten ears of corn will make an exhibit and any type of silage and hay sample can also be entered.

Residents of Pennington, Marshall and Red Lake counties are especially urged to bring exhibits to the Seed and Feed Show by 10 a. m. Friday, February 2, or leave the exhibits earlier at the county agents office.

St. Olaf Band To Appear Here Thursday, Feb. 8

Miles Johnson Directs Concert Group on Tour of Minn., N. D., Canada

A treat is in store for band music lovers in Thief River Falls and area when the St. Olaf College concert band appears in the Lincoln high school auditorium Feb. 8.

The band is directed by Miles Johnson, a dynamic young director from Elbow Lake and the band's appearance here is being sponsored by the Trinity Lutheran church choir. The concert will be played during one stop of a tour through northern Minnesota, North Dakota and Canada, Feb. 3-11.

Johnson graduated cum laude from Concordia College, Moorhead, and received his master of arts degree from Western Reserve University, Cleveland, Ohio. While at Western Reserve he also played with the Cleveland Philharmonic and directed a church choir.

Following his discharge from the army after the Korean conflict, he became music director at Hawley high school. The Hawley band won many honors during his stay there, among them first place in the band contest at the 1957 Minneapolis Aquatennial. He became director of the St. Olaf concert band and assistant professor of music there in 1957.

Tickets for the St. Olaf band's concert here are available at Larson Music Store, Union and Northern State Banks and Trinity Lutheran church. Trinity choir members will also have tickets available, as well as the members of the concert committee. G. A. Belto Jr., is head of the committee.

28,839 Students at Minnesota 'U'

True E. Pettengill, the recorder, said the student body is made up of 19,790 men, 9,049 women.

Science, literature and the arts attracted most students, 8,966, with the Institute of Technology runnerup with 2,859.

Space Program at Lincoln Jan. 25th

To Demonstrate Scale Model of Atlas Rocket

An exciting program concerned with the United States' space effort will be presented in Lincoln high school Thursday, Jan. 25, at 3 o'clock under the sponsorship of the student council. The program is "Man-In-Space," and it is the story of Project Mercury.

The program is in the nature of a demonstration which will feature a scale model of the mighty Atlas rocket, the vehicle when the Mercury capsule is launced ed into outer space.

Another feature of the program will be a model isolation chamber which will simulate space conditions. A live model will be placed inside dressed in a replica of an Astronaut's space suit. In addition, there are over twenty-five other visual and audio aids packed into the lecture.

The lecture will trace the development in the field of rocketry up to the present moment. Of special interest is an account of the first rocket attempt made by the Chinese centuries ago.

The presentation of "Man In Space" here is part of a tour which has been arranged by the University of Minnesota Program Service, a division of the University's department of concerts and lectures.

EAA To Receive Charter, Elect Officers Tonight

"Minn-Kota" chapter of the Experimental Aircraft Association will receive its charter from the national headquarters when the local group meets at the Thief River Falls airport tonight at 8 p. m. All original 12 members are requested to be present and anyone interested in aviation is invited.

In addition to the election of officers, numerous other business items will be discussed. The meeting will start with a a film from the EAA library.

Refreshments will be served after the meeting. V. M. Draper, acting chairman, will preside until officers are elected, after which the new chapter president will assume his duties. Anyone wishing to join the chapter will have the opportunity to be a charter member if he joins during the meeting tonight.

Cold Snap Holds Steady in Area At Frigid Level

Snow Flurries Expected Today with Lows of —15 to —25 Seen Tonight

Egad, will it never end? Certainly the weatherman isn't very encouraging as concerns our most recent, most protracted and MOST SEVERE cold snap. A massive high pressure system pushing down through the continent's heartland from the arctic regions has gripped most of the nation in terrible cold. The frigid temperatures have reached as far south as northern Florida.

While we endured a low of -27 last night, Fairbanks, Alaska, basked in 2 above-zero temperatures as snow fell.

A similar mass of cold air last week broke records that were over 80 years old, so what the current cold wave is doing to the record book is likely beyond imagination. Perhaps our children will someday tell their children, "Now when I was a kid, way back in the sixties—".

There's one slight consolation—snowshoes are still optional equipment. But keep 'em handy, anything could happen THIS winter! The temperatures since Monday are as follows: Monday, high -2, low -18; Tuesday, -10 and -26; Wednesday, -15 and -35.

Partly cloudy skies with a few scattered snow flurries are predicted for northern Minnesota today. Continued cold through tonight, some moderation Friday. Highs will range from 0 to 10 below and the expected low tonight is 15 to 25 below.

The longest stretch of below-zero temperatures last January was six days at mid-month. Thus far this year the longest period the mercury has stayed below zero around the clock is three days—today will probably make the fourth. All told there have been six days when the high was 0 or colder. There have been below-zero temperatures 14 out of the 18 days elapsed in January. But cheer up—Spring is only months away!

Numerous Cases Are Heard in City Court

Numerous bonds were forfeited because of non-appearance of those tagged for various violations as the regular Monday session of municipal court was held before Judge Stanley N. Mertenson.

Both cases brought by the highway patrol resulted in forfeitures. Clifford L. Mattson, rt. 2, Salol, and Marlin D. Olson, Karlstad, each forfeited $15 bond for non-appearance to face speeding charges.

Each of the two persons brought before the court by the sheriff pleaded guilty and was fined. Mrs. MaDonna Lee, St. Hilaire, was fined $100, of which $50 was suspended, for furnishing two kegs of beer to 16-year-olds.

Glenn A. Hofstad, rt. 2, Trail, was fined $25, with $10 suspended, for driving too fast for conditions, resulting in a traffic mishap.

All other cases were brought by city police. A city minor, John A. Solheim, forfeited $15 bond for drinking, while Floyd C. Holzknecht, city, pleaded guilty to failure to yield the right-of-way and was fined $25, of which $10 was suspended.

Leonard M. San, Goodridge forfeited $15 bond on a disorderly conduct charge and was fined $15. conduct charge, while John Johnson, rt. 4, Thief River Falls appeared on a disorderly conduct charge and was fined $15. Darlene L. San, Minneapolis, and Melford San, Goodridge, each forfeited $25 bond on drunk and disorderly charges.

Vincent B. Hesse, rt. 2, a minor who had formerly pleaded innocent on a charge of drinking, changed his plea to guilty and was given a 10-day jail sentence, suspended.

Harold E. Ingersoll, Minneapolis, pleaded guilty to failure to yield the right-of-way which resulted in a traffic mishap and was fined $25, of which $10 was suspended.

Lincoln PTA to View Film Strip Monday Evening

Lincoln high school PTA will meet Monday at 8 p. m. in the high school cafeteria with the program to feature a narrated film strip entitled, "Your Child's Intelligence."

Junior and senior high school counselors, Oral Johnson and John Ziegler, and junior high school principal Francis Hamerlinck will be present to answer questions concerning the film. If time permits, the role of "intelligence and grouping" will also be discussed.

Mothers of the 10th grade students with Mrs. Harwood Olsen as chairman will serve lunch. Everyone is welcome to attend whether they have children of high school age or not.

Meat Quality on Women's Program Here February 2

Do you know the quality of meat you buy? What do you look for in buying a tender cut of meat? Do you know how to cook the less tender cuts so they are more tender?

These and other questions will be answered at the "Quality Meats" discussion at the Thief River Falls Seed and Feed Show to be held Friday, February 2, at 1:30 p. m. in the city Auditorium basement. This meeting is open to all women who are interested in learning about meats.

Beef, lamb, pork and veal will be discussed at this meeting which will be led by Laura Duerst, Pennington county home agent. Along with this discussion there will be a demonstration on preparing and cooking of different cuts of meat.

County 4-H Leaders Tell about Institute at Crookston Jan. 10

The 4-H Institute was the topic discussed at the Pennington county 4-H Leaders council meeting Monday, January 15. Mrs. Vernon Wold and Mrs. Jim Lee, adult leaders, along with Paul Stelmaschuk, county agent, and Laura Duerst, home agent, reported on the 4-H institute they attended at Crookston January 10. Better demonstrations and club program planning were emphasized at this year's institute.

Other business at the meeting was discussion of the Interstate Forum Trip to Washington D. C., March 20 to April 1. Any interested 4-H leader can apply for this trip which provides leaders a chance to meet leaders from other states, attend discussions at the National 4-H Center in Washington D. C., tour the Nation's capital and New York City. The cost for this trip is $150 per person. No more than two leaders from a county can attend.

Saturday, January 27, will be "help day" for dairy foods demonstrations. Anytime between 9-4 o'clock any member wishing pointers on his or her demonstration is asked to come to the courthouse meeting room. To demonstrate at the Winter Shows, 4-H members must be 12 years old by January 1, 1962. They should be enrolled in one of these projects: dairy foods, bread or health. A dairy product is to be used in the demonstration. Pennington county will take part on Wednesday, February 21. Each member is asked to notify the extension office by February 1 if they are demonstrating.

4-H judging practices for Winter Shows have been set up. Dale Svendsgaard will coach the dairy team and Bernard Myers will coach the general team.

The county radio speaking will be held February 3, at 1:30 p. m.

4-H members are encouraged to bring in seed and feed exhibits to the Seed and Feed show Friday, February 2. They may enter two quarts cleaned grain, one quart cleaned legume or grass seed, one bushel bin-run grain, two quarts bin-run legume or grass seed, any hay or silage.

African Finds U.S. Not What He Anticipated

quired. Students may then go on to junior second school for two years, senior second school for two years and higher school for two years before entering college. There are a number of vocational-type schools in the country, but to earn a college degree the students must study elsewhere many of them in Southern Rhodesia.

Ninety per cent of Lukwesa's students travel to and from school each day but the remainder come from out-lying areas and reside in boarding facilities which the school provides. Some come from as far as 50 miles to attend the school and many walk as far as four or five miles through the forest each way to attend.

Africa to me has always been a land of tremendous animal culture, and I asked the visiting principal if animals presented any danger to the students who walk to and from school. Lions are quite common in the area, he said, but most of the game has been killed or forced into reserves by hunting pressure.

"It has never been your experience to have a child killed by animals on the way to or from school," I surmised in the form of a question. "It has happened," he said, "but Africans have learned to live with these animals. While others see a lion and their mouths drop open, the African picks up a stick to defend himself."

A native of the Bemba tribe, Lukwesa is the youngest of 11 in his family. None of the others have entered the education field. Lukwesa was made principal of the school directly out of college without the benefit of previous teaching experience. This is as uncommon in Rhodesia as it would be here.

He found the teaching methods and record keeping systems in the United States interesting and the weather "quite cold." With subtropic conditions existing in his native country, no auxiliary heating is needed and school building construction is much different. "We have never even thought of it," he commented when asked about auxiliary heating. The major problem for disruption of school there is the rainy season when "conditions are miserable."

While in Thief River Falls he was the guest of Francis Hamerlinck, junior high school principal. His visit included a tour of the high school building, Washington elementary school and an evening discussion with several elementary school administrators at the Hamerlinck home.

Council Reviews Insurance and TV Proposal Tues.

Appliance, appeared in behalf of his plan to provide improved television reception to city residents through erection of a 500-foot tower and "piped in" reception to homes on a subscription basis. He requested rental of city electric transmission poles to string the cable required and noted that five different channels should be received clearly with the proposed service.

Harry Hendrickson, superintendent of the electric transmission department for the city, noted that work on this should not be done until the city completes its conversion to higher voltage sometime this summer. Sjoberg presented a contract calling for annual pole rental of $3.50 per pole. He proposed to charge $25 for installation and $5 per month rental for individual home service and added that the service would not interfere with normal television reception.

Since Sjoberg would also use telephone company poles for transmission of his service and apparently would receive approval from Northwestern Bell to do so, the council approved the request for use of poles. Approval was made subject to compliance with state and federal regulations concerning tower construction and location and approval by the telephone company as well as other conditions in the contract.

At the request of Richard Mabey, city assessor, the Thief River Falls Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 2793 was granted an abatement of taxes. The request was a result of the former club building being assessed when in fact it had been removed from the property prior to May 1, 1961, in preparation for construction of the new building.

In other council action, Stanley Grabanski was granted a beer license for operation of the Wonder Bar for the second half of the normal license period. Since the former owner, John Maney, had been advised to quit the business due to ill health, the council authorized refund of half the annual license fee which he paid in full last August. Grabanski is a native of Greenbush where he operated the American Legion Club for eight years with an errorless law record.

Authorized by the city fathers was a call for bids on a carload of poles to be used by the city electric department and a new billing machine for the city accounting department. Bids on both items will be opened at the next regular council meeting February 20.

A proposal offered by First Federal Savings & Loan association to give the city first chance to purchase the former Bruggeman property adjoining Tindolph Park was rejected by the council. First Federal had another opportunity to sell the property but offered the city first opportunity to purchase it at a price of $5,500 since the park board had deemed it desirable to provide additional parking space and relieve summer congestion.

Approval was given to Mayor Orin Green's appointments of John Anderson to the police civil service commission for a three-year term, L. A. Bjorkman to the park board for a five-year term and W. W. Prichard to the cemetery commission for a five-year term. The Mayor's request for $300 from the mayor's contingent fund was also approved.

Union and Northern State Banks were also approved as official depositories for city funds and the Thief River Falls Times was again designated as the official newspaper for the city. Cigarette licenses for 29 business firms in the city were also renewed.

Payment was also authorized to Stewart and Walker in the amount of $12,307 for engineering services provided on various city projects during 1961. The safety council was also requested to bring a recommendation concerning the advisability of maintaining stop signs on First Street at State and Arnold avenues.

Tuesday night's session was the first official session for Donald M. Olson, Dr. A. E. Jacobson and Roy Jorgenson, recently-elected aldermen.

newal, rehabilitation of run-down neighborhoods, building codes and sanitation. Federal aids are available for many of the developments if they meet the requirements of state and federal regulations.

Mr. Keinhofer stated that his office is now far behind with its work and that any program recommended here probably would not be screened until late in the year. He recommented that the commission should be created at once and that a consultant be hired. He thought it unlikely that the commission would be ready with project recommendations for some time.

City Attorney Robert Wurst has written to the League of Minnesota Municipalities for a copy of a model ordinance for the creation of a planning commission that was recommended by the speaker.

A roster of Minnesota communities that had organized planning commissions before May of last year included most of the cities of 5,000 population or more and many smaller cities and villages.

John E. Johnson Succumbs at 75; Services Jan. 17

John Johnson, resident of the Thief River Falls Community, since 1905, died at Northwestern hospital Sunday January 14, at the age of 75 years.

Funeral services were held Wednesday, January 17th at 2:00 p. m. in the Green Funeral Chapel. Reverend Joseph Swan officiated and interment was in Greenwood Cemetery. Green Funeral home was in charge of arrangements.

John Emil Johnson was born on October 13, 1886, in Moline, Sweden, where he attended school and came to this country at the age of 18 years. He settled in Twin Valley, Minn. where he lived for one year. He then moved to Smiley township, Pennington County.

On June 29, 1931 he was united in marriage to Sigurda Winson at Warren, and after their marriage they lived in Thief River Falls until 1945 when they moved to a small farm west of the city. His wife died in 1958 and after her passing he moved back to Thief River Falls. The past three years he had made his home with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Johnson.

He was a World War I veteran and served in the United States Army from June of 1918 until February of 1919.

He is survived by one stepdaughter and two stepsons. Two half brothers, Fred Johnson of Thief River Falls and Leonard Johnson of Independence, Mo.; and one half-sister, Mrs. Mabel Rude of Portland, Ore., also four step grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by his wife, two brothers and two sisters.

Final Rites for Halvor Bjorgum This Afternoon

Funeral services will be held today, Thursday, January 18th at 2 p. m. in the Green Funeral chapel. Rev. Harold Peterson will officiate and interment will be made in the McIntosh cemetery in McIntosh.

Halvor Bjorgum, a resident of Thief River Falls and formerly of the Oklee community, died at Northwestern Hospital on Friday, January 12, at the age of 84 years.

He was born on October 2, 1877 in Norway and came to the United States with his parents at the age of one year. They settled in North Dakota before moving to a farm near McIntosh, where they lived until 1917, at which time they moved to Oklee where he had continued to live after he retired.

He is survived by 3 sisters, Jenny Bjorgum of Thief River Falls; Mrs. Theodore Perrode of Sask., Canada; and Mrs. Theodore Reindal of Trail, Minn., one brother Ludvig Bjorgum of Sask., Canada.

He was preceded in death by his parents, 3 brothers and 4 sisters.

Funeral Services for Aase Infant at Greens Today

Gregory Aase, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Aase, died on Tuesday, January 16, at Northwestern Hospital.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 4:00 p. m. at the Green Funeral Chapel. Rev. Harold Peterson will officiate and interment will be made in the Greenwood cemetery.

Gregory is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Aase of Voss, North Dakota, paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Aase of Thief River Falls and the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hill of Albany, Ore.

Rites Friday for Joseph Ptacek, 91, Pioneer Resident

Funeral services will be held Friday, January 19 at 2 p. m. at Sinding's funeral chapel for Joseph Ptacek, a pioneer resident of Cloverleaf twp. Pennington county. Rev. Henry Friedman will officiate and interment will be in the Greenwood cemetery. Visitation hours have been set through today until time of service Friday.

Joseph Ptacek passed away Monday, January 15, at the age of 91 years. He was born in Czechoslovakia in 1870 and came to America with his parents at the age of 10. They settled on a farm near Garner, Iowa. He had attended school in Czechoslovakia and rural school at Spillville, Iowa.

He was united in marriage to Louise Reichardt in 1890 at Spillville and farmed there for several years. In 1904 he homesteaded in Pennington county. He served on the school and township board for several years.

Survivors include his wife Louise; two sons, Charles of Thief River Falls and Albert of Silverton; three daughters, Annie, Mrs. Clem Sebek of Claire City, S. D.; Mrs. Mayme Mammel of Grand Forks and Emma, Mrs. Henry Klockman of Goodridge; 19 grandchildren, 31 great-grandchildren, 2 great-great grandchildren.

Library Volume Rises On All Fronts in '61

90,595 Books Lent To 4,533 Borrowers; Income Is $22,292

Substantial increases in book stock available, number of borrowers in all age classes and number of volumes circulated for home use were noted in the annual report of Carnegie Public Library in Thief River Falls Figures covering 1961 library use as compared with 1960 were released this week by Miss Frances Shanahan, librarian. Population served by the library totals 12,468 persons.

During 1961 a total of 90,595 volumes were lent for home use in comparison with 90,363 in 1960. Reading interest switched slightly to the adult fiction section with 24,624 books loaned in this category as compared with 22,648 a year ago. Books for children decreased slightly to 46,011 or 51 per cent of all books loaned from 47,956 and 53 per cent in 1960. Adult nonfiction usage held steady at 22 per cent of the total although 19,960 volumes were borrowed in 1961 in comparison with 19,759 in 1960.

The increased circulation was reflected in the number of borrowers which increased by 508 during 1961. Total borrowers at the end of the year was 4,553 which included 1,894 adults and 2,659 juveniles. The 1960 total was 4,045 which included 1,670 adults and 2,375 juveniles, Miss Shanahan's report indicates. Approximately 8,000 reference questions were answered by library personnel each year.

Patrons of the library found more volumes available for use in 1961 although a total of 944 volumes were removed from circulation during the year. A total of 675 adult volumes and 300 juvenile books were added during the past year, bringing the total number available to 13,082 adult volumes and 11,145 children's books at the end of the year. Total volumes available for circulation numbered 24,227 as compared with 24,196 at the end of 1960.

In addition to the book stock, the library offered six newspapers and 126 other periodicals for public use during 1961. Inter-library loans also increased with 145 books lent and 162 books borrowed in 1961 as compared with 96 volumes lent and 96 borrowed in 1960.

Total receipts of the library during 1961 were $22,292 which included $18,460 from the city, $700 from the school district, $105 in state grant for rural schools, $1,400 from the county, $417 from fines, fees and memberships, $77.81 from rental collection, $1,000 from the county for the building fund, $113 from sale of miscellaneous items and $15 from interest on the building fund.

Expenditures totaled $21,216 and included $11,440 in library staff salaries, $2,640 in building staff salaries, $3,502 for books, $486 for periodicals, $241 for bindery and repair supplies, $62 for rentals, $1,096 for utilities, $251 for incurance and $1,495 for other operating expenses. The latter includes purchase of chairs and a steel book stack.

Building fund balance currently totals $2,078 and the library had cash on hand for operations of $98.21 at the end of 1961.

Mrs. Hans Chommie is president of the library board with Gene Belto as vice president and Richard Mabey as secretary. Committees selected for 1962 include the following:

Building — Mrs. J. B. Holter, chairman, Raymond Ulferts and Mrs. Stanton Dahlen;

Grounds — Mrs. L. B. Hartz, chairman, Gene Belto and Mrs. Chommie;

Finance — Elmer Anderson, chairman, Richard Maybe and Mrs. A. E. Jacobson; Addition — Miss Frances Shanahan, chairman, Elmer Andersen and Raymond Ulferts.

Janice Melvie Talks on Finland To Baptist Youth

Miss Janice Melvie, who accompanied Evangelist and Mrs. Raymond Martin and family to Finland several months ago, spoke on her stay in Finland and other Scandinavian countries at a meeting of the First Baptist Youth group held Sunday evening in the Rev. and Mrs. W. Ronald Dalzell home.

Miss Melvie described customs and dress of the people, living conditions in comparison to our own and told of some of the interesting churches she had visited. Young people also participated in choruses and played games at the "After Church Sing". Miss Wanda Lundeen, president of the youth group, was in charge of the program.

National Guard Is Authorized to Enlist More Men

Additional quotas for enlisting young men without prior military service were recently received by the Minnesota National Guard, Brigadier General Chester J. Moeglein, Minnesota adjutant general, said today.

The new quotas allow enlisting 416 more young men into the six months of active duty program from February through June and raise the enlistment quotas for those months to 1116.

Monthly enlistment quotas are established for 110 Minnesota Guard units in 68 communities and vary throughout the state. Men from 17 to 35 years old can receive local information at their National Guard Armory.

23 Soo Freight Cars Leave Track Near Devils Lake

Twenty-three cars of a 33-unit Soo Line mixed train derailed Tuesday noon on the Fordville-Drake line at Tilden, west of Devils Lake, N. D. No one was injured in the wreck, which was attributed to a broken rail in the subzero weather.

J. M. Berg of Thief River Falls was conductor on the train, and Douglas Green, also of this city, was engineer. A wrecker from Thief River Falls was sent to the scene.

It was the second derailment for the Soo Line in North Dakota in two days. Twelve cars left the track Monday at Kintyre.

325 Men and Boys at Elks Banquet

Record Crowd Attends In Spite of Subzero Weather

More than 325 men and boys braved subzero weather Wednesday evening to turn out for the 25th annual Elks Fathers and Sons banquet held in the Elks club rooms.

Jarvis Prichard, exalted ruler, served as master of ceremonies, and introduced Robert Flynn, who extended greetings in behalf of the fathers; and Brian Mostue, who responded for the sons.

Following the dinner, the youngsters spent an enjoyable hour watching movies and playing games, and they also were treated to pop and candy.

Firemen Respond To 2 Fire Calls Early This Week

Two fire calls, neither resulting in any damage, were answered by members of the Thief River Falls fire department early this week. Both were the result of overheated heating equipment.

At 2:45 p. m. Monday the firemen rushed to Brich Lane Drive where workmen in a house being erected for C. L. Charlson reported an overheated oil stove. Prompt action by the fire department averted possible damage.

At 1:33 p. m. Tuesday the department was called to Duke's Auto Service at 503 Dewey av. where an overheated furnace had ignited an accumulation of lumber near the furnace. No damage was done but a fan was required to clear the building of heavy smoke.

Rotarians Hear LHS Band Mon. At Noon Meeting

Instrumental music students at Lincoln high school under the direction of John Moum presented a varied program of musical composition Monday at the noon meeting of the Thief River Falls Rotary club. M. C. Gulbranson, program chairman, introduced Moum who conducted the music program.

Using about 30 of his high school instrumental group, Moum illustrated the various types of music which instrumental students are required to learn when they join the high school organization. The condensed version of the band played portions of a number of selections and were forced into an encore number.

Candidates for Supervisor Post On SCD Selected

Goodridge Men Named At Annual Meeting of District Here Tuesday

Harold South and Richard Marquis of Goodridge were named as candidates for the position of supervisor on the board of the Pennington County Soil Conservation district at the annual meeting of the district held Tuesday in Thief River Falls. South will complete his five-year term on the board this year.

Eelection of a supervisor will take place at the annual township election to be held the second Tuesday in March and will affect Goodridge, Reiner, Star and Hickory townships. Other candidates may be nominated by petition through the district office until 10 days before the election.

Merle Halvorson, extension soils specialist from the University of Minnesota, was guest speaker at the meeting and discussed fertilization of forage and small grain crops. He outlined used of all three plant food elements and gave the results of state experimentation with fertilizer, including test plots raised on the Andrew Skaar farm in this county.

Oscar Houske, district chairman, presided at the meeting and reviewed activities of the district for 1961. Earl Peterson was presented with the Minneapolis star and Tribune award for being selected the outstanding farmer in the district during 1961. Presentation of the framed certificate was made by J. J. Womack, president of Union State Bank and one of the contest judges.

Coach Al Schaff Speaks to Club Wednesday Noon

The technique of the popular sport of wrestling was discussed by Al Schaff, Lincoln high school wrestling coach, at the Lions club luncheon meeting Wednesday noon in the Elks club rooms. He stated that the four qualities the sport develops are balance, speed, endurance and strength.

Schaff was accompanied by Joe Taylor and Ted Johnson of the Prowler squad, who demonstrated a variety of wrestling situations.

Francis Hamerlinck, Lincoln junior high school principal, introduced Grenson Lukwela of Northern Rhodesia, Africa, who visited the local school Wednesday. He has been traveling around the United States, and is currently staying in Warroad.

Dedication of Winter Shows Building Feb. 14

Arrangements are nearly completed for dedicating the new building of the Red River Valley Winter Shows at Crookston. The dedication exercizes will be held on Wednesday, February 14, at 8 p. m. in the new Winter Shows arena, which is located north of Crookston on Highways Nos. 2 and 75. According to V. F. Hodgson, chairman of the dedication committee, the public is invited to attend.

Dr. Herbert R. Albrecht, the new president of the North Dakota State University at Fargo, will deliever the dedicatory address. Invocation will be offered by Dr. George W. Starcher, president of the University of North Dakota, Grand Forks. Commissioners of agriculture, Duane Wilson of the State of Minnesota and Math Dahl of North Dakota, will be present to extend greetings. A number of other educational institutions as well as business and industry will be presented.

A special choral concert will be presented by the former Northwestern Minnesota Singers' Association. This group is being reorganized and other men are also being invited to join with the singers. T. W. Thorson of Crookston is heading the organization of this group which appeared on Winter Shows programs of "bygone days."

Massed high school bands will present a band background of some 200 members. The National Guard will present the colors. Dr. B. E. Youngquist, president of the Red River Valley Winter Shows, will be the master of ceremonies.

This is a significant event in the history of the Red River Valley and the fourth time in a 52-year history that the Red River Valley Winter Shows had to go to a new home to meet the challenge of rural leadership for the Red River Valley area.

LHS Wrestlers Topple Crookston 33-20 Wednesday

Shaff's Grapplers Will Host Ada Vikings In Return Match Jan. 24

Lincoln high school Prowler wrestlers garnered their sixth victory of the season against two losses and a tie when Coach Al Shaff's mat men out-pointed Crookston Central 33-20 last night in Crookston. Three Prowlers lost by pins which added bonus points to the Pirates scoring total.

In quest of their seventh victory the local grapplers host Ada in a return match in the local gymnasium Wednesday, January 24. The Prowlers trimmed the Viking 27-10 in a match at Ada last week.

Individual scoring in the various weight classes last night were as follows:

95—Roy Deloreme won on forfeit;
103—Don Berggren won on forfeit;
112—Roger Wilson gained a 2-2 draw;
120—Steve Skadsen pinned Paul Moe (C) in 2:26;
127—Roger Ek pinned MacGregor (C) in 2:3;
133—Ted Johnson pinned Kramer (C) in 1:42;
138—Chapman (C) pinned Mike Magnusson in 1:10;
145—Joe Taylor decisioned Roger Moe (C) 8-3;
154—Terry Nelson decisioned Bill Snider (C) 11-3;
165—Paul Brewo (C) pinned Leland Pietron in 2:15;
175—Lenke (C) decisioned Roger Miller 12-10;
Heavyweight—Pax (C) pinned Dwight Miller in 35 seconds.

A good "rule of thumb" for deciding a safe minimum for your family's bank savings is three to six months' earnings. This means, according to the American Bankers Association, that if your family's average yearly income is $8,000 you should maintain rainy day savings of between $2,000 and $4,000.

NOTICE OF BOND SALE
$170,000 State Aid Road Bonds
Pennington County, Minnesota

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN That the County Board of Pennington County, Minnesota, will meet at the Commissioners' Room in the Court House at Thief River Falls, Minnesota, on Tuesday, February 6, 1962, at 11:00 o'clock A.M., Central Standard Time, for the purpose of receiving and considering sealed bids for the purchase of $170,000 State Aid Road Bonds of the county, bearing date March 1, 1962, bearing interest at the rate or rates designated by the successful bidder, payable September 1, 1962, and semiannually thereafter on March 1 and September 1 in each year and maturing serially on March 1 in the amount of $10,000 in 1963 and $20,000 in each of the years 1964 to 1971, both inclusive, all without option of prior payment. Both principal and interest will be made payable at any suitable bank designated by the purchaser within 48 hours after the award or otherwise at the selection of the County Board.

The county will furnish printed bonds in denomination of $1,000 each, or at the purchaser's request made within 48 hours after the time of sale in denomination of $5,000 each, and the approving legal opinion of Messrs. Howard, Peterson, LeFevere, Lefler and Haertzen, Minneapolis, Minnesota, both without expense to purchaser. Delivery will be made to purchaser's office within 40 days after the date of sale, accompanied by customary final delivery papers including a certificate showing absence of litigation. The text of the legal opinion will be printed on the back of each bond.

All bids must be unconditional (except as above provided), enclosed in a sealed envelope marked "Bid for State Aid Road Bonds, March 1, 1962" and delivered to the undersigned prior to the above stated time, accompanied by a cashier's check, certified check or bank draft payable to the order of the County Treasurer of Pennington County in the amount of at least $3,400, to be forfeited as liquidated damages in the event the bid is accepted and the bidder fails to comply therewith.

Bids shall state one basic rate of interest from date of issue to maturity for all bonds having a common maturity date. Not more than three such rates shall be specified for the issue and maturities may be split not more than three ways for the designation of such rates, provided that all or some of the bonds may bear additional interest evidenced by separate coupons in total amount not exceeding $2,350. All rates must be stated in integral multiples of one-quarter or one-tenth of one percent and the bid offering the lowest net interest cost (total interest from March 1, 1962, to stated maturities less any premium offered) will be deemed the most favorable. No bid of less than par plus accrued interest to date of delivery or providing for a total interest rate on any bond for any period exceeding 6% will be considered. Oral auction bids will not be received. The right to waive any informality, to reject any and all bids and to adjourn the sale is reserved.

Prowler Hockey Six Defeats Hallock 4-3

The hockey Prowlers broke a three-game losing streak on Monday night when, in a game against the Hallock Bears, and with the score knotted at 3-all with 1:22 of the third period to play, Larry Poole whipped a backhand shot past goalie Gary Truemer and into the north goal to give coach Gene Sack's club a well-earned 4-3 win.

In a preliminary game, coach George Schlieff's Prowler B's, with Bobby Stordahl scoring a pair of goals, and Larry Olson, Dennis Sullivan, and Paul Peterson adding single goals, defeated the Hallock B's, 5-3.

On Friday, the Prowlers will make the short jaunt to Crookston for a Region Eight conference game against coach Dave Hendrickson's Central squad; and on Saturday night, on the Arena ice here, the Prowlers will meet the Williams Wolves in a conference game.

John Weigelt opened the scoring in Monday night's game as he and Elroy Frolland combined in a neat passing play, with Weigelt scoring at the 2:31 mark. Coach Ken Wellen's Hallock Bears evened the game at the 4:58 mark when Jim Tureson found the south net with a backhand shot.

The Bears moved into a 2-1 lead at the 4:56 mark of the second period when Hallock's big center, Bob Johnson, slapped a close-in shot past goalie John Hellquist. The Prowlers' regular goalie, Tom Teal, was out of action because of illness. That Hallock lead was erased at the 9:55 mark when Wayne Loeffler banged a rebound shot past goalie Truemer.

In the third period, Larry Poole, who proved to be the game's outstanding player, recovered a loose puck in front of the Hallock net and scored at 1:32 mark. Bob Johnson's hard shot, from just inside the blue-line, beat goalie Hellquist at the 6:15 mark, and the game was knotted 3-all.

Larry Poole, intercepting a pass in center-ice, outskated the Hallock defense, swept in to the right of the net, and lifted a backhanded shot into the left corner of the goal to give the Prowlers their winning margin.

The summary:

Thief River Falls H. S. (4)
Goal—Hellquist.
Defense—Tim Teal, Morben, Kvikstad.
Centers—L. Poole, D. Mathieu.
Wings—J. Poole, Loeffler, Frolland, Weigelt, K. Mathieu.

Hallock H. S. (3)
Goal—Truemer.
Defense—Homstad, Pederson, Winters.
Centers—R. Johnson, Tureson.

Knox vs. St. Bernard's, 10:00 a.m.

The Washington Wildcats, continuing their high-scoring and undefeated pace in the city grade school league, defeated the St. Bernard's Broncos, 7-0, in Saturday's game at the Arena rink. In the opener on Saturday's twin bill, the Northrop Indians defeated the Knox-Tigers, 5-0.

The Wildcats, in scoring their fifth win of the season, and their third shutout, received two-goal performances from Rich Holmes and Tom Stromberg. Single tallies were scored by Arlan Overbye, Stewart Rugland, and Jerry Droppo.

The Northrop Indians, who trail the Washington squad by one game in the standings, and will meet the Cats at 9:00 a. m. in this week's feature game, recorded their third shutout of the season, too, as they bested Knox, 5-0. Cal Wicklander and Billy Olson tallied two goals apiece for Coach Dick Brooks' Indians, while Dana Stromberg accounted for the fifth goal.

PVT. DENNIS ERICKSON TRAINING AT FORT KNOX

Army Pvt. Dennis L. Erickson, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley E. Erickson, Thief River Falls, is receiving eight weeks of advanced individual training at The Armor Center, Fort Knox, Ky. The training is scheduled to end Jan. 20. Erickson is receiving instruction in operating the 90-millimeter tank gun and driving the Army's medium tank.

The District Favorites

Although the Prowlers are the defending champions of district 31, it is probable that when district cage tourney time rolls around, at Grand Forks on March 5-7, coach Larry Selk's East Grand Forks squad will be the tournament favorites. And this East Side team will invade the high school court here on Friday night for a conference game against the Prowlers.

To date, East Grand Forks has registered conference wins over Crookston, Warren, and Climax of the so-called "big five"; and the East Siders, several weeks ago, played the Bemidji Lumberjacks on near-even terms before losing by five points.

Not since 1951 has East Grand Forks won the district title, although in 1953, '54, and '59 the Green Wave reached the district finals. For the past ten years, the Crookston Pirates and the Prowlers have been monopolizing the district cage title, with the Prowlers winning on six occasions, and the Pirates winning four times. This monopoly may be broken this season.

The Prowlers, who are a young and inexperienced squad, are capable of defeating any team in the district and the region, but this can happen only if coach Jack Junker's club plays a consistent game. And so far the locals have turned in only one consistently well-played game, and that was in the victory over the highly-rated Stillwater Ponies. In the other games to date, the locals have revealed flashes of brilliance, but they haven't been able to put together four consecutive periods of good play.

Against the East Siders tomorrow night, the Prowlers will be up against a rugged and burly outfit that relies on controlling the boards. And in center Gary Adair and forward Ray Gibbons, a pair of 200-pounds-plus boys, the Green Wave has plenty of power under the boards. The back-court boys are Don Blue, a veteran from last season's club, and Don Coulter, up from last season's 'B' squad.

In last season's two-game series between the two clubs, the Prowlers scored victories, winning by 70-48 and 50-40 scores.

They Are Solid

Coach Oscar Almquist brought his Roseau Rams down here last Saturday night, and after thirty-six minutes of hard and exciting hockey, the defending state champion Rams gained a 2-0 win over coach Gene Sack's Prowlers.

The hockey fans are agreed that the Rams are a strong and well-balanced club, and if Roseau can get through the Region Eight playoffs (only one team from this Region will gain a berth in the state tourney this season), the green-and-white squad will make a strong bid to retain the state title.

On Monday night, in a game played at Roseau, coach Almquist's team defeated the Warroad Warriors, 2-0, and the win boosted the Rams into first place in the Region Eight conference standings.

This season's Roseau club is blessed by the presence of two all-state tournament players on the squad in defenseman Jerry Swenson and center Bob Lillo. But these two players do not overshadow the rest of the squad members. Swenson, a rugged player, bulwarks the blue-line contingent, and gives ample protection for junior goalie Gary Johnson. Lillo centers a line that has Rick Ulvin, an all-state tournament possibility, and Paul Rygh at the wings. This line is a potent-scoring unit, and it usually breaks loose with a goal or two early in the game to give the Rams control.

Coach Almquist is doing some experimenting with his second line, and this unit will probably "jell" by tournament time. Dick Anderson is at center, with Ron Wellen, Gary Grugel, and Larry Skime taking shifts at the wings.

As the season progresses, it becomes apparent that the Prowlers suffered a big loss when defenseman Jack Houfek was declared ineligible. Jack, who is a fine skater, is playing with the senior hockey Thieves, and turning in a fine game. He would have been invaluable to the Prowlers, and would have provided the blue-and-gold with a dangerous rusher on defense. But all this is in the category of "might have been."

The Prowlers will play at Crookston on Friday night, meeting the Pirates in a Region Eight conference game, and then returning to the Arena rink for a game on Saturday night against the Williams Wolves, also a conference game.

Refuge Manager, Hunter Find This Is Small World

James Phillip Goose Was Banded In Missouri by Herb Dill In Nov., 1950

James Philipp of rural Goodridge and Herb Dill, manager of Agassiz National Wildlife refuge, are convinced that this is certainly a small world. The burden of proof rests with information concerning a banded Canada goose which Philipp shot near his farm just south of the refuge during hunting season last fall.

Philipp sent the band to Washington and received a report noting that the bird had been banded in Missouri on November 4, 1950. Dill was interested in the report since he was stationed in Missouri in 1950.

Further check of the records revealed that Dill had banded the goose at Swan Lake National Wildlife Refuge at Sumner, Mo. At that time the bird had been examined under the fluoroscope and was found to be carrying four shots in the abdomen, one in the breast, one in the head and one in the right wing at the time it was banded.

Dill quipped that the goose had flown many "missions" and should be awarded several Purple Hearts. While Philipp agreed with the statement, he noted that the goose "was the toughest piece of meat I ever tackled".

Activities Varied for National Guard Unit

Rifle, Bowling Teams Compete Regularly; 104 Men in Company

More than marching is involved in membership of the Thief River Falls National Guard Unit, according to Capt. Joe Forberg, company commander. Some of the following events were noted in a recent appraisal of activities being conducted by Company D.

Company strength now stands at 104 enlisted men and six officers with new recruits including Duane W. Stardig and Sylvester M. Hemp of Middle River and Francis R. Anderson of Karlstad. Company payroll for the quarter ending Dec. 31, 1961, amounted to approximately $7,000, according to M-Sgt. Ivan Bundy.

Formation of a company rifle team has been accomplished with regular meetings to fire .22 caliber target rifles. Four federal government-approved targets for indoor firing were installed by the army and a backstop for one section of the armory was erected. The local 10-man team will fire in competition with Crookston and Bemidji units in the local armory on Sunday, January 28.

Members of the company bowling team, captained by Ronald Anderson, include James Kempel, Warren Stone, Ivan Bundy, Leo Gustafson, Chester Swanson and Robert Walseth.

New equipment to be issued to the local unit includes a Class "C" winter work uniform, states Gress Bruggeman, supply sergeant. It includes an olive green heavy wool shirt and trouser to be worn as outer garments over cotton fatigues. The new clothing will be issued to the entire regiment and each man will sign for the new issue and be personally responsible for it.

Four members of the local group are on their six-month tour of duty at Fort Ord, Calif. They include Hurby Lund, Paul O'Gorman, Harold Steinhauer and Roger Forsberg.

According to Capt. Forberg, the annual muster day and company alert will come sometime in February. The annual federal inspection will be held April 4. Elton Cummings, training sergeant, announces that coming training sessions will include films on emergency support, riot control formations, disaster relief, map reading, switchboard installation and operation and field telephone operation.

M-Sgt. Bundy reminds young men in the area that enlistment restrictions have been lifted by the adjutant general and interested young men are encouraged to investigate joining the National Guard. Potential recruits may contact Bundy at the armory on any week day or are welcome to visit the company drills on any Monday night.

Rev. Mickelson Installed Pastor In Church Here

Rev. Kenneth Mickelson was installed as the new pastor of the Lutheran Brethren church in Thief River Falls at the 11 a. m. worship service Sunday. Rev. D. A. Erickson of Fergus Falls, president of the Church of the Lutheran Brethren, delivered the morning message and officiated at the installation service.

Rev. Erickson used as his text Ephesians 3:8, "Unto me, who am less than the least of all saints, is this grace given, that I should preach among the Gentiles the unsearchable riches of Christ."

Special music at the service included a song by Mrs. Daryl Haugen and vocal duet by Rev. and Mrs. Mickelson. Following personal testimony, Rev. Mickelson requested prayer for the work of the church and for his own ministry in the congregation. Dinner was served by the ladies of the congregation following the service.

Minnesota Seed Growers Honored

Awards Made at Farm and Home Week in St. Paul

Awards for outstanding contributions to quality field crop seed production and distribution in Minnesota in 1961 were made January 17 at the Midland Hills Country Club, St. Paul.

The occasion was the annual recognition dinner of the Minnesota Crop Improvement association which has headquarters on the St. Paul campus of the University of Minnesota, and the Crop Quality Council, Minneapolis.

Plaques from the Crop Improvement association went to three premier seed growers — outstanding seed producers who are members of the association. They are Alfred Berg, Sacred Heart; Lester H. Maas, Sleepy Eye; and Elmer Bredlie, Eldred.

Honorary premier seed grower plaques went to Carl G. Ash, Crookston, long-time agricultural extension agent in West Polk County; and W. M. Myers, head of the Department of agronomy and plant genetics at the University of Minnesota.

Land O'Lakes Creameries, Minneapolis, was honored as an "outstanding seedsman," receiving a plaque from the Minnesota Crop Improvement Association for distribution of high quality seed and contributions to crop improvement.

The awards banquet was held in connection with Farm and Home Week on the St. Paul Campus January 16-19.

Republicans Plan $100-plate Dinner

New York Governor Will Speak In St. Paul Jan. 24

GOVERNOR ROCKEFELLER

With an eye to victory in November, Minnesota Republicans are putting their shoulders to the wheel in January.

Kicking off the campaign year will be the $100 dinner Jan. 24 at the St. Paul Auditorium beginning at 7 p. m.

Guest speaker at the annual fund-raising affair will be Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York. Other main speakers will be Gov. Elmer L. Andersen and Cong. Walter Judd who will speak on behalf of the GOP congressional delegation.

Dinner chairman Julian Baird said the party hopes to sell 5000 tickets this year. The previous record was 2818 two years ago.

Slogan for the dinner is, "Four Score—Add Four". This is based on the fact that 80 years of Minnesota history has been under Republican administration. With the governor's term going to four years in 1963, the party hopes to "add four" with the reelection of Governor Andersen.

Chairman Baird said that the party is putting particular emphasis on the dinner in an attempt to raise the necessary funds early in the campaign so that the latter months can be devoted to getting out the vote.

Lincoln Debaters to Share St. Cloud Speech Tourney

Some 300 Minnesota high school students will air their views on federal aid to education at a second annual debate and public speaking conference Friday and Saturday at St. Cloud State college.

"Resolved, That the Federal Government Should Provide Additional Aid for Public School Facilities" is the debate proposal. Teams from nearly 60 public and parochial schools throughout the state, including Thief River Falls, will participate.

The conference opens at 4 p. m. Friday with a demonstration debate by the college's debate team. Public speaking and debate competition will be conducted Friday night and Saturday morning.

Safety Parley Is Slated February 3

Governor Andersen Calls Conference in St. Paul

Gov. Elmer L. Andersen has issued a blanket invitation to all Minnesotans to attend his Citizens Traffic Safety conference on Saturday, February 3, at Coffey hall on the St. Paul campus of the University of Minnesota.

In a statement the governor said, "Like all other states, Minnesota has suffered from deaths and injuries stemming from traffic accidents. Because our state's number one resource is its people, our major responsibility is the preservation of human life.

"We made some significant gains in 1961. The number of fatalities was cut below 1960. Fatalities per one hundred million vehicle miles is lower than the national average.

"But, of course, much more must be done to protect the lives of Minnesotans. I have called a citizen's traffic safety conference to pool ideas—to encourage discussion of all possible suggestions—on traffic safety.

"It is my hope that as many Minnesotans as possible can attend."

He said that the day-long conference will be addressed by safety experts throughout the morning.

The afternoon session will be divided into various discussion groups to be moderated by persons active in accident prevention thruout the state.

"Thoughtful men, once escaped from the blinding influence of traditional prejudice, will find in the lowly stock whence man has sprung the best evidence of the splendor of his capacities; and will discern in his long progress through the past a reasonable ground of faith in his attainment of the future."

The Wheat Surpluses

Canada's wheat surplus is expected to be down to 300 million bushels by next July, a big drop from the carryover of 733 million bushels of 1957. This drop is attributed to last year's drouth and sales to Red China.

Practically all of the Canadian carryover is hard spring wheat, the varieties that are in most demand for milling. Our country will have an estimated carryover of 1,360 million bushels next July but only 12 per cent of that total will be in good milling varieties. Our grain program was set up at a time when the Democrats were in control and the hard wheat of our northern states was given no preference over the soft southern varieties. The greater need for the hard wheat varieties has not yet been recognized in Washington, not even by our Mr. Freeman, and so one of these days we may find it necessary to import some of the varieties that we need for food. Much of the so-called wheat the government has in storage would not be considered good feed, we have been told.

Doctor Shortage

Israel leads the world in the number of its doctors in proportion to population. Our country is in 11th place.

Israel has one physician available for every 420 inhabitants. Next is the Soviet Union with one for each 550. In our country there is one physician for each 790 people, which prompts the St. Paul Pioneer Press to state:

> "There is general agreement that there is a serious shortage of doctors in this country, and prospects are that the situation will become worse. Education of new physicians is not keeping pace with population growth. Hospitals in most parts of the country are seriously short of resident doctors and internes.
> "Instead of expanding American medical schools sufficiently to meet the demand, thousands of often inadequately trained doctors have been imported from abroad.
> "Every authoritative study of national medical needs emphasizes the doctor shortage and the need for more and bigger medical colleges. No practical solution for this problem has been adopted. A strong federal program of assistance to colleges and medical students would in time provide the additional doctors needed, but up to now proposals for such action have been killed by direct opposition or apathy."

We are satisfied that this problem could be solved without federal assistance. We assume that the University of Minnesota medical school is quite typical of medical schools thruout the country. The facilities available to this school have been greatly expanded over the years. But the production of doctors has remained about the same as it was thirty years ago, except for the war years when the number of graduates was greatly increased.

Considering the urgency of the need, and the many millions of taxpayer's dollars that have been spent to provide more adequate facilities for this school, the record of the University of Minnesota in this field is shameful.

Wisconsin's New Tax Law

After several years of disagreement, the Wisconsin legislature has finally adopted a comprehensive tax program that has been approved by the governor. The entire tax structure was given an overhauling in this new law and a general sales tax was added, and in general it is designed to encourage industry within the state.

The compromise tax package was adopted only "after a prolonged fight that found Democratic Governor Nelson battling lawmakers from his own party as well as a Republican controlled legislature. It doesn't completely satisfy either Republicans, who earlier passed a general sales tax which Nelson vetoed, or Democrats and their labor union allies, who traditionally opposed any sales levy. But the measure provides relief to several types of property owners."

According to a Wall Street Journal report:

> "Farmers will pay only one-half of the normal personal property tax on livestock and the same cut will apply to manufacturers and commercial stocks. The cities, towns and villages will bill the state for the other half, and this provision is expected to cost the state $30 million a year.
> "Another $30 million annually will be used to reduce by 22.5 per cent all real estate and other property taxes in excess of $14 per $1,000 of assessed valuation. This means that areas in which the tax rate is high, will get the most help.
> "While homeowners get relief, the property tax changes were designed mainly to help businesses and farmers. Manufacturers generally will get aid from both property tax cuts in the new measure.
> "The tax measure places a 3% sales tax on alcoholic beverages and tobacco products, new and used cars, new furniture and appliances, jewelry, restaurant meals, overnight accommodations, admissions and sports equipment. This consumer tax, which excludes the "basic necessities" of family food, clothing and shelter, is expected to bring in $53.5 million annually, according to Gov. Nelson's tax advisors.
> "A 3% excise tax on business telephone bills, electric bills, purchases of office equipment and machinery that is not an integral part of a plant is expected to yield another $11.5 million a year.
> "The new income tax rates range from 2% on the first $1,000 of taxable income to 10% on that over $15,000. This is an increase of one percentage point in most brackets from the old scale ranging from 1% to 8½%. Because the 20% surtax is abolished, the effect of the changes is to broaden the tax base by sharply increasing rates on lower incomes while leaving the effective rates on higher incomes only a tenth of a percentage point higher than under the old system, the governor's authorities calculate.
> "To soften the blow of the income tax on families, deductions for dependents are increased. Wisconsin taxpayers first calculate their state income tax and then deduct a given amount from their tax for each dependent. This deduction was boosted to $10 for the taxpayer and each dependent, and $15 for persons over 65 years old, from a straight $7 under the previous tax law.
> "Along with the $37 million in added annual revenue expected from these changes, the governor's advisers expect another $4 million a year from withholding on personal incomes.
> "In Wisconsin, as in many other states, there is concern that high taxes are driving industry to lower tax areas, principally in the south. One effect of the new measure is to give more than $14 million net tax relief annually to industry and construction, Gov. Nelson's tax experts calculate.
> "While tailored to reflect the relative strength of major Wisconsin pressure groups, the new tax structure could serve as a general pattern for other states troubled by rising expenses and spiraling property taxes."

Big-Hearted Uncle

New York World-Telegram

An extreme in American largness—and wackiness—seems to be contemplated by United States Ambassador to Japan Edwin O. Reischauer.

He has been quoted by a Japanese news agency as saying the United States will consider paying compensation to Japan if American tariffs on Japanese textiles hurt the cotton industry there. This possibility is under study by the Tariff commission.

So what we have is: subsidies for United States cotton farmers thru the price support programs; subsidies for the cotton exporters; probable higher tariffs on imported textiles; and possible cash payments to Japanese textile mills.

What a tangled process, most all at the expense of United States consumers and taxpayers.

Wonder if the Kennedy administration has given any thought to a simple alternative: setting domestic cotton free, as recently has been done with silver. The highly efficient and mechanized United States cotton growing industry could hold its own with foreign competition. And it would sure knock out a lot of laws, regulations, tariffs, bookkeeping, and, above all, huge payments from the United States treasury.

Interesting Opinions

"Doing for people what they can and ought to do for themselves is a dangerous experiment. In the last analysis, the welfare of the workers depends upon their own initiative. Whatever is done under the guise of philanthropy or social morality which in any way lessens initiative is the greatest crime that can be committed against the toilers. Let social busybodies and professional 'public morals experts' in their fads reflect upon the perils they rashly invite under this pretense of social welfare."

CUT HEAT COSTS:

YOUR Shell Heating Oil supplier recommends these 5 ways to reduce heating costs and have a more comfortable home:

1. Keep your oil burner clean. Today's Shell Heating Oil contains special additive FOA-5X.® It helps keep critical burner parts free from clogging—assures better firing, more warmth.

2. Guard against tank rust. Shell Sonitor® anti-rust treatment helps protect your storage tank for one full year, at no extra cost.

3. Shut off radiators or registers in rooms that aren't in regular use.

4. When fireplaces are not in use, make sure dampers are securely shut.

5. Keep attic ventilators and other openings closed during the heating season.

Charges for School Lunches

Parents of students attending the Gully grade school are advised that all school lunch money must be paid by the 5th of each month, for children receiving hot lunches. Rates are $3.00 per month for the first child and $2.00 per month for each additional child in the family. Over a 9 month period this would amount to $27 for the first child and $18 for each additional child. This is figured on the basis of 170-172 days of school or 36 weeks of school. Since the school lunch program is not a money making organization these amounts are as low as they can possibly be. At these rates, parents cannot deduct for Christmas, and Easter vacations. Will the parents please consider the privilege their children have in receiving hot lunches and cooperate by paying punctually so that the school may continue to offer hot lunches.

The Gully grade school basketball team will play the Grygla team at the Gully Hall Friday, Jan. 19th at 1:15p. m.

25,000,000 Trees Are Ordered from State

The Minnesota conservation department's forestry division reported today that they have received orders for 25 million tree seedlings since September 1st.

The cut-off date for tree orders to be filled by the department is March 1st, with trees usually being shipped from the nurseries sometime in April, depending on the weather.

Forest nursery chief Ray Clement said there are approximately 16 million trees available from an original stock of 41 million.

Some species are sold out however, Clement said. The original supply of two million black spruce is exhausted as are stocks of Colorado spruce and balsam fir.

There are still good quantities of Norway, white and jack pine, white spruce and white cedar available and limited quantities of elm and green ash, said Clement.

To encourage reforestation the conservation department sells conifers (evergreen species) for $10 per thousand and broadleaf species for $8 per thousand. The buyer pays the shipping charges. The minimum order that will be accepted is 500 trees. All orders are filled on a first come, first served basis.

The trees are planted to provide shelterbelts and windbreaks for game cover and bird sanctuaries, to control erosion and for harvest as pulp logs, lumber, Christmas trees and other forest products.

State foresters, county agents, SCS and ACP representatives are prepared to help the individual choose the correct tree species for soil, climate and planting objective and to supply order blanks for the trees.

Blanks may also be had by writing the Department of Conservation, Forestry Division, Centennial Office Building, St. Paul.

Park Rapids Man Heads Implement Dealers in State

Loyal Jones of Park Rapids was elected president of the Minnesota Implement Dealers Association in Minneapolis Thursday. Lloyd Raymond, Jasper, was elected vice president at the association's annual meeting. New directors chosen included Julian Newhouse, Alexandria; Elwin L. Shaughnessy, Long Lake; M. J. Heckenlaible, New Prague; and R. T. McCulla, Crookston, retiring president of the association.

Income Tax Book Is Now Available

Copies May Be Had from Internal Revenue Office

"Your Federal Income Tax," the Government's "blue book", is now available, according to George O. Lethert, district director of internal revenue, St. Pau.

This improved 1962 edition is an important part of the commissioner's plan for an expanded and more effective assistance and education program for all taxpayers. This edition has been substantially reorganized and much of the contents have been rewritten in an attempt to give taxpayers more easy-to-understand informations. It covers the average problems of all taxpayers in detail, and furnishes simplified explanations of the more complex problems. Many examples are contained in the booklet.

The booklet is available at the Internal Revenue office, St. Paul. It may also be ordered from the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C. It sells for 40 cents a copy. Quantities of 100 or more may be purchased for 30 cents a copy from the Superintendent of Documents.

BACKSTAGE BANTER between bandleader Xavier Cugat and Minnesota's Princess Kay of the Milky Way was mutually enjoyed, judging by their smiles as this photo was made. The two exchanged pleasantries between acts of the stage show at the seventh Upper Midwest Auto Show in Minneapolis, Jan. 12-21. Princess Kay, the full time goodwill ambassador of the state's 85,000 dairy farm families, opened weekend stage show performances with greetings on behalf of the automobile dealers and her own dairy industry.

Paul Staffeld New Deputy Road Chief

Director of Programming Succeeds F. Marzitelli

The director of the state highway department's programming division, Paul R. Staffeld, has been appointed to the department's second ranking position, that of deputy commissioner, by Commissioner of Highways James C. Marshall. Staffeld succeeds Frank D. Marzitelli, who resigned last month to accept the executive vice presidency of the St. Paul Port Authority. He was selected from among the top three eligible applicants submitted by the state civil service department.

The new deputy, 53 years old, is a graduate civil engineer of the University of Minnesota. He entered the highway department as a construction inspector in 1932. Ascending through the ranks from field draftsman to research engineer, he was appointed in September, 1959 to head the department's newly-formed Programming Division.

The Deputy Commissioner is second only to the commissioner in directing the affairs of the highway department.

Carleton College Names President

John W. Nason to Succeed Laurence Gould July 1

John William Nason has been named the fifth president of Carleton College and will become the first graduate in the 96-year history of the College to hold that position.

The appointment is effective July 1 of this year, at which time Dr. Nason will assume the position held for 17 years by Carleton's retiring President Laurence McKinley Gould.

Nason, who is president of the Foreign Policy association, New York City, was unanimously elected by the college's board of trustees, it was announced Saturday by Board Chairman Atherton Bean, president of the International Milling Company.

"Carleton has had the great good fortune, during the last half century, of continual growth under the dynamic leadership of Laurence McKinley Gould and Donald J. Cowling," Bean said in announcing the appointment.

"The problem of choosing Carleton's fifth president was a very great one. The nation's academic leadership was surveyed with care and thoroughness in search of the one man who had the character, experience, commitment to the liberal arts education and Carleton's ideals, under whom the College could best continue in its pursuit of excellence. That search led us to John W. Nason."

Dr. Gould, who is now 65, became president of Carleton in 1945, having served as professor of geology and chairman of that department since 1932. He spoke with enthusiasm of his successor and indicated that he did "not know anyone better qualified to undertake this task than John Nason."

OLD HANDS AT THIS

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

A man who knows nothing about trees may admire a forest. But he'll never make a living in the timber business.

The Bible is like our other resources. It can fill any man with a sense of awe . . . but its rich treasures are for the earnest and patient seeker.

As you've held the Book and leafed its pages, you could almost feel its sacredness. And yet, when you began to read, perhaps it was like plodding an unfamiliar path.

Try again, today. But try with the zeal of the apprentice who counts experience itself a valuable reward. And turn to the Church for the inspiration that its worship and Bible study can provide.

Soon, like the timberman's forest, your Bible will be a friendly place of familiar trails, rich in God-given treasure. For, remember, even old hands once groped to find the Way.

INCOME TAX ADVICE

By Minnesota State Bar Assn.

Income Subject to Tax

(This is the fifth in a series of articles on income taxes made available as a public service by the Minnesota State Bar Association, Public Relations committee.)

Reporting your correct gross income is the first item of business in preparing your income tax returns. As a general rule, gross income can be defined as the total of amounts received by you for your services, together with the amount which you receive from others for the use of your property or money and the profit which you realize from the sale of your property.

While your gross income will normally consist of cash received in the form of wages or pay for your services, this need not be the case. Money, therefore, is not the sole medium of exchange used to determine the receipt by you of gross income. The fair market valgross income. The fair market value of property or services you receive in return for your services and the use of your money or property must also be taken into consideration in determining your gross income. Thus, if your employer provides you with a house in which to live or provides you with meals, you must generally include in your gross income the fair value of these items.

A person who receives a prize or contest award or who gambles and wins must include in his gross income the cash received and the fair value of items or services received.

There are exceptions to the general rule stated. For example, if your employer provides you with a room or house on his premises and such lodging is a condition of your employment and is for your employer's convenience, this amount would not constitute gross income. Similarly, if your employer furnishes your meals and requires that you eat on the premises, the value of these meals would not constitute gross income to you.

Some payments by an employer are not included in your gross paid by your employer for group term life insurance, group health insurance premiums, the cost of moving you and your family to a new location of office in the interest of your employer and other similar items which are paid to benefit both you and your employer.

There are a few items which would logically fall within the general rule but which are specifically excluded from gross income by law. One of these items is pay received while sick. This will be discussed at length in a later article. Interest on state and municipal bonds is exempt from Federal tax; interest on Minnesota bonds and on United States bonds is exempt from Minnesota taxation; and the first $50 of dividends received by an individual is excluded from gross income on your Federal return.

The application of the general rule mentioned will also show you why gifts, inheritances and government benefit payments are not included in gross income, and why you must include such items as bonuses from your employer and pensions received from your employer after retirement although such pensions may be excluded in part from gross income where you have contributed to the retirement fund.

—(This column, based on Minnesota and Federal law, is written to inform, not advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of a trained expert who knows the facts, because the facts may change the application of the law.)

Protected! New formula nutrition to start and grow better layers

Land O'Lakes Chick Formula "ONE" starts developing your chicks into good hens the day you bring them home. Balanced nutrition and added medicants help prevent disease and develop strong, healthy pullets. Proper feeding during critical starting weeks is the key to raising better layers.

Get effective prevention of coccidiosis—Chick Formula "ONE" contains Trithiadol which protects the chick while it develops immunity to coccidiosis. Means you save chicks and prevent growing setbacks that affect later performance. Only 12¢ worth or 2.6 lbs. Chick Formula "ONE" is all it takes to start and grow the chick the first six weeks.

Have Chick Formula "ONE" on hand—before you pick up the chicks. Come in now for the Land O'Lakes chick feeding and management guide—it's free! Let's talk about your next flock.

4-H CLUB NEWS

St. Hilaire 4-H

A meeting of the St. Hilaire 4-H club was held January 11. The old business was Radio speaking contest. The new business was Mrs. Yonke described to us the point system. Winter Show demonstrations.

The program consisted of demonstrations by Connie Cords on clothing, and Sheryl Rolland on crazy cake. Readings by Sharon Yonke and Gloria Haugen. A project talk by Chad Rolland and a 4-H prophesy by Gloria Haugen.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Larson and Mrs. Marlene Johnson.

Gloria Haugen, reporter.

Deer Park

The Deer Park club held its December meeting at the Richard Radniecki home. The program opened by a reading, "Christmas Tonight Everywhere," by Greg Radniecki. A skit "Merry Christmas" by Charles Dickens was given by Faye Stucy and Renay Radniecki; and a poem, "Peace on Earth" by Patsy Radniecki. Mike Radniecki played on his trumpet "O Christmas Tree", "O Come All Ye Faithful," and "Auld Lang Syne." Songs were sung and games were played by the whole group.

Lunch was served and Christmas treats were passed around.

Our LAND

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture.

"My wind strips and irrigation system are a good combination," stated John Zwagermann, a cooperator with the Stearns County Soil and Water Conservation District. He uses a boom large enough to give him good coverage of his 260-foot wind strips. Zwagermann, who operates a dairy farm near Belgrade, laid out his strips a year ago with the help of SCS technicians. "Careful planning of field arrangement is essential for an irrigation system," he says.

Because he needed livestock watering facilities, Marion Anderson, who farms 400 acres near Glenville, constructed a livestock watering pond last fall. Work unit conservationist Elmer Miller helped design the pond and the ACP provided cost-sharing payments. Assistant Freeborn County agent Stuart Immer says the pond will permit rotational grazing for Anderson's beef herd and also will benefit wildlife.

A diversion terrace is effectively controlling water runoff and soil movement for Edmund Heisick, Morrison SCD supervisor, who farms one mile east of Upsala. He told SCS technician Jerome Schwartz that during a heavy rain it was gratifying to watch the water run down the diversion terrace to a properly constructed outlet instead of cutting gullies in the field. Heisick has fought water erosion since he bought his farm several years ago; a complete conservation farm plan is now being prepared to help him control the rest of the erosion on his farm.

Danger to alfalfa during periods of limited snow cover and alternating freezing and thawing soil and air temperatures seems to stem from an accumulation of water at or near the soil surface. Extension soils specialist Roger Harris says Canadian studies show the damage comes from frost heaving of the wet soil.

HOW TO SPELL some of the words missed in Saturday afternoon's Pennington county rural school spelling contest is being checked in a dictionary by the three top scorers in the event. Assisting Susan Rindahl (center), first place winner, are Linda Haugen (left), third place winner, and Karen Olson, second place winner. Susan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orland Rindahl of Goodridge and attends school where her mother teaches in District 1558. Linda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Haugen of Goodridge and Karen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Olson of rural Thief River Falls and attends school at District 1561 where Mrs. Clara Voldness is teacher. All are eighth grade pupils. Eleven entries were noted in the contest with Susan to represent Pennington county in the rural school spelling contest February 21 at the Red River Valley Winter Shows in Crookston. Mrs. Lillian Knutson of Thief River Falls served as moderator for the contest.

Survey of Fallout Shelters Complete

Preliminary survey work on fallout shelters in Pennington county is now completed, according to Kendall Gustafson, county Civil Defense director. Forty-five buildings in Thief River Falls have been listed as possible public shelters and reports are expected in the immediate future from Civil Defense directors in St. Hilaire and Goodridge.

Initial selection of potential shelters in Thief River Falls was made by a committee composed of Gustafson; Ellsworth Jorgenson, deputy director; and Roy Langevin, fire chief and city building inspector. The list will be submitted to Foss and Company of Moorhead, architectural engineering firm, which will make a further study of the buildings selected.

The buildings will then be classified on an alphabetical rating according to type of construction and the fallout protection which they offer, Gustafson said. Those which will be considered best will be basements with no windows and having concrete floors above them.

No buildings have been considered unless they can accommodate 50 or more persons, the director added. An area of 10 square feet of floor space per person has been allotted in making this determination. It is anticipated that a number of the buildings initially selected will not be included in the final listing after a more thorough investigation has been made. Complete classification is expected to be completed by February 10.

After classification is completed, owners of the buildings classified will be contacted to obtain permission for use of the buildings as shelters, Gustafson emphasized. "We anticipate complete cooperation in obtaining this permission," he said, "but we want it made clear that no buildings will be designated in the final analysis unless approval has been received. By the nature of the use to which the buildings would be put, namely defense from nuclear attack, it does not seem possible there will be much opposition to such designation."

Supplies for such shelters will be received in the county from the federal government and warehouse space must be provided for these until they can be stocked in the shelters themselves. Specifications call for one cubic foot of storage space for each one-tenth of the population. In the case of Thief River Falls district, this would mean about 700 cubic feet of storage space would be needed.

"Civil Defense also wishes to emphasize that these will be no fancy supplies," Gustafson added. "They will probably make military 'K' rations look like a glorified meal in comparison. But they will be capable of sustaining life up to the two weeks for which shelter use is anticipated. Medical and first aid supplies will also be included."

In the future such shelters designated will be marked with appropriate signs and a shelter plan will be provided, the director concluded.

Dairy Improvement Association to Plan '62 Dairy Day Jan. 25

Plans for the 1962 Northwest Dairy Day to be held in Thief River Falls Tuesday, June 12, will be discussed Thursday afternoon, January 25, at 2 o'clock at the annual meeting of the Northwest Dairy Improvement association, sponsoring agency, in the lower floor dining room of the Rex Cafe.

In charge of the meeting will be Stuart McLeod, who has served the group as president since it was organized in 1949. Lew Conlon, manager of the Minnesota dairy industry committee and originator of the idea of staging a dairy day, will be present to offer suggestions in connection with the 1962 event.

A dozen Northwest counties are represented on the 18-member board of directors of the association, with five to be elected Thursday for three-year terms. Those whose terms are expiring include Harry Nelson, Hallock; Wallace Jordet, Thief River Falls; Irving Meade, Roseau; Clifford Skime, Roseau; and Chester Traaseth, Bagley.

Brian Mostue Is Given Honor by Scout Council

Local Scout Selected Council Candidate for Report to Nation Award

Brian Mostue, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Mostue, Thief River Falls, has been selected by the Lake Agassiz Council, Boy Scouts of America, as its nominee for "Report to the Nation Scout" to represent Region 10 at Charter Day ceremonies to be held in Washington, D. C., on June 15.

As the council's nominee to Region 10, he will be one of four Eagle Scouts making a report to Gov. William Guy at Bismarck, N. D., on behalf of the four councils with headquarters in North Dakota. This report will be made during Boy Scout Week (Feb. 7-13) on February 9. Accompanying him to Bismarck will be his parents and Ed Blick, Thief River Falls, district scout executive.

Brian is a junior in Lincoln high school, and holds the office of Senior Patrol Leader in Troop 60, sponsored by the Brotherhood of the Trinity Lutheran Church, from which church he has received the Pro Deo et Patria award.

As a nominee to the region, his qualifications will be compared with those of representatives of the fifteen other councils in the region, comprised of Minnesota, North and South Dakota, and parts of Montana, Wisconsin and Iowa. All nominees must be Eagle Scouts who have earned the church award of their respective churches, and

Immunization of School Students Set for February

Grades three, six, nine and 12 in Thief River Falls schools will receive immunization against diphtheria, tetanus and smallpox during the month of February, according to Mrs. Margaret Race, school nurse. Third grade students will be immunized at the school but others will receive their vaccination and innoculation at any of the local clinics.

Students in other grades may participate by requesting an immunization slip from their teachers Mrs. Race said. For the regularly scheduled classes, the slips will be sent home with report cards on Thursday.

Immunization for diphtheria, tetanus and smallpox will be provided to students for 50 cents during the month of February. Each student is to have the immunization slip signed by his parents and presented to the clinic when he receives his shots.

"The Thief River Falls school district has been fortunate in escaping the dreaded disease, diphtheria, for a number of years," the nurse stated. "There have been cases of the disease in neighboring communities for the past three years, however, and it is our responsibility as parents to see that our children are protected against preventable diseases.

Sales of Savings Bonds Here Reach $327,180 for 1961

During 1961 Minnesotans purchased a total of $76,305,502 Series E and H savings bonds. This is an increase of 2 percent over 1960 and represents 94.9 percent of the State Quota of $80,400,000, J. M. Roche, savings bonds chairman of Pennington county, reported today.

Purchases of Series E and H Bonds in 1961 in Pennington county totaled $327,180 or 123.5 percent of the quota for the year.

Forty counties in Minnesota were over quota for the year.

Manson To Speak On Drainage at Grygla Meeting

Marshall-Beltrami Soil District Annual Event Set for Grygla School

Phillip W. Manson, professor of agriculutural engineering at the University of Minnesota, will be the main speaker at the annual meeting of the Marshall-Beltrami Soil and Water Conservation district to be held Friday at 1 p. m. in the Grygla school. Soil conservation drainage and water levels will be his topic for discussion.

Other items of interest for the day will include nominations for a district supervisor to be elected in the coming township elections, summary of the year's activities, presentation of the outstanding conservation farmer award to Oscar Hagen, entertainment and door prizes. Alton Anderson, Grygla, is chairman of the district board of supervisors with Robert Klouhec of Thief River Falls as work unit conservationist.

Known world-wide for research he has conducted on movements of ground water as related to drainage, Manson is the author of a number of papers in this field. He has studied water levels in the Grygla and Schilling area.

A member of the University of Minnesota staff since 1929, he received a B. S. degree in civil engineering in 1926 and an M. S. degree in agricultural engineering in 1940. He specializes in soil and water conservation.

Prof. Manson's outstanding research work has been in the improvement and durability of concretes and mortars when exposed to sulfate and acid waters, flow characteristics of water at junctions in closed conduit systems and movement of ground waters as related to agricultural drainage. For five months he was granted a leave from the university to work for the Food and Agricultural Organization of the United Nations in the Far East. In 1955 and 1956 he spent four months in Korea.

Manson is a member of a number of professional and honorary societies and has carried out important committee assignments for the American Society of Testing Materials.

4H and FFA Entries Open In Seed Show

Agriculture Teachers Assist in Planning for February 2 Event

Young people of the area will have an opportunity to take part in the fourth annual Seed and Feed Show to be held at Thief River Falls February 2, according to Paul Stelmaschuk, Pennington county agricultural agent.

4-H and FFA members will have a chance to bring in exhibits and take part in a clinic during the show. A special contest or clinic has been set up by vocational agricultural teachers, reports Peter Probasco, vocational agriculture instructor at Lincoln high school.

The grain clinic set up for members will include grain grading and identifications of weeds, weed seeds and other specimens. The group taking part will meet in the basement of the city auditorium at 10 a. m. for a briefing. The participants will then do their identification work.

A noon luncheon will be served free of charge to all members taking part in the clinic. Three awards will be provided to the highest scoring FFA or 4-H members.

Vocational agricultural instructors from the area assisting in making arrangements for the clinic are: Larry Foley, Goodridge; Tom Hassett, Plummer; Tom Kojer, Middle River; and Peter Probasco, TRF.

4-H members and FFA members are urged to bring in grain, small seed and forage exhibits. Premiums will be paid in all lots where exhibits are received. The more entries there are in a lot, the more premiums of higher value will be paid. Where there are one to 10 samples the premiums will be $3, $2, and $1; 10 to 20 samples: $4, $3, $2, $1; over 20 samples: $5, $4, $3, $2, $1.

Two quarts of cleaned grain or one quart of cleaned legume or grass seed will constitute and exhibit. In the bin-run, uncleaned division, one bushel of any grain and two quarts of legume or grass is an exhibit. A separate certified division requires one bushel of

Bounty Payments Totals $1,659 In Pennington

Bounty payments in Pennington county for 1961 totaled $1,659 with a total of 499 fox, 13 brush wolves and three bobcats being taken, according to C. W. Rodekuhr, Pennington county auditor.

The total included 104 fox pups, $1 each, $104; 395 adult fox, $3 each, $1,185; 13 brush wolves, $25 each, $325; and three bobcats, $15 each, $45. Of the total paid, $644.50 came from county funds on fox bounty while $1,014.50 came from the state department of conservation for half payment on fox bounty and entire payment on wolf and bobcat bounty.

Plan for Addition to N.W. Hospital in 1963

Rehabilitation Unit Will Hinge on Hill-Burton Grant

Plans for an addition to the present facilities were discussed by the board of trustees of Northwestern Hospital at a special meeting Thursday night. Gordon Comb of the firm of Bettenburg, Townsend, Stolte and Comb, architects, and Dick Ekholm, architectual engineer, presented preliminary sketches of the new facilities for convalescent and nursing care that are being considered.

Dr. Miland E. Knapp of the department of physical medicine of the University of Minnesota, and director of physical medicine and rehabilitation at the Kenny Rehabilitation Institute at Minneapolis, attended the session and offered suggestions based on his long service for the special needs of patients receiving this type of care.

Revised sketches will be presented at a meeting tentatively set for February 15, when Dr. Knapp is scheduled to make his third appearance here in a program of instruction for members of the medical and hospital staffs in the diagnosis and treatment of patients who are chronically ill or suffering from injuries, or strokes with resulting paralysis.

The sketches examined Thursday night provided for an extension of the present building northward to First Street and some rearranging of the facilities in the present building. The extension would make available 42 additional beds, special rooms for physical and occupational therapy, and suitable lounge and recreation rooms. There would be sidewalk-level entrances from both LaBree Ave. and First St.

More adequate equipment would be made available for the treatment of disabled patients to make them more self-sufficient and be able to return to their homes. Through occupational therapy young people would be trained to enable them to return to employment.

The proposed expansion will not be possible unless a hoped-for grant of federal aid materializes. Hospital officials are confident that with a grant it will be possible to proceed with the project without any further solicitation of contributions.

An application for a grant of Hill-Burton funds will be made some time in June and the planning is proceeding with that deadline in mind. If the project is approved it is hoped that money will

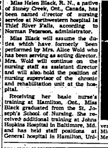
N.W. Hospital Has Nursing Director

Miss Helen Black, R. N., a native of Stoney Creek, Ont., Canada, has been named director of nursing service at Northwestern hospital in Thief River Falls, according to Norman Peterson, administrator.

Miss Black will assume the duties which have formerly been performed by Mrs. Alice Wold who has been serving as acting director. Mrs. Wold will continue on the nursing staff as assistant director and will also hold the position of nursing supervisor of the chronic and rehabilitation unit at the hospital.



Receiving her basic nurse's training at Hamilton, Ont., Miss Black graduated from the St. Joseph's School of Nursing. She received additional training at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, Md. and has held staff positions at General hospital in Hamilton, University, Hospital at Ann Arbor, Michigan, and Apple River Valley Memorial hospital at Amery, Wis.

2 Fugitives Wanted by FBI Are Nabbed by Sheriff C. R. Richards

Two fugitives wanted by the FBI for unlawful flight to escape punishment for robbery and wanted by local authorities for robbery at a county farm home last April, were apprehended by Sheriff Charles Richards and Deputy Eugene Presteggard near St. Hilaire Thursday evening.

Lyle Thorp, 31, Fargo, an escapee from the Williston, N. D. jail, and his companion, Eleanor Norheim, 23 St. Hilaire, were picked up by the local officers after they had received a call from the FBI saying the hunted pair was in the area.

The Norheim woman has relatives living near St. Hilaire so Richards and Presteggard drove to the locality and spotted a car answering the description of one which Thorpe was driving at the time he escaped after a high-speed chase following the robbery of the Marvin Gilbertson farm home in Smiley twp. April 12, 1961. The officers stopped the car and the occupants showed false identification, but to no avail, as Richards and Presteggard recognized Thorpe and the woman from pictures circulated of the two.

They were brought to Thief River Falls and lodged in the city jail overnight, after which they waived

B. Wichterman Says He'll Seek Congress Post

Has Served 4 Terms as Representative In the Legislature

State Rep. Ben Wichterman, Plummer Liberal, Saturday announced DFL nomination for Congress in the new 7th district.

Wichterman, 38, is a farmer and owner of aerial crop-spraying service.

He has served four terms in the state house of representatives.

During the 1961 session he was chairman of the House education committee. He now is chairman of the education subcommittee of the legislative research committee.

Wichterman is state DFL treasurer. This year he served as chairman of the caucus of Liberal legislators from the old 9th congressional district.

Incumbent U. S. representative from the old 9th District is Republican Odin Langen, Kennedy. He is serving his second term. He is expected to run in the new 7th.

"President Kennedy and his administration have succeeded in getting America moving again," Wichterman said in announcing his candidacy.

"The administration has worked hard for liberal legislation and continues to do so over the opposition of conservatives in Congress.

"The basic issue in this election will be whether we intend to move ahead under the Kennedy programs or slip back to the policies of earlier years."

Wichterman, his wife, Roma, and their nine children live on a farm near Plummer.

Orchids for the Ladies

C of C Annual Event Expects To Draw 175

Attendance is expected to total approximately 175 persons at the annual meeting of the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce to be held Thursday at 6:30 p.m. in the basement of St. Bernard's Catholic church, according to Phil Hess, committee chairman. An unusually large number of wives of chamber members is anticipated this year due to several attractions.

Free orchids will be presented to all women attending the meeting and tickets for the turkey dinner will be $1.75 for chamber members and $1.25 for their wives. The program, which features a comprehensive outline of Chamber of Commerce activities, is also expected to be of special interest to wives of members.

One new feature of the event this year will be the presentation of an outstanding citizen award. Annual meeting committee members are being very secretive about the recipient of the award and the unique manner in which the presentation will take place.

Dr. O. D. Beich will serve as master of ceremonies for the banquet program.

No outside speakers will be included in the program this year with program time devoted to outlining actiivties and work of the local Chamber of Commerce. Dr. George Martin, 1961 president of the organization, will review the year's activities and Joe Holter, head of the chamber for 1962, will note some of the plans for the coming year.

Individual speakers and their topics include Arnold Kelly, finance; James Smillie, office and staff services; Stanley Pladson, agriculture; J. J. Womack, business and industrial development; Gene Beito, community welfare; C. L. Charlson, education; Carl Lee, government; Otto Stenberg, membership and finance; Randal Noper, public relations; Gene Gaer, retail trade; and Stan Wilson, transportation and communication.

Tickets are available at the Chamber of Commerce office in the city auditorium or canvassers appointed by Donald M. Olson, ticket chairman.

Northern State Notes Increase

Increased footings of more than $400,000 during 1961 were noted by Northern State Bank it was reported to stockholders at the annual meeting held Tuesday in Thief Falls. Total resources increased from $4,679,489 in 1960 to $5,201,769 in 1961.

George A. Beito was reelected president of the bank with all other officers also reelected. They include Gene Beito, vice president; Orville Hanson, cashier and auditor; and Lester Gustafson, assistant cashier. Directors were also reelected.

Mrs. Ken Onken Reelected Head of St. John Ladies

St. John church ladies held their regular meeting and election of officers in the church parlors Wednesday, January 17. A joint opening devotional was led by Rev. A. C. Seitz, with the church men who also held their annual meeting at that time. Mrs. Tom Fuller spoke on the evening's topic "Christian love compels world wide vision in our mission".

Reelected president was Mrs. Ken Onken; reelected vice president, Mrs. Marvin Koop; secretary, Mrs. Leo Goulet; treasurer, Miss Ann Zinter; and on the board of directors, Mrs. Harry Jasperson and Mrs. Ken Kohler. On the nominating committee were Mrs. Elmer Andersen, Mrs. Maynard Mehrkens and Mrs. Bob Benke.

The group voted to change the circles, and members drew for new circles for the year. There was a brief meeting following church services Sunday for those not in attendance at this meeting.

Members are to attend their original circles for the Tuesday, January 23, meetings which are: 2 p. m. Elizabeth at the Mrs. William Puppe residence; Miriam at the Mrs. Albert Horter home; 3 p. m. Joyce Loiland is Wed to Robert Ruud Recently

Miss Joyce Christine Loiland of Minneapolis became the bride of Robert Ruud of Twin Valley in a private ceremony at the Harry A. Meyers home in this city. Rev. Selvin Meland performed the double ring ceremony Friday, December 29 at 8:30 p. m.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Loiland of Goodridge and the groom is the son of Mrs. Annie Ruud of Twin Valley.

The bride was gowned in a floor length lace over satin gown with the fitted bodice featuring a sabrina neckline. Her bridal bouquet was of red and white roses. Attending as matron of honor was Mrs. John Loyland, sister-in-law of the bride of this city. She wore a light petal blue dress with satin cummerbund and her flowers were of baby red roses with white carnations.

John Loyland, brother of the groom, was best man. The gentlemen of the wedding party were attired in dark suits with white carnation boutonnieres.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Loiland wore a blue dress with matching accessories while the groom's mother wore a grey blue dress with matching accessories. Both wore corsages of white mums and red roses.

A wedding reception for about 80 friends and relatives was held in the basement room of the Rex Cafe. Decorations were carried out in the color theme of blue and white. A three tiered wedding cake with blue decorations was topped by a miniature bride and groom. Cutting and serving the cake was Mrs. Jesse Anderson, aunt of the bride of Goodridge while pouring were Mrs. Mordy Morrison of Goodridge and Mrs. Louis Hruby of this city. Cathy Hruby and Jean Krbechek were waitresses and Cathy Walker of Goodridge had charge of the guest book. At the gift table were Mmes. Ruud, sisters in law of the groom. Those assisting at the reception wore corsages of red and white carnations.

Mrs. Ruud attended the area vocational school of practical nursing in this city and was employed as a L. P. N. at Abbott hospital in Minneapolis. Mr. Ruud is stationed with the U. S. Army at Fort Chaffee in Arkansas where the couple are making their home.

Out of town guests came from Thompson, N. D., Crookston, Oklee, Twin Valley and Gilbert, Minn.

Science Fields To Be Explored At HS Institute

Lawrence Brown Heads Committee for Event To Be Held at Lincoln

Noted scientists from several Minnesota colleges will be guest speakers at the second annual institute for science teachers to be held Friday and Saturday at Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls. Lawrence J. Brown, science instructor at Lincoln, is chairman of the institute committee: which also includes Ray Green of Warroad and Dr. Harold Peters of Bemidji.

The institute is sponsored by the Minnesota Academy of Science under a grant from the National Science Foundation. Last year's meeting was held on an experimental basis and was so successful that a second institute was planned for this year, Brown said. Other states have also adolpted the plan.

Speakers on Friday will be Dr. Eiler Henrickson, associate professor of geology at Carlton College, Northfield, who will discuss geological adventures in Alaska; and Dr. William Britton, Bemidji State College, who will speak at the 6 p. m. banquet.

Speaking on the Saturday program will be Dr. Karlis Kaufmanis Gustavus Adolphus College, St. Peter, "The Visible Universe"; and Dr. Cyrus P. Barnum Jr., department of physiological chemistry, University of Minnesota, "Nucleic Acids, Proteins and Genes". Approximately 40 science teachers are expected to attend the institute.

MRS. OSCAR CHRISTENSON

Something new . . something different. . . Graham Cracker Fluff gives the usual ingredients an interesting taste. This light dessert is a favorite with the Christenson family and may be one of yours. . . try it!

GRAHAM CRACKER FLUFF

Melt 6 tbls. butter with 6 tbls. brown sugar and add to 16 or 18 finely crushed graham crackers. Mix well and line mixture in an 8 x 12 inch pan leaving some of the crumb mixture for topping.

Soak one plackage Knox plain gelatine in 1-3 cup cold water then mix together ½ cup suger, ¾ cup milk and 2 beaten egg yolks. Cook in double boiler for 1 minute. Remove from heat, add gelatine and 1 tsp. vanilla. Set in cool place until it begins to thicken, then add 2 stiffly beaten egg whites, 1 cup cream, whipped and mix well. Pour into pan lined with cracker crust mixture. Chill until set and serve.

Mr. and Mrs. Christenson live on a 160 acre farm northeast of Holt and Mr. Christenson is employed at the Agassiz Wildlife Refuge. They have six children, Doreen Rentz, Dallas Wilcox, Odell and DelRay Christenson of Minneapolis and St. Paul, Audrey Schipper of Crookston, and Orrin Christenson stationed with the U. S. Four City Traffic Accidents Cause over $1,000 Damage

Police Report Damage to the Cars Involved Ranged as High as $250

Over $1000 estimated damages resulted from four collisions in the city since Thursday and this does not include two minor mishaps which would bring the total over $1100, police reported today.

The first collision was at 1:30 p. m. Thursday when a car driven south on Atlantic by William Mehrkens, rt. 2, was unable to negotiate the turn at E. Second st. due to icy conditions and struck another vehicle driven by Leonard M. Furuseth, city, in the left-front door.

Damage to the Furseth vehicle was estimated at $175, to Mehrkens', $55.

A three-car mishap at Horace and Third resulted in $150 damage to one of the cars involved about 2:30 p. m. Friday. An eastbound car driven by Russell Jasperson, rt. 1, Plummer, struck a car driven south on Horace across Third by Victor Anderson, city. The Anderson car then careened into a third car driven by Sadie B. Bugge, city, who had stopped facing north on Horace to wait for traffic to clear on Third.

Oddly enough, the only car damaged in the encounter was Anderson's, with an estimate of $150 listed by police.

Another story with an odd twist was that of Albert C. Larson, city, who had difficulty turning off Horace onto Fifth st. and struck a semi-trailer rig driven by Harlan D. Pierce, Duluth, who was going west on Fifth. The mishap, which occurred about 10:15 a. m. Saturday, was unusual in that the heavier vehicle sustained an estimated $250 damages, while Larson's car had only about $100 damages.

At noon Sunday a car driven west on First st. by Pearl Adamson, rt. 1, was struck in the rear by Duane F. Pansegrum, Karlstad, as the woman waited for the light at Main av. to change. Estimated damages to the Adamson car were estimated at $200, to Pansegum's $75.

Ain't Cold — Just Normal

by V. M. Draper
Times Staff Member

A look at the January weather records from years past shows the recent cold snap to be more the rule than the exception, much as we hate to say it. Our current plight is normal for this time of year.

For instance, January 1959 was a real wing-dinger, with temperatures below normal most of the month. The low that month was in the thirties—minus 32 to be exact. Only three inches of snow fell that month.

January 1960 was quite mild by comparison and the lowest temperature that month—and for the entire year 1960— was 24 below. Snowfall that month totaled 7.5 inches compared with 9.4 inches thus far this January.

A year ago we were again in a very frigid period and the temperature dropped to 32 below Jan. 24. Twenty days during that month the temperature dropped below zero, eight days it stayed below zero. Again, we had 7.5 inches of snow.

January is just past the halfway mark and already (as of Friday) we have endured 14 days of subzero readings, seven of which had high temperatures below the cipher. Thus far our snowfall has been 9.4 inches.

So, we may be on our way to having the coldest January in many years but it doesn't look too scary when compared with the same month in 1959 and 1960. It's great weather for the folks who sell fuel, although there's a rumor furnace servicemen have been nigh to tearing their hair of late.

Since the Times began keeping a permanent weather record some years ago, this has become quite a fascinating duty for some staff members. And, to high school seniors wondering what field to study in college, we would highly recommend meteorology, the study of weather.

How well weather forecasters are paid we can't say—but the hours are good and a lot of prestige goes with the job. Most of all, it is a very satisfying occupation. New developments in meteorology are making it a more accurate science while the need for greater knowledge of weather, the need for more accuracy in forecasting it, is creating new openings in the field.

Interest Shown In Organization of EAA Chapter

Cold Weather Forces Postponement Thursday of Officer Election

Greatly increased interest in activities of Minn-Kota chapter, Experimental Aircraft association, was displayed Thursday evening when the largest number of people to attend a chapter meeting thus far were on hand at the airport. Membership in the organization showed a small increase also, and now numbers 14.

However, the extreme cold curtailed attendance of some out-of-town members and the election of officers was postponed until the next meeting, which will be held February 15. It has been decided that meetings will be held the third Thursday of each month until further notice so that area EAA members can always be sure of when the chapter meets, whether a notice is received or not.

Following the film at Thursday's meeting, the formal portion of the program was dispensed with and the rest of the evening was spent "hangar flying". Refreshments were served.

Dorothy Haugen Wins Goodridge Home-maker Title

Senior Student Is Now Eligible To Compete for $1500 State Scholarship

Dorothy Jayne Haugen was selected Homemaker of Tomorrow at Goodridge high school in the eighth annual contest for senior girls conducted by General Mills. She achieved the highest score in the examination on homemaking knowledge and attitudes taken December 5 and now becomes eligible along with winners in other Minnesota high schools for the title of state Homemaker of Tomorrow.

The girl named State Homemaker of Tomorrow is provided a $1,500 scholarship by General Mills, sponsor of the program. The state runner-up will receive a $500 scholarship.

In addition, the State Homemaker of Tomorrow and her school advisor, Miss O'Neal, will join with other state winners in an expense-paid educational tour of New York City, Washington, D. C. and Colonial Williamsburg, Va. At the latter, the 1962 All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow will be named.

The national winner will have her scholarship raised to $5,000 with second, third and fourth place winners being granted scholarships of $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000 respectively.

The knowledge and attitude test, prepared and scored by Science Research Associates, Chicago, is the basis for selection of local and state winners with personal observation and interviews serving as factors in national judging.

The 1962 Betty Crocker Search reached another all-time high in enrollment with 406,132 girls in 12,874 schools participating. The program now is in its eighth year. By the end of this year, more than two and a half million girls will have participated and scholarship awards will have totaled more than three quarters of a million dollars.

Teen-age Nutrition Is Feast or Famine

Teenage diets may be described as either a feast or a famine, a University of Minnesota nutritionist told a Farm and Home Week audience of homemakers Wednesday on the University's St. Paul Campus.

Teenagers as a group have poor food habits—particularly girls, Mrs. Margaret Doyle, assistant professor of nutrition, declared at a special session for homemakers.

The feast in teenage diets is usually an over abundance of certain foods such as sweets and high-fat snacks which have little to offer except calories. The famine may be of such important nutrients as vitamins, minerals and protein.

Babies and children under 10 have excellent food records, the University nutritionist pointed out, but when children reach an age where they begin to make their own food choices, their record seems to deteriorate.

With the current trend to early marriage, many girls have the added stress of pregnancy at a point where their own growth and development may barely be completed. If the nutritional habits of these girls are poor, it is likely that the food habits of the new families they are starting will also be poor, Mrs. Doyle said.

Among the principal reasons for the inadequate diets of teenagers, the speaker listed poor choice of snacks and skipping breakfast. Snacks should be a part of the total food picture. Snacks such as fruit, milk, cheese sandwiches, hamburgers all contribute important nutrients as contrasted with candy bars and soft drinks which provide little except calories.

Though boys' dietary practices are better than those of girls, boys' diets are likely to be lacking in vitamin C because boys don't like fruits and vegetables. Girls' diets often lack protein and iron. Calcium, vitamin A and riboflavin are often lacking in the diets of both boys and girls because they drink too little milk and don't eat enough fruits and vegetables.

Teenagers should get the advice and leadership they need to improve their diets from the example set by parents at home, Mrs. Doyle declared. Schools and the school lunch program may in some cases play a role of great importance in improving teenage diets, she added.

CHAMBER L.I.F.E.

Living-Industry-Farming-Education

By Rolly Larson

Thursday evening, January 25th at 6:30 p. m. at St. Bernard's church the Chamber of Commerce will hold its 48th annual banquet and meeting. This meeting should be the largest and most important meeting of the year for the organization.

It is to be expected, however, that a certain percentage of the membership will be absent. In many instances this is excusable. There will be some, as always, who will not be present who have other pressing matters preventing them from attending. There will also be a certain percentage who will be absent who have no real excuse. Every member sho is sincerely concerned about the welfare of Thief River Falls and can possibly make it should be there.

This year the board of directors is continuing on with an organizational rebuilding program that began about a year ago. Constructing an organizational structure that is truly versatile and workable in every respect is no easy task. It requires many and varied methods and a whole lot of patience and hard work.

An organizational structure, as we refer to it, is a very real thing. The material used in its construction is the most real material in the world—people. When you stop and think that there are about 8,000 people in Thief River, employed by some 300 businesses directly or indirectly, one can realize the importance of having a strong and active organization such as the Chamber of Commerce. To have it best organized to build and to serve the Thief River Falls area is essential.

This annual meeting is another stage in developing the organization. It will mean displaying leadership, it will mean communications to the membership, and it will serve as a prelude to some very busy future months.

So it is important that as many members as possible be at the annual meeting. From a personal or a public or from a business point of view, it can only be said that attending the annual meeting of your local Chamber of Commerce is a fundamental obligation of each member for the good of everyone concerned.

Each of us, too, should be concerned enough to Shop and Trade Where Bargains Are Made—Here in the Heart of Northwest Minnesota, Thief River Falls.

Tips for Cooking Lamb

Lamb is easy to cook, but here are three important rules to follow:

(1) Cook according to the cut;
(2) Always use a low temperature;
(3) Avoid overcooking.

As a rule all lamb cuts are tender, so they can be cooked with dry heat. For roasting usually the leg, shoulder, rib and loin cuts are used. Chops from these cuts are broiled, pan-broiled or fried. Riblets, shanks, breasts, stew meat and neck slices should be cooked by moist heat by either braising or simmering.

Always serve lamb piping hot or else cold — NEVER lukewarm.

Lamb Fricassee

2 tablespoons salad oil
2 lbs. lamb shoulder cut in 2-inch cubes
1½ cups sliced carrots
3 medium-sized onions, sliced
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon dehydrated mint flakes
1½ tablespoons all-purpose flour
1½ tablespoons cold water
Cooked rice

Heat oil. Add lamb and cook until lightly browned on all sides. Drain off drippings. Add 1½ cups water, carrots, onions, salt, pepper and mint flakes. Cover and cook over low heat two hours. Combine flour and 1½ tablespoons water; blend. Add to lamb mixture. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until thickened. Serve lamb mixture over rice. Serve with peas, as desired.

Come to the Seed and Feed Show Friday, February 2, and you will be able to learn more about different kinds of meats and how to select quality meat and prepare it. Any interested women can attend this discussion at 1:30 p. m., February 2, in the basement of the city auditorium.

Citrus Fruits Best Out of Refrigerator

Citrus fruits, melons and pineapples actually have better eating quality when kept out of the refrigerator at room temperatures of 60 to 70 degrees F. Although a short stay in the refrigerator does not noticeably harm them, a long period of refrigeration causes the skin of citrus fruits to become pitted and the flesh to discolor.

A foreign exchange teacher from Germany now teaching at Goodridge will be guest speaker.

Local Girl Scout Meeting Planned

All interested adults are encouraged to attend a reorganization meeting of the local Girl Scout organization to be held Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in the city auditorium. Miss Margeret Keeley, regional advisor, will discuss activities of the Northwestern Minnesota Girl Scout Council.

Perfect Cribbage Hand Drawn by Gordon Dow

One of the rarities of the card world appeared at the Gordon Dow home Sunday in a three-handed game of cribbage being played by Gordon, his son Murray and John Wettestad. Gordon held three fives and a jack of hearts and then cut the five of hearts for a perfect hand. Odds against a perfect hand, particularly in a three-handed game, are high in the millions.

ELECTRIC HEATING SOLVED OUR PROBLEM

ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA

Mr. and Mrs Bennie Johnson who live 3½ miles southeast of St. Hilaire, say: "Our furnace was inadequate. When heat dropped, the theromatatically controlled heaters come on warming the house. This is the second winter. We have four units—a recessed bathroom heater, a living room unit (above), one in the kitchen and a smaller baseboard heater in the bedroom. In cold weather the furnace did not heat the bedroom. Now we can set it . . . or turn it on and off to suit ourselves. Our furnace is a wood furnace, so when the wood burns down, the thermostats are set and they take over."

SOLVE THAT COLD ROOM PROBLEM . . . ELECTRICALLY!

Get the facts on how supplemental electrical heat can solve your cold room problem. The installation of electrical heat is easy, and you can have heat anywhere in any room.

Individual thermostatically controlled heat panels make the cost of electrical heating very reasonable, too. Electrical heating is the safe, clean and permanent answer. To get the facts, see your electric contractor or your local REA cooperative.

Roy Oen Is Elected 1st Federal Director

ROY OEN

Roy Oen, life-time resident of Thief River Falls with the exception of college and coaching work for several years, was elected director of First Federal Savings and Loan association at the annual meeting held Wednesday. He succeeds the late Judge Paul A. Lundgren as director on the association board.

Stockholders were informed of an increase in total assets of the association to $7,857,000 at the end of 1961, an increase of 11.6 per cent from 1961, according to Stanton R. Dahlen, president. Savings accounts at the end of the year totaled $7,375,000 a gain of $827,000 from the previous year, and dividend payments to savers totaled $245,000, an all-time high for the institution.

Dollar value of the home mortgage loan portfolio increased to $6,036,000 and the association's reserves also showed a gain of 9.4 per cent, bringing the total to $416,000, Dahlen said.

F. E. Tunberg and W. W. Prichard were reelected directors of the association and officers were reelected. They include Dahlen, president; Tunberg, vice president; Milton J. Reierson, secretary-treasurer; Helen Ellingson, assistant secretary; and Mrs. Dorothy Morehouse, Eileen Rhodegard and Mrs. Madeline Stadum, assistant treasurers. Stanley N. Mortenson was renamed attorney for the association.

Oen is a 1928 graduate of Lincoln high school and 1933 graduate of the University of Minnesota where he was center and captain of the Golden Gophers football team. Following graduation he coached at Hibbing and at Oberlin College in Ohio, returning to Thief River Falls and going into business here in 1937 with his father, the late Rasmus Oen.

He currently operates Oen's Appliance and Oen's Fuel Service at the corner of Eighth st. and Atlantic av. where the business has been located since 1948. He is a member and past president of the Thief River Falls Rotary club, a past president of the Chamber of Commerce and an active member of Community Methodist church where he has held numerous offices and currently is a trustee.

According to authorities here, the FBI was enroute to the area to hunt the pair. Richards and Prestegaard saved them the trouble by being at the right place at the right time, resulting in the arrest.

In addition to the robbery charge against him here Thorpe is wanted for the Williston jailbreak and will very likely face bad check charges as he and the woman allegedly left numerous worthless checks in the wake of their travels through several states.

O. R. Knutson Is Chief Justice of State High Court

Former Warren Lawyer Is Elevated Sunday by Gov. Elmer L. Andersen

Oscar R. Knutson, associate justice of the Minnesota Supreme Court, was appointed chief justice Sunday.

In announcing the appointment, Gov. Elmer L. Andersen said Knutson would be sworn in at 9 a. m. Friday.

The 62-year-old justice was appointed to the state Supreme court in 1948. He will replace Roger L. Dell, who has been chief justice since July 16, 1953.

Dell, 64, has said he has no definite plans, but may go back to practicing law.

Knutson, 1230 Roselawn Av. W., Roseville, attended St. Olaf College, Northfield, Minn., and received his law degree from the University of Minnesota in 1927.

He was a lawyer in Warren, Minn., from 1927 to 1941, and served as mayor of Warren for three terms. He was manager of the Warren Telephone Co. for 10 years.

In 1941 he was appointed a district judge, and in 1942 he was elected to that post.

He was appointed an associate supreme court justice in 1948 and won election to the bench later in 1948 and again in 1954 and 1960.

3d Train Wrecked on Soo Line in N.D.

24 Cars of Oil and Coal Burn Thursday at Eckman

Eighteen cars of crude oil and six of lignite coal left the Soo Line tracks and burned a mile east of Eckman, N. D., early Thursday. Eckman is north of Minot in Bottineau county.

The cars that left the track, Soo Line officials said, were in the middle of eastbound freight No. 214.

Some 440 feet of track was torn up as the cars plowed down the roadbed.

Cause of the derailment, which occured before 3 a. m., was not determined, Soo officials said.

It was the third Soo Line wreck in North Dakota during the past week.

Monday 12 cars left the track four miles east of Kintyre in Emmons county, and Tuesday 23 cars of a mixed train were derailed 15 miles east of Devils Lake.

All types of talent are invited to enter the contest whether it is individual or group, instumental, vocal or a combination. Auditions will be held at one o'clock on the afternoon of February 20 in the Central High School auditorium.

Assistance from Gov't. Offered On Tax Returns

Revenue Agents To Be Stationed in Crookston To Assist Taxpayers

George O. Lethert, district director of Internal Revenue, St. Paul, has named revenue agents Mogen and Shanahan responsible for assistance to taxpayers during the 1962 federal income tax filing period in the counties of Pennington and Marshall.

The Internal Revenue service has announced that it will be its policy to advise and assist taxpayers in preparing their own returns. The service will render assistance and advice to taxpayers where clarification and explanation is necessary concerning the returns preparation instructions or filing requirements.

Shanahan and Mogen, who are located at Room 202, post office building, Crookston, will be available from 12:45 to 4:45 p. m. on Fridays from January 5 through April 13, 1962. They will offer tax assistance to those persons who are in need of help in preparing their 1961 Federal tax returns.

Taxpayers have a choice of either card form 1040A or long form 1040. Card Form 1040A cannot be used by taxpayers who have $10,000 or more income, or who wish to identify deductions, claim the "sick pay exclusion" or make estimated tax payments.

Form 1040 should be used by all other taxpayers. It has been reduced to a single page form, except for those who have supplemental income, or dividends or retirement credit. Schedule B to form 1040 should be used to report supplemental income.

Co. Agent Urges Ordering Trees for Next Spring

Reports Ample Supplies of Pine and White Spruce Are Still Obtainable

Ample supplies of Norway, white and Jack pine and white spruce at $10 per thousand trees for conservation planting are still available from the state division of forestry nurseries, according to County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk.

But supplies of black spruce, Colorado blue spruce, balck walnut, balsam fir, Russian olive, honeysuckle, and hard maple are exhausted.

Some white cedar at $10 per thousand and American elm, green ash, box elder, caragana, and Ginnala maple are still available. Ponderosa pine and white spruce transplant four-year old trees are available at $20 per thousand, and three-year old trees of these same species may be purchased for $10 per thousand. With the exception of white spruce, all of these types of trees are available, but supplies are low and prompt ordering is necessary to insure getting the desired number of trees.

Extension foresters at the University of Minnesota state that no order is accepted for less than 500 trees, but trees may be ordered in multiples of 100 to make up the required 500 total. For further information and application blanks, see your county agent, or SCD office.

Some tree stocks may be secured from North Dakota Forest Service. These trees include Colorado blue spruce, 2-2 stock, $40 per thousand; Ponderosa Pine, 2-1, $30 per thousand.

Milton Leiran, Thief River Falls, has been elected chronicler of Sigma Alpha Epsilon social fraternity at the University of North Dakota. Vernon Hebert of Grand Forks is president of the organization.

Welcome Relief from Sub-zero Readings Noted

Mercury Rockets Upward To Three Degrees Today; Snow Falls, of Course

After seven days in succession of sub-zero temperatures around the clock, the cold has abated a little and at 8:30 a. m. today the temperature stood at 3 above zero for the first time since Sunday, January 14.

This seven-day stretch of cold weather is the longest cold snap in the past four winters and during that week the coldest temperature recorded in four years also occurred, 35 below on Wednesday, January 17.

The day-by-day rundown of temperatures since Thursday is as follows: Thursday, high 11 below, low 27 below; Friday, -5 and -24; Saturday, -5 and -24; Sunday, -3 and -19, and the low last night was -12. Two inches of new snow which fell early Sunday brings the January total to 11.4 inches.

The forecast calls for partly cloudy skies through Tuesday with scattered light snow flurries in extreme northern Minnesota. Not quite so cold today with high temperatures ranging from 5 to 10 above.

Colder temperatures will return tonight, however, when the low expected will range from 10 to 20 below.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Melin and David joined the Bud Hallstrom family of Moorhead for supper at the Henry Melin home in Red Lake Falls Friday.

COUNTY BOARD PROCEEDINGS

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS, BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS PENNINGTON COUNTY, MINN.

January 11, 1962

Pursuant to Petition of the Commissioner of Highways and Notice of Hearings published according to Law the Board of County Commissioners met in the 1st Floor Meeting Room in the Courthouse at 4:00 P.M., January 11, 1962.

Members present: Hanson, Olson, Almquist, Lindberg and Tasa. All present.

Wm. Bottemiller and E. C. Pearson appeared for the Petitioner with no objectors appearing.

After discussion and upon motion of Almquist seconded by Lindberg the following Orders were ordered to be entered into the record:

ORDER OF COUNTY BOARD

Re: Petition of State of Minnesota, By James C. Marshall, its Commissioner of Highways, for the right to make minor alterations of changes in County Ditch No. 1 (Sanders-Black River) in Pennington County.

The above entitled matter came on for hearing before the County Board of Pennington County, in Thief River Falls, Minnesota, on the 11th day of January, 1962, at 4:00 o'clock P.M.

The petitioner appeared by William Bottemiller.

The petitioner presented evidence in support of its petition for permission to make minor alterations or changes in Pennington County Ditch No. 1 (San.-Bl.), all as shown in the plan sheets attached to the petition.

It was made to appear that the minor alterations or changes in said Pennington County Ditch No. 1 (San. BR.), petitioned for by the petitioner would be advantageous or desirable in the maintenance and construction of Trunk Highway 1-33.

It was further made to appear that said minor alterations or changes in said Pennington County Ditch No. 1 (San.-BR.), would in no way impair the efficiency or functioning of the drainage system.

The County Board having heard the evidence adduced by the petitioner in support of its petition for permission to make minor alterations or changes in Pennington County Ditch No. 1 (San.-BR.), all as shown in plan sheets, marked Exhibit "A", and made a part thereof, hereby makes its order consenting to and granting permission to said petitioner to make the minor alterations or changes in Pennington County Ditch No. 1 (San.-BR.), as shown in Exhibit marked "A" and made a part thereof.

The Board further orders that the petitioner, State of Minnesota, by James C. Marshall, Commissioner of Highways, pay to the County of Pennington, the sum of $24.00 for publication fees, and $16.65 for fees, incurred by said County in this matter.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED BY THE BOARD that damages, if any for any additional lands necessary for said changes or alterations shall be paid by the petitioner herein.

Dated at Thief River Falls, Minnesota, this 11th day of January, 1962.

ORDER OF COUNTY BOARD

Re: Petition of State of Minnesota, By James C. Marshall, its Commissioner of Highways, for the right to make minor alterations or changes in County Ditch No. 68, and Branches No. 1 and No. 2 in Pennington County.

The above entitled matter came on for hearing before the County Board of Pennington County, in Thief River Falls, Minnesota, on the 11th day of January, 1962, at 4:00 P.M.

The petitioner appeared by William Bottemiller.

The petitioner presented evidence in support of its petition for permission to make minor alterations or changes in Pennington County Ditch No. 68, Branches No. 1 and No. 2, all as shown in the plan sheets attached to the petition.

It was made to appear that the minor alterations or changes in said Pennington County Ditch No. 68, petitioned for by the petitioner would be advantageous or desirable in the maintenance and construction of Trunk Highway 1-33.

It was further made to appear that said minor alterations or changes in said Pennington County Ditch No. 68 would in no way impair the efficiency or functioning of the drainage system.

The County Board having heard the evidence adduced by the petitioner in support of its petition for permission to make minor alterations or changes in Pennington County Ditch No. 68, all as shown in plan sheets, marked Exhibit "A", and made a part thereof, hereby makes its order consenting to and granting permission to said petitioner to make the minor alterations or changes in Pennington County Ditch No. 68, Branches No. 1 and No. 2, as shown in Exhibit marked "A" and made a part thereof.

The Board further orders that the Petitioner, State of Minnesota, by James C. Marshall, Commissioner of Highways, pay to the County of Pennington, the sum of $44.00 for publication fees and $16.65 for fees, incurred by said County in this matter.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that damages, if any, for any additional lands necessary for said changes or alterations shall be paid by the petitioner herein.

ORDER OF COUNTY BOARD

Re: Petition of State of Minnesota, By James C. Marshall, its Commissioner of Highways, for the right to make minor alterations or changes in County Ditch No. 70, in Pennington County.

The above entitled matter came on for hearing before the County Board of Pennington County, in Thief River Falls, Minnesota, on the 11th day of January, 1962, at 4:00 o'clock P.M.

The petitioner appeared by William Bottemiller.

The petitioner presented evidence in support of its petition for permission to make minor alterations or changes in Pennington County Ditch No. 70, all as shown in the plan and cross-section sheets attached to the petition.

It was made to appear that the minor alterations or changes in said Pennington County Ditch No. 70, petitioned for by the petitioner would be advantageous or desirable in the maintenance and construction of Trunk Highway 1-33.

It was further made to appear that said minor alterations or changes in said Pennington County Ditch No. 70 would in no way impair the efficiency or functioning of the Drainage system.

The County Board having heard the evidence adduced by the petitioner in support of its petition for permission to make minor alterations or changes in Pennington County Ditch No. 70, all as shown in plan and cross-section sheets, marked Exhibit "A", and made a part thereof, hereby makes its order consenting to and granting permission to said petitioner to make the minor alterations or changes in Pennington County Ditch No. 70, as shown in Exhibit marked "A" and made a part thereof.

The Board further orders that the petitioner, State of Minnesota, by James C. Marshall, Commissioner of Highways, pay to the County of Pennington, the sum of $28.50 for publication fees, and $16.70 for fees, incurred by said County in this matter.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED BY THE BOARD that damages, if any, for any additional lands necessary for said changes or alterations shall be paid by the petitioner herein.

Dated at Thief River Falls, Minnesota, this 11th day of January, 1962.

Board of County Commissioners:
s/ Glenn Tasa
s/ M. A. Lindberg
s/ Odin C. Hanson
s/ Don Olson
s/ Woodrow Almquist

Moved by Lindberg seconded by Hanson that meeting adjourn.

Carried.

Glenn Tasa, Chairman,
Pennington County Board.

Attest:
C. W. Rodekuhr, County Auditor & ex-officio, Clerk of the Board.

January 11, 1962

The Board of County Commissioners met in Special Session in the Office of the County Auditor at 4:30 P.M., January 11, 1962.

All members of the County Board waived the 10-day Statutory notice required for special meetings.

Members present: Hanson, Olson, Almquist, Lindberg and Tasa. All present.

The Auditor read a resolution that had been received from the Jail study committee relative to a request for assistance from a Legislative Committee.

Commissioner Olson introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

Resolution Requesting Study by L.R.C.

WHEREAS, this County in conjunction with seven (7) other Counties in this area of the State have banded together to study problems presented by inadequate jails and related facilities, and

WHEREAS, this Joint Committee has requested L.R.C. assistance in this important matter,

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the L.R.C. be petitioned to set up a sub-committee to study the jail problem in the area as well as the entire State, and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that this resolution requesting such a study be forwarded to the Honorable Karl F. Grittner, Chairman of L.R.C. at the State Capitol, to Representative Ben Wichterman, Plummer, Minnesota and to Representative Everett Battles of Warroad, Minnesota.

The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Lindberg and declared carried.

Moved by Lindberg seconded by Almquist that meeting adjourn.

Carried.

Glenn Tasa, Chairman,
Pennington County Board.

Attest:
C. W. Rodekuhr, County Auditor and ex-officio, Clerk of the Board.

Prowler Quint Trips E. Grand Forks 54-47

In a hectic basketball game here Friday night, in which the score was tied at least once in every period, and nine times during the contest, coach Jack Junker's Prowlers outlasted coach Larry Selk's East Grand Forks team to score a 54-47 win. The defeat was the third of the season, and the first in district conference play, for the East Siders. It was the second win in nine starts for the locals, and the first in three games in district play.

The Prowlers will meet the Detroit Lakes Lakers in an inter-district game here on Saturday night, Jan. 27.

In Friday night's entertaining East Grand Forks, with burly forward Dennis Adair and nimble guard Don Blue leading the attack, held a slight margin over the Prowlers in the first half of play. The East Siders lead 17-15 at the end of the first period, and 27-25 at the intermission. In the first half of play, it was some accurate outside shooting by Gary Kelly, who was lofting the ball over the Green Wave zone defense, scoring five field goals, and some deft pivot shots from the lane by Tommy Lindberg, that kept the Prowlers within reach of the visitors.

In the third period the Prowlers outpointed the Green Wave, 11-8, with Lindberg scoring seven points, to give the locals a 36-35 lead entering the final eight minutes of play.

The score was in a 38-all knot with 7:17 to play of the final period when the Prowlers, on Lindberg's pivot shot, and Paul Klungness' rebound shot, moved into a 42 to 38 lead. Don Blue drove in for an East Grand Forks layup, but Wayne Bjerken, who played a strong floor game for the Prowlers, drove the lane for a field goal with 5:03 to play. Lindberg flipped a rebound into the east basket, giving the Prowlers a 46-40 lead. After Adair had added two points via the free-throw line, the Prowlers scored six points, on a field goal and four free throws, to take 52-42 lead with 1:50 to play. Blue and Harry Olson scored East Side field goals in the final minute, while Bjerken tallied a two-pointer for the Prowlers.

Tommy Lindberg proved to be the game's outstanding pointgetter, tallying 23 points on ten field goals and three free throws. But the other Prowlers turned in effective games, too. John Aune played a stellar defensive game; Bjerken was steady in bringing the ball up the court; Kelly, with his first-half shooting, disrupted the East Grand Forks' zone; and Paul Klungness, particularly in the second half, was effective in clearing the rebounds.

Dennis Adair, with 17 points, and Don Blue, with 14 points, were the East Siders who tallied in double figures.

Fosston Greyhounds Edge Prowler Quint

Coach Stan Otness' Fosston Greyhounds outlasted the Prowlers to eke out a 61-59 win in an inter-district basketball game played at Fosston on Saturday night.

In Saturday night's tilt, the Prowlers, with guard John Aune looping in four field goals, gained a 19-15 first period lead.

In the second period, the Greyhounds, with center Gary Erickson scoring a pair of field goals and three free throws, and Byron Schon adding a pair of field goals and two free throws, outpointed the locals 19-12, to take a 34-31 lead at the intermission.

In the third period, the Prowlers edged out the Greyhounds, 14-12, to pare the Fosston lead to one point, 46-45, entering the fourth period.

The Prowlers made a strong bid to overtake Fosston in the final period, with the locals' scoring pace being led by Wayne Bjerken's three field goals. Fosston resorted to ball-control tactics in the final minutes of the game, and the Prowlers were forced to commit fouls to obtain possession of the ball. And the Greyhounds added five points via the free-throw line in the final period.

Prowler guards, Aune and Bjerken, shared the game's high-point honors with 17 points apiece. John Aune had eight field goals and one free throw, while Wayne Bjerken had seven field goals and three free throws. Forward Schon and center Erickson, each with 16 points, led the Fosston scoring.

Sportsman's Club Plans Bean Feed for January 31

Committee Will Work On Improvement of Club Property Near City

Discussion of arrangements for the annual membership bean feed and plans for work on recently-acquired club property took place at the January meeting of the Pennington County Sportsmens club held Wednesday evening in the basement meeting room of the city auditorium.

Barbecued venison and baked beans will be on the menu for the bean feed which will be held January 31 in the city auditorium basement. All members who have paid their 1962 dues will be served free of charge and a fee of 50 cents will be charged to wives and other guests.

Membership in the organization will be offered at the door on the night of the event for those who have not previously registered for the 1962 club year, according to James Lee, club president. The program will feature movies and slides taken by local hunters on hunting trips to other states and Canada. Music will be furnished by the high school quartet and Marvin Lundin will serve as master of ceremonies.

Considerable time at the meeting was also devoted to planning needs for the 19 acres of club property located south of the city. A decision was made to order trees for windbreak planting along at least two sides of the property.

With Ed Rustad serving as chairman of the planning committee, the group will meet in the near future to organize long-range plans for development of the property and make arrangements for a large scale drawing of the area with proposed improvements. Some work on the site will be done this year with tree planting being given major consideration.

Two movies were also shown at the Wednesday meeting, one depicting flowers and animal life on the prairie and the other picturing Indian life along the Skeenah river in the Canadian Rockies.

STRETCHING high into the air on this rebound shot in the first half of Friday night's conquest of East Grand Forks is center Tom Lindberg of the Lincoln high school Prowlers. Lindberg had his finest night of the season, scoring 23 points to lead the Prowlers to a 54-47 victory. Dennis Adair, who led East Grand Forks with 17 points, watches the shot at left while Don Blue, who added 14 points to the Little Green Wave cause is behind Lindberg. George Hankerson of the Prowlers wears No. 52 in the foreground and Carl Coulter of East Side races in at the right for a possible rebound. It was the Prowlers first win in district 31 play and the first conference loss for the high-riding Green Wave.

Youth Hockey Week

This week, from the 20th through the 28th, has been designated by the American Hockey Association, as national Youth Hockey Week. And the motto for the week is: "This is Youth Hockey Weed—U. S. A. Don't send—TAKE your boy to the rink."

As a feature of the week here, Prowler hockey coaches Gene Sack and George Schlieff will conduct a hockey clinic at the Arena on Thursday afternoon, from 4:00 p. m. to 7:00 p. m. The clinic will be open to all youngsters in the grades, with a special invitation being extended to the fourth, fifth, sixth, and seventh graders.

Assisting Gene and George in the clinic will be such former Prowler all-state tournament selections as Joey Poole and Dale Wennberg.

Some of the facts and figures on youth hockey in the U. S. A. are impressive. Over 40,000 boys are playing organized hockey in the U. S. as members of 2,900 teams. Hockey is being played on an interscholastic schedule in 401 high schools and prep schools in the country.

Minnesota has 1,200 boys teams and over 16,000 players competing in organized hockey. This number is exceeded by only two of the provinces in Canada—Quebec and Ontario. High school hockey is very popular in Massachusetts and Minnesota. Each state has over 100 schools competing in the ice sport. The three-day Minnesota state high school tournament, held in St. Paul, draws over 41,000 fans.

For the last few years the state of Michigan has shown the fastest percentage gain in the number of "kid" hockey teams being formed. At present they have about 450 teams, an increase of 500 percent in the past ten years.

About five hundred artificial ice rinks are in operation in the country, with the majority of these rinks being in the east, and youth hockey is finding a home in almost all of these recent installations. The empetus to hockey that these rinks have given to American hockey is giving the Canadians cause for concern. Hockey, on the professional league level, has been a Canadian monopoly, but with the improvement in "kid" hockey in the U. S., this monopoly is in jeopardy.

And don't forget, the clinic, for the grade-schoolers, is at the Arena on Thursday afternoon.

Miscellany

Vic Lindquist of Winnipeg has received a bid to officiate in the world's amateur hockey tournament in Colorado Springs next month. Vic is well-known in this area, having been a referee in the States-Dominion league, and for the past several years has been, along with Joe Vinet, refereeing the Region Eight hockey tournament. . . . Dick Palmer, the former Warren Ponies all-round athlete, and later a fast-balling pitcher for the Red Lake Falls Lakers and other teams in this vicinity, is teaching school in East Grand Forks. Dick, who was a member of the Warren Ponies in the Region Eight basketball tournament in 1950, graduated from North Dakota U last spring. . . . It is reported that Roger and Billy Christian, playing with the Warroad Lakers this season, will be asked to join the U. S. Nationals for the world's tournament. Roger and Billy were stars of the United Sates team that won the Olympic hockey title a couple of years ago. . . . . Bill Bossman of Warren is goalie for the Concordia college Cobbers hockey team. What makes this item an oddity is that the Ponies did not have hockey. Of course, Bill, who is a son of Art (Red) Bossman, has had much experience in baseball, and this experience is valuable to a hockey goalie.

Prowler Six Defeats Crookston, Williams

Coach Gene Sack's Prowlers picked up six points in the Region Eight hockey conference this past week by scoring wins over the Crookston Pirates and the Williams Wolves. The Prowlers edged out the Pirates, 3-2, at Crookston on Friday night, for a two-point win; and trounced the Wolves, 13-0, in a four-point game played here Saturday night.

The Prowlers will travel to Warroad on Tuesday night for a game against coach Gordon Genz' Warriors, who are currently in second place in the conference standings. On Friday night, the St. Paul Johnson high school squad will invade the Arena rink for a game against the Prowlers.

In Friday night's game at Crookston, the Prowlers, although holding a wide margin in the shots-on-goal department, had to rely on Larry Poole's rink-length solo rush and goal at the 11:13 mark of the third period to break a 2-all tie and give the blue-and-gold a 3-2 win.

On Saturday night, on the Arena ice, the Prowlers rolled up their biggest scoring total of the season as they defeated the young Williams club, 13-0. The Prowlers scoring was paced by sophomore Elroy Froiland, who tallied four goals and added three assists.

Prowlers who added to total were Tim Teal, Ron Kvikstad, and Jim Ranum, who had two goals apiece; and Larry Poole, Don Mathieu, and John Weigelt had scored singles.

Tom Teal and John Hellquist shared the Prowler goal-tending duties, and the duo had a total of five saves.

TRF Forward Gary Hagen Accounts for 16 Points

The Prowler 'B' squad doubled the score on coach Ron Thompson's East Grand Forks 'B' squad as they marked up a 46-23 win in a preliminary game played here Friday night.

Coach Joe Mrkonich's Prowlers, held to a two-point lead, 8-6, at the end of the first period, rolled up 19 points in the second period to gain a 27-15 advantage at the intermission. And in the third period, the East Siders were held scoreless while the Prowler B's tallied nine points.

Forward Gary Hagen, scoring six field goals and four free throws, led the local 'B's in their conquest of the East Side 'B's.

NOW IN USE is the new $8½ million terminal building at the Minneapolis-St. Paul International airport at Wold-Chamberlain field. This architect's sketch depicts an aerial view from the northeast of the new facility. Beginning with North Central Airlines 8:24 a.m. flight departing for Minneapolis-St. Paul Sunday, air passengers to and from Thief River Falls are now using the new terminal building. The airport is designed to handle the more than four million passengers expected annually by 1975. The thin shell of light weight concrete in the form of a folded plate serves as the roof of the 185x245-foot structure. Glass and concrete walls enclose the two-story building which has a total of 600,000 square feet of floor space. Parking for 1,400 autos is provided in the black-topped area adjacent to the building.

TRF Air Travelers Use New Terminal

International Airport in Twin Cities Opens for Traffic Sunday

Starting with North Central Airlines' 8:24 a. m. flight departing for Minneapolis-St. Paul Sunday, January 21, air passengers to and from Thief River Falls are now using the new $8½ million terminal building in the twin Cities.

All North Central flights will be handled at Gates 16, 16A, 18 and 20 in a loading pier or finger on the southwest corner of the terminal, according to Dale MacIver, state commissioner of aeronautics. "This pier is called the 'Red Concourse.' The sign at the entrance between the ticketing lobby and the red concourse is painted red for easy identification by a passenger in a hurry," said MacIver. The other pier, is called the blue concourse.

More than 3,000 Thief River Falls residents or visitors will use the new terminal in 1962. Almost 85 per cent of the Thief River Falls passengers are bound for Minneapolis-St. Paul or transfer to other planes at the Twin Cities International terminal. Heaviest traffic between Thief River Falls and cities outside Minnesota goes to Chicago, Grand Forks, Kansas City, Minot, Los Angeles, New York, Seattle, San Diego, and Tucson.

"Overseas and foreign trips are on a steady increase in Minnesota. Air trips to and from London, England, are a good example of this." MacIver said. "For the month of September 1947 there were only three people coming or going between Minneapolis-St. Paul and London. In September 1953 there were 32, or one a day. In September 1960 there were 181 airline passengers between the Twin Cities and London, England."

"Thief River Falls received air passengers from Oslo, Norway; Honolulu, Hawaii; and Juneau, Alaska; during the 1960 Civil Aeronautics Board survey of international travel.

"The speed of the jets which connect with North Central Airlines at the new terminal in the Twin Cities brings all Minnesota closer to the major market centers of the country and the world. For example, Northwest Airlines and United Air Lines both have jet flights taking 2½ hours flying time to New York from Minneapolis-St. Paul. The flying time to New York and back is now less than the time to New York in 1951."

Pilots at Thief River Falls and throughout the state helped pay for the new Minneapolis-St. Paul terminal. Two million dollars in state aid was earmarked by the 1957 legislature for the building. Half the special aviation taxes that will pay off state bonds for the project (as well as state aid projects for dozens of other Minnesota airports) comes from gas tax and aircraft tax paid by private aircraft owners. The other half is paid by the airlines. State gas tax and aircraft taxes produced at Thief River Falls airport run more than $2,000 a year.

Portraying teen-agers caught up in the overwhelming power of their love for each other, Natalie Wood and Warren Beatty head the cast of Elia Kazan's provocative production of "Splendor in the Grass," now showing at the Falls Theatre. The Warner Bros. Technicolor presentation of William Inge's first original screenplay stars Miss Wood, Pat Hingle, Audrey Christie, Barbara Loden and Zohra Lampert and introduces Beatty, making one of the year's most eagerly anticipated screen debuts.

Livestock Day Set at Winter Shows Feb. 20

Livestock Day at the annual Red River Valley Winter Shows, Crookston, has been scheduled for Tuesday, February 20. The entire program for the day will concentrate on the sheep, lamb, and wool industry with specialists from Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Illinois participating. There will be programs for both men and women. The public is invited.

The afternoon men's program will begin at 1:30 p. m. and will be held at the Northwest School and Experiment Station, Animal Products building auditorium. Carl Nadasdy, general manager of the North Central Wool Marketing Corporation, will serve as master of ceremonies.

The program will include discussions on the management of pregnant ewes and lambs; parasite and disease control; research in sheep production; and a brief report on the activities of the American Sheep Producers Council. Also, there will be a shearing demonstration and a demonstration on killing and carcass cutting.

Mrs. Marion Ryan of Minneapolis, regional home economist for the American Lamb Council, and Mrs. Evelyn Peterson, Crookston, director of the "Make It With Wool" contest, will conduct a special afternoon women's program. This program will begin at 1:30 p. m. at the Northwest School in Bede Hall (Home Economics Building). Mrs. Ryan's subject material will be "Lamb—Its Selection and Preparation." She will display various cuts of lamb, tell how to buy and how to prepare them, and provide free recipes. Her cooking demonstrations will illustrate how the various cuts of meat can be tastefully prepared and served.

Mrs. Peterson will display a variety of woolen products made by the contestants in the "Make It With Wool" contest. She will illustrate how wool can be used to best advantage in the home, how woolen products should be handled, as well as the methods and techniques to employ in making your own woolen products.

A fleece contest has been arranged for February 20 also with Merv Milsten, Mahnomen, in charge, and Carl Nadasdy as judge Sheep men are invited to bring their fleece to the Winter Shows building to compete.

An evening banquet at the Northwest School dining hall will highlight the day's program. The banquet is scheduled for 6:00 p. m.; Dr. B. E. Youngquist will serve as master of ceremonies. Duane Wilson, commissioner of agriculture for Minnesota, will be the guest speaker. A style revue will feature the first-prize clothing made by the contestants in the "Make It With Wool" contest.

The Winter Shows dates are February 18-23.

Eisenhower Asks Public Support of Heart Fund Drive

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower called Wednesday upon all citizens to join him in supporting the American Heart Association.

Eisenhower termed heart disease "our nation's most serious health problem" and added: "Each of us has a highly personal stake in the conquest of heart disease. There are few families who do not live in its shadow or have not met it face to face."

Eisenhower, who suffered a heart attack himself while he was president, is honorary chairman of the heart association's board of directors.

The annual heart fund campaign begins Feb. 1.

Now—
Ford frees you forever from the expense and bother of frequent car servicing.
Twice-a-year maintenance is here—and only the cars from Ford have it!

In a new Ford Galaxie or Fairlane, the odometer rolls off a long 6,000 miles between every service stop. Compare this with other '62 cars and here's what you'll find: many cars still have to check in for service every 1,000 miles; some every 2,000 miles; others every 4,000 miles. Only the cars from Ford need service only twice a year, or every 6,000 miles.

When you own a '62 Galaxie or Fairlane, you don't have to drive with one eye on the odometer to make sure you're not forgetting an oil change or a grease job or other servicing. Ford's twice-a-year maintenance saves you time, saves you money. Just one stop every 6,000 miles takes care of servicing. You'll go 30,000 miles between major lubrications, 6,000 miles between oil changes and minor lubrications, 2 years or 30,000 miles without changing engine coolant-antifreeze. Brakes adjust themselves.

Why buy a service headache when Ford is ready with the cure? See your Ford Dealer—and see how close Ford has come to the fill-it-and-forget-it car!

Man In Orbit?

Cape Canaveral is a busy place these days, and the rocket-launching program scheduled for this week should be especially interesting. Plans call for orbitting astronaut John H. Glenn if conditions are right, and that will be the top thrill show for people of all countries.

We have made a great deal of progress with missiles since the first Sputnick was launched into orbit on October 4 of 1957, leading gradually to the successful manned space flights of last year. In the four years following Sputnik we have developed a lot of know-how and probably have overtaken the Russians in some phases of space exploration and rocketry.

Is our knowledge and experience in this field going to be worth the cost? That always is a good question and for which there can be no certain answer. If we manage our economy with good judgment and restraint we no doubt can pay the cost without hurting. And we can destroy our economy by mismanagement even if we don't try to land a man on the moon.

The latter possibility seems to be the greatest peril to our future at the present time.

A Bad Settlement

The settlement of the electrical workers strike in New York was another backward step for the American economy. If a five-hour day is right for electricians then a five-hour day should be right for other workers. A general five-hour work day would result inevitably in poverty and increased unemployment because we would price ourselves completely out of world markets.

This settlement certainly was not in harmony with the recommendations made by President Kennedy in regard to the Common Market, which would require competitive conditions in American industry. The Common Market membership would mean a gradual elimination of trade barriers, and some of the necessary adjustments probably would not be pleasant. The advantages would build up gradually.

The settlement of the New York strike was an unfortunate development that the Kennedy administration should have opposed in the best interests of American labor.

Chief Justice Dell Retires

Roger Dell's resignation as chief justice of the Minnesota Supreme Court does not come as a surprise. His friends have known that his preference has been service as a trial attorney. The bench has not appealed to him.

Nevertheless he has been an outstanding chief justice. As the administrator of the state's court system he has directed a reorganization of the district courts, the need for which had long been recognized. We agree with Governor Andersen who, in accepting the resignation, said this of the retiring chief justice:

> "Mr. Dell brought a thorough knowledge of the law to his work, as well as uncompromising principles, high standards of excellence, a strong presonality and a talent for organization and procedure."

Woe Is Me

The statisticians of the sports world are right. Baseball no longer is the most popular game in our country. It has been replaced by football as the fan's favorite.

We admit the facts reluctantly. Baseball is still our favorite game as a spectator. But baseball is out.

We conducted a survey of our own. In September baseball was still popular, but in October there were ominous rumblings about football. There was a definite trend, and we sensed it at the time. Baseball was on the way out. Football was in the headlines, and by November baseball was a dead duck.

It's too bad. We liked baseball, but a fact is a fact and two times two is—well who are we to argue with the bewildered sports statisticians.

We note with regret that golf is no longer popular in Minnesota. Many more people are ice-skating.

Education in Russia

The National Science Foundation has recently published a report on a study at the Russian Research Center of Harvard University on the differences between the Russian program of education and ours. According to a Christian Science Monitor staff correspondent, the report is attracting widespread attention. He reports:

> "The reason is that the picture emerging from these somewhat academic pages is both startling and provocative. Only the highlights can be mentioned in any brief report but they are plentiful, impressive, and possibly disturbing.
> "Following are some of the conclusions and findings of this scholarly study and research assignment:
> "The Soviet Union is producing two to three times as many technical professional graduates yearly as is the United States.
> "This situation is accelerating, reflecting the total Soviet commitment to developing natural science and technology as economic and political weapons of the state.

"The orientation of Soviet higher education toward natural science and technology is measured by the fact that about 57 per cent of all 1959 graduates at the bachelor-degree level were in engineering sciences, and selected applied-science fields, compared with 24 per cent for the United States.

"In the U.S.S.R., the professional instruction provided for graduates in natural-science and engineering fields is concentrated on equipping the individual student to perform a specific job.

"The U.S.S.R. operates a much more selective educational system than does the United States on all levels beyond the elementary—with a far smaller ratio of students in the respective age groups gaining access to education on the secondary and higher levels.

"More than one-half of all Soviet higher-education graduates are women, who also comprise one-third of all engineering field professionals, whereas in the United States the figure is only 1 per cent.

"While the U.S.S.R. has more graduates in applied engineering and applied science, the United States graduates many more nonapplied scientists in the physical and biological sciences.

"Nearly one-third of all Soviet engineers, scientists, and agricultural specialists are engaged in administrative tasks and in running the government — reflecting the Soviet belief that they can perform these tasks better than nontechnically trained professionals.

"While the United States produces about 90,000 engineering, natural science, and applied-science professionals each year, the Soviet Union's production is currently 190,000 annually.

"While comparison of educatoional quality is difficult, the author concludes that even though qualitative varition in the Soviet effort is substantial, Soviet professional higher education in most scientific and engineering fields is at least equivalent to and sometimes more extensive than in the United States or Western Europe."

Legalized Gambling

(St. Paul Dispatch)

In every state which has revenue problems—Minnesota is one of them—the argument occasionally is raised that necessary funds could be found by legalizing gambling.

Those who espouse this view take the position that since many people like to gamble, why not make it legal, control it and tax it heavily? They like to point to states which take in large sums annually as a result of parimutuel betting.

The argument against legalized gambling was effectively presented recently by CBS televison in its program, Biography of a Bookie Joint. It was a well-documented public service feature which pointed up weaknesses in the case for legalized gambling. In the first place, once legal gambling enters the picture, the illegal operators move in. Through payoffs and poltical protection, they manage to stay in business. Their corrupting influence spreads throughout a community. No one can even guess how much of their gambling profits are involved but the totals undoubtedly are subsantial.

The estimate is that of every "legal" bet, three are made illegally. The 'take' for such operations probably runs to several billion dollars annually.

This kind of money can buy a lot of influence, can finance nationwide crime syndicates and, worst of all, can undermine law enforcement agencies.

Interesting Opinions

"In Europe, I became aware of the high degree of co-operation evident among labor, management and government, designed primarily to increase efficiency and keep costs—including those of management as well as labor—from running ahead of productivity gains. I am convinced that we must strive for the same measure of co-operation to increase our productivity, to hold down our prices and to meet the more intense competition the world now offers."—G. Arnold Hart, president of the Bank of Montreal

"Self-centred goals do not as a rule yield deep or lasting satisfactions. People who pursue them tend to become increasingly discontented, to suffer from the growing realization they are devoting their lives to nonessentials"—Wendell Johnson.

Cranberries have recovered much of their popularity, holidays sales this year being 25 per cent greater than a year ago. The 1959 scare that resulted from badly handled publicity by a federal official was a serious setback for the industry.

California expects to become the largest state in the Union this year. It is estimated that by the end of the year the population will have increased to 17,347,000 persons, which will exceed New York's population by 12,000. This is a California estimate and we may find by that time that New York has suddenly grown faster than was anticipated.

Japan moved into fourth place among steel producing nations in 1961 when production jumped 27 per cent to 28 million tons. That placed it behind the U. S., Russia and West Germany, but ahead of England for the first time. That is not bad for a nation that is so lacking in raw materials. Japan now is suffering from a shortage of labor.

THE ANDERSEN LETTER

from

Governor Elmer L. Andersen

Regional Tax Offices

In order to bring tax department services closer to the people regional offices have been established at Bemidji, Brainerd, Willmar and Austin. Twin Citians have always been able to use the Capitol offices for inquiry by phone, or in person, but this close-at-hand service has been denied to the people in the rest of the state. Many thousands of people will find it much easier to use a regional office than come in to St. Paul.

Importance of Disclosure

Under the withholding tax law taxpayers in good standing will have 75 per cent of their 1961 tax forgiven. In other words on April 16, your return will call for a tax liability only one fourth of what it would be otherwise. However, you must be in "good standing".

In order to be in "good standing" you either must have paid all your previous state income taxes, or go into the office before April 16 and work out a plan for paying up anything you still owe. This is very important. I hope no one will lose the forgiveness by failing to make full disclosure to the tax office of any delays of omissions.

Big Changeover

More people have been affected by the withholding tax law than by any other tax change in our history. The new tax forms were sent to 1,200,000 people. It has been an enormously large and complicated job but has been handled with great smoothness by Commissioner Rolland Hatfield and his fine staff. One need think only of how individual each situation is, multiply this by over a million, to then realize what a gigantic task is involved.

Income Tax Refunds

When you compute your 1961 tax and deduct what was withheld in 1961 you may find that the state owes you money. You will have a refund coming.

Organization is now being established to get these refunds out as promptly as possible.

If everyone waits until April 16 to get his returns in, refunds will be delayed. Obviously they cannot all be done at once. However, the earlier you file your return the earlier you can expect to get your refund.

Where the Money Goes.

For the first time in anyone's memory the envelopes containing tax forms mailed out this year contain a brief summary of where the money goes. We have had many expressions of appreciation for this information and for this I am grateful.

A SMALL HOUSE PLANNING BUREAU DESIGN NO. M-604

DESIGN M-604. This simply constructed one-story small duplex has features that will attract tenants. Each unit has its own sheltered rear entrance behind attached garages which provide sound-deadening privacy.

A planter separates dinette-kitchen from living room. The cheerful kitchen has generous work counters, broom and coat closets, an entry to the house-size basement, and to the outside. All rooms have cross ventilation. Wardrobes run from floor to ceiling; there is a handy hall linen closet.

Exterior is wide horizontal frame siding. The foundation is concrete, root of wood or composition shingles.

Each unit covers 795 square feet, contains 15,503 cubic feet (including full basement under house). For further information about DESIGN M-604, write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn.

Local banks are displaying posters giving the rules for submitting nominations and is serving as a depository for nominees. The successful nominee is a young man between 25 and 40 years of age, who has taken advantage of his agricultural opportunities and represents an example of the county's progressive agriculture.

The successful nominee will represent the county officially at the Red River Valley Winter Shows February 18 through February 23. He has an excellent chance of being selected King Agassiz II, the symbol of agriculture in the Red River Valley and the official ambassador for the Red River Valley Winter Shows.

Highlight of the coronation ceremony is the presentation of a $50.00 Stetson hat to the man chosen as King Agassiz, with special recognition given to other winning county King Agassiz nominees.

CONTINUALLY BEING ON THE DEFENSIVE can become habitual, according to an item appearing in a publication which recently came to the Times office. It quotes an item written by E. E. Kaulfold in the Dodge (Nebraska) Criterion, and concerns use of the phrase, "I'm sorry."

As the article unfolds, the editor laments how he has been compelled to apologize for a number of reasons—publication of a picture which someone claimed didn't do his daughter justice; failure to publish a picture some else wished to have appear; an irate mother who complained the paper had misspelled the name of her baby; another angry member of the gentler sex who complained that a name had been omitted from her party list and that she wanted to cancel her subscription;

Also a man who complained the paper intentionally omitted mention of his vacation trip; another who complained his planned trip was reported "because somebody might steal our chickens while we're gone and besides it's nobody's business; and still another who commented the paper used "too many of those little social items because they don't amount to anything and nobody reads them."

To all these criticisms the publisher answered with a sad but sincere, "I'm sorry." Then one day a customer stopped in to renew a subscription. "We sure like your paper," he said. "It's so full of news and good pictures, has so many fine departments, so clean and so well printed. No wonder you have such a large circulation." To which the editor laments, "By golly, I couldn't think of a thing to say."

One thing he could have said would have been. "Thank you." It is always music to the ears of a newspaperman when someone mentions they appreciate his efforts. Many individuals and organizations have expressed appreciation to the Times for coverage of local events. This is our job. We expect to do it without praise. But thanks, dear readers. Thanks for your bolstering words of appreciation. We'll do our best.

Perhaps some of you noticed mention in the Minneapolis Tribune of a New Years greeting ad placed in the Middle River Record by Collins Funeral home of Middle River. For those who missed it, the greeting read: "As the old year passes and the bright new year drives in, we pause to tell our many customers how much we enjoy serving them and hope we may continue to do so."

The story is told of a doctor who stopped nightly at a bar for one drink before going home. His only order was a daiquiri (pronounced dack-a-ree, accent on first sylable) which is, according to the report, served in a champagne glass and topped with shaved almonds. One night, as the story goes, the almond supply was depleted so the bartender was obliged to use shaved hickory nuts in the doctor's daiquiri. "What is this?" the doctor asked after his first sip. "Well," the bartender explained, "That's a hickory daiquiri, Doc." (If you missed the point, try reading it aloud.)

TELEVISION DERISION

We have a problem at our house
With interest compounded
Among my wife, the kids and I
Which leaves us quite confounded.

We have a one-eyed monster there
That causes this division
Of family. This awesome beast
Is known as television.

For Dad prefers the Western shows,
The kids eat up the comic,
But mommy likes all other kinds,
Reaction is atomic.

As Congress probes the TV field
To root out evil minders
It seems they miss so much they must Be wearing harness blinders.

Van Doren found the scores clamped tight
For just one minor factor.
He would have carried on all right
If not a lousy actor.

I sit a cynics perch, I guess,
But how about the other
Fakery passed off as fact—
Like Bert Parks sing show? BROTHER!

Therefore, I feel safe to predict
The next to rock the nation
Will be a billion dollar probe
To check investigation.

But while I mount the scorner's seat
To chide, deride and scoff,
TV provides one pleasure sweet—
I still can shut it off.

Cheese Plant at Brooks Produces 2,470,716 Pounds

A record-breaking 2,470,716 lbs. of cheese was manufactured by the Brookst Cheese Factory, Inc., during 1961, according to a summary of the plant's activities released last week.

The figure represents a gain of 730,023 pounds of cheese manufactured over the 1960 performance which totaled 1,740,693 pounds.

This output was manufactured out of a total of 26,389,286 pounds of milk and 906,863 pounds of butterfat for which producers were paid $805,515.73.

Wages paid to employees of the firm for the year 1961 totaled $103,145.61; 160,000 gallons of fuel oil were used, $15,481.00 was paid out in freight, $6,006.45 for electricity, contributing substantially to the economy of Red Lake county and the surround area.

The firm was founded by the late A. J. Parenteau in 1925 and is now operated by Aurel and Marc Parenteau.

COUNTY RESIDENTS PAY $2,536 FOR YULE SEALS

Pennington county residents, as of January 8, had remitted $2,536 for Christmas seals mailed to them compared to $2,408 on the same date in 1960. Final figure last year was $2,690.

RRV Group Exploring Additional Projects

The board of directors of the Minnesota Red River Valley Development Association are studying their responsibilities and scope of activity in the changing picture of agriculture in the Red River Valley Basin. This organization was founded in 1914 by leading farmers and Superintendent C. G. Selvig at the Northwest School and Experiment Station.

At the outset, the association's primary project was to build and promote the Crops Show at the Red River Valley Winter Shows. Since that time, the development association has had as its primary project—support of the Red River Valley Winter Shows, Crookston.

It sponsors the Valley Farmer and Homemaker award which annually gives recognition to one outstanding farmer and his wife in each of the sixteen Red River Valley counties. This group is given awards and honored at a banquet sponsored by the Association during Winter Shows week.

The development association has supported soil and water development activity through resolutions and other active support. Another project of the Development Association is the District Rural School Spelling Contest held annually at the Red River Valley Winter Shows.

The Red River Valley Winter Shows is in the early stages of extending its service to the Valley counties in the state of North Dakota. Members of the Development Association will be extending invitations to the Valley North Dakota counties at an early date.

The board of directors of the development association find there are a number of common problems which need Valley-wide study and support. There is need for greatly expanded public understanding of the water resource development of the Red River Basin. During the last three years, the association and the board of managers of the Red River Valley Winter Shows have sponsored three Water Resource forums. Another one is being planned for the 1962 Winter Show. The Association is studying other ways in which the public can be informed on this very important topic.

A committee, with Richard Fitzsimons of Argyle as chairman, William Ash of St. Vincent, Walter Roes of Fisher, Bennitt Aarestad of Halstad, and Olaf C. Solne of Crookston—has been appointed to study the expanding role of the Development Association and to come up with recommendations for the annual meeting which will be held on February 21 at the Northwest School of Agriculutre.

964,500 Employed During December

Minnesota Jobholders at Record High for Month

Minnesota nonfarm wage and salary employment in December was at a record level for the month with 964,500 persons listed on state payrolls, according to estimates made by the state department of employment security and released today in a report by Commissioner Frank T. Starkey.

Even with a seasonal drop of 8,500 workers from the November level, the December figure reflected the general improvement in the labor market which began in late spring, following last year's mild recession.

Losses over the month were seasonal in nature and generally as expected at this time of year. The most substantial decrease from November was in construction (-9,600), as all types of building activity slowed down. Other losses were recorded in mining and quarrying, transportation, food products; and stone, clay and glass manufacturing.

The largest gains over the month occurred in retail trade and government. The heightened activity of the holiday season resulted in increased employment in department and apparel stores and in post offices.

Unemployment rose seasonally to 86,000 in December, compared to 68,000 in November and 95,000 a year ago. This was the smallest November-December increase in unemployment since 1956. Unemployment was down 9,000 from December 1960; this drop is consistent with the improved employment picture of recent months, said Starkey.

Jan. 31 Deadline for Veterans to Report Incomes

Manager of VA Center at Fargo Issue Warning to Recipients of Pensions

John R. Parrish, director of the Fargo Fargo Veterans Administration Center, reminded pension recipients today that veterans or dependents who do not return their VA pension income questionnaires by January 31 will not receive any further checks and may owe the government money.

If they do not submit this income information, they will be required to repay all pension received during 1961 and the first month in 1962.

Mr. Parrish pointed out that the questionnaire carries a printed warning which reads "Important. Failure to return this card before January 31, 1962 will result in discontinuance of payment. You would also be required to pay back all pension you received last year."

Since the pension is paid only to those veterans, their widows, dependent parents or minor children whose incomes are below certain limits, the VA is required by law to receive an income report each year to justify the payments.

Mr. Parrish asked that all blanks on the card be filled in and that the card be signed before it is sent back to the Veterans Administration.

City Council Airs Future of Airport

Feasability Reports Asked on Additions To Street Projects

Initial action on a long-range plan for development and expansion of the Thief River Falls municipal airport was taken by the Thief River Falls city council at an adjourned meeting held Wednesday evening. Street projects were also thoroughly reviewed at the session which provided considerable background material for new council members.

D. H. Stewart, city engineer, presented a preliminary sketch of a master plan for the airport and reviewed the procedure which must be followed to qualify for state and federal aid in expansion and improvement of the facility. After lengthy discussion, the council unanimously adopted a resolution calling for a request for federal aid for land acquisition, engineering, legal fees and contingencies.

City fathers were assured that much of the material which must be included in the master plan will not be necessary for many years, perhaps never, but must be included to conform with state and federal regulations. Since the federal government will pay half of most costs and the state will participate in some phases for two-thirds of the remaining cost, council members believed it wise to qualify under these programs.

Federal allocations are made by Congress on a two-year basis, Stewart explained, and immediate action was necessary to take advantage of funds which should be available in 1963. Of immediate concern, at least within the next several years, will be the resurfacing of the runway which was originally a road-mixed bituminous surface which has now nearly outlived its expected life.

Several problems for future expansion were noted in the preliminary master plan projection. One of these would be "clear zone" acquisition by purchase or strict easement if runway extension is accomplished. This zone is an area on either end of the runway which planes will cross in either taking off or approaching to land. Costs involved are impossible to determine at this time, the engineer stated.

After a review of the street improvements in progress and planned, the council ordered a feasability report on five blocks of surfacing abutting the west side project approved last year. They include one block on First st. between Arnold and State avenues, one block on Fifth St. W., one block on Knight ave. between 10th and 11th streets and two blocks on 11th st. between Main and Duluth avenues.

Feasability report was also ordered on LaBree avenue from First

Wool Growers to Meet Wednesday at Middle River

District Meeting Set for American Legion Club Rooms at 1:30 p.m.

"Wool Markets and Wool Marketing", factors that determine wool value, sheep management and production, will be the subjects discussed at the Minnesota Wool Growers association's district meeting to be held at Middle River Wednesday, January 31, at 1:30 p.m. in the Legion club rooms.

Bill Ulrich, Audubon, district director of the association, also stated, "All persons interested in the sheep industry, whether they are members of the association or not, are invited to attend."

Bill Morris, retired extension livestock specialist at the University of Minnesota, will speak on sheep management and production. In addition to the program, films will be shown, door prizes given and refreshments served.

Last year the Minnesota Wool Growers association marketed 4 million pounds of wool for its more than 13,000 members. The program is designed to increase sheep profits for those in attendance, Ulrich said.

HOMECOMING— Trinity Lutheran church will hold homecomng festivities Sunday, January 28, for Pastor Carroll Ellertson, who recently returned from the African mission field in the Orange Free State.

Missionary Ellertson has been on the field for five years and is supported by Trinity church. After a year of furlough he will return to Africa.

He will speak at the two morning services Sunday, and again at 7:30 p. m., when he will show pictures. At 5:30 p. m. there will be a congregational dinner.

Mercury Mounts to 35 Wednesday

Rises 70 Degrees Since Wednesday, January 17

Temperatures took a jump this week, leaving a 70-degree spread between last week's low and this week's high. In fact the low temperature of the year occurred Wednesday, Jan. 17, with 35 below, while the high temperature just a week later, Jan. 24, was 35 above. Temperatures in between haven't been too bad either!

Nearly two inches of snow came with the warmup, an inch Monday and .9 inch Wednesday. Here is the day-to-day rundown on Temeratures: Monday, high 9, low -12; Tuesday, 17 and -15; Wednesday, 35 and 15, and the low this morning was 5 above. Total snow for the month stands at 12.3 inches.

The forecast is for considerable cloudiness through Friday, with light snow in this area. There will be little temperature change Friday, not so cold tonight, with lows from 12-20. Today's high will range from 15-25.

County Allotted $215,371 Highway Funds This Year

The state highway commissioner today announced the allocation of state-collected highway funds to the counties and municipalities of 5,000 or more population for 1962. A gross of $100,994,000 is estimated to be paid into the highway users tax distribution fund, made up of state motor vehicle license fees and gasoline tax imposed by the state.

After paying for services performed by the motor vehicle division, the petroleum division and other state departments in the amount of $2,973,282, there is left $97,970,717 net for distribution.

Pennington county is scheduled to receive an allotment of $215,371, including $123,455 for construction, $82,304 for maintenance and $9,612 for municipal construction and maintenance.

Allotted to Marshall county is $490,201, including $276,071 for construction, $184,048 for maintenance and $30,082 for municipal construction and maintenance.

Red Lake county's allotment is $169,187, including $94,945 for construction, $63,297 for maintenance and $10,945 for municipal streets.

Of other cities in this area, Crookston has been allotted $40,791; Detroit Lakes, $21,280; Bemidji, $53,454; and East Grand Forks, $27,800.

Distribution as set up by law is a three-fold apportionment: 62 percent goes to the trunk highway fund; 29 percent to the county

Women Invited to Seed & Feed Show

Selecting and Preparing Meat Topic Friday, Feb. 2

A program on selection and preparation of meat is set for Friday, February 2 at 1:30 p.m. in the City Auditorium in connection with the fourth annual Seed and Feed Show. The meeting is open for any interested homemaker who wishes to learn about selecting the best cut of meat for her money and how to prepare some cuts.

It is unfortunate that many women who shop are familiar with less than ten percent of the available meat cuts, said Miss Laura Duerst, home agent. In fact, it is possible to have a different cut every day for several days.

The average shopper only purchases about one-third of the beef and pork carcass and a little more than half of the lamb carcass. On the other hand, the cuts that are in less demand usually furnish the more economical buys.

To learn more about this topic and how to prepare these more economical cuts women are invited to come Friday, February 2, to the Seed and Feed Show.

Mothers' March Set Tuesday, January 30

Under the sponsorship of the Pennington County Chapter of the National Foundation, the Thief River Falls Mothers March on Polio will take place on Tuesday, January 30, according to Richard Mabey, county chapter chairman.

Proceeds of the Mothers' March and a mail fund campaign to be conducted this month will be used to aid research and rehabilitation in crippling diseases. Originally known as the March of Dimes or the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, the organizations has expanded into other crippling diseases following the break-through in polio caused by discovery of Salk vaccine.

Headquarters for the Mothers' March will be the American Legion club rooms where coffee and lunch will be served by the American Legion auxiliary to all solicitors who bring the funds they collect to the club rooms. Groups participating in the canvass will be the American Legion auxiliary, Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary, Eagles auxiliary, Elks Does and the Business and Professional Women's club.

No Mothers' March will be held at either Goodridge or St. Hilaire, Mabey said, but the mail campaign will cover these communities as well as all townships in Pennington county.

Robert Benke Is New Chairman of St. John Lutheran

Annual Report Shows Increased Membership, Good Financial Program

Robert Benke was elected chairman of St. John Lutheran congregation at the voter's assembly annual meeting held last Wednesday at the church. He succeeds Maynard Mehrkens who was elected to a three-year term as elder, replacing Melvin Zitzow who had completed his second full term of office.

Annual reports were given by Rev. Alfred C. Seltz, pastor of the congregation; Kenneth Onken, treasurer; Elmer Andersen, vice chairman; Albert Koop, elder and chairman of the stewardship committee; Ted Beiswenger, elder and chairman of the evangelism committee; and Zitzow, chairman of the education committee.

"St. John again enjoyed a good year," Rev. Seltz stated. "There has been a steady membership growth, a very successful financial program and a development of inner activity in the congregation." He also reported on preliminary work done to prepare the founding of the new "Minnesota North" district for which approval is expected at the national convention of the synod in Cleveland this June.

The area approximately north of a line across the state through Granite Falls, St. Cloud and Willmar will form the district. Increased support of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, with which St. John is affiliated, and of the Minnesota district of the synod, was also voted at the meeting.

Other officers elected include Art Knutson, vice chairman, succeeding Elmer Andersen; Clifford Becker, treasurer, succeeding Onken; Don Wentzel, secretary; Harvey Patten, financial secretary; Don Pream, assistant financial secretary; Marvin Mehrkens and Maurice Steiger, executive committee; Norman Burre, head usher; Kenneth Kohler, assistant head usher; Kenneth Onken, auditor; Mrs. Sherman Idso and Mrs. Max Jensen, organist and assistant choir directors; and Mrs. Thomas Fuller, Sunday School superintendent, succeeding Miss Anna Zinter. A welfare committee will be appointed by the executive committee.

Municipal Court Has Only Seven Offenders Tried

City Police Bring Most Cases To Trial; Traffic Offenses Most Numerous

Monday's session of municipal court was a short affair, with only a very few cases brought before Judge Stanley N. Mortenson.

The highway patrol had only one case, that of Willard M. Fleegel, city, who forfeited $15 bond on a speeding charge. Alvin F. Jensen, Oklee, was brought in by Game Warden Carl Sundstrom on charges of transporting an uncased rifle in a car and was fined $15 after pleading guilty.

All other cases Monday were brought by city police. Kenneth L. Poole, rt. 5, pleaded guilty to making an improper U turn and was fined $15, of which $10 was suspended. Floyd W. Huttunen, Floodwood, forfeited $15 bond for going through a red traffic signal.

Mrs. Mabel Moss, rt. 3, Red Lake Falls, pleaded guilty to petit larceny and was given a 30-day jail sentence, which was suspended.

James F. Sherack, city, was found guilty, after trial, of a charge of changing traffic lanes when unsafe to do so and was fined $25.

Tuesday, the sheriff brought in George H. Sundahl, Goodridge, on a charge of careless driving, to which Sundahl pleaded guilty and was fined $50, of which $25 was suspended.

Sundahl also pleaded guilty to driving after his drivers license was suspended and was fined an additional $50 and his license plates and title card were impounded.

MARINE PVT. D. CASAVAN AT CAMP PENDLETON, CALIF.

Marine Pvt. Douglas P. Casavan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Casavan of Red Lake Falls, completed the individual combat training course, Jan. 19, at the Second Infantry Training Regiment at the Marine Corps Base, Camp Pendleton, Calif. New marines undergo the four-week training course.

175 Expected at Chamber Annual Meeting Tonight

Chamber of Commerce members and their wives are reminded of the annual meeting of the organization to be held tonight at 6:30 p. m. in the basement of St. Bernard's Catholic church in this city. Ladies in attendance will be presented with free orchids.

Dr. Orion D. Beich will serve as master of ceremonies for the program which will include presentation of the chambers initial outstanding citizen award and talks on chamber activities by members of the nine standing committees and organizational officers.

Youth Sunday To Be Observed at First Lutheran

Luther League Members To Officiate at Morning And Evening Services

James Ellingson, Keith Hanson and Brian Lofberg, members of First Lutheran Luther League in this city, will deliver the morning sermon Sunday at worship services as part of Youth Sunday observances at the church. "Christ and the Tempest" is the topic of the morning sermon.

Scripture lessons will be read by Dennis Walsberg, Ann Winters, James Maves, Barbara Hornseth, Ronald Anderson and Pat Fixter. Ushers will be John Krankkala, Gary Sande, Bill Winters and Tom Anderson. Mark Anderson will provide the organ music.

"Keep the Bells Ringing" will be the theme of an 8 p. m. service Sunday under the direction of Judy Stockman. Assisting in the presentation will be Paul Peterson, Bonnie Wold, Charlene Thrane, Karen Maves, Nona Pukari, Peter Furuseth, James Robinson, Sharon Anderson, Sherry Jahr, Renel Schmitz, Barbara Ortloff, Susan Krankkala, Diane Goethe, Joel Winters, Karen Kelly, Evee Anderson, Bruce Parnham, Wayne Pound, John Swenson, Elaine Mortenson, Jerry Erickson, Mark Anderson, Bill Erickson, Dale Seefeldt and Rick Kelly. An offering will be received. The public is invited to attend.

Odd Fellows and Rebekahs Install Officers Tonight

The Odd Fellows and Rebekahs of this city will hold their annual joint installation of officers tonight at 8 p. m. at the Odd Fellows hall. Jerome Myhrer will be installed as noble grand of the Odd Fellows and Ida Vallet as noble grand of the Rebekahs. A short business meeting will be held by the Rebekahs at 7:30 with the public installation to follow. Lunch and a dance will complete the evening and everybody is welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Nelson and Julie were supper guests at the Floyd Nelson home at Newfolden Sunday.

St. Olaf Concert Band Will Play Here Feb. 8

The St. Olaf college band's whirlwind eight-day February tour reflects the philosophy of its director, Miles Johnson, who says: "When we go on tour, we go to play."

The St. Olaf concert band will appear at the Lincoln high school auditorium in Thief River Falls Thursday, February 8, at 8 p. m. The concert here is sponsored by the Trinity Lutheran choir.

An error on the part of the Times reporter had listed G. A. Beito, Jr. as concert committee chairman, in last Thursday's Times. Walter Larson is, instead, the chairman of the committee, and any matter pertaining to the St. Olaf band concert should be referred to Larson, instead of Beito.

During its tour, the concert band will present 13 concerts in eight days traveling through northern Minnesota, North Dakota and into Canada. There are matinee and evening performances on five of the eight days.

Traveling in two buses, the 80 band members sometimes have just 15 minutes to unload a truckload of equipment, set up for the concert, change into their formal attire and get warmed up for the performance.

To keep up with the pace, twenty crews and working parties are organized—ranging from a 12-man loading crew to a single person in charge of first aid. Every band member is on at least one crew.

The concert band is one of three touring St. Olaf musical organizations. Others are the St. Olaf Choir and the St. Olaf Symphony orchestra.

Tickets for the concert in Thief River Falls February 8 may be secured at Larson's Music Store, Northern and Union State banks, Trinity Lutheran church or from members of Trinity Lutheran choir according to Walter Larson.

Dairy Day Plans Being Made Today

Preliminary plans for the 1962 edition of Northwest Dairy Day will be made at the annual meeting of the Northwest Dairy Improvement association to be held this afternoon in the basement meeting room of the Rex Cafe in Thief River Falls. Stuart McLeod, city, president of the organization since its inception in 1949, will preside at the session.

"1962 Skidoo"

C of C Committees To Reorganize Jan. 30-31

Under the general theme of "1962 Skidoo", the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce will hold a concentrated reorganization and revitalization series of committee meetings Tuesday and Wednesday, according to J. H. Holter, president of the organization for 1962. Five committees will meet on Tuesday and four will conduct their business on Wednesday.

"Each year we have a new program of work and a slight revamping of our organizational structure," Holter said. "The board felt that it would be possible to have all of the nine standing committees meet over a two day period. Those of you who have been appointed to the committees please attend these initial sessions to get our new year off to a strong start."

Tuesday committee meetings and places include the following: agriculture, 7:30 a. m., Rex cafe; retail trade, 10 a. m., chamber office; business and industrial development, noon, Rex cafe; community welfare, 3 p. m., chamber office; and transportation and communication, 7:30 p. m., chamber office.

Meetings Wednesday will include membership and finance, 7:30 a. m., Rex Cafe; government, 10 a. m., chamber office; education, noon, Rex cafe; and public relations, 3 p. m., chamber office.

Included in the "1962 Skidoo" schedule for each committee will be the election of its chairman to serve for the coming year. In previous years members of the board of directors acted as chairmen but this year they will be exempt from the posts and the committees will select their own chairmen. Members of the nine standing committees include the following:

Agriculture—Stan Pladson, Wallace Jordet, Everett Amundgaard, Leonard Furuseth, John Lang, Kenneth Onken, Ralph Hill, Paul Stelmaschuk, Jon Metusalem, Fred Sorensen, Phil Bergland and Stuart McLeod;

Education—C. L. Charlson, A. L. Williamson, M. R. Hankerson, Dr. Orion Beich, Donald L. Olson, Dr. A. E. Jacobson, Arnt Aune, James Roche, James Disse, Ralph Helm and Sid Lieberman;

Public Relations—Randall Noper,

PAUL ROY

PHILIP L. BERGLAND

CHANGES will take place February 1 in the personnel of the Thief River Falls Production Credit association when Paul Roy retires as secretary-manager, to be succeeded in that capacity by Philip L. Bergland, who has served the past four years as assistant secretary. Mr. Roy has been associated with the PCA here for more than 25 years, and has held his present position since 1958, when he succeeded Robert J. Lund.

JoAnn Odegaard Wins Wool Event

Miss JoAnn Odegaard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Odegaard of Gonvick and a freshman student in home economics at North Dakota State University in Fargo, has been selected as national champion in the Make-it-Yourself-with-Wool contest sponsored by the National Wool Growers association.

Miss Odegaard, who won the area contest held in Thief River Falls in early December and followed with her second state championship a short time later, competed in the national contest held in Salt Lake City, Utah. As winner of the senior division in the competition, she wins an expense-paid trip to Hawaii.

More than 8,000 entries from every state in the union were made in the contest this year. Of the 600 entries from Minnesota, 106 competed in the area contest held in Thief River Falls. Minnesota's junior division winner placed second in the national contest.

Miss Odegaard was a Minnesota titlist in the junior division in 1960 and competed in the senior division in 1961. Announcement of the national selection was made to the Times early Tuesday by Mrs. G. Milford Peterson, Crookston, area chairman. She was notified of the placing by telephone following announcement of the winners Monday evening.

Paul Roy Retires as Secretary of PCA February 1st

Philip L. Bergland, Who Served Four Years as His Assistant, Is Successor

Paul Roy, secretary-manager of the Thief River Falls Production Credit association for the past four years and associated with the agency for more than 25 years, announced this week that he is retiring, effective next Thursday, February 1. He stated that he will remain in this community.

Appointed to succeed hime is Philip L. Bergland, who has served as assistant secretary-manager since 1958. He has been an active member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. He is a graduate of Roseau high school and of the 'U' of M.

Roy served as a member of the Pennington county board for 21 years, having been appointed in 1932 to succeed his father, the late J. S. Roy, and he continued in that office, much of the time as chairman, until 1953.

Roy reported that the association in 1961 had the most successful year in its history, handling a peak loan volume of $1,689,000. Adjusted gross income was $28,295, leaving a net income of $16,080.

2 Local Attorneys on Ballot for Judge

Rullen and LaBree to Be Voted on by Lawyers

L. W. Rullen and Gordon LaBree, both of Thief River Falls, have consented to have their names placed on a ballot for an advisory plebiscite as possible selections for district court judge. All attorneys in the Ninth Judicial District will be given an opportunity to vote.

The advisory plebiscite committee was formed at the request of Governor Elmer L. Andersen as a result of the death of Judge Paul A. Lundgren of Thief River Falls. Secret ballots are to be submitted by lawyers in the district to Leonard A. Erickson, Crookston, committee chairman, and results will be forwarded to the governor, who will not necessarily be guided by them.

Others on the committee were Cutris L. Charlson, Thief River Falls; Bert Hanson, Roseau; Carl E. Erickson, Brainerd; Joseph W. Ryan, Aitkin; and Romaine R. Powell, Bemidji.

Poultry Handbook Issued by 'U' of M.

Supplies Statistics for All Minnesota Counties

A wealth of statistical reference material for those who wish to study and analyze the Minnesota poulty industry by counties is contained in a new University of Minnesota Agricultural Extension Service publication.

It is Special Report No. 3, a handbook and digest by W. H. Dankers, extension economist in marketing, and E. R. Poore, extension marketing assistant, at the University.

The handbook contains facts and figures by counties for eggs, chickens, commercial broilers and turkeys.

An index is provided for easy location of the figures, tables and comments in the publication. Important items in the statistics are spotlighted throughout the publication by special notes which supplement the figures.

County figures published in the handbook include:

Value of all farm products sold, value and percentage of poultry and poultry porducts sold, egg production, reduction in number of poultry farms, egg consumption, annual surplus and deficit of eggs, chickens and commercial broilers sold, turkeys raised, and several others.

Copies of Special Report No. 3 are available from county agents or from the Bulletin Room, Institute of Agriculture, University of Minnesota, St. Paul 1.

No. Central Lines Set Records in '61

1,095,904 Passengers Were Transported During Year

North Central again paced the nation's 13 local airline by setting a new traffic record for 1961—enplaning 1,095,904 passengers—the second consecutive year the company has exceeded the million mark.

"This represents nearly one-sixth of the total passengers carried by all the locals during the past year," said Hal N. Carr, North Central president, "and sets a new record for the industry group."

Carr also stated that the figure was a six per cent increase over North Central's 1960 passenger mark and a new high for the Minneapolis/St. Paul based airline.

North Central carried 1,491,015 ton miles of cargo during 1961, for a 42 per cent gain over the previous year. Mail totaled 581,945 ton miles—18 per cent greater than in 1960.

"Besides carrying a record number of passengers, we continued to maintain one of the best on-time performance operations in the entire airline industry. Of our 186,000 scheduled departures last year, 77 per cent were on time."

North Central continued to maintain its perfect safety record. Since starting service in 1948, the airline has flown more than one billion passenger miles without a single fatality or injury to passengers or crew members.

Trinidad Native Speaks Monday To Rotary Club

Miss Joyce Ranserran, native of Trinidad, West Indies, and now teaching French and Spanish at Lincoln high school, was guest speaker at the Monday meeting of the Thief River Falls Rotary club.

Carl Paulson, envoy of the local Salvation Army unit, presented the club with a trophy for collecting $121.34 in the 1961 Christmas appeal of the local unit. The Rotary topped all service clubs participating in the campaign.

Russ Embury, chairman of the local portion of the annual trip to Winnipeg for the International Rotary good will meeting, stated that a special Soo Line car will leave Thief River Falls at 4:30 a. m. Friday, February 23, to permit local Rotarians to attend the meeting.

In her discussion of Trinidad, Miss Ranserran explained that it was an island with an area of approximately 3,000 square miles and located 11 miles off the coast of Venezuela. The population is 40 per cent negro, 30 per cent Indian and the remainder of mixed races and nationalities. She answered questions asked by club members as to education, culture, climate and productivity of the island.

Dollar Volume Is Twice Highest Former Figure

Competition for industrial and farm service concession space has been keen for the Red River Valley Winter Shows, Crookston, February 18 - 23. All exhibit space is now taken, according to V. F. Hodgson, executive director of the Winter Shows.

The dollar volume of concession sales has doubled over the highest figure for any previous year of the shows. The displays of newly-developed farm equipment and special educational exhibits are on the increase this year. On the afternoon of February 16, the concessioners will begin to set up their exhibits. Sunday, February 18, at 1 p. m. the Winter Shows doors will be open to the public.

On February 18, at 6:30 p. m., the annual "Bean Feed" for the Winter Shows concessionaires will be held in the dining room of the Elks Lodge, Crookston. This is sponsored by the Red River Valley Winter Shows board of managers and the Crookston Chamber of Commerce agricultural committee.

Marshall Co. Making Progress in Paving

Marshall county highway engineer H. Knutson told the Warren Chamber of Commerce January 16 that at present the county has 106.28 miles of hard surfaced road under its jurisdiction, a program started in 1957 with the passage of amendment 2, which diverted road users money to the county. The paved system will grow to 160 miles at the end of 1964, the end of the second 4-year program.

The county highway department has an income this year of about $734,000 which includes $160,000 from the county road and bridge fund, $509,000 from the state road users fund and $65,000 from federal aid. About 40 per cent of the $509,000 is used for maintenance with the balance for new construction.

The second county 4-year plan started last year with the paving east and west of Viking and north of Alvarado for 10 miles. Projects this year will include the blacktopping of the rest of the Great Eastern, the balance of the road east of Argyle to connect with the Great Eastern and east and west of Gatzke.

Next year's program includes paving west of Middle River and north of Newfolden while the 1964 program calls for paving 9 miles west of Strandquist and a 5-mile stretch from a point 10 miles north of Alvarado to the west.

Of the 781 miles of road in the county system 612 miles are included in the county-state aid highway system, 12.5 miles are in cities and villages and 156 miles are county highways. Maintenance costs of the road system reached $235,000 last year, Engineer Knutson pointed out, including $195,000 on the CSAH system, $4,795 in villages and $35,000 on the county highway system. However, he added, one bad winter such as in 1955-56 could add $75,000 in snow removal costs.

Priority for the paving of roads is based strictly on traffic count with the most traveled roads paved first, Knutson said. Showing how the paving of a road increased its use, he revealed traffic count figures on the Great Eastern. In 1949 the count just out of Warren was 365 cars a day which dropped to 80 cars a day 8 miles northeast. In 1954 the count was 369 cars daily and 106 cars at the outskirts of Warren while in 1959 the count was 443 and 223 at the end of the paving, 8 miles northeast.

state-aid highway fund, and nine percent to the municipal state-aid street fund, shared by 77 municipalities of 5,000 population and over.

For the first time in many years, the current apportionment is less than that of the previous year. The counties will receive $28,398,346 this year compared with $29,195,071 for 1961. The municipalities will receive $9,037,697 compared to $9,185,862 for 1961.

Two main factors are responsible for this reduction: a lower percentage increase in receipts than previously estimated, and a higher than estimated 1961 figure because of a low estimate for 1961.

Advance estimates of the year's receipts are made six months in advance of the close of the fiscal year. The estimates for 1960 were ted, therefore the overage of close to $1 million was added to the 1961 apportionment.

The actual receipts for 1961 fell short of the estimate, and this difference is reflected in the 1962 apportionment.

Al Bordenave, Highway Department finance head, states that the annual percent of increase in motor fuel taxes and motor vehicle registrations is beginning to diminish. For example, the increase for 1960 over 1959 amounted to 5.25 percent; 1961 over 1960, 2.86 percent; and he estimates the 1962 increase at only one percent.

"Need a Lift?" Handbook Tells of Scholarships

Legion Auxiliary Gives Educational Handbooks To Schools and Library

Information concerning hundreds of college and vocational school scholarships which are available to qualified high school students of this area is contained in the handbook "Need a Lift?" which has been made available by the American Legion Auxiliary.

Copies of the book have been presented by Ecklund-Holmstrom Unit No. 117 of the American Legion auxiliary to high school libraries in this city and Goodridge as well as to Carnegie public library in Thief River Falls, according to Mrs. Walter Halvorson, local auxiliary president.

Revised for the 1961-62 school year, the publication is recognized as one of the most complete sources of career and scholarship information in the United States. The handbook does not limit its listings to children of veterans but contains scholarship and educational aids which are available to all students.

"Thousands of young people have not taken advantage of the generous educational aids which are available due to a failure to plan early for their future education," Mrs. Halvorson said.

She cited the junior G. I. Bill which provides up to $110 per month for four years of educational help for sons and daughters of veterans who lost their lives as a result of military service. More than half of the young people eligible for this aid have failed to make application for it, she said. The handbook is now in its 11th edition with distribution of more than half a million copies since its first issue in 1951. Students and parents are encouraged to make use of the copies now available locally.

SCIENCE TOPICS

Shock, called "the herald of death," kills thousands of Americans every year. In Los Angeles County General Hospital alone, more than 1,000 patients die annually after protracted shock. Statistics across the rest of the country are similar. To find out why shock occurs and to work out effective measures against it, the University of Southern California School of Medicine has begun a three-year study. A six-bed shock ward, staffed 24 hours a day, has been opened at County Hospital. There, shock sufferers will receive optimum care. Physiological effects now poorly understood, will be measured. The data will be recorded and later analyzed by electronic computers. The doctors believe their study will help blunt the threat of shock in whatever way it strikes.

Dendrochronology, the study of tree rings, is poised for a great leap forward, according to Prof. Harold C. Fritts of the University of Arizona. Fritts says tree rings hold accurate records of climate conditions that governed the tree's growth and that new statistical concepts make it possible to determine rainfall, temperatures, evaporation and other factors that occurred in any given year during the tree's span of life.

Freedom 7, first U. S. manned spacecraft, is now a part of the National Aeronautical and Space Collections of the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D. C. The Project Mercury capsule was piloted by astronaut Alan B. Shepard on its historic flight, May 5, 1961.

For the first time, thermoplastic pipe and fittings capable of handling every kind of piping in and around the average home will be available on a commercial basis in 1962. So, dream houses can utilize new vinyl and other plastic piping that offers lower installed cost, lighter weight, exceptional corrosion resistance and virtual elimination of plumbing repairs. But many building codes will have to be changed so that home builders can take advantage of these materials.

Where there's smoke, There's a cigarette. In 1961, cigarette sales in the U. S. reached 503 billion, up 19 billion from 1960. Americans paid $7 billion for them.

A timid but poisonous South American spider, not previously known in the United States, has taken up residence in, of all places, Cambridge, Mass., home of Harvard University. To make the effrontery more complete, the creature Luxosceles laeta—was found in the basement of the school's Museum of Comparative Soology. Harvard zoologists, however, assure us that the spider is far from aggressive and will run when approached.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Additional information or assistance on veterans' benefits may be obtained by visiting or writing the VA Contact Office at the Fargo VA Center, Elm Street and 21st Avenue North, Fargo, North Dakota.

Q—How many veterans are still in schools and colleges under GI education and training programs? Is this program still open to World War II veterans?

A—There were about 135,000 veterans still in educational programs under the Korea GI Bill as of October 31, 1961. This program has ended for World War II veterans.

Q—I understand that pensions are paid to some "Indian War" veterans. Does this go back to Colonial days?

A—The Indian Wars concerned in the administration of veterans' pensions are those subsequent to 1860 and before 1898; briefly those Indian troubles concerned with the opening up of the West and Far West. About 160,000 troops participated in these encounters at various times and about 1,000 died as the result of combat. There are still 29 veterans of these Indian Wars living today.

Q—Is government life insurance still available to the young men entering service today?

A—GI life insurance is not being issued today.

Q—Why do statistics show more Korean Conflict veterans each month and less veterans of all other wars?

A—Because people are still becoming veterans — that is, leaving active service and a great number of them served in the Korean Conflict. (If they served in World War II also they are considered Korea veterans for benefit purposes.) They are not considered veterans until they leave military service.

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture.

Several serious gullies were creeping into John Cihak, Jr.'s Jackson County fields. Water runoff and loss of topsoil were cramping his yields. Cihak decided to work closely with nature, had some contour strips laid out, built one mile of terraces, erected two gully control structures, established three acres of grassed waterways, renovated 15 acres of pasture and put in 15 acres of contour pasture furrows. Result? County agent R. W. Palmby says soil now stays where it belongs, water stays where it's needed.

Corn yields have increased from 30 to 75 bushels per acre over an eight-year period on Lowell Horstman's Nobles County farm, mainly because of conservation farming. Duane Johnson, SCS conservation aid at Worthington, says almost every conservation practice used in the area has been adopted on Horstman's 320-acre farm. Horstman, a Nobles Soil and Water Conservation District cooperator since 1953, has a large Grade A dairy operation, says that because of difficulty in pasturing contour strips he had to set up larger fields on parts of his farm and terrace for erosion control.

Wind and water erosion were playing hob with Leonard Rognaldson's farm near Brainerd before he adopted conservation measures. Then in 1960 he constructed diversion terraces, laid out contour strips and put a strip cropping program into operation, sodded some waterways and planted trees on a steep slope. Crow Wing County agent Glenn Smith says Rognaudson has geat expectations of conservation benefits in coming yeas.

Certified seed assures varietal purity and proven perfomance. It is carefully produced under strict standards for isolation, freedom from weeds, other crop mixtures, germination and other factors. Field and laboratory inspection by a crop improvement association ensue top quality seed. Look for it when you buy.

Level terraces on Lakeville fine sandy loam solved a problem for Glen Stoering of Elysian. Water erosion was causing many uncrossable gullies. Seeding to alfalfa stopped the erosion, but he needed other crops in the rotation. With the help of SCS work unit conservationist Lynn Skalfe, Stoering installed a mile and a half of parallel level terraces, plans to have more constructed next year.

Wind and water erosion and droughtiness plagued Albert Swenson until he planted a field windbreak, established grassed waterways and switched from row crop to grassland farming. Fritz Gehrels, Beltrami County agricultural agent, says Swenson is well satisfied with results of the conservation practices on his 390-acre farm. "All my crop yields have increased tremendously since my contour strips were established; very little water now leaves the farm. I would never consider going back to up and down hill farming." So says Duane Klingsborn, who farms near Pine Island, Klingsborn, outstanding conservation farmer for 1961 in the Goodhue Soil and Water Conservation District (S&WCD), has 121 acres of contour strips. He recently told Goodhue S&WCD supervisors, "there were ditches more than two feet deep in several of my fields before I went into the conservation program; they've been completely eliminated."

Minnesota farmers do about half a job when it comes to raising alfalfa, according to William F. Hueg, Jr., extension agronomist at the University of Minnesota. Hueg says the average per acre yield for Minnesota's 2.3 million acres of alfalfa is only about 2.2 tons of hay, much of which is not good in quality. Get your alfalfa profit tips in, "Five Steps to Five Tons," a new extension pamphlet available from your county agricultural agent.

Prowler Wrestlers Edge Ada Squad 23-21

Coach Al Shaff's Prowler wrestling squad boosted their season's mark to seven wins, one draw, and two losses by scoring a 23-21 win over coach Ardell Knudsvig's Ada Vikings here Wednesday night.

On Tuesday, Jan. 30, the Prowlers will travel to Grand Forks for an interstate match with the Grand Forks Central squad. The next home appearance for the Prowlers will be on Wednesday, Feb. 7, when the Warren Ponies wrestle the locals in the high school gymnasium.

In last night's match, the Ada Vikings, trailing by a 23-8 margin with three matches remaining, picked up thirteen points in those matches to pare the Prowler win to two points. Earl Visser pinned Leland Pietron in the 167-lb. class to gain five points; Ron Johnson pinned the Prowlers' Roger Miller in the 175-lb. class for another five points; and Warren Anderson gained a decision over the Prowlers' Dwight Myhrer in the heavyweight class, to add three points to the Ada total.

Roy Delorme, continuing unbeaten in the 98-lb. class, won by a forfeit; but in an exhibition match he bested Ada's Bill Habedank, a 103-lb. wrestler, 8-2.

The summaries:

98-lb.—Roy Delorme (TRF) won by forfeit.
105-lb.—Don Berggren (TRF) decisioned Ron Skreivel (A), 6-3.
114-lb.—Roger Wilson (TRF) decisioned Dan Erickson (A), 5-2.
122-lb.—Steve Skadsen (TRF) decisioned Don Nelson (A), 6-1.
129-lb.—Ken Orel (A) pinned Roger Ek (TRF), 3:24.
135-lb.—Ted Johnson (TRF) decisioned Dwayne Genadt (A), 5-4.
140-lb.—Marv Gunderson (A) decisioned Mike Magnuson (TRF), 8-0.
147-lb.—Terry Nelson (TRF) decisioned Arvid Skuza (A), 4-0.
154-lb.—Joe Taylor (TRF) decisioned Jim Visser (A), 4-2.
167-lb.—Earl Visser (A) pinned Leland Pietron (TRF), 2:40.
175-lb.—Ron Johnson (A) pinned Roger Miller (TRF), 1:56.
Heavyweight — Warren Anderson (A) decisioned Dwight Myhrer (TRF), 10-7.

Local Curlers to Meet on Friday

All skips in Thief River Falls curling circles are requested to meet Friday at 9 p. m. in the curling building at the Pennington county fairgrounds, according to Charlie Smith, club president. Discussion will center around scheduling problems for the remainder of the season.

INFORMATION on various phases of banking was presented at an area workshop held Wednesday at the American Legion club in Thief River Falls with 32 executive officers attending from Kittson, Lake of the Woods, Marshall, Pennington, Polk, Red Lake and Roseau counties. Left to right are Wayne Blackmarr, vice president of the Minnesota Bankers Association and president of the Wayzata State bank; Kenneth A. Walls, MBA executive secretary; P. R. Kenefick, MBA president and president of the National Citizens bank in Mankato; G. A. Belto, Jr., vice president of Northern State Bank in Thief River Falls; and J. J. Womack, president of Union State Bank in this city.

DESIGN C-63. Emphasis here is on economy with liveability and good appearance. The garage, attached at construction time creates the look of a larger home, but could be added at a later date.

The kitchen has countertop range, waist-high oven that utilizes space above the stairway, and is separated from a large dining room area.

The bathroom has a built-in vanity. Three fine bedrooms have floor-to-ceiling wardrobes. More storage: hall linen closet, storage closet and guest coat closet. A low planter forms a living room vestibule. The full basement affords heater, laundry, storage work and play areas.

Wide eave over-hang and low stone planter provide an attractive exterior. Plan covers 1040 square feet, has a cubage of 19,583 cubic feet. For further information about DESIGN C-633 write Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn.

Newfolden Nordics Divide Two Contests

Newfolden high school Nordics split even in two conference games last week, losing at Greenbush 47 to 32 on Tuesday and rolling over the Baudette Bears 61 to 32 on the home court on Saturday evening. This gives the Nordics a 3-3 conference record with six conference games to go before the tournaments begin.

The Greenbush Tigers jumped off to a 17 to 9 first period lead on Tuesday when the Nordics couldn't find the hoop and increased this to 29-13 at the half as the Nordics became even colder in their shooting. The Nordics played the Tigers even during the second half. Christiansen and Johnson led the Tigers with 12 points each. Jim Dahl and Ricky Inman were high for the Nordics with 11 each.

The Nordics had no trouble finding the range on the home court against the Bears as they jumped off to a 15 to 8 lead and built it to 31 to 19 at halftime with Rick Inman, Jim Dahl and Ron Shern accounting for 28 of these points. The Nordics outscored the Bears in the third quarter 17 to 4 as Jerry Strandquist and Jim Dahl combined for 15 points, giving the Nordics a comfortable 48 to 23 third period lead. Jim Dahl led all scorers with 13 followed by Shern with 12 and Inman with 10. Ken Carlson and Jerry Strandquist, two sophomores, picked up 8 points each the second half. Gerald Jenson was high point man for the Bears with 10 points.

The Nordics play two games this week, entertaining Roseau in a conference game on Friday night and traveling to Hallock for a non-conference go on Saturday night. In a previous encounter, the Roseau Rams defeated the Nordics 32 to 28 so the Nordics will be striving to turn the tables on the Rams.

Plummer-Oklee Faculty Teams To Play Benefit

As part of the fund-raising campaign to earn money for erection of football lights and re-landscape the football field of the Plummer high school Cardinals, the Plummer school faculty will play the Oklee faculty in a benefit basketball game on Saturday, February 3.

Two games will be on schedule for the evening with the faculty clashes at 7 p.m. and the town-country cage contest at 8:30 p.m. Admission has been set at 50 cents for adults, 25 cents for students and 15 cents for children.

Interested persons in Plummer have arranged for the purchase of the former Thief River Falls football lights. The lighting installation, purchase and landscaping will be done for field improvement and to permit the Cardinals to play night football next season.

Agassiz Refuge Staff to Attend Wildlife Meet

Three members of the staff of Agassiz National Wildlife refuge will attend a regional wildlife conference to be held today through January 31 at the Curtis Hotel in Minneapolis. The conference is sponsored by the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife.

Herb Dill, refuge manager is scheduled to present a progress report on predator control in relation to waterfowl nesting. The predatom study has been conducted at the refuge since 1958. Assistant managers Ralph Town and Don Perkuchin will also attend the meeting which covers an 11-state midwest area.

Ruffed Grouse in Closed Area Not Increase Minded

Duluth Area Closed for 47 Years Yields Fewer Birds Than Nearby Woods

Opening of the Cloquet Forest experiment station in the Duluth area after 47 years of being closed to hunting of ruffed grouse did little to support the theory that a closed season would build the grouse population, reports Robert Farmes, area game manager stationed in Thief River Falls.

A check of 51 hunters on opening day in the area showed that only nine birds were taken while on the second day the same number of hunters bagged only six grouse. In the same immediate surrounding area, hunters averaged about one bird each. The experiment station area yielded less than two-tenths bird per hunter.

Hunting in northwestern Minnesota, including the Thief Lake and Red Lake areas and checks made in Becker and Beltrami counties, was twice as good in 1961 as in 1960, the report indicates. Hunters checked in this area averaged 1.1 birds each during the past season and only five-tenths bird in 1961. The annual grouse harvest statewide is between half a million and one million birds. Statistics for 1961 are not yet available.

Thieves Set 2 Games Saturday and Sunday

The senior hockey Thieves will play a couple of Canadian teams on the Arena ice this week-end. On Saturday night, with the face-off slated for 8:00 p. m., the St. Vital Bruins, leaders in the Winnipeg Metro league, will play the Thieves. And on Sunday afternoon, with the face-off billed for 2:30 p. m., the Dominion City of the Manitoba Intermediate league, will meet the Thieves.

The Thieves, playing at Roseau on Sunday afternoon, scored a convincing 12-4 win over Father Tim Noah's Cloverleafs. Leading the scoring attack for the locals was Eddie Holmes, who sent the puck past goalie Ken Hedlund on five occasions. And in addition, Eddie received an assist on Chip Strand's second period tally.

Kenny Wellen, centering the second line for the Thieves in the absence of Dale Wennberg, scored a pair of unassisted goals in the third period to aid in defeating his old teammates. Wellen, who is varsity hockey coach at Hallock, is a former Roseau

Warroad Whips Prowler Six 5-1

The Warroad Warriors scored their second hockey win of the season over the Prowlers when, after being held scoreless in the first period and outplayed by the locals, coach Gordon Genz' tallied two goals in the second period and three goals in the third period for a 5-1 win in a Region Eight conference game played at Warroad on Tuesday night.

On Friday night, on the Arena ice here, the Prowlers will meet the St. Paul Johnson squad. On Saturday night, Jan. 27, the Prowlers will play the Baudette Bears at Baudette in a conference game; and on Monday night, Jan. 29, the locals will play a return game against Kenny Wellen's Hallock Polar Bears at Hallock.

In Tuesday night's tilt at Warroad, the Prowlers turned in a first-rate first period, having a shots-on-goal margin of 10-6. And it was due to some nimble goaltending by the Warriors' Dennis Foster that kept the Prowlers off the scoreboard.

In the opening minutes of the second period, and with Tom Morben serving a penalty for holding, Warroad's Gary Hokanson, recovering the puck deep in the Prowlers' defensive zone, swept around the net and shoved a close-in shot into the goal.

Warroad, at the 10:21 mark of the period, moved into a 2-0 lead when Hokanson, on an assist by Fred Meeker, tallied.

With both teams playing shorthanded early in the third period, Rich Ganyo banged a rebound shot after Hokanson had made an ongoal try, to give the Warriors a 3-0 lead at the 0:47 mark.

The Prowlers put their lone marker on the scoreboard at the 5:58 mark when, with both teams playing a man short, Tony Poole beat goalie Foster, with Tom Morben on the assist. The Warriors on goals by Dave Hodgson at the 7:28 mark and Meeker at the 9:23 mark, boosted their lead to 5-1.

Schedule, Saturday, Jan. 27
Northrop vs. St. Bernard's, 9:00 a.m.
Washington vs. Knox, 10:00 a.m.

Coach Gayle Halvorson's Washington Wildcats continued their unbeaten way in the city grade school hockey league on Saturday by scoring a 3-0 win over the Northrop Indians. The win, the sixth of the season for the Wildcats, gives the Washington club a two-game lead over the second place Northrop squad.

In Saturday morning's game, the Wildcats and the Indians were deadlocked at 0-0 entering the final minutes of the third period. Washington's Rich Holmes, the league's leading scorer, broke loose for a pair of goals, and speedy winger Arlan Overbye added a tally to give the Cats the win. The game was bitterly-contested, and the indications are that the two remaining games between the two clubs will be as evenly-played.

In the second game on Saturday's slate, the St. Bernard's Broncos and the Knox Tigers played to a 2 all tie, with each team gaining a point in the league standings. Kent LeMoine scored the goals for the Broncos, while Terry Stelmaschuk and Ronnie Runger scored a goal each for the Tigers.

70 Arrested for Violating Big game Laws in December

There were 70 persons arrested in Minnesota during December by state game wardens for violations of laws relating to large game animals, the Conservation Department reported today.

The figure is almost double that shown for the same month in the years 1960 and 1959.

On the other hand the number of arrests for fishing without a license has declined rapidly since 1959 when 196 persons were arrested for this offense during December of that year. In 1960 this figure had dropped to 61 for the month, and the December, 1961 report shows that only 36 were arrested for this offense. The small figure was attributed in part to the thin ice last month which prevented fishermen from getting out on the lakes.

In total, there were 393 arrests for all violations during December, an increase of 50 over the same month in 1960.

Fines totaling $17,947 were levied on violators of game and fish laws during the month, the report said.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

A Pair of Favorites

This week-end the Prowler hockey and basketball squads will meet a pair of teams that have developed into welcome visitors to the city, and fine additions to the varsity sports schedule. Referring, of course to coach Rube Gustafson and his St. Paul Johnson hockey squad, which will meet coach Gene Sack's Prowlers on the Arena rink on Friday night; and coach George Hanson and his Detroit Lakes Lakers basketball team, which will play coach Jack Junker's Prowlers on the high school court on Saturday night.

Hockey Rivalry

The St. Paul Johnson vs. Prowlers hockey rivalry is of recent origin, and only since 1959 has it been on a yearly-scheduled basis. The two teams first met in 1951, when, in a first round state tournament game, the Governors defeated the Prowlers, 6-2. In 1952 the two teams again met in state tournament play, but this time, in the consolation finals, the Prowlers scored a 5-1 victory. In 1954, in a game played on the Arena ice here, St. Paul Johnson, in a scheduled game, defeated the Prowlers, 3-1. That loss, incidentally, was the only defeat of the season for the Prowlers as coach Dennis Rolle's club went on to win the state hockey title. In 1959, the two teams played to 5-all tie; in 1960, the Prowlers rolled up an 8-4 win; and last year, the Governors won by a 3-0 score.

Played Lakers Since 1939

The Detroit Lakes vs. Prowlers basketball series is in its third decade, having been started back in 1939-40. With the exception of the 1945-46 season and the 1959-60 season, the Lakers and the Prowlers have met each year, and in 1946-47 the two teams played a home-and-home series.

The Lakers hold a margin in wins, having defeated the Prowlers in eleven games, and lost on eight occasions. But what is remarkable about the series is narrow margin between victory and defeat—that has usually been the rule. In ten of the nineteen games, the winning margin has been four points or less.

The Prowlers have won the last three games played, having socred a 58-46 win in 1957-58; a 48-37 win in 1958-59; and last year, in a game played as a preliminary to the Purdue vs. Minnesota Big Ten game in Minneapolis, the Prowlers, with a strong second half rally, won by a 52-46 score.

Prowlers Short-enders

Although the Prowlers, the icemen and the cagers, will be playing before their home fans, and on their home rink and court, the locals will be short-enders. The St. Paul Johnson team, always a strong-finisher, has been moving up in the St. Paul high school league standings. In their past two games, the Governors have defeated St. Paul Harding and St. Paul Humboldt. And the Lakers, rated as a "dark horse", contender in District 23, scored a pair of impressive wins last week, defeating Wadena 69-61 at Wadena, and upsetting the Moorhead Spuds 49-44 at Detroit Lakes. Playing at Fergus Falls on Friday, the Lakers dropped a 71-69 decision to the Otters.

If the Prowlers are to win the cage game on Saturday night, coach Junker's defense will have to stop Jim Lee, the Lakers' high-scoring forward. Lee, in Resort Region conference play, has averaged 22.3 points per game, trailing Moorhead's spectacular Wes Martins by less than a point per game.

And basketball fans should make it a point to get to the gymnasium early on Saturday night in order to watch the Prowler 'B' squad in action against the Detroit Lakes 'B' squad. The Laker B's are rated highly.

Kid Hockey Clinic

The "kid" hockey clinic will be held at the Arena rink this afternoon, Thursday, from 4:00 p. m. to 7:00 p. m. The grade school boys will be given instruction in the fundamentals of hockey by a number of local hockey veterans under the direction of Prowler coaches Gene Sack and George Schlieff. It is hoped that Joey Poole, Paul Bedard, Dale Wennberg, and others will make their services available for the clinic.

And speaking of "kid" hockey, it would be a fine gesture to the teams in the city grade school league, and the parents and fans, if arrangements could be made whereby the two league games a week would be played on Saturday evening at the Arena. At present, the league games are played on Saturday mornings, utilizing the hours from 9:00 a. m. to 11:00 a. m. The second, third, and fourth graders then have the ice from 11:00 a. m. to 12:00 noon. An evening session, and public skating is at a low ebb on Saturday evenings, would be a convenience.

Sportsmen's Club to Hold Bean Feed Jan. 31

Annual banquet and bean feed of the Pennington County Sportsmen's club will be held Wednesday evening, January 31, in the basement of the city auditorium in Thief River Falls. Barbecued venison and home baked beans will be on the menu for the annual event with serving from 6:30 to 7 p. m.

"We have arranged a special program of pictures and musical entertainment which we don't want anyone to miss," stated James Lee, club president. "In order to prevent early arrivals having to wait for the program, we will make every attempt to limit the serving to the designated time and begin the program promptly at 7 p. m."

Premier showing of "The Magnificent Marsh", a colored slide presentation with photography by James Thompson of Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge, will be one of the main features of the program. It will be the first public showing of the slide series which has been compiled by Thompson with narrative written by Marvin Lundin, city editor of the Times.

Lundin will also serve as master of ceremonies for the program, which will include vocal numbers by the Lincoln high school boys' quartet. Arrangements are also being made for the showing of movies taken by local residents on some of their hunting trips in other areas.

All club members in good standing for 1962 will be served free of charge at the bean feed. Membership cards will be available at the door for those who wish to pay their membership dues at that time. Guests of members will be served at 50 cents per plate and plans are being made to serve a total of approximately 200 persons at the event.

Water Resources to Be Topic February 21 at RRV Winter Shows

Management of the Water Resources of the Red River Basin will again come under study at the 1962 Red River Valley Winter Shows, Crookston. A seminar has been arranged for Wednesday, February 21, at the Northwest School and Experiment Station, Kiehle building, beginning at 10 o'clock in the morning.

Interested citizens of the entire Red River Valley basin are invited. Special invitations are being sent to the mayors and councilmen of towns and cities on both sides of the Red River. County commissioners, county attorneys, district judges, soil conservation leaders, county agents, Vo-Ag instructors, superintendents of schools, and bankers will be among those receiving special invitations.

The local watershed work and other such commendable activity in the Red River basin is most desirable, but where is the long-time and over-all plan? Do we know how much water and how good water is available in this area? Is it not time for citizens of the Red River Basin to study and plan for the next 50 to 75 years? What are the alternatives in studying and planning the water resources of a great river basin such as the Red River Valley of the North? What are the recommendations of the Kerr Report to Congress?

Men who understand the facets of water resource study and management will participate in the Seminar to present their experience and ideas on these questions. These men will also answer questions raised by those who attend the meeting. This is an unusual opportunity to study and to learn more about this important topic.

The seminar is being arranged by the Red River Valley Development association, headed by Olaf C. Soine, president, and by B. E. Youngquist, superintendent of the Northwest Experiment Station.

Science Approach Called Important in 4-H Club Work

Miss Laura Duerst, Home Agent, Points out New Trends in Club Projects

Scientific approach is rapidly becoming an important part of project work for 4-H club members, according to Laura Duerst, Pennington county home agent. 4-H projects are being planned and revised to include more activities but why they are done as well, Miss Duerst said. In Minnesota, girls who enroll in the beginning food preparation project learn about science in food. They learn, for example, which vitamins are necessary for healthy bodies and which foods contain these vitamins.

In the junior and advanced food preparation projects, girls learn how to plan well balanced meals and why and how to include foods from the basic four food groups in daily menus.

Two other projects which emphasize science are entomology and electricity. 4-H'erts learn a phase of the science of biology in the entomology project. Learning how to recognize, classify and control insects are some of the activities of this project. The electric project teaches how electricity works, how to care for and use electrical appliances, how electric motors run and ways they can be used.

These and other science activities are adaptable and interesting to both rural and urban club members. Not only is science in 4-H projects interesting and educational but it makes club members aware of career opportunities in science and technology, Miss Duerst added.

INCOME TAX ADVICE

By Minnesota State Bar Assn.

Capital Gains and Losses

(This is the sixth in a series of articles on income taxes made available as a public service by the Minnesota State Bar Association, Public Relations Committee.)

Gain from the sale of a capital asset is given preferential tax treatment on both your Minnesota and Federal tax returns. A capital asset can be generally defined as any property held by a taxpayer not in connection with a business and, with reference to the average taxpayer, means stocks, bonds, car, furniture and home.

Normally, when you sell any of the property described, you either sell it at a profit or you sustain a loss, both computations being based upon the difference between the cost you paid for the item sold and the selling price.

Items sold by you at a loss which are held for personal use, while capital assets, do not result in a deductible loss. On the other hand, a gain based upon the difference between your cost and the selling price of the item does result in taxable gross income to you to the extent of the difference. The sale of a personal residence and the computation of income thereon will be discussed in the next article in this series.

The profit on the sale of a capital asset which you have owned for six months or less is includible in gross income in its entirety. Where, however, you have held the asset for more than six months, only one-half of the net profit (after adding all of your gains and deducting all of your capital losses) is includible in gross income. Furthermore, where the tax upon this addition to gross income is more than one-fourth of the total long-term gain, the Federal tax is reduced to this amount of one-fourth of the total long-term gain received. The rule is the same with regard to the Minnesota return and you are therefore allowed to deduct from gross income one-half of the net long-term gain before computing your tax.

Losses from the sale of capital assets, other than those held for your own benefit, are deductible in the year you sell the capital asset. However, these losses are limited to $1,000 in excess of the capital gains for any one year. Where your capital losses exceed capital gains by more than $1,000, you are allowed to deduct the excess capital losses in the five succeeding years against capital gains realized in those years, subject again, however, to the rule that the net deduction in excess of capital gains cannot exceed $1,000 in any of the following years.

Property used in your business but not held for sale to customers receives a hybrid treatment upon sale. If a profit is made on the sale, it is treated as capital gain. However, if a loss results, the loss is deductible in full in the year of the sale. Some of the items in this category are rental property, store buildings and fixtures and farm machinery.

60 Years Growth To Be Noted by Penney's in 1962

$1.5 Billion Volume Is Among Nation's Largest; Golden Rule Name Used

Morris Goddard, manager of the J. C. Penney store in Thief River Falls, has announced that the company is observing the 60th anniversary of its founding in 1962. Since April 14, 1902, when James Cash Penney opened the Golden Rule store in Kemerer, Wyo., the chain has grown to include 1,700 stores in 48 states.

Penney is still a director of the firm at age 86 and has built the company on the "Golden Rule" symbol to indicate an ethical yardstick which is as applicable in business as it is in personal life. The corporation is now one of the largest in the nation with annual sales of $1.5 billion.

Over the years it was the soft goods line which promoted the company, but it has expanded into the so-called hard goods line and late in 1961 laid the groundwork for entry into the mail order field. Each store in the Penney chain is operated by a manager who has control over its operations and is close to the community he serves.

Penney once said he was interested in building "not a chain of stores, but a chain of men held together by an idea". The company was the first to have work clothes Sanforized and graduated according to size and the first to use Sanitized, a chemical which inhibits the growth of bacteria and keeps shoes and other products fresher and cleaner and makes them last longer, Goddard said.

Generally conceded to be the nation's number one supplier of many items in the clothing and white goods lines, Penney's claims that the blankets sold in one year by the firm would reach from New York to Los Angeles and back to New York again.

"All of Penney's operations have a single objective," Goddard said. "To bring to customers across the United States quality merchandise at lowest possible prices. I am proud that Penney's has been able to participate in affairs of the community and help contribute to its growth.

Level Off The Peaks

We are not impressed with the suggestion that the President be given powers to stop the next recession before it gathers momentum. We are not impressed mainly because these extra powers probably would be authority to spend more money for make-work programs.

We think a more realistic approach to the depression problem would be a leveling off of the peaks. The peaks are pleasant, but, unfortunately, the peaks cannot be maintained as normal and so the depressions are inevitable.

The peak is the period of celebration. The recession is the hangover, and since the days of Roosevelt the second, we have been trying to cure the hangovers by consuming more of the poison that made us drunk. The result is that with silly regularity we go through the ridiculous procedure of raising the debt limit.

We move that the President be given special power to level off the next peak.

Important Conference

Governor Elmer Andersen is calling a Citizens' Traffic Safety Conference to be held in St. Paul early in February. While the public is invited, representatives of law enforcement agencies in each county should be urged to be present. Following the state meeting a few regional sessions might be justified.

Traffic safety is getting a lot of attention but it deserves much more than it is receiving. The annual slaughter, along with the thousands who are injured, add up to an annual, continuing loss that must be reduced.

In terms of vehicle miles there has been a slight reduction in the number of accidents and deaths and that probably can be accounted for by the fact that more of our traffic moves over roads that have been designed for safety. This reduction probably cannot be attributed to safer driving.

Last year's figures show that December had the best record by far than any other month. March had only 35 fatalities, five less than the December total, but March last year was just an average March while December had the best record by far than any December during the last six years. Can this good record be attribued to the drastic proclamation issued by state highway commissioner James Marshall instructing all patrolmen to enforce all traffic rules to the letter during that month and arrest all violators?

Commissioner Marshall pointed out that an average of 129 persons had been killed in traffic accidents during November and December, the worst two months of the year, and he requested the cooperation of all law enforcement agencies "to mount the strongest possible attack on drivers who violate traffic laws."

He ordered the use of partially-marked patrol cars, electric timing devices, radar and spotter planes, and mobilized additional patrolmen. He stated:

> "This may sound like a program directed against the people. But let us consider that last year in Minnesota over 120,000 drivers were involved in more than 68,000 accidents, nearly all of which resulted from violation of traffic law.
> "In terms of our 1½ million licensed drivers, this may be a small number. But it is the number against whom we are waging our desperate fight."

Was the much better record established during December due to the more strict law enforcement ordered by commissioner Marshall? We think it is fair to assume that the stricter enforcement did contribute to the good result.

The order for one month of stricter law enforcement no doubt was issued for purposes of experiment. More information on the results may be made available at the Governor's conference.

If there is any doubt as to the relationship between stricter enforcement and safer driving, then the experimenting should continue. But if it is determined that stricter enforcement does result in safer driving then let's make the stricter enforcement permanent.

Humphrey and Turkeys

Senator Hubert Humphrey has asked Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman to "speed up a new marketing program for the turkey industry." He asks for a program of producer marketing allotments, which, as we understand it, involves questions that still are highly controversial within the industry.

The turkey growers have had a bad year, and they had this bad year largely because they had had a number of fairly good years. Turkey growing had become so profitable that it appealed to industrialists as well as to farmers, and the overproduction of last year was due in a large measure to the mass production operations of a comparatively small number of growers who hardly classify as farmers.

For this reason it might be well not to act hastily, as Senator Humphrey suggests. If the growing of turkeys is going to be set up on a quota basis, and the quotas are going to be based on last year's production figures, then the marketing orders that Senator Humphrey thinks should be rushed through would be wonderful for the small group within the industry that overproduced last year and demoralized the market.

The turkey growers have had one bad year, but over a period of years, without government controls, their average income has been satisfactory. Certainly we can see no justification for hysterical action at this time. No matter what is done, a marketing order regulating production for this year could not possibly be made effective. There is no justification for the rush act that Senator Humphrey proposes. And there are many things that must be taken into consideration before the details of a fair marketing order can be worked out.

Zero Will be Milder

The European Common Market may speed up our adoption of the metric system. Britain is considering more seriously than ever before the adoption of a metric monetary system and the temperatures are now being announced in both centigrade and fahrenheit. All of which prompts the Winnipeg Tribune to the following sage observations:

> "A German physicist in the early part of the eighteenth century invented a thermometric scale that established 32 degrees as the melting point of ice and 212 degrees as the boiling point of the resulting water.
> Dr. G. D. Fahrenheit's scale was adopted by the British and spread all over the world where Anglo-Saxons dominated, leaving his fellow Germans to stick with a metric scale when they finally got around to a scale at all.
> "Now the poor British have to wrestle with centigrade. From now on the weather office is not going to tell them it's freezing. The weatherman will say: "Temperature zero."
> "It is pitiful to imagine what this is going to do to the Englishman's illusions about his weather. "Zero" he used to say, "never heard of it" and then he went right on putting the water pipes on the outside of buildings. This change is likely to be a traumatic experience and may lead to wholesale migration to parts where zero is 32 degrees below freezing. Imagine what is going to happen to us when Canada joins the Common Market. We won't be able to boast about forty below zero at Portage and main. It's almost enough to justify splendid isolation."

Forty-Hour Week

President Kennedy's committee on Labor-Management Policy has agreed that a 40-hour work week is desireable. Shorter hours encourage moonlighting, one worker holding more than one job. Discussing the overall problem, the Christian Science Monitor observes:

> "In Washington the President's commission, made up of seven corporation heads, seven labor leaders, and five public members, has recommended in general terms a very liberal program for softening the adjustments impelled by technological changes. Yet the public members agreed with management that full employment at a 40-hour week is more important at present than "a general reduction in the hours of work."
> "It is far from being proved that severe unemployment even in times of recession is primarily due to "automation." Yet insofar as this is a factor, the committee's plan of assistance in retraining and relocation of displaced workers is more constructive than proposals to reduce hours to spread employment.
> "If the cut in hours were a layoff, many workers would feel at loose ends and call it "sharing the misery." Paying the same money for fewer hours may be covered by rises in productivity; or it may not be. In any case, will not intelligent men and women look for something useful with which to occupy the released hours?"

Dreamville

(Rocky Mountain News, Denver)

And if this doesn't leave you muttering to yourself:

A golf club in Blair, Nebr., for years rented to farmers 14 acres of ground not needed for its fairways.

Last year club officials enlarged the course and took the 14 acres back.

"Then," reports Sen. Young (D-Ohio), "most unexpectedly, the golf club received a Government check for taking out of production land previously planted to corn. The amount was $288."

You say it.

Dodge Dart 440 2-Door Hardtop

NEW SIZE DODGE DART-COMPARE IT 6 WAYS FROM SUNDAY

1 PRICE. Car sales are booming. It's a great year to get a great deal. But before you buy, check your Dodge Dealer.

FORD FAIRLANE	$2079
MERCURY METEOR	$2203
THE NEW SIZE DODGE DART	$2241
CHEVY BISCAYNE Price includes heater	$2324
FORD GALAXIE	$2378

Dodge Dart 2-Door Sedan

The comparison above is based on manufacturers' suggested retail price of six cylinder 2-door sedans. Only white wall tires, bumper guards, other optional equipment, state and local taxes (if any) and destination charge extra.

2 PERFORMANCE. Dart has the most powerful standard six in the business. With its standard V8, the car has a phenomenal power-to-weight ratio.

3 SAFETY. Dart gives more braking power-per-pound than any car near its price. As much as 62% more lining area. Brakes adjust themselves.

4 DEPENDABILITY. Dart's body is completely rustproofed. You can go 32,000 miles between grease jobs. A battery saving alternator is standard equipment for fast, sure starting.

5 COMFORT. Plenty of headroom and legroom. Chair-high seats. Man-size tires that put plenty of rubber on the road. Smooth Torsion-Aire ride.

6 SIZE. The new size Dodge Dart is two feet shorter than America's largest car. Two feet bigger than the smallest. It's sized right in the middle.

Civil Defense Meeting Held at Newfolden

On Wednesday evening Ed Stennes and Claude Johnson attended a special Civil defense meeting held in the high school gym at Newfolden. In spite of very cold weather, Mayors, council members and municipal civil defense directors from most of the villages and cities within Marshall, Pennington and Red Lake counties were in attendance.

State representative, Richard Fitzsimons, acting chairman, called on Marshall county Civil Defense Director, John Pearson to extend a welcome to the municipal representatives in attendance which was followed by a talk by state senator Donald Sinclair, explaining the purpose of the meeting. Sinclair, has been chairman of the state civil defense sub. committee for several years and stated that each year a sizeable sum of money has been appropriated for civil defense by the state. The Federal Civil defense commissions have also made annual appropriations. The planning now is how to best allocate this money so it will give protection to as many people as possible, in the event of an emergency. Roy V. Aune, Minnesota deputy civil defense director spoke on the need for emergency planning and briefed on some of the man objectives of a shelter survey program.

Each municipality must make a report of all buildings within its boundary which may be suitable for a fall out shelter and a survey of these buildings will be made by state fall out experts in order to decide on their suitability. There must be a storage space of one cubic foot for each sheltered person, to store food and supplies, medical supplies and food be furnished by the federal government.

THIEF RIVER FALLS TIMES

Volume Fifty-one Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota Thursday, January 25, 1962 Number Eight

1961 Marked Period of Deficient Rainfall

1961 will be remembered for the severe spring and summer drought and the generally poor moisture condition at the end of the year. The total precipitation measured 17.20 inches compared to the 60-year average of 20.24 inches.

According to the official weather record maintained by O. C. Soine, agronomist at the Northwest school and Experiment Station, Crookston, each of the first six months was below average in precipitation. Only July, September and October were above average in precipitation when compared to the long-time average. The greatest amount of moisture fell during September when 4.96 inches was recorded. The least amount, 0.11 inches, was recorded for November.

The snowfall for the year measured 17. inches as compared to 3.25 inches for 1960 and 24.5 inches for 1959. The moisture content of the snow was 1.30 inches.

One pleasant feature of the year was the slightly higher mean temperature which was 1.41 degrees above average. The first three months of 1961 were all above average. March was 10 degrees warmer than usual. The months of October and November were also above average but December was nearly 3 degrees colder.

The warmest day of the year was on August 14 when the temperature reached 99 degrees, while the coldest day was January 24 with 29 degrees below zero.

The last spring frost occurred on May 26 and the first killing frost in the fall came on September 26. The frost-free period extended over 125 days.

The following table gives total precipitation for 1961 compared to the long-time average.

Clothing Prices May Rise Slightly, Says Home Agent

Laura Duerst Points out Apparel Prices Have Gone up Less Than Other Items

Clothing may cost a little more in 1962 than it did in 1961, but good news to the consumer should be the fact that prices of clothing of comparable quality have risen only slightly since 1947-49 — far less than for other commodity groups, reports Laura Duerst, Pennington county home agent.

Retail prices of clothing have increased less than have prices for housing, food, recreation, reading, transportation, medical care, personal care and other goods and services. Shoes have risen in price far more than any other single article of clothing.

Keen competition among the thousands of individual firms in the clothing industry and the battle of the fibers — natural fibers such as cotton and wool versus man-made fibers like nylon and rayon — have kept prices of clothing and textiles down.

Price increases in clothing that may occur this year will be due to a number of forces tending to push up manufacturers' costs, Miss Duerst says. Among these forces are, the increase in prices of raw products, including cotton, and the boosting of the minimum wage of workers to $1.15 an hour, which went into effect in September. Not only must textile workers below the minimum be given pay raises, but better skilled workers in many cases will be raised to maintain established pay differentials.

Restraining influences which will temper the price rise will be both domestic and foreign competition. A threat to domestic textile producers will be strong price competition of imports coming from low-wage countries abroad.

Correction Camp Program Working Well, Says Prout

Conservation Chief Cites Achievements in State Parks under Plan

Commissioner of Conservation Clarence Prout has announced his complete satisfaction with the correctional camp program as it has operated in Minnesota state parks during the past few years.

Under the program, carefully screened inmates of correctional institutions are assigned to labor camps at state parks where they are put to work on maintenance and development projects.

"Under existing budgets," said Prout, "this work would never be done without correctional labor. Not only are important state park projects accomplished under this program at a minimum of cost but correctional officers feel that the healthy outdoor work is a tremendous factor in rehabilitation

"We have had cases where former inmates who have worked in the parks have come back after their release to show wives or girl friends the projects they worked on," he said.

A report covering the period Sept. 1960 to June 1961 when the camp was located at Sibley state park shows that inmates removed between five and seven thousand stumps from Lake Andrew, installed a new sewer line, painted 14 buildings, cleared riding and hiking trails and accomplished many other worthwhile projects.

At the present time the correctional camp is at Lake Carlos state park near Alexandria.

WILDLIFE in Minnesota
by JIM KIMBALL

January should be designated the month for thinking, studying, looking ahead and planning. It should be the time for separating goals and objectives from details of the everyday job. This is the time to back away from the trees so we can see the forest. In conservation work January should be the month for looking into the future, predicting public needs and re-aligning our sights.

Looking into the future we see many needs but we see one that overshadows all the rest. This is space for recreation.

Recently I wrote an article upholding the good name of the hunter, pointing out that while some scoundrels hunt, most of them are the same law-abiding ladies and gentlemen who fish. One farmer wrote me a long, intelligent letter on the subject. He pointed out that while the pheasant hunter and fisherman may be the same man, he is responding to a different set of circumstances. The fisherman is on a public lake where he has rights and privileges, while most pheasant hunters must depend on private farm land for a place to enjoy their sport. This farmer convinced me that fishing peacefully on public waters may bring out the best in man and that the same man may reveal his baser instincts when he has been denied a place to hunt ten times in one afternoon.

The kind of recreation we want to provide must be the kind that brings out the best in man, so our major job is that of providing space to enjoy all outdoors. Space to hunt and fish; space to camp, picnic, study nature and see wildlife. And with this, the knowledge that one is not trespassing but is enjoying his rights and privileges as an American and as a Minnesotan.

Many states did not recognize this great need for recreation space until it was too late. Others are recognizing it late but perhaps not too late. New York has a 75-million-dollar program and Wisconsin a 50-million-dollar program. In Minnesota it is not too late. We can do much more for less money. We have abundant water of high quality and we have land with great recreational potential — all available at bargain prices. Why should we wait until it is too late and we end up with too little?

Through a public access program and firm legal action where needed we must dedicate our lakes to the people for all time. There is a limit to the amount of land that should be in public ownership, but the best recreational land will pay the greatest long-range dividends in parks, refuges, forests, public shooting areas and wildlife seeing areas.

When lands are put into public ownership, state or federal, rights of the public to use the land must be insured. It is gratifying to see increased public use planning by state and federal foresters. The wetlands in state ownership are dedicated to public use and we must realize that a refuge can be much more than a sanctuary. The land bought with public funds must be managed to best serve as many people as possible in every imaginable way that will provide recreation. The primary purpose of one of our state refuges may be the production of ducks in spring and early summer. Without interferring with this use, the refuge may provide fall hunting for big game, upland game and waterflow; summer and winter fishing; a place to train dogs and hold field trials; an archery range; wildlife observation points; nature trails; youth group areas; and much more.

Our land and water is too valuable to be completely dominated by a single use. We need more recreational land in public ownership and we must use it in every possible way to provide fun for people. Pheasant hunting the opening day is a tiny glimpse into the crowded future. It need not happen to most of our outdoor enjoyment. It will not happen if we start now to provide space for recreation.

Rep. Langen Visits United Nations

Congressman Is Making First-hand Appraisal

Congressman Odin Langen arrived in New York City Saturday for a first-hand look at the United Nations. "With world tensions at a perilous level and armed aggression on the increase," said Langen, "It becomes important that legislators become more familiar with the United Nations' role as an instrument of peace."

Langen said his visit to the United Nations was prompted by the increasing controversy that surround the world body. He noted that tragic events in the Congo have cast doubts in some circles as to the advisability of an international organization using military force to get such a country to unite. "We must decide," said Langen, "whether the UN is being weakened or strengthened by such action."

The Minnesota congressman said a number of issues that will come before the Congress this session make an understanding of the United Nations imperative. He noted that Congress will be faced with the decision on whether or not to continue foreign aid to countries that do not support the western point of view and whether or not to approve the controversial proposal by President Kennedy to buy $100 million worth of UN bonds. "I feel that my decisions on these important matters," said Langen, "will be brought into clearer focus after a personal look at how the UN works today."

Highway Training Center Facilities Now in Full Use

Full use of the training facilities at the recently completed State Highway and Civil Defense Center at Arden Hills is being made by the Highway Department for the remainder of the month of January. The one-day Highway Patrol review school was held on January 15, and the same day approximately 50 Drivers License examiners arrived for a one-week course. The remaining half of the group will have the course repeated for them the following week. The examiners will make use of the sleeping quarters and cafeteria service provided by the Center.

The new $700,000 training facility is shared jointly by the Civil Defense and Highway training organizations, with the Highway Department responsible for the operational features of the project. This was the first large scale use of the facility by the Highway Department since it was opened early this month.

DAVID'S First STEP

The first step is a thrilling moment! An exciting new world is opening up for David. Soon he will be able to chase a butterfly, explore the old apple tree, play with Tommy and Mary next door.

The first step is the hardest. David needs the encouragement of Daddy's waiting arms. The second step will be easier. Soon David will be skipping about like a lamb.

The first step to Sunday School and church will be another thrilling moment in David's life. This first step will be hard for a shy little boy. David will need the encouragement of Mommy and Daddy. Soon he will be asking to go to Sunday School.

An exciting new world of religious discovery is waiting for your children when they take their first step to church.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Now—
Ford frees you forever from the expense and bother of frequent car servicing.
Twice-a-year maintenance is here— and only the cars from Ford have it!

In a new Ford Galaxie or Fairlane, the odometer rolls off a long 6,000 miles between every service stop. Compare this with other '62 cars and here's what you'll find; many cars still have to check in for service every 1,000 miles; some every 2,000 miles; others every 4,000 miles. Only the cars from Ford need service only twice a year, or every 6,000 miles.

When you own a '62 Galaxie or Fairlane, you don't have to drive with one eye on the odometer to make sure you're not forgetting an oil change or a grease job or other servicing. Ford's twice-a-year maintenance saves you time, saves you money. Just one stop every 6,000 miles takes care of servicing. You'll go 30,000 miles between major lubrications, 6,000 miles between oil changes and minor lubrications, 2 years or 30,000 miles without changing engine coolant-antifreeze. Brakes adjust themselves.

Why buy a service headache when Ford is ready with the cure? See your Ford Dealer—and see how close Ford has come to the fill-it-and-forget-it car!

1962 Dairy Day Plans Are Reviewed at Annual Meeting

Stuart McLeod Again Elected to Head Dairy Improvement Ass'n.

Dairy Day 1962 was given a thorough discussion Thursday afternoon at the annual meeting of the Northwest Dairy Improvement association held at the Rex cafe in Thief River Falls. Stuart McLeod, chairman of the Dairy Day board since its inception 12 years ago, was reelected to the top post at a reorganizational meeting of the board following the general meeting.

Reelected to the board of directors as the nominating committee report was accepted and the slate adopted by acclamation were Harry Nelson, Hallock; Wallce Jordet, Thief River Falls; Clifford Skime, Roseau; and Chester Traaseth, Bagley. New directors elected were Andy Erickson of Badger to succeed Irvin Meade of Roseau and Roland K. Larson of Thief River Falls to succeed J. M. Roche, also of Thief River Falls and long-time secretary of the organization.

Named associate directors at the meeting were Howard Newell, who has replaced Frank Forbes as state supervisor of extension agents, and Marlan Augustine, Holt, president of the Red River Valley Dairymen's association, who replaces Gil Thompson of Ada in that capacity. Thompson served as chairman of the nominating committee which also included Paul Stelmaschuk, Pennington county agricultural agent, and Vernon Stardig of Middle River.

In addition to reelecting McLeod as president of the organization at the reorganization of the board, directors named Klement Gigstad of Thief River Falls as vice president to succeed Walter Schon of Fosston, Roland Larson as secretary to succeed Roche and reelected J. J. Womack of Thief River Falls as treasurer.

Several matters pertaining to operation of the annual event were discussed with re-emphasis of the need for health certificates on animals shown to be received in advance. Tom Johnson, Minnesota ADA fieldman, noted that a new booklet is being prepared to encourage greater participation in county contests for the eventual selection of Princess Kay of the Milky Way.

Retention of Olaf Kjomme of Lake Park and Henry Bartel of Hastings as judges of the show was voted by the group. An improved sound system for the 1962 event was recommended and it was noted that the organization would be represented at the state-wide dairy day meeting to be held February 7 in St. Cloud.

Rudy Larson showed the movies he had taken of 1961 Dairy Day following the general business session. Board members and county agents attended a noon luncheon prior to the general meeting. Letters of recognition were voted by the members to directors who have completed their terms of service on the board.

EVENTS which took place at the 1961 Dairy Day are reviewed by three men who have long been associated with the promotion held annually in Thief River Falls. Left to right Gil Thompson, Ada, retiring member of the board of directors; Stuart McLeod, Thief River Falls, reelected president of the organization at the annual meeting Thursday; and J. M. Roche, Thief River Falls, long-time secretary of the sponsoring Northwest Dairy Improvement association and retiring board member. McLeod has headed the group since it began 13 years ago.

Two Muzzy Cows Rate 'Excellent' In Holstein Test

Two registered Holstein cows in the James R. Muzzy herd at Thief River Falls have been officially classified "excellent", according to the Holstein-Friesian association of America. This is the highest designation attainable in the type classification program of the association.

The designation is applied only to animals scoring 90 or more of the 100 points representing theoretical perfection in body conformation. Of more than 59,000 registered Holsteins officially classified for type last year, only 481 attained the "excellent" rating.

Those scoring 90 points in a recent classification of the Muzzy herd by M. E. Howard, Hales Corners, Wis., were Augenguile Loverign Noelle 4951221 and Mar Ridge Smoky Lorraine 4726432. Howard is an official inspector on the staff of the national holstein association. Animals which scored "excellent" in previous programs are not included in the current listing.

In continuous operation since 1929, the classification program provides a universally-recognized method of comparing the conformation of living animals with that of the true-type Holstein cow or bull. Participation is currently at an all-time high level.

Weather Warms, Snow Falls and Drifts Deepen

Highly contrasting temperatures were the main weather feature during the past weekend, along with another 2.5 inches of snow, which brings the month's total to 14.8 inches, and the total accumulation, as measured at the airport by the observers there, is 20 inches.

There was a 51-degree spread between the high and low temperatures during the reporting period, Thursday through Monday. The daily rundown is as follows: Thursday, high 30, low 5 above; Friday, 32 and 4 below; Saturday, -5 and -19; Sunday, 7 above and 16 below, and the low this morning was 5 above.

The forecast calls for temperatures ranging from 0 to 25 above with low winds. Skies will be cloudy through Tuesday, with some light snow predicted, warmer today, little temperature change expected through Tuesday.

Highs will be 5-25 above, the low tonight 0-15 above. The five-day forecast is for temperatures near seasonal normals so it will probably be a pleasant week, comparatively speaking.

Thorfin Ostby and Maynard Myrvik of Milton, N. D., were Friday visitors at the Thomas Ostby home.

Glen Aune and Floyd Jesme of Grygla were Friday evening visitors at the John Aune home. They were on their return home from Minneapolis.

30 Attend N.W. Hospital's First Pre-Natal Class

Completion of the first series of classes in pre-natal and child care offered by Northwestern Hospital in Thief River Falls was noted January 24 with 30 persons attending part or all of the classes given. The next group of classes will be held beginning May 2 and registration for this group will be accepted at the hospital or local clinic.

The January 24 session included a tour of the obstetrical department of the hospital and lunch was served. Drawings were held and a layette was given to Mrs. Roger Anderson, blankets to Mrs. Ronald Gerardy and Mrs. Richard Brooks, and cards containing safety pins and a greeting from the hospital to all other couples attending.

Heart Fund Drive Set for February

Throughout Minnesota's 87 counties, 40,000 volunteer workers dedicated themselves today to the task of raising a goal of $510,000.00 in support of the 1962 Heart Fund drive, David Drotts, area chairman, stated today. Spearheading this effort will be a team of 1,500 key leaders selected from hundreds of groups and organizations interested in putting an end to the greatest health scourge known to modern man—heart disease!

"The slogan for the 1962 campaign for heart dollars", declared Gordon J. Thompson, state chairman, "is significant to the challenge. 'More Will Live - the More You Give', tells the heart story in plain language. Vast sums of are necessary for research, but can this be compared to the vast sum of human life that is and will be saved through its results?"

Serving as national honorary chairman for Heart Sunday, February 25, is Mrs. John F. Kennedy. Other prominent Americans endorsing the drive are General and Mrs. Dwight David Eisenhower, Vice President and Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, Thomas E. Dewey, General Mark W. Clark and countless others.

The Minnesota Heart Fund campaign will run the month of February, reaching its peak on Heart Sunday. Every resident and business in the state will be given an opportunity to contribute.

1962 4-H Records Have Been Mailed

The 1962 4-H records have been mailed out to the members, said Miss Laura Duerst, home agent. Each members is asked to check them to see they have all the records for the projects they are enrolled in. If there is anyone lacking records or some mistake made, the 4-H member is asked to stop by the extension office to correct the error.

Pipeline May End Rail Oil Shipments

Would Stop Oil Transport Thru Thief River Falls

In a news report Tuesday in the Minneapolis Tribune it appears the future of rail oil shipments from North Dakota to the pipeline at Clearbrook may be coming to an end this summer.

The Tribune reports that a $3 million dollar pipeline project has been approved to carry North Dakota crude to Canada and then to the States by "existing pipelines".

The Matador Pipe Line Co president of Denver, Colo., said that survey work of the new pipeline will begin in the spring and the line would be completed by late summer.

The North Dakota economic development commission had opposed the building of the line and Gov. Guy last fall asked the President to deny permission. Reason for the opposition was that they preferred a direct pipeline.

The state department, however, said Monday that President Kennedy had granted the needed permission on Dec. 4 to Matador. The Great Northern Railroad and the Soo Line also protested the granting of the order. These lines now haul the oil to Bagley and Clearbrook, the Soo Line shipments passing thru Thief River Falls.

Seed - Feed Show Set Friday

Miss Laura Duerst

Dr. William Mudge

Dr. William Hueg

Dr. E. C. Frederick

Listed as a double-barreled approach to highlight the crop and dairy industries in this area by Silas Hanson, chairman, the Thief River Falls Seed and Feed Show will be held Friday at the Thief River Falls city auditorium. Opening a portion of the exhibit to 4-H club members this year should swell the total entries in grain and feed classes above last year's figure.

Dairying is being given special emphasis this year with noted speakers on the subject scheduled to appear on the program. "Any dairy farmer who is interested in improved management and more profitable production, and every dairyman should be, will be able to gain valuable information at the show," Hanson said.

Dr. William Hueg will open the afternoon session at 1:20 p. m. by discussing the topic, "What Is Forage Really Worth?". Dr. William Mudge will speak on "Feeding Dairy Calves and Cows" and Dr. E. C. Frederick, well-known local authority on dairying from the Northwest School of Agriculture and experiment station at Crookston, will discuss "Dairy Cow Breeding Problems".

To illustrate points of his talk, Dr. Frederick will use actual organs of a pregnant and non-pregnant cow in his presentation of breeding problems and what dairy farmers can do to correct these problems in their herds.

While men are attending the afternoon program or visiting other portions of the show, women will meet in the auditorium basement for an informative program on "Pricing of Meats and Meat Quality." This program will be presented by Miss Laura Duerst, Pennington county home agent, who will use actual cuts of meat to illustrate her discussion. All women are invited to attend.

Seed and forage exhibits may be entered from early morning until 10 a. m. Friday at the city auditorium or may be left any day this week at the county agent's office in the Pennington county courthouse. Premiums will be paid on all lots in which entries are received. At 10 a. m. judges will place the exhibits and the FFA and 4-H grain clinic will also be held at that time. Judges will speak on quality grain and feeds at 1 p. m.

Farmers, 4-H club and FFA members are all urged to bring in samples for exhibit. Quantity in each division has been listed in EXPESSION told the story as the life of Norris Quentin Jones was unfolded Thursday evening at the annual meeting of the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce. Jones was the recipient of the chamber's initial Outstanding Citizel award and is currently director of the elementary physical education program in local schools. At left his eyes are moist as a former student's voice broke with emotion in paying tribute to "Mr. Jones." At center he grinned widely in recalling the time his dog bit a blond school teacher in the posterior and, as the story goes, he demanded to see the bite. At right he sits in the characteristic pose he assumed most of the evening as his service to humanity was outlined in letters and personal appearances as part of the "This is Your Life" presentation.

Soo Line Railroad Nets $665,398 in '61

Reduced Expenses Seen as Result of 1961 Merger

The Soo Line Railroad Co., formed from merger of three railroads Jan. 1, 1961, reported a net profit last year.

Net income of $665,398 compares with a 1960 loss of $344,728 reported by the three railroads.

Merging into the Soo line were the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie; Wisconsin Central and the Duluth South Shore and Atlantic Railroad Cos.

Merger allowed reduction in operating costs of more than $5 million, the railroad said. In 1960 the three lines reported operating expenses of $76,803,884, compared with Soo Line costs of $71,270,552.

Total revenue for 1961 was down to $74,992,428 from $79,389,762.

In addition to operating expenses railroads have fixed charges and other costs.

Oscar M. Johnson left for Bremerton, Washington, last Thursday to visit indefinitely with relatives.

Planning Group Will Give Report To City Council

Following a discussion of the problem of community planning and the advantages to be gained by such a program recently, the steering committee appointed by Mayor Orin Green to bring in a report to the city council decided to recommend that the city create a planning commission. A committee consisting of Les Ihle and W. E. Dahlquist was named to present the report to the council.

Most of the discussion was on the question of whether the city should act alone or that other units of government should be invited to participate. It was decided that the program should be initiated by the city with other units of government being represented on the commission and that the decision on expanding the authority and the area to be included could be made later.

Minor Traffic Mishaps Listed On Police Report

Minor traffic mishaps continued to be the main news item from city police today, with three reported over the weekend.

Ramona Storhaug, city, was driving north on Davis av. about 12:30 Friday when her car struck another dirven by Maynard Troland, city, who was turning off Seventh to go south on Davis. Damage was estimated at $75 to the Storhaug car, $150 to Troland's.

At 2:50 p. m. Roger L. Solem, southbound on Main av., stopped to pick up a passenger when he was struck in the rear by another car driven south on Main by Kenneth J. Leiran, city.

Police estimated $35 damage to Solem's car, $85 to Leiran's. Charges in the case are pending further investigation.

An estimated $50 damages was caused to a car driven north in the alley between Horace and Atlantic avenues by Martin J. Peterson, city, when the Peterson car, on emerging from the alley, was struck by a car being backed from a parking stall on Third st. by Severt Benson, city.

There was no damage to the Benson car in the mishap, which occurred about 4:40 p. m. Saturday.

Social Security Man Here Tuesday

Holthusen May Be Tried for 2nd Degree Murder

Supreme Court Ruling Says State Has Power Over Non-Indians on Reservation

The state of Minnesota has the power to deal with crimes involving non-Indians, committed within the Red Lake Indian Reservation, the Minnesota Supreme Court ruled Friday This is true, the court said, even though the lands involved were never formally ceded by the Chippewa Indians to the United States.

This means that Reinhard C. Holthusen may be tried on a second degree murder indictment returned against him by a Beltrami county grand jury on the charge of having beaten to death Palmer Anderson, Thief River Falls contractor.

District Judge Arnold Forbes, Bemidji, had rejected Holthusen's contention that the grand jury could not indict him for anything that had happened on the Reservation and then referred the question to the supreme court as "important and doubtful."

The supreme court accepted the state argument that Minnesota acquired exclusive jurisdiction in the territory with respect to crimes involving non-Indians because no reservations about jurisdiction were included when the state was admitted to the union.

Tax Notices to Be Mailed This Week

Residents Notified of Personal Property Tax

County Treasurer Ellsworth Jorgenson's office is now engaged in the hugh task of preparing to mail out this week-end postcard notices of the amount of personal property taxes due from county residents and payable February 28. Also to be included in the notices is the amount of real estate taxes due May 31.

Mailing the tax notices is required under the terms of a new state law enacted by the 1961 legislature. Jorgenson has been busy the past several months in ascertaining the correct mailing addresses of taxpayers preliminary to mailing the notices.

As in past years, the personal property tax list for the county will be published in the Times, and is expected to be ready for publication in the Thursday, February 1, issue.

Award Plaque Given To Jones for Work in School, Church, City

Dry eyes were the exception rather than the rule Thursday evening as the community service life of N. Quentin Jones was unfolded for 315 persons who attended the annual meeting of the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce. Jones was named the recipient of the Chamber's initial "Outstanding Citizen" and was featured in a production of "This Is Your Life, Mr. Jones."

Phil Hess, general chairman of the annual meeting committee, acclaimed the event as an outstanding success. The basement of St. Bernard's Catholic church was crammed to capacity and serving crews were forced into hasty preparation of additional food to feed the nearly 100 more persons than were expected to attend. Hess paid tribute to the kitchen and serving crew who accomplished the seemingly impossible task of making adjustments and serving the meal in a very short span of time.

Richard Edlund, senior high school principal and master of ceremonies for the "This Is Your Life" portion of the program, announced the recipient in television drama style. Jones was seated before the large crowd attending as friends, former students and fellow workers in community, school and church activities paid tribute to his contribution to the community and particularly its youth.

With the crowd being much larger than expected, orchids promised to all ladies attending were not sufficient in number and late-comers did without them. The attendance count indicated about 130 women present among the 315 persons served, and their attendance with their husbands was listed as a major contributing factor to the large number present.

Dr. Orion D. Belch served as master of ceremonies with the invocation given by Rev. Keough Patnode, pastor of St. Bernard's congregation. Dr. George Martin,

Expect Contract On TR 59 Near Halma This Year

Contracts for nine miles of trunk highway 59 extending from Halma to three miles northwest of Lake Bronson will be let after July 1, Lancaster citizens were told by district engineer Carl Larson at a meeting Tuesday. This will complete the rebuilding of all of old 59 from Thief River Falls to that point.

This will leave 7.7 miles of new construction angling to the southeast to complete the highway from Thief River Falls to the Canadian border and this is in the program for the following year, according to Dr. M. A. Hoffman of Lancaster. He told the Times that they have assurance that the Canadians will complete the blacktopping of 59 north of the border this year.

Homemakers Gain Tips In Dressmaking Series

The first group of Pennington county homemakers gathered at the community room of the court house Tuesday, January 23 at 10 a. m. for a series of three lessons given by home agent, Laura Duerst in the "Make Yourself a Dress" workshop. Each woman enrolled will come in three different days in groups of five to seven. With a total enrollment of near sixty, it will be April before all lessons are completed.

The ladies meeting Tuesday had a session, as each group will, in the "squaring and shrinkage of fabric and pattern adjustments for fit before laying pattern on fabric" and it was pointed out that smart style and appearance does not just happen but requires recognition of standard in preparation.

The fitting of a pattern includes sewing pieces together except darts which are on the outside for easier alteration, after which seam tape is sewn on seam lines at neckline, waistline of bodice and shirt and around armseye, and trying on for alterations.

Press pattern before laying, straighten fabrics or cut along filling yarn. Folding the selvages together with right sides facing each other and placing at the edge of a table. Should the filling yarns fall at right angles to warp yarns and parallel to the end of the table the fabric is "square" or on "grain" and if previously treated for shrinkage needs no further treatment before laying the pattern.

When the filling yarns of shrinkage treated fabrics, as cottons and wash rayons, run diagonally from selvage to selvage, pull on the true bias in the direction of the shortest end throughout the entire length until they are at right angles to the warp yarns.

These steps were included in the first lesson of fitting the pattern bodice and all requirements before cutting. The thre lessons will also include fitting of skirt pattern, cutting, sewing in zipper and final touches for a finished dress.

Laurel Group at Leonard Hansons

The Laurel group of the Thief River Falls Woman's club met at the home of Mrs. Leonard C. Hanson Tuesday afternoon, January 23. A business meeting was held after which knitting and china painting were indulged in. Mrs. George Biddick and Mrs. Fred Mittelstadt gave some highlights on knitting.

Ladies doing china painting decided to meet twice a week for painting as before. They met Thursday, January 25 at the George Biddick home and Friday at the Jack McKechnie home.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the kitchen of

MRS. DARYL LEWIS

This is a cookie recipe that Mrs. Lewis likes to use mostly for "special occasions", as they do take a little more time and effort to make but are well worth it when the compliments start coming. This recipe also won for her first prize in the cookie catagory of the Grand Forks Herald Cookbook contest three years ago as she started with a basic recipe and added her own other ingredients. They are dainty and decorative and can be kept in the deep freeze if frozen on cookie sheets before packing in containers.

FANCY CHOCOLATE COOKIES

1¾ cups flour	⅓ cup butter	½ cup chopped nuts
1 tsp. soda	1 egg	½ cup coconut
½ tsp. salt	¼ cup milk	½ cup chopped
⅓ cup cocoa	1 cup sugar	Maraschino cherries

Sift together flour, soda, salt and cocoa. Cream sugar and butter. Add milk and egg to creamed mixture. Mix in nuts, coconut and cherries. Add dry ingredients and mix well. Drop by small teaspoonful on greased cookie sheet and bake at 350 degrees for 8 minutes.

Remove from oven and place ½ marshmallows on each cookie. Return to oven and bake 2 to 3 minutes, no longer as marshmallows will melt. Frost while warm with the following frosting:

5 tsp. cocoa	4 tbsp. light cream
2 cups sifted powdered sugar	dash of salt
3 tbsp. melted butter

Melt butter and add cocoa, salt and cream. Blend in powdered sugar. As each cookie is frosted dip tops immediately into chopped nuts or shredded coconut and place on waxed paper to "set".

Mrs. Lewis likes to prepare the frosting before baking cookies and keeps it soft by placing over a pan of hot water and she also has the two dishes with nuts and coconaut ready, and the marshmallows cut, beforehand.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis live on a farm 7 miles west of this city and are members of Trinity Lutheran church. They have one son, Timothy Scott, 2½, who doesn't allow any dull moments in their household.

Farming and mechanics are main interests of Mr. Lewis while she enjoys baking, swapping recipes, sewing and music among other interests. She is presently employed as teletypesetter operator at the TRF TIMES.

Marshall County ACP Signup Begins Monday

Signup for practices in the 1962 Agricultural Conservation Program in Marshall county begins Monday, February 5, with eleven locations in the county designated as signup stations, according to A. E. Strandquist, office manager of the Marshall County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office.

Registration will be taken each day from 9:30 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. at the various sites listed. Farmers are asked to study carefully the conservation practices for which cost-sharing is available in the county and attempt to decide in advance of the meeting which practices are needed most on their individual farms.

"Requests for cost-sharing for conservation practices to be carried out during the 1962 program year are now being accepted in our office," Strandquist said. "To be eligible for cost-sharing you must file your request for the practice before it is started. Forms for requests for cost sharing may be obtained at any of the meetings.

Dates, places and townships in this area which are affected by each of the meetings are as follows:

HAPPY HOMEMAKING

Decorating a Cake

A week ago I was out to the Smiley III Homemakers Group. At this meeting Mrs. Oscar Houske demonstrated how to decorate cakes. It was most interesting and fascinating to say the least. While watching her I picked some ideas I wish to pass on to you, some of the things I learned while watching and talking with Mrs. Houske.

One of the main principles in decorating a cake is to keep the design simple. You use your imagination as you develop the design. If you have many ideas use the back of the cake pan to experiment on to see just how this imitation design of yours will work out. You can use this frosting over again.

In placing this frosting on the cake it requires a steady hand. The way you tilt your hand has an effect on the angle your design will come out with on the cake.

You may be wondering what kind of frosting Mrs. Houske used: 1 lb. powdered sugar, ¾ cup hydrated shortening, 4 tablespoons liquid and ⅛ teaspoon salt. Beat the ingredients together. Add the colors you may wish to use in decorating. Mrs. Houske said it is very important to add the salt because it takes away that hydration shortening taste.

Rug Making

Another hobby one of the homemakers along with many others is doing is rug making. Mrs. John Larson has a loom set up in her upstairs and here is probably where you would find her in her spare time. She cuts rags into strips the soze of a pencil when folded before beginning to weave. One thing she trys to do is to keep all the same colors together so this way they come out looking more uniform. In making a pattern in a woven rug the design is made by use of different color in the warp yarn. Mrs. Larson makes many long rugs which are handy to use in the entry way of a hall and etc.

Covenant Ministerial Ass'n. Meets Today

Ministerial association of Red River Valley Covenant churches is meeting today in St. Hilaire with Rev. Ed Folden of Park River, N. D., speaking to the group this afternoon. A prayer service was held at 11 a. m. and a business session was scheduled to follow the noon meal which was served at 12:30 p. m.

Plan School Bond Vote in R. L. Falls

Election on $95,000 Bond Issue to Be Held Shortly

A $95,000 school bond issue for an addition to Lafayette high school in Red Lake Falls will be presented to the voters of Ind. School District No. 630 probably late in February.

An increasing school enrollment and a home economics department that has been operating on borrowed time are the reasons for the proposed addition that would abut the east wall of the school addition completed in 1956.

The estimated price tag of $95,000 would include a building 149 feet by 31 feet which would contain a new home economics department 56x30 and two classrooms each 42x30 plus the equipment, plus architect's fee of about $4,000 and the bonding consultant's fee of perhaps $1,200.

Vandalism, Tool Theft Reported By Police Today

Police reported today a case of vandalism and the theft of tools from a local service station over the weekend.

Three windows were broken out of a garage at the residence of Mrs. Regina Kveno, 425 S. Crocker sometime the night of Jan. 24. The destruction was reported Thursday by Mrs. Kveno.

Police said the culprits were not satisfied merely to break the glass but broke out the frames and crossbars as well. The case is still under investigation.

Thieves took several wrenches from Fred and Darrell's Mobil Service the night of Jan. 26. Open end and box end wrenches and one crescent wrench were taken, police said, the value of which was not stated.

New Arthritis Test Developed By March of Dimes Research

To determine whether or not she has rheumatoid arthritis, Barbara Singleton, 10, gives blood sample to medical technician at a March of Dimes-supported clinic. Each year 30,000 children are afflicted.

A new and sensitive blood test for diagnosing rheumatoid arthritis in children was one of the medical achievements of 1961 highlighted by The National Foundation in a year-end review of progress by March of Dimes-supported scientists.

The report, by Dr. Thomas M. Rivers, vice president for medical affairs of The Foundation, cited accomplishments related to birth defects, virus diseases, polio and genetics as well as arthritis.

Dr. Rivers also noted that 1961 will be memorable because of the licensing by the U. S. Government of two of the three component types of Sabin oral polio vaccine which, like the Salk killed-virus vaccine, was developed with money given to the March of Dimes.

The new arthritis test was developed by Dr. Morris Ziff and his research associates at the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School in Dallas. In their studies, the test proved positive in 76 per cent of children with rheumatoid arthritis. By contrast, other tests currently in use seldom pinpoint the disease in more than 20 per cent of youngsters known to have it, according to Dr. Rivers.

Dr. Rivers pointed out that few people realize how very serious rheumatoid arthritis can be in children, or how common it is among them. It is estimated that there are about 30,000 children under 15 in the U. S. who have it, many of whom are severely crippled, he said.

It is also suspected many other youngsters may have the disease, with perhaps only minor or vague pains and no clear-cut symptoms to label arthritis as the culprit.

The arthritis test, which is particularly sensitive in detecting an unusual blood factor frequently found in persons with rheumatoid arthritis, may fill its greatest role in uncovering undiagnosed rheumatic disease in children.

This could be vitally important, because the earlier diagnosis is made and treatment started, the better the chances for prevention of disability in young victims of the disease.

A second scientific achievement highlighted in The Foundation's year-end review was a special field study which disclosed that a great many birth defects are not detectable in early life but may remain hidden until infants reach the age of one or two.

This report was made by a research team headed by Dr. Frank R. Lock of the Bowman Gray School of Medicine, Winston-Salem, N. C.

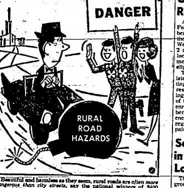
Among the other developments singled out in the March of Dimes research progress report were the following:

1. Dr. Joseph L. Melnick of Baylor University has come up with two chemical discoveries that promise major improvements in the manufacture of oral polio vaccines. It had previously been necessary to keep such vaccines in deep freeze until just a few days before use. With the new chemical treatment, however, they can be kept at room temperature for as long as a month. The second chemical improvement removes undesirable viruses that contaminate the vaccine at certain stages of preparation.

2. A new radioactive method of detecting how viruses are formed inside cells was reported by Dr. Councilman Morgan and associates at Columbia University. Another group of workers at the University of Michigan described similar results with techniques involving use of fluorescent materials.

3. Additional evidence that one of the intestinal viruses may also cause an infectious heart disease, sometimes fatal in infants, has been obtained by Dr. George Dempster and colleagues at the University of Saskatchewan.

4-H Warns: Look Alive on Rural Roads



Beautiful and harmless as they seem, rural roads are often more dangerous than city streets, say the national winners of $400 General Motors scholarships for outstanding 4-H safety activities.

Seventy-five percent of last year's 38,000 highway fatalities occurred in rural areas, the safety experts told newsmen during the 40th National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago.

They pledged to lead America's 2¼ million 4-H members in promoting modernization of rural roads and urging greater awareness of hazards which await drivers on isolated highways.

Less Traffic Doesn't Mean Less Danger

The national winners plus 37 state safety winners received all-expense trips to the 4-H Club Congress from General Motors for their superb 4-H farm, home and highway safety activities.

Typical was Susanne Shideler, 17, of Lathrop, Calif., who with her county safety council helped fight highway hypnosis on holiday weekends by serving free coffee to tired motorists traveling to Yosemite Park.

"Drivers on rural roads tend to think that where there is less traffic, there is less danger," she said. "Actually, they must be constantly alert for blind intersections, animals crossing the road, slow moving farm machinery and road defects—all of which cause accidents."

4-H Safety a GM Project 18 Years

General Motors is now in its 18th year of sponsoring awards in the 4-H safety program which is conducted by the Extension Service of the state agriculture colleges, the United States Department of Agriculture and the National 4-H Service Committee.

Other national winners include: Jane Bacot, 16, Zachary, La.; Martha Ann Beebe, 18, Rutland, Vt.; Georgine Coleman, 18, Denison, Kan.; Anne Hostettler, 16, Statesville, N. Car.; Lavelle Gottschall, 18, Frederick, Okla.; John D. Spuller, 18, Rushville, Ind.; and Joe Dee Wilcoxson, 17, Cave City, Ky.

Their advice: ON EVERY ROAD YOU DRIVE, STAY ALERT TO STAY ALIVE!

SAILOR DENNIS BUSHAW MAKES CRUISE TO HAWAII

Dennis R. Bushaw, storekeeper third class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard S. Bushaw of Thief River Falls is serving aboard the submarine tender USS Nereus, whose home port is at San Diego, Calif., but now undergoing a refresher training cruise in Hawaiian waters.

The 15,600-ton tender arrived in Hilo, Hawaii, Jan. 10, and was scheduled to visit Pearl Harbor before returning to San Diego, Jan. 27.

While in Pearl Harbor, the Nereus was to be inspected by Commander Submarine Force, Pacific Fleet, who was to observe the results of the tender's recent overhaul and conversion which makes it possible for the vessel to service nuclear-powered submarines.

The Nereus is one of two submarine tenders in the Pacific Fleet providing mobile base characteristics for our submarines as a deterrence to possible war. Fleet tenders make it possible for U. S. submarines to operate thousands of miles from any shore installation.

SAILOR ROBERT ANDERSON IN MEDITERRANEAN AREA

Robert J. Anderson, boatswain's mate seaman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. Anderson of Thief River Falls, is serving aboard the attack cargo ship USS Capricornus which departed from Norfolk, Va. for a five month cruise with the Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean.

The Norfolk-based ship will begin her overseas assignment by participating in a large Navy-Marine Corps amphibious exercise next month in the Western Mediterranean. Approximately 8,000 Navy and Marine Corps personnel are scheduled to participate in the February exercise.

SLOW DOWN AND LIVE

Local Jaycees Charter Bus for Regional Session

All members of the Thief River Falls chapter of the Junior Chamber of Commerce are reminded of the special bus trip to Bemidji Wednesday evening for the Region 2 meeting. The bus will leave the local bus depot at 5 p. m. and all members in good standing are eligible to make the trip.

The first 25 members who register will comprise the local contingent making the trip. Space reservations may be made by calling John Elsbrener, state director of the local chapter. New members enrolled during the current membership campaign are especially encouraged to attend. Costs of registration and travel will be paid by the local chapter.

Schoolmen Met in Red Lake Falls Last Wednesday

The Lake Agassiz Schoolmen's group, composed of superintendents and teachers from Alvarado, Climax, Crookston, East Grand Forks, Fisher, Goodridge, Plummer, Oslo, Thief River Falls, Red Lake Falls and Warren met Wednesday, January 24, at the Red Lake Falls high school with President Olger Olson, in charge.

The superintendents met at 3 p. m. and this meeting was followed by a dinner meeting for all members. Speaker of the evening was Mr. Neis, exchange teacher from Germany who is teaching in the Goodridge school. Music was furnished by Kenneth Larsen, director of the Red Lake Falls high school band.

2 Local Students Will Get Degrees Sunday from UND

Two Thief River Falls students will be graduated from the University of North Dakota at its winter commencement in the UND field house at Grand Forks next Sunday afternoon, February 4, at 2 p. m. The speaker will be Thomas E. Whelan of St. Thomas, N. D., former U. S. ambassador to Nicaragua. Included in the 131 candidates for degrees are Ronald Severson, TRF, who will receive the degree of bachelor of science in education; and Jon Wennberg, also of this city, bachelor of science in mechanical engineering.

D. Wegge Going to Brainerd Session

D. G. Wegge, bulk agent for the Standard Oil division of American Oil company at Thief River Falls, will attend the Company's 1962 rural sales meeting to be held in the National Guard Armory at Brainerd, Minn. on Feb. 8, according to A. K. Reed, manager of the Duluth sales district for the company. Approximately 115 agents and sales representatives will attend the meeting.

CHAMBER L.I.F.E.

Living-Industry-Farming-Education

By Rolly Larson
Manager Chamber of Commerce

On behalf of the Board of Directors, the Annual Banquet Committee, and myself I want to take this opportunity to extend to the entire Thief River Falls community a very hearty "Thank You".

The Chamber of Commerce has been in existence for 48 years here in Thief River Falls and has had some sort of annual meeting every year. Never before has attendance ever even approached what we had last Thursday evening. For those of you who are interested in knowing, there were 315 in attendance of which 181 were men and 134 were women. There were 37 guests of the Chamber and 70 were present from our local faculty which was very good. When 50 per cent of the faculty will take time from their busy schedule to attend our annual Chamber Banquet, it is truly significant and should be mentioned.

We are sorry that we ran out of orchids for the last 34 ladies to come through the door but we were very happy to see the record-breaking turnout which fooled even the most optimistic of us. Thankfully, the ladies at St. Bernard's were prepared for such an emergency and executed their duties in a professional manner. Speaking of professionals, I want to say that if anyone has ever seen anybody do a better job of being Master of Ceremonies than Dr. O. D. Belch, I'd like to hear about it. He "quarterbacked" the entire evening in true style. Not to be overlooked are all of the citizens who were on the program. "1962 On Parade" was one of the most interesting arrays of public speaking we've seen.

Mr. N. Quentin Jones and his lovely wife are to be complimented too. The "Outstanding Citizen Award" was well-deserved by Mr. Jones and the selection committee did a fine job of presenting "This is your Life, Mr. Jones."

All in all it was a fine start for 1962, thanks to Phil Hess and his committee and to 315 of you who were willing to spend an evening together. Incidentally, by working together often, we will continue to have a better L. I. F. E. Here in the Heart of Northwest Minnesota, Thief River Falls.

Annual Chamber Banquet Draws 315 Attendance

1961 chamber president, stated that "last year is now all in the past" and "it has been a good year." He added that "If tonight is any indication, president Joe, you are in for a fine year in 1962."

Joe Holter, 1962 president, pledged to do his best "to make your chamber function to its utmost". He paid tribute to Dr. Martin for a fine year in 1961 and stated there were many new challenges for 1962. "Changes being made are fantastic," he said. "We must adjust and help to solve the problems of change. The road of progress is never-ending."

Arnold Kelly presented the financial report resume, showing that income from membership dues was $16,485 during the year and that expenses totaled $15,270. Net operating gain for the year was $1,214 and the organization had a net surplus on December 31, 1961 of $2,494. James Smillie presented a summary of the activities and services offered by the Chamber of Commerce office.

Part of the "1962 on Parade" report was a discussion of standing committees by directors serving on them. These speakers included Stanley Pladson, J. J. Womack, Gene Belto, C. L. Charlson, Carl Lee, Otto Stenberg, Randall Noper, Gene Gaer and Al Bacon.

Since the chamber has a motto of L. I. F. E., indicating Living, Industry, Farming and Education, the "This Is Your Life" theme was especially appropriate for the meeting. For Quentin Jones, Thief River Falls resident since 1942 when he moved here from Park Rapids to accept a position in the local school system, it was a night which will not soon be forgotten.

When Jones moved to this city, he was the only man in the entire physical education department. Shortly after he became associated with the local school, he instituted a grade school program. None of the coaches were paid salaries and touch football was played with no equipment except the ball. In addition to the pioneering work in the grade school program, Jones taught five school classes and driver's education.

Former faculty members who worked with Jones contributed to the program by sending letters which were read by Ted Hellie of the Lincoln high school faculty. Writers of the letters were W. G. "Bill" Claffy, Wilbur Keeling and Glenn Hannah, all former athletic associates or school officials.

In 1946 he became head of the athletic department and taught five classes while still continuing work in the elementary schools. The tribute presented by Edlund stated, "You have given of your time so that youngsters could have a better recreational program. You coached a Knox basketball team one year when no grade coach was available. You began the practice of having the gym door open on Saturday morning and Christmas and Easter vacations so that all kids who wanted to could come and play. You took many rural boys home after school—boys who had stayed to practice for various sports and who otherwise would not have had the opportunity to participate."

Letters from Jim Carlson and Dennis Rolle, former faculty members, were read. Former students who appeared in person were Marvin "Ninsk" Carlson and Dave Rassmussen, while letters from Keith Rosengren and Allen Williamson were also received.

It was noted by the master of ceremonies that Jones' track teams from 1942 through 1957 won more regional events than had been won by any other athletic group over that period of time or since. He held a record of 13 years as coach of consecutive District 31 track champions, added cross-country to the school program, instituted golf and tennis and even had a wrestling team in 1943-1944.

Jones is still a member of the Pennington county civil defense unit and has been active with the city park and recreational board. Lawrence Bjorkman commented on the park board work and Morris Oyen outlined Jones' work with Boy Scout activities. Mrs. Margaret Race, school health nurse, commented on his concern for the health of students and gave him a blushing kiss of appreciation.

The honored citizen was also noted for service to education, having served as president of the local unit of the Minnesota Education association and spending much time with district and state education groups. A. J. Kramer, Roseau coach, commented on his acquaintance with Jones in both fields of education and athletic competition.

Following introduction of Quent's wife Libby, Phil Hess, banquet chairman, was called upon to present the award plaque to Jones. The latter responded with a brief word of thanks, giving credit to the young people for being a "fine bunch of kids" and stating that "without their cooperation none of these things would have been possible."

Edlund closed the program by stating, "Mr. N. Quentin Jones, may the Citizen of the Year award be a symbol of appreciation to you—teacher, coach, youth worker, community worker, churchman, friend."

previous editions of the Times and may also be received by calling the county extension office. Farmers from all surrounding counties are urged to exhibit and attend the afternoon program.

"Crops and dairying are important" states Paul Stelmaschuk, Pennington county agricultural agent. "Crops provide half the income to Pennington county farmers and dairying provides one quarter of the income. Discussion about these industries will help to bring out new profitable practices and correct any help problems which may exist."

Sponsored by the Pennington County Crop Improvement association, the show is given assistance by Pennington county Chamber of Commerce, banks and loan agencies, seed-feed-fertilizer firms, dairy industry firms and a power cooperative.

Free milk will be provided all day to participants in the show by the area milk producers, Bridgeman and Land O'Lakes creameries. Commercial and educational booths will display various merchandise and information.

Severin Johnson Interred Jan. 27 Near Grygla

Severin E. Johnson, a pioneer resident of the Grygla community, died on Wednesday evening, January 24 at his home near Grygla at the age of 88 years.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon, January 27, in the Grace Lutheran church of Grygla. Rev. Julian Erickson officiated and interment was in the St. Petri Lutheran cemetery west of Grygla. The Green Funeral home was in charge of arrangements.

Mr. Johnson was born September 6, 1873, in Bergen, Norway and came to this country with his parents at the age of 6 years, settling in Redwood county, near Tracy, Minn., where he attended school and grew to manhood. In 1898 he came to Marshall county and homesteaded near Grygla. On October 24, 1907 he was united in marriage to Christine Sundelene at Warren. His wife passed away on December 5, 1931.

He is survived by 3 sons, Arthur Johnson, Erwin Johnson and Adrian Johnson all of Grygla; 3 daughters (Gail) Mrs. Palmer Lian and Miss Audrey Johnson both of Grygla; and (Joyce) Mrs. Walter Rieck of St. Paul. Eight grandchildren and one great grandchild also survive him.

He was preceded in death by his wife, five sisters and five brothers.

Crookston Rites for Mrs. Helen Montgomery 90

Funeral services for Mrs. Marian Helen Montgomery, 90, a Crookston resident for the past 24 years, and formerly of Thief River Falls, were held Saturday at the Houske Funeral Chapel with the Rev. Stanley Johnson officiating.

Mrs. Montgomery died Thursday evening at a Crookston hospital.

Mrs. Montgomery was born May 5, 1871 at Indianapolis, Ind. Before her marriage to J. F. Montgomery in January of 1898, she was night operator for the Great Northern Railway Co. in Crookston and Great Northern agent at Angus.

Following her husband's death she was timekeeper and clerk for the Great Northern in Crookston and operator at Thief River Falls and Noyes until her retirement in December of 1938.

Upon her retirement she moved to Crookston and lived there until her death. She had been a resident at Bethesda Nursing Home since suffering a stroke in January of 1956.

Mrs. Montgomery had no living relatives.

R. L. Falls Liquor Store Profits at Record Low in '61

The operating figures for the Red Lake Falls Liquor Supply for 1961 were announced last week.

The city netted $11,920.42 for the year. Total sales were $105,419 and cost of sales was $65,518. Gross profits were $39,900 and expenses were $28,202 yielding an operating profit of $11,698 plus other income of $222.

Total sales in 1960 were $118,376 with the cost of sales $72,892 which after expenses resulted in a net profit of $16,296. It was the lowest net profit the municipal store has ever made in its near 30 year old history.

DAIRY PRODUCTS LEAD PER CAPITA FOOD PARADE

Feel any heavier? Or any leaner, in the pocketbook? If you're an average American, as most folks like to regard themselves, you ate and drank 1,488 pounds of food and beverage last year. According to Federal Department of Agriculture calculations United States 1960 per capita consumption of tea, coffee, and cocoa, dry weight, was 17 pounds. Eggs totted up to 41 pounds per capita, fats-oils-butterfat 67 pounds; potatoes tied with sugar-and-syrup at 108 pounds each; flour and cereal went at the rate of 146 pounds per capita, meat-fish-poultry 178, fruits-and-vegetables 409 pounds. Good old dairy products led the parade with an average per capita consumption of 414 pounds.

Week's Record in Gatzke Area

Mrs. Aksel Gormsen, Gatzke

Elaine Koskela and Marlys Olson called at the Howard Lunsetters Thursday evening.

Ruby Larson and Mrs. Willie Tale were brief callers at the Mylan Abrahamson home Thursday.

Mrs. Aksel Gormsen substituted as cook at the Gatzke school in the absence of Mrs. Albert Peterson.

Mrs. Petra Larson and Leland visited her mother, Mrs. Ole Aune Friday afternoon.

Attend Funeral Services For Vernon Chamberlain

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Lunsetter, Melanie and Maurice, Mrs. Ralph Hagen, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Peterson left Thursday for Minneapolis to attend funeral services for Vernon Chamberlain, who was killed while employed with a construction crew, when a mortar board fell on him from the 21st floor of an apartment building. He was married to Lorraine Peterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Peterson of Holt, formerly of Gatzke, who is left to mourn his passing besides two daughters, Linda and Valerie, and a son, Bradley. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Peterson left Wednesday to be with their daughter and attend the funeral services.

Visitors at the Juell Aase home the past week were Mrs. Ernest Berg, Mrs. Hjalmar Hanson and Dale, Mrs. Harry Scramstad and Dawn, Mrs. Aksel Gormsen, Mrs. John Loven, Mrs. Clifford Engelstad, Mrs. John Olufson, Mrs. Arnold Engelstad, Mrs. Mylan Abrahamson and children, Mrs. Willie Tale, Ruby Larson, Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Aune and Lyle, Mrs. Bertha Landsrud and Alvin, Howard Lunsetter, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Berg and children.

Earl Brekkestran, Mylan Abrahamson and Lawrence Knutson attended a bowling bee at Crookston Sunday.

Elaine Koskela attended funeral services for her grandfather, Isack Waha, held at the Immanuel Lutheran church at Plummer Tuesday afternoon. Miss Koskela returned Tuesday evening to resume her teaching duties.

Herman Lian spent a few days last week visiting at the Thomas Ostby and John Aune homes in Thief River Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bernstein, Roydon, Lynn, Timmy and Tammy and Tommy Jacobson brought belated birthday greetings and were luncheon guests of Mrs. Howard Lunsetter Monday afternoon. Her birthday occurred the previous Saturday. Guests on Monday evening for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. John Olufson and Juell.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Abrahamson visited at the Reuben Gramstad home at Roseau Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Blahauvietz and Lenay and Laurel Hagen were visitors at the Joe Blom home at Middle River Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Peterson visited at the Robert Simmons, Arthur and Dale Peterson homes on Wednesday afternoon and evening.

Floyd Jesme and Glen Aline left Wednesday to spend a few days in Minneapolis, returning home Friday evening.

Linda Discards Braces, Crutches; Mother Praises March of Dimes

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Dorothy E. Breese, young Columbus, Ohio, mother, tells of the remarkable progress made by her daughter in overcoming the disability caused by a severe birth defect.)

By DOROTHY E. BREESE

My little Linda has done far more things in her five years than most people even dream of being able to do in an entire lifetime.

As the March of Dimes 1961 National Poster Child, she met President Kennedy in person and rode on a float in his inauguration parade. She starred in an hour-long television program with some of the country's most popular television and movie stars.

Linda has traveled from coast to coast and seen her picture in nearly every newspaper printed. She has autograph books filled with the signatures of celebrities and famous people she has visited.

These are just some of the things Linda has done that are beyond the reach of most of us. But the one thing we wanted most for her was something the average person takes for granted—the ability to walk alone and unaided.

There were many times during the years that my husband, Dean, and I thought that Linda would never be able to throw away her braces and crutches. And to be truthful, there were terrifying moments when we feared we might even lose her.

Linda was born with an opening in her spinal column, a condition known medically as spina bifida. As a result, her body was seriously affected from the waist down.

When she was only a few hours old, Linda underwent a delicate operation that partially corrected this condition. The surgery was performed at Children's Hospital in Columbus where subsequently The National Foundation with March of Dimes funds established the first of its Birth Defects Clinical Study Centers in 1959.

When she was nine months old, it was found that Linda had water on the brain, which has the medical name of hydrocephalus. This condition was treated by the insertion of a "shunt" tube which drains the excess fluid from the head into the blood stream.

You can imagine how much we worried about our little girl in those early days, because we knew she was never far from death. It could have come at any time. After all, 250,000 infants are born in this country each year with a significant birth defect and 21,000 of them die.

But Linda continued to improve. She received specialized treatment at the March of Dimes-supported center. She got her leg braces and crutches. Linda hated them, but she learned to use them.

When, though—if ever—would she be able to run and play with her sister and two older brothers and the other neighborhood children?

The answer to that question depended on Linda, her doctors, the rehabilitation therapists, and us. We all worked together. We worked long, and we worked hard, but it was worth it.

Only the other day, Linda took her first halting steps across our living room without her crutches or leg braces. It was an unforgettable experience. In my excitement, I telephoned the good news to everyone I knew—and probably quite a few I didn't know. It was a real shout-from-the-housetops event.

Linda has won through. She improves every day. Now her trips to the birth defects center have been cut to just one every three months. Best of all—we have been able to enroll her in kindergarten.

Dean and I and the children remember the gloomy days. We know that many other parents of afflicted children are going through similar days of anxiety and heartbreak right now. But we also know that The National Foundation-March of Dimes is looking for the cause and cure of birth defects. March of Dimes contributions led to the triumph over polio, and I'm a firm believer in the slogan that "Your Dimes Will Do It Again."

Linda at 23 months after two operations for birth defects. And . . .

. . . Linda today, now able to walk without her crutches or leg braces.

If you're one of the millions of car owners who should get their cars serviced this week, here's good news:

GALAXIE . . . styling and performance leader of the full-size cars.

Ford eliminates 10 out of 12 service stops required by most cars!

FAIRLANE . . . In a class by itself, right between compacts and big cars.

In a 1962 Ford Galaxie or Fairlane you can go all year—or 12,000 miles—with only two stops for service. This revolutionary new twice-a-year maintenance program—available only in the cars from Ford—frees you forever from the nag-nag-nag of month-after-month servicing. (See chart.) It's the biggest thing that's happened to cars since Ford introduced the 12-month or 12,000-mile warranty. See your Ford Dealer soon—and start saving time and money with the convenience of twice-a-year maintenance. It's another Ford first!*

Pen-Ro-Shall Scout Meeting Set Thursday

An important meeting in the interest of boys and scouting will be held Thursday at 6:30 p. m. at the Rex Cafe in Thief River Falls when the Pen-Ro-Shall district meeting is held, according to Hartley Peterson, Holt, district chairman. All scouters are urged to be in attendance.

Coach Gene Sack's hockey Prowlers defeated the Baudette Bears, 3-0, in a Region Eight conference game played at Baudette on Saturday night. The frost-bitten game (the temperature was at 23-below zero as the two teams engaged in their game on an outdoor rink) found the Prowlers scoring a goal in each period to gain their victory. The win boosted the Prowlers season's mark to seven wins and seven losses.

Tonight, Monday, the Prowlers will play Hallock at Hallock, in a Region Eight conference game; and on Wednesday night, on the Arena rink, the Prowlers will entertain the Red Lake Falls Eagles.

In Saturday night's tilt, the Prowlers moved into a 1-0 lead at the 6:03 mark of the first period when sophomore wing John Weigelt, on an assist from Larry Poole, beat goalie Roger Koster.

The locals boosted their lead to 2-0 at the 5:29 mark of the second period when Tony Poole, on an assist by Don Mathieu, rapping in a rebound, beat the Baudette goalie. And the game's scoring was closed out when, at the 8:04 mark of the third period, Weigelt, with assists by Elroy Froiland and Larry Poole, racked up his second goal of the night.

The summary:

Thief River Falls H. S. (3)
Goal—Tom Teal.
Defense—Morben, Tim Teal, Kvikstad, Munt.

St. Paul Johnson Six Edges Prowlers 4 to 3

A couple of "scrambly" goals provided coach Rube Gustafson's St. Paul city-champion Johnson high school hockey squad with their 4-3 game-winning margin over coach Gene Sack's Prowlers in a game played on the Arena rink ice here Friday night.

The Prowlers will travel to Hallock this evening, Monday, for a Region Eight conference game against the Hallock Polar Bears. And on Wednesday night, with the face-off at 8:00 p. m., the Prowlers will meet coach Mike Hajostek's Red Lake Falls Eagles on the Arena rink.

In Friday night's evenly-played tilt between Johnson and the Prowlers, the Governors, who won the St. Paul high school league hockey title this season, opened the scoring at 8:44 mark of the first period when, during a melee in front of the south goal, Bill Metzger, from close in, banged a screened shot past goalie Tom Teal. Teal did not have an opportunity to make a save on the play.

Larry Poole, who was the game's star evened the game at 1-all at the 10:40 mark of the first period when, on a hard shot from just inside the blue-line, he picked the right-hand corner of the north goal.

Late in the second period, at the 9:45 mark, a nifty passing play, from left-wing Elroy Froiland to center Larry Poole and back to Froiland, gave the Prowlers a 2-1 lead. The sophomore wing finished off the play by hitting the far corner of the net. The Prowler lead was of short duration as at the 10:44 mark, Dave Peterson slapped a loose puck into the net.

The Governors moved into a 4-2 lead in the third period when Rolf Vinnes scored at the 2:13 mark, and Greg Hughes, bouncing a rebound shot off goalie Tom Teal's pads, scored at the 6:52 mark.

The Prowlers pared the Johnson lead to one-goal at the 7:44 mark on Larry Poole's spectacular rink-length rush. Larry swept past the St. Paul defense, side-stepping a check, recovered the puck and blasted a hard shot, from close-in, past goalie Al Peterson.

In a preliminary game, the Roseau V. F. W. Midgets defeated coach Morris Efteland's local V. F. W. Midgets, 7-2, in a district conference game.

Thieves Six Defeats Two Canadian Teams

The senior hockey Thieves took the measure of pair of Canadian teams in two exhibition games played on the Arena ice on Saturday night and Sunday afternoon. On Saturday night, playing the strong St. Vital Bruins, the Thieves with player-coach Joey Poole and Chip Strand each contributing a pair of goals, defeated the visitors, 6-3. And on Sunday afternoon, meeting a Dominion City team that was riddled by injuries, the locals marked up a 10-6 win. Dominion City had to call on the Thieves for a goalie replacement when their netminder, Plamondin, caught a puck in the knee and had to leave the game. Ken Sauve, who started in the nets for the Thieves, took over the goaltending for the Canadians, and Rod Collins donned the pads for the Thieves.

In a pair of preliminary tilts on Sunday afternoon, the local Eagles Bantams defeated the Crookston Bantams, 7-0; and the V. F. W. Midgets, with Billy Poole scoring a three-goal "hat trick", and with Bobby Sullivan, Roddy Carlson and John Olson adding singles, defeated the Crookston V. F. W. Midgets, 6-0, in a district conference game.

LHS Students Try Curling in Phy. Ed. Classes

As part of their physical education program, 10th grade students at Lincoln high school have been taking their turns at curling during the last two weeks at the Thief River Falls Curling club building on the Pennington county fairgrounds. From interest expressed by the students, the club hopes to establish a junior curling league with play on Saturday.

Four-H clubs have been curling on Sunday afternoons with yesterday's results finding Steiner No. 2 defeating Smiley, Steiner No. 1 defeating City View No. 2 and City View No. 1 defeating Silverton.

In the Saturday night mixed league Duane Liden defeated Ken Liden, "Stream" Olson defeated Robert Mattson, Ed Berggren defeated Rudy Rude, and Jerry Amundgaard defeated Dale Knewtson.

In play-off for the team to represent Thief River Falls in the state bonspiel, John Larson defeated "Stream" Olson on Sunday. Two make-up games were also played with Curtis Johnson defeating Joe Rosengren and "Skippy" Knutson defeating Al Thompson.

Prowlers Tip Lakers in Overtime 62 to 60

Paul Klungness' rebound shot into the east basket, from close in, with 19 seconds of play remaining in the three-minute overtime period, gave coach Jack Junker's Prowlers a thrilling 62-60 win over the Detroit Lakes Laker cagers here Saturday night.

The Prowlers will engage in a double-header this week-end. On Friday night, on the local floor, the Prowlers will meet the Crookston Pirates in a district conference game; and on Saturday night the locals will travel to Grand Forks for a game against coach Marv Skaar's Central squad.

In Saturday night's thrill-packed game, the Prowlers, playing fine all-round basketball, led the highly-rated Lakers at all the period stops. And at one point midway in the second period, and largely thru the sharpshooting from the outside by Gary Kelly, the locals held a 26-14 lead.

The Lakers, though, failed to wilt under the pressure applied by the Prowlers and, with their fine right forward Jim Lee hitting from the corner, on one-handed tosses and jumpers, pulled up within two points of the locals in the opening minutes of the fourth period. The visitors opened the final period trailing by a 43-36 score, but Jim Benshoof's field goal and free throw, and a field goal by Lee pared that lead to 43-41.

With 3:10 to play, Lee dropped in a pair of free throws to carry the Lakers within two points of the Prowlers, 52-50; and when Bob St. Marie hit on a long shot, the game was tied. Lee's pivot shot, with 2:04 to play, sent the Lakers into a 54-52 lead.

The game rocketed into the final seconds in a hectic manner. George Hankerson, with 35 seconds to play, scored two points on a one-and-one foul, tying the game at 57-all. Glenn Frederickson scored for the Lakers on a lay-up with 24 seconds to play; but the Prowlers' Wayne Bjerken, who scored twenty points during the game, drove through the lane for a two-pointer with six seconds to play, and the game was forced into an overtime period.

In the overtime period, Detroit Lakes marked up the first point when Lee, on Bjerken's fifth foul, scored a free throw point with 2:10 to play. Mike Aune, a minute later, added a Prowler point on a free throw, and the game was again in a knot 60-all. Klungness, from close in and to the right of the basket, picked off a rebound and pushed in a field goal to give the locals a well-earned win.

The Lakers' Jim Lee was the game's high-point player with the smooth-shooting forward clicking for ten field goals and five free throws. Bjerken, who turned in a spectacular floor game, notched seven field goals and six free throws for a 20-point effort, his season's high.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Gerry's Hockey Progress

Gerry Jorgenson, co-captain of the 1958-59 hockey Prowlers and now a junior at Harvard University and a member of coach Ralph Welland's Crimson squad, is making progress.

A report received here states that Gerry is a member of Harvard's top-scoring line. Jorgy, a second year veteran, teams with leading scorer Tim Taylor, another junior, and sophomore Gene Kinasewich, a standout from Edmonton, Alberta. In the initial stages of the season, Jorgenson centered the line but when Kinasewich's talents at passing and play-making became more obvious, Gerry made the move to the left wing side, and it has paid off.

"When he was a center, he could not go into the corners and fight for the puck," says coach Welland, "but now that he's back on a wing he goes right in and digs it out." Jorgenson's toughness in the corners and his ability in centering the puck to his linemates has accounted for nine assists in 14 games.

Gerry has only two goals to his credit, but they were both big ones. The first came in the opening game with Colorado College which Harvard went on to win, 5-6; and in another one-goal victory, Jorgenson scored the Crimson's first goal in a big Eastern contest with Boston College as Harvard won, 3-2.

Jorgenson's line has scored 24 goals through the first half of the season, and he'll see a lot of action during the stretch drive for the Ivy League title. Harvard is picked to retain the crown it has already won six times in the last eight years.

It should be encouraging to the smaller hockey players to learn that Gerry, at 5 feet 7 inches in height and at 145 pounds, is the smallest player on the Harvard squad, but he makes up for his lack of size by his perpetually aggressive play.

A Dean's list student (a high scholastic honor), Gerry is majoring in history.

A Big Week

The basketball competition in District 30 has reached the "crucial" stage, and this week's schedule should do much to clear up the standings and develop a favorite.

On Tuesday evening, on the Halstad court, coach Dick Werdahl's Fertile Falcons will meet coach Jerry Mehlisch's Pirates. The two teams are unbeaten in conference play. Halstad will send a pair of high-scoring players, center Henry Holte and guard Nathan (Cactus) Warner against Fertile. To offset this double-barrelled attack by Halstad, coach Werdahl's Fertile club will rely on their all-round team balance and their front-line rebounders of Ron Newell, Paul Sannes, and Jim Overland.

And on Friday night the Halstad team will travel to Ada for a return game against coach Bill Brady's veteran Vikings. In a previous game between the two clubs, Halstad edged out the Vikings, scoring a one-point win in a game played on the Halstad floor.

It's a big week in District 30. And local cage fans should make note of the fact that Fertile and Halstad will fulfill playing dates here next month. The Prowlers will play the Falcons on Feb. 17; and on Feb. 24, the Pirates will be here.

Negotiating a Contract

Clark (Corky) Johnson, the former Bemidji high school and Erskine Merchants baseball pitcher who is now a member of the San Francisco Giants organization, was in town on Saturday night. Corky, who is attending Bemidji State college during the off season, refereed the Prowler 'B' vs. Detroit Lakes 'B' basketball game that night.

Corky pitched for the Victoria team in the Class A Texas league last season, and posted a pretty fair record. He stated that he hasn't signed a contract yet, so he does not know where he will be playing ball this season. There is a possibility that he will be with the Tacoma Giants of the Pacific Coast league. Last season, Corky was troubled by a sore arm, but he believes that his arm troubles are over.

CHAMP fisherman at the annual fishing derby held at Tindolph Park in Thief River Falls Sunday was Bernadette Froehle, three-year-old angler who caught the first, last, largest, smallest and only fish in the event as well as being the youngest fisherman. The winning fish was a one pound, nine ounce Northern Pike.

Three-Year-Old Champ of Local Fishing Derby

Bernadette Froehle, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Froehle of Thief River Falls, made a clean sweep of fishing prizes at the fifth annual fishing derby sponsored Sunday by the St. Bernard's Mens club at Tindolph Park in Thief River Falls. In addition to being the youngest angler, she caught the first, last, largest, smallest and only fish of the day.

Fun features for the day included toboggan rides behind the snow traveler provided by Polar Manufacturing company and on the Bridgeman sleigh. Boy Scouts of troop 57 sold coffee, hot dogs and candy during the afternoon.

Andrew Carlson, 82, was the oldest fisherman taking part in the contest with Marguerite Gray, Toronto, Ont., Canada, coming from the farthest distance. Miss Froehle's winning fish was a one pound, 9 ounce Northern Pike.

Half-hour prizes awarded during the contest went to Mrs. Frank Lull, Florian Kritz, James Dryden, Clayton Restad, Elmer Haglund and Ed Breznay. About 75 fishermen took part in the derby with a number of other persons stopping at the park to watch the proceedings.

Washington at Northrop, 4:15 p.m.

Coach Roger Dorn's Knox Tigers moved into a commanding lead in the city grade school basketball league play by scoring a 14-8 win over the Washington Wildcats in a game played on the Washington court last Wednesday. The win for the Tigers boosted the East Siders into a two-game lead, in the loss column, over the second place Washington squad.

This week's play will find Washington invading the Northrop court for a game against coach Al Staloy's Indians.

In last week's game between Washington and Knox, coach Dorn's Tigers gained an 8-0 lead in the first period, and held a 10-2 advantage at the intermission. Coach Rod Max's Wildcats outpointed the Tigers in the second half, 6-4, but were unable to overcome that first half deficit.

Reierson, with three field goals, was the game's high point player, and the Tigers' most proficient scorer. Glenn Nelson, with a pair of field goals and free throw, tallied five points for the losers.

Detroit Lakes 'B' Quint Bows to TRF

Prowler 'B's Win 59-49 In Game Marked by Fouls

In a game that was marred by fouls (the Detroit Lakes 'B' squad lost five players via the five-personal foul route), coach Joe Mrkonjich's Prowler 'B's defeated coach Dell Mollberg's Laker 'B' squad, 59-49, in a basketball preliminary game here Saturday night.

The Prowler 'B' squad built up their winning margin in the third period when they outpointed the visitors, 16-5.

The Lakers' Pete Irvine gained the game's high-point honors with a 24-point performance, rolling up nine field goals and six free throws. The Prowlers B's who tallied in double figures were forward Kenny Larson, who hit for 17 points, and center, Bob Olson, who had 12 points.

Salvation Army Has Big Year of Service

Envoy Carl Paulson Reports on Activity for Unit During 1961

Considerable service to humanity on a restricted budget for 1961 is noted in the annual report of the local Salvation Army unit prepared for the Times by Envoy Carl Paulson. The report shows a multitude of services performed on a total operating budget of $8,876 which includes salaries, utilities and maintenance of the headquarters in this city. A total of $6,900 of this amount was spent locally.

"Our duty is to feed the hungry, care for the poor, clothe the naked, befriend the friendless and strengthen man's faith in himself and his God," Envoy Paulson said.

"Here in Thief River Falls during the past year, many of you have joined us in this covenant of service. This regular annual report accounts for our services, but we hope that you'll feel as we do that the most important record is written in the hearts and lives of those who have been helped—in their renewed hope, strengthened faith, bolstered confidence and restored well-being.

"We deeply appreciate your participation in our program and look forward to your continued interest and assistance in the coming year" he said.

Within the Salvation Army church itself, 396 youth services and meetings were held in 1961 with total attendance of 3,752. Adult activities included 492 meetings with attendance of 6,939 persons. In addition the pastor made 638 home visits.

In work with transients, the local unit gave aid to 64 men and women supplying meals for 56 persons and lodging for 25 men and women. Transportation was provided by the unit for seven individuals and more than 300 items of clothing and pairs of shoes were provided to transients.

Social welfare work was conducted in a number of ways with 31 applicants for assistance noted during the year. Other aid was given in 81 cases and 66 visits to homes were made for case work during the year. Fuel oil for heating was provided in three cases. These assistance programs were offered until families could be placed on direct relief from welfare or aid to dependent children.

More than 5,000 articles of clothing and over 200 pairs of shoes were given to needy persons during the year. Christmas relief provided 91 baskets which resulted in 460 dinners being provided. More than 200 persons in hospitals and rest homes were remembered by the unit at Christmas. There were five applicants for employment during the year with one placement being made.

Nine persons were visited in various jails and three discharged prisoners were given aid. Emergency disaster relief for fire victims and others was given to 11 persons with more than 500 garments and shoes provided by the Army which also served coffee and sandwiches to firemen. Four inquiries were received about the Army's home and hospital for unwed mothers and one placement was made.

Allotment received from the Thief River Falls United Fund for operations of the local Salvation Army unit totaled $2,800. "We are looking to 1962 with a new budget of $12,199," Envoy Paulson said, "to provide a larger program and a bigger and better year. Your support of our local United Fund, of which we are a participating agent, will help us to meet the needs of the needy and strengthen them for the future, whether young or old."

WHO STUDIES WHAT AT STATE UNIVERSITY

A little less than 1 per cent of Minnesota's total population is enrolled in the University, including Duluth, Morris, Minneapolis, and St. Paul campuses: 423 Morris, 2,663 Duluth, 25,753 Twin Cities, for a total of 28,839—making us one of the two or three "worlds largest". Of this imposing total, 9,049 31.4 per cent are women, 19,790, 68.6 per cent are of the male persuasion. Heaviest enrollment is in the College of Science—Literature-Arts (SLA), 31.09 per cent; Graduate School is second with 15.16 per cent of the enrollment, the Institute of Technology with 9.91 per cent; General College follows closely with 9.66 per cent of the students, Education 7.96 per cent. The "Ag Campus" comes in at this point, with 1,772 in agriculture, forestry, home economics, and 162 in veterinary medicine, for a total of 1,934 or 6.71 per cent of the U enrollment. The healing arts (medicine, dentistry, pharmacy, nursing, etc.) attract 1,641 for 5.69 per cent of the total. Business Administration accounts for 1.97 per cent, Law 1.03 per cent, University College .11 per cent. The 1961 cost per student was $3,776.39.

Winter Shows Offers Programs for Women

Women interested in public affairs have a special treat in a seminar to be concerned with the subjects "A Homemaker's Interest in World Trade" and "United States and Soviet Beliefs—How Do We Differ?" This public affairs seminar will be held during the Red River Valley Winter Shows, Crookston, and is scheduled for February 20 at the Northwest School. It will run from 9:30 a. m. to 2 p. m.

Miss Carole J. Brown, assistant agricultural extension specialist in public affairs, and Miss Barbara Stuhler, assistant director of the World Affairs Center, both of the main campus of the University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, will be the speakers and discussion leaders.

A women's workshop has been planned by the women of the Farm Bureau and will be held on February 19. It will begin at 10:00 a. m. at the Northwest School, Kiehle building auditorium, with sessions continuing through most of the day.

On Tuesday, February 20, all garden club members are invited to attend a program especially planned for them. The program will begin at 10 a. m. at the Northwest School, Kiehle auditorium. Dr. Leon C. Snyder, head of the department of horticulture at the University of Minnesota, St. Paul, will speak on "The Development of the New Arboretum."

The sheep producers have planned a special program for women on February 20 to be held at the Northwest School in Bede Hall (Home Economics Building). The program will begin at 1:30 p. m. with a demonstration on "Lamb—Its Selection and Preparation," by Mrs. Marion Rayan of the American Lamb Council, Denver, Colo. Mrs. Evelyn Peterson, director of the "Make It With Wool" contest, will have a number of displays at the meeting as well as illustrate how wool can be used to best advantage in the home, the care of woolen products and methods and techniques to employ in making your own woolen products.

On Friday, February 23, women are invited to attend a cooking school at the Central high school auditorium, Crookston, which is sponsored by the Minnesota Dairy Industry Committee. The program will begin at 1:30 p. m. with demonstrations on cooking with dairy products. Also, there will be attendance prizes.

A special brunch with Princess Kay of the Minnesota Dairy Industry, who will be a guest at the Winter Shows on February 22 and 23, is planned for the morning of February 23.

About 10 million American help transport, process, store and merchandise farm products, Ohio State University extension economists report.

Warning Issued By Post Office on Propaganda

Patrons May Refuse To Accept Unsolicited Mail, Says Local Postmaster

"Unsolicited Communist propaganda from the Soviet Union, from Soviet satellites, from Cuba and other places outside the United States is being sent to persons in this country," cautions James Dryden, Thief River Falls postmaster. "This propaganda attempts to promote the objectives of the International Communist Movement. It often appears on the surface to be innocent and unimportant.

"But the communists regard propaganda as an important and necessary means for subversion of our nation and the free world. In order to achieve the maximum impact, this propaganda often comes to unsuspecting addressees who are not associated with or in sympathy with communist objectives."

J. Edward Day, postmaster general, has listed one way to combat this practice as citizens. "If you have received unsolicited mail from abroad, it may contain such propaganda. If you wish, you may mark it 'refused' and return it to your local post office," he said. "This propaganda is not labeled to reveal its origin or content and is not always easy to identify. The privacy of your mail continues to be respected by your government and the postal service."

Farm Adjustment Is Topic at Shows

'U' of M. Man to Speak at Crookston Feb. 19

One of the top young agricultural economists in the nation, Dr. Elmer W. Learn of the University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, will be at the Red River Valley Winter Shows in Crookston to discuss "National Growth and Agriculture — What Are the Alternatives?"

Dr. Learn will speak on the first day of meetings, February 19. This meeting, which is open to the public, will be held at the Northwest School in the livestock pavilion, beginning at 10 a. m. on Monday of Winter Shows week.

Dr. Learn will compare our national growth in other parts of our society to that of agriculture. He will discuss different alternatives that are available to agriculture as the farmer seeks to adjust in this fast-moving society.

All farmers, businessmen, professional men and others who are interested in "grist" for the thought process should plan to attend this meeting on February 19. The public is invited.

Byrd and the Debt Limit

Not all of the news that comes out of Washington is discouraging. Fortunately Senator Harry Byrd of Virginia, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, has declared that he will insist on a broad investigation of federal spending and taxing policies before he consents to a $10 billion boost in the debt limit. The President probably will get the boost he has requested but it is encouraging to know that before he gets it some members of the Santa Claus team are going to be asked some embarassing questions.

Senator Byrd apparently does not expect to curb the spending to any great extent in the present session. He is going to try to make the debt limit mean something. In a recent statement he said:

> "Our form of government is based on fiscal solvency, and the people of our country are entitled to know where we stand. If the United States goes down, no other nation can take our place in the free world."

It is unforunate that there are so few Senator Byrds in Congress.

Pull the Shades Please

Britain seems to be getting along well with Red China, which our government does not recognize. When Britain announced the sale of six jet airliners to the Red Chinese, our government objected, and it was reported that our government would not permit an American manufacturer to supply certain parts for the six planes.

Britain is said to have secured the missing parts elsewhere and is proceeding with the sale. And our government recently approved the sale of a large number of fighter jets to Communist Yugoslavia.

There are times when we wonder if our state department does not lack maturity. At any rate we wish they would keep their squabbles with our friends a little more secret.

A Good Record

According to "World's Telephones," a 1961 report published by American Telephone & Telegraph, the United States has more telephones than any other country but our Canadian neighbors use telephones more than we do. In 1960 the Canadians averaged more than 538 telephone calls per person compared to an average of 520 in our country.

At that time we had 74,342,000 telephones installed, or 52 per cent of the world's total. In second place was the United Kingdom with more than eight million. West Germany was third and Canada fourth. It is interesting to know that 97.6 per cent of all of the phones in the world can be reached from here, including about 60 per cent of the estimated 4,276,000 phones in Russia.

Erling Torgerson put in a call for his brother in Paris last fall and the connection was completed in less than ten minutes. The sound transmission was perfect.

Our country undoubtedly has the best telephone service and it is interesting to note that the telepehone industry has made steady progress, as a part of the free enterprise system, with surprisingly little interference by the government.

Kennedy is Right

President Kennedy has made a strong appeal for support for his proposed trade expansion act to take the place of the reciprocal trade agreement program which will end in June. He pointed out that this program had been in effect over a period of 28 years, the act having been renewed by Congress eleven times. He stated that the old Act must now be replaced by a "wholly new instrument" because:

> "A new American trade initiative is needed to meet the challenges and opportunities of a rapidly changing world economy."

While the proposed act is highly controversial, fortunately it is not a partisan issue. It will have strong support and strong opposition from within the ranks of both parties. This is understandable because the immediate effects of the proposed program will be both good and bad. Some of the adjustments that will have to be made may cause some hardship. The new program can be justified however by the fact that the advantages will more than offset the disadvantages, and also by the assurance that our problems will be far more difficult if we isolate ourselves behind still-higher trade barriers under the delusion that we can get along without foreign trade.

On this point President Kennedy very aptly pointed out:

> "To try to shield American industry from the discipline of foreign competition would isolate our domestic price level from world prices, encourage domestic inflation, reduce our exports still further, and invite less desirable governmental solutions."

On the question of tariffs the Wall Street Journal agrees that young nations may need protection for their infant industries, but maintains that for an "economically advanced nation to choose protectionism is to choose economic suffocation" because:

> "It works intolerable injury on the people as a whole. It promotes economic inefficiency and reduces competition at home as well as abroad. It misallocates the nation's resources, diverting capital into the production of goods that could be better supplied from abroad. It throws millions out of work. It raises prices for the consumer while denying him free choice. It is, in short, a mockery of the free economy."

From the Winnipeg Free Press we get this interesting reaction:

> "President Kennedy is striving to lead the way out of this impasse. He is trying to get Congress to adopt a tariff policy which will permit the broadest possible approach to the whole question of world trade. He has not forgotten the interest of traditional U.S. trading partners like Canada, Japan and Latin America, but is seeking to mesh the "most favored nation" principle and the provisions of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT) into his dealings with the European Economic Community.
> "It is in Canada's long term interest to do all we can to back up President Kennedy's initiative. Our best hope for the future is in an expanding world economy."

Unenthusiastic

We have received a 28-page pamphlet crammed full of uninteresting facts about the federal income tax. A "personal letter" from Mortimer M. Caplin, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, adorns the front page. In this letter Mortimer tells us that Oliver Wendell Holmes once wrote, "Taxes are what we pay for civilized society —." This quotation no doubt was intended to make us enthusinstic taxpayers.

We noted that this pamphlet was printed on a paper of higher quality and heavier weight than was necessary. We are sure the government could have saved many thousands of dollars in the publication of this pamphlet if Mortimer had been as concerned about what the government does with our tax dollars as he is about us paying them.

And we might remind Mortimer that the taxes Justice Holmes referred to bore little resemblance to the tax monster that preys upon us today. There was a time when a small tax was adequate to compensate the few people on the public payroll who worked for us. This situation has now been reversed and we, the taxpayers, are now working for them, the vast army of people on the public payroll, our largest and costliest and least productive industry.

Yes, Mortimer, we realize that our tax return will be carefully scrutinized by you and your helpers and we assure you that it will be as complete and as correct as we can make it, but, dear Mortimer, our report will not be made with enthusiasm. If our dollars must be spent wastefully we prefer to do our own wasting.

The Unpaid UN

(Wall Street Journal)

There is something a little pathetic about the United Nations' planned bond issue. In its own way, this attempt to raise $200 million tells a good deal about the sad state of the organization's political as well as financial affairs.

The trouble, of course, is that a lot of members just won't pay their dues. Some are delinquent in general; others refuse to pay for specific operations, notably policing the Egypt-Israel border and waging war in the Congo. The unpaid assessments total nearly $104 million, of which that great UN founder-member, the Soviet Union, owes the lion's share.

One might suppose a reasonable approach would be to require the members to pay up or get out, but instead the UN wants to dodge the issue by peddling bonds. Already the U.S. Government, in the grand tradition of making up the deficiencies of others, is considering buying as much as $100 million of the stuff. Somehow we think there must be better things Uncle Sam could do with taxpayers' money.

For the UN's financial "crisis" tells, in a fashion more down to earth than political orations, the story of rivalries and disunity that have been its lot from the beginning. And when a great many people are no longer willing to pay their club dues, it's time to wonder about the club's future.

Constitutional Amendments

Three amendments are now before the people of the State of Minnesota to be voted upon this fall.

One would simply provide for a 120-day legislative session instead of the present 90-days. I believe we should pass this because there is no question that 90 days has become too short a time to do two year's work.

Investing Turst Funds. Another amendment deals with policies affecting the investment of our trust funds. Under the constitutional provisions now in effect we have more rigid rules than apply to almost any trust or bank or insurance company in the country.

If we were to modify this so as to make it no less conservative than the best managed trusts and banks in the country, we could increase earnings on our trust funds, it is estimated, by at least 1 per cent. With the trust funds amounting to over $300 million this would be additional income of $3 million per year. It is surely obvious that there is no easier way to increase resources for our education and other needs than to do this.

The legislature already did it in reference to the retirement funds for teachers and public and state employees. The result is that these funds are now earning vastly more than they used to. It takes a constitutional amendment to change the investment policy on the trust funds, hence the need for voting on this issue. By all means it should pass. Val Bjornson, our long-time State Treasurer, has been advocating this amendment for a long time.

The Debt Limit. Another one relates to the debt limit. In our constitution, when first written, a provision was made that the state debt could never exceed $250,000. In one way or another this provision has been circumvented and our debt has grown. I don't believe there would be anyone who would seriously argue that we could operate with less than $250,000 of debt unless we were to long defer needed public improvement.

This amendment would eliminate that limitation of $250,000. The Supreme Court finally called a halt to the methods used to circumvent the provision and right now some $26 million of capital improvements, approved by the legislature, are held up awaiting this action.

All Three Should Pass. All three of these amendments should have the united support of our people without serious objection. There could be some who could study the wording and feel it might have been said in a different way or handled in a slightly different way but on the basic principle that the debt limit is obsolete, the investment procedures should be modified, and the length of legislative sessions should be extended, I don't believe there could be much argument.

You'll be hearing more about these amendments as we go along and we may try to discuss each one in greater detail with you. We thought we would make this beginning to call them to your attention.

by MARY LUNDIN

"OUT OF DREAMS SOMETIMES COMES REALITY." This statement by J. J. Womack in presenting the business and industrial development report at the annual meeting of the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce Thursday evening, certainly leaves a great deal of room for speculation as to the future of our area.

While the headlines he foresaw in his speech preparation day-dreaming were perhaps beyond the realm of the average day-dream, they were yet a basis for considerable thought. And just as dreams breed ideas and develop into reality, so does thought breed action and become progress.

One thing in particular is impressive about our area that can be summoned up comprehensively in one common word—Potential. While other areas are worrying about maintaining what they have and finding space for expansion, we in Northwestern Minnesota are in the early bud stage of our developmental growth.

If our area is to be a productive "plant", then we must be sure to provide the nourishment and care needed to make it so. We must provide the "fertilizer" of progressive thoughts and ideas. We must supply much of the "water" of constant work, planning and action. We must eliminate the "weeds" of indifference, undue criticism, complacency and obstinacy.

With proper cultivation and careful watching, this "plant" can produce a long and bountiful harvest. To gain the benefits of the harvest, however, there must be workers in the field. It isn't a contribution to charity when you work for your community. It's just good business to protect whatever time or money you are investing here. There is no doubt that reality can indeed rise out of many of our dreams.

If you were one of the few who missed the Chamber of Commerce banquet, you missed the wealth of stories presented by toastmaster Orion Belch. The jovial past mayor out-did himself for the gala affair. One story which drew the most sustained laughter concerned progressive education.

"I'm not so sure I believe in this progressive education," Dr. Belch said. "The other day I asked my boy to bring me a screwdriver. After what I thought was too long a time he came back without it. He told me he could find the vodka but couldn't find the orange juice."

We don't make 'em all. Mistakes occur in other publications, too. Take the Asphalt Institute Quarterly which said a Japanese expressway was designed for tire pressures of eight kilograms per square meter rather than per square centimeter. "Holy cats!" the editors commented in correction. "You can produce more pressure than eight kilograms per square meter just by breathing heavily on the pavement."

Occasionally the readers of our family journal may find what they believe to be errors. This is not necessarily true. We follow the policy of having something in our paper for everyone. . . . . . and some people enjoy looking for mistakes.

Our LAND

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture.

Pocket gophers don't hate Christmas trees—on the contrary, they like them far too well. University of Minnesota forestry researchers William Miles, and Henry Hansen, and Laurits Krefting, U. S. game biologist, found gophers destroyed 16 percent of a Norway pine plantation by the time the trees were 10 years old. On a seven-year-old Scotch pine plantation the pesky varments had killed 13 percent of the total trees planted at the end of seven years.

Puzzled over how to handle your small woodland? See your state state district forester or area forester for an individual written management plan. Marvin E. Smith, extension forester at the University of Minnesota, says you will get planning help—and information on cost-share aid through the ACP. Check with your county agent; ASC, SCS, or SCD office.

Less labor and expense with no sacrifice in weed control or crop yields. That's how Lyon county farmer Clarence Chandler feels about minimum tillage. For three years Chandler has been pulling a drag behind his plow and following immediately with a planter. He fills the planter tires with water to get greater compaction over the row. Area Soils Agent George Holcomb says Chandler feels he gets more uniform stands because the seed is in close contact with the moist compacted soil.

"I'm more than pleased with the results," says Henry Hacker of the diversion terrace he installed on his Lac qui Parle county farm in 1958. Ther terrace protects lowland from runoff from 80 acres of fairly steep land above. Hacker tells Hector Olson, of the SCS, that he can now work the lowland before he can get on some of his higher ground in the spring. Furthermore, he said, he can also cultivate row crops on this low ground much sooner after a heavy rain than before and his crop yields have increased materially.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Additional information or assistance on veterans' benefits may be obtained by visiting or writing the VA Contact Office at the Fargo VA Center, Elm Street and 21st Avenue North, Fargo, N. D.

Q—What type of insurance may I arrange to pay through allotment of my Army retired pay?

A—You may arrange to pay either GI insurance or commercial insurance premiums from your retired pay if the commercial insurance is on your own life, or is a family group-type policy where primary coverage is on your own life.

Q—I am a World War II veteran for social security disability payments. I've been told that there is a six-month waiting period before I will receive my first check. Will that first check include back payments for the six months?

A—The social security law specifies that the first month for which payment can be made is the month after the waiting period.

Q—Has the VA District Office in Philadelphia, which handled millions of GI insurance accounts, been closed? I cannot find it in a recent listing.

A—The former district office has merely been re-named. It is now called the VA Insurance Center and is still located at 5000 Wissahickon Avenue.

Q—Which VA hospital annually attracts thousands of visitors because of the program staged on Hospital Day?

A—The VA Hospital at Chillicothe, Ohio, for more than a decade now has attracted large throngs on Hospital Day. In recent years the number has been as great as 36,000. Various organizations in the area join with hospital officials in staging the day-long program.

INCOME TAX ADVICE

By Minnesota State Bar Assn.

Buying and Selling a Home

(This is the seventh in a series of articles on income taxes made available as a public service by the Minnesota State Bar Association, Public Relations Committee.)

As discussed in an earlier article you are required to include in your gross income the profit you made on the sale of your personal residence. This profit is normally the difference between the sales prices less agent's commission and the purchase price of the house when you bought it.

However, this additional income can be postponed in the situation where you buy and occupy a new residence within the two-year period commencing one year before the sale and ending one year after the sale. If your new home costs less than the amount you realized from your old house after deducting therefrom the agent's commission, selling expenses and the amount you spent to fix the house up for sale during the ninety-day period before which the house was sold, the gain realized on the sale of your old house will be taxed to the extent of this difference.

For example, if you paid $10,000 for your old house and sold it for $15,000, you made a profit of $5,000 on the sale. However, if you buy a new home within the two-year period for $15,000 or more, you report no profit on the sale of the old house. You must, however, reduce the cost of the new home for later sale purposes by the amount of the profit you received on the old home. Thus, your new house cost would be reduced $5,000 by the profit you realized on the sale of the old residence and it would have a cost of $10,000 for later sale purposes.

If you spent $500 fixing up your old house for sale within ninety days before selling it, and if you bought your new house for $13,000 rather than the $15,000 figure used in the example above, you would deduct the $500 from the $15,000 sales price to obtain the adjusted sales price. Inasmuch as the purchase price of the new house was less than the adjusted sales price of the old home, you would have to include the net difference or $1,500 as a capital gain in your gross income. The basis of your new house for subsequent sale purposes would then be reduced by the difference between the total profit made on the sale of your old residence, $5,000, and the amount you showed as income when you bought the new residence, $1,500 or $3,500.

Note that the $500 fixing-up expense is used to determine the adjusted sales price for determining the amount of gain on which tax is postponed but does not reduce the profit on the sale of your old home for purposes of determining the cost basis of your new home.

Often you sell your old house in one year and don't buy a new one until the subsequent year. Where this occurs, you should show the fact of sale in your tax return for the year of sale and indicate that you intend to buy a new house within the one-year period. When you later purchase a new house and if you have gain to report because the new house costs you less than the sales price of the old house, you should amend your return for the year in which the old house was sold.

If you want to build a new house to replace the old house sold, you are entitled to these tax benefits only if the house is completed within eighteen months after the old house is sold and construction begins either prior to the sale of the old residence or within one year after the date of sale of the old residence.

The rules and computations discussed in this article apply to the reporting of income for both your Minnesota and Federal tax returns.

(This column, based on Minnesota and Federal law, is written to inform; not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of a trained expert who knows the facts, because the facts may change the application of the law.)

Trail VFW Auxiliary held a regular meeting Friday, Jan. 12 with 16 members present. It was decided to send $1.00 for the dept. president gift. Tentative plans were made for a banquet for members of the Trail post and auxiliary and their husbands and wives, to be held sometime in April. It was decided to send two pair of pajamas to the veterans hospital and to sew as many pairs of scuffs as possible. Thank you letters were read from the Willmar and Brainerd State schools for boxes sent at Christmas. Boxes were also sent to St. Cloud veterans hospital and Rochester State hospital. One old member was reinstated into the auxiliary. Hostesses were Ann and Sharon Lund, Gunda and Marilyn Halvorson.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Agnes of Gully, Jan. 12 at Bagley. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Agnes. The baby has been named Jerry Dean.

One hour of farm labor produces four times as much food and other crops now as it did in 1919-21, according to the USDA.

Consumers usually spend about 20 cents of their food dollar for dairy foods.

Old Poem Predicts Bad Weather Year

by V. M. Draper
Times Staff Member

We don't like to ride a good horse to death but an item contributed by Mrs. Roy Shetler concerns the weather so we'll start on that note, hoping something else of note will crop up between now and presstime with which to finish this week's spiel.

The item Mrs. Shetler saved is in the form of a short poem by an unknown author and is believed to be over 500 years old. You might like a look at the poem, "Christmas on Monday."

If Christmas Day on Monday be
A great winter that year you'll see,
And full of winds, both loud and shrill.
But in the summer, truth to tell,
Stern winds there shall be and strong.
Full of tempests, lasting long.
While battles they shall multiply
And great plenty of beasts shall die.
They that be born that day, I ween,
They shall be strong, each one, and keen.

Christmas last year, you recall, was on a Monday, the first time, we are told, since 1950. And just look at the weather we've had thus far. . .perhaps there's a grain of truth in the poem at that.

We recall also that the winter of 1950—before the Monday Christmas—was a real dilly. That spring of 1950 was the year of the great flood in Grand Forks and also caused considerable flooding northeast of Thief River Falls. Roy Langevin recalls that spring he visited a friend's farm about eight miles northeast of town, using an outboard-powered boat for a vehicle. Roy tells us there was plenty of clearance over even the highest roadways!

Unfortunately, our memory fails us concerning the winter of 1951. following Christmas on Monday in 1951. Was it, as the poem forecast, a rough one? Now that the gears in the belfry begin to grind we recall that there were several battles—the Korean fracas was in full sway—the summer of 1951. That much we'll concede is true, if nothing else! It also seems, if memory serves us right, there were severe tornadoes over the U. S. late that winter and in the spring.

Embarrassing but true—if we'd read our Sunday Tribune better that week it wouldn't have been necessary for Mrs. Shetler to save the above poem for us. And who was it who wrote a column about reading our newspapers more closely a week or two ago? Perhaps a little practice in what we preach is prescribed!

So many people inquire each week about the progress of our flying machine we thought, as we address a mental "Thank you" to those who showed interest in the project, a very brief progress report might be in order.

In short, things are really going great and in a few short months we hope they are going even better. The FAA inspector approved it for covering Jan. 2 and that is now under way, along with a multitude of other details which must be acomplished prior to the maiden hop.

We're hoping it will be possible for it to be one of three amateur-built planes which are expected to our area at the EAA internationad fly-in at Rockford, Ill., next August 1-5. We are also hoping a large contingent of our local EAA chapter will be able to attend also.

The fly-in at Rockford is one of aviation's leading annual events and our city will probably be the smallest anywhere to be represented by a chapter delegation. Organization of the chapter in our area took a lot of doing but it shows anything is possible where there is the will to really try.

This, one might add, holds true of getting industry into Thief River Falls. Have we really tried? Have we properly encouraged local individuals with the know-how to produce materials for sale outside? After all, Wichita, Kans., once was a wild and woolly cowtown—but its chief claim to fame nowadays is that it is one of the major aircraft manufacturing centers in the U. S.

True, Wichita has a more encouraging climate for aviation—but the most encouraging climate of all is that which emanates from people who encourage local enterprise. Wichita's industry was home-grown just as Detroit's and that of many other cities.

Tells How to Deal with Grease Fires

Medical Assn. Advises Against Use of Water

Many women are unnecessarily burned in kitchen grease fires, says the Minnesota State Medical Association, because they don't know how to protect themselves.

When a grease fire starts, says the Association, most women immediately do the wrong thing—they either grab the hot skillet to remove it from the stove, or they pour water on the fire. Unfortunately, grabbing a hot skillet causes a painful burn and often sets clothing on fire. Pouring water on a grease fire spreads the fire and spatters hot grease.

Another common error is in throwing an explosive material, like flour, on a grease fire. Instead of flour, baking soda should be used, although it is not as effective as soda.

If the grease fire is in the oven, says the association, closing the oven door will shut off air and stop the fire. If the fire is in a skillet, turn off the heat. It then may be safe to put a cover on the skillet which will cut off the air supply and extinguish the fire.

Four IFYE Youths Go Abroad in 1962

To Represent Minnesota in Farm Youth Exchange

Four Minnesota young people will go abroad this year to live and work with farm families in other countries as grass roots ambassadors from Minnesota.

They are Judith Carlson, 21, Cokato; Robert Horning, 24, Revere; Donald Kronemann, 24, Fergus Falls; and Jane Golhl, 21, Lake City. They have been selected as International Farm Youth Exchange delegates for 1962 from Minnesota. They are among 125 IFYE delegates who will go abroad from the United States this year, Evelyn Harne, associate state 4-H club leader at the University of Minnesota, announced today.

Miss Carlson will go to Germany, Hornning to Turkey and Kronemann to Norway. Miss Golhl has not received a definite assignment. Miss Carlson and Kronemann will have a week of orientation in early April in Washington, D. C., before leaving for their foreign assignments. Horning will go to Washington in June for orientation, then to Turkey. The four delegates will spend about six months living and working with the farm families in their host countries.

Purpose of the International Farm Youth Exchange is to increase international understanding at the grass roots level. A 4-H club people-to-people program, it is conducted by the National 4-H Foundation and the Agricultural Extension Service. In the return phase of the program, rural young people from overseas live with farm families in this country.

In 1961 Minnesota sent four IFYE delegates abroad, including Bill Svendsgaard of Goodridge, to Switzerland, and was host to eight exchangees from seven countries.

FORMER REPORTER WRITES PRIZE-WINNING POETRY

A former Richfield news reporter and librarian leaps into the national spotlight by the exclusive route of capturing two of the six major awards annually bestowed by the Poetry Society of America. Adrien Stoutenburg, born in Darfur, Watonwan county, a graduate of West High, Minneapolis, and now living in Lagunitas, California, is this year's winner of both the Michael Sloane and the Edwin Markham cash prizes for two of her many poems that appear regularly in The New Yorker, The Saturday Review, Yale Review, The Nation, and various other national magazines. The young author of "Little Smoke," "The Blue-Eyed Convertible," and a score or more of other books for children of all ages, is perhaps best remembered in Richfield, scene of her brilliant reporting and feature-writing career, as the first librarian in the Hennepin County Library branch she helped to establish in a one-time suburban carriage house.

Unemployment Fund Tax Increased Jan. 1

Minnesota employers covered by the state employment security law were officially notified this week of the increase in their tax rate on funds paid into the unemployment trust fund, according to Frank Starkey, commissioner of the department of employment security.

Need for the increase became apparent last July 1, when it was revealed that the balance in the trust fund had dipped below the 50 million dollar mark, which under the present law automatically raises the minimum rate from .3 to .6 of 1 per cent and the maximum rate from 2.7 to 3.0 per cent. The new schedule of rates became operative on January 1, and apply to the first $3000 paid to any employee in a calendar year.

Starkey also reported that the balance in the unemployment fund has continued downward since last July, with only $41.7 million remaining at the end of 1961. This was $21.5 million below the balance at the start of last year. During 1961, $45.7 million was paid out in benefits, against only $22.4 million collected from the state's 43,000 employers covered by the law.

To illustrate the inadequacy of present financing of the unemployment compensation fund, Starkey pointed out that at the end of 1949 the amount available for each of the 531,700 insured workers was $229 with the maximum obligation of the fund to any individual being $625. The persons covered by the fund were protected by a reserve of 36.6 per cent of their maximum claims against it.

At the end of 1961 this protection for an estimated 690,000 currently-covered workers in private industry had declined to $60.44 or only 6.1 per cent of the maximum of $988 available to any worker.

It is clear from the trend, said Starkey, that steps must be taken to improve the actuarial health of the law. If the present predictions for 1962 employment trends are borne out (and it is expected to be a fairly good one) the level of the fund on January 1, 1963 will have dropped to $34.8 million, Starkey estimated.

STATE'S TAXABLE VALUES GO URBAN

Minnesota's changing business face is illustrated by the shift in taxable values between 1949 and 1959, reported by Minnesota Taxpayers Association. In 1949 and 1959 respectively, rural land and structures accounted for 36.87 and 22.06 percent of the state's total taxable values; urban land and structures 41.47-58.05 percent; personal property 21.66-19.89 percent. Taxable values went from $1,550,230,315 to $2,127,231,895 or 37¼ percent, while total taxes levied climbed nearly 118 per cent from just over $201 million to a little under $438 million. During those 11 years the state's share of taxes dropped from 5.82 per cent to 5.45 per cent, county from 29.42 to 25.81, township from 5.15 to 2.85, city and village from 28.17 to 25.40; school district share went up from 31.44 per cent to 40.49 per cent.

Agreement on Sugar Market Is Announced

Industries Resolve Differences on New Sugar Act Proposal

Agreement has been reached by domestic sugar industries on how they would like to see the U. S. sugar market divided under a new sugar act, according to a report published Monday in the Wall Street Journal. The present sugar act expires June 30 and the new law would run five years, retroactive to January 1, 1962. Previous major revisions of sugar legislation covered four years.

The industry agreement was announced Friday in Washington by representatives of the American sugar beet industry, mainland sugar cane industry, U. S. Cane sugar and refining industry, Hawaiian sugar industry and the Puerto Rican sugar industry. This agreement is expected to weigh heavily on administration and congressional calculations.

According to the agreement, the domestic producing area would be granted a larger share of the U. S. market, presumably at the expense of Cuba's former quota of about three million tons annually. The domestic area would get the right (basic quota) to supply the U. S. with 5,930,000 tons of raw sugar a year, about 61.1 per cent of total 1962 needs estimated by the industry at 9.7 million tons. Currently the domestic area supplies only about 53 per cent of the total consumption with foreign countries supplying the rest.

As U. S. demand for sugar is pushed above 9.7 million tons by population increases, domestic producers would be allotted 67½ per cent of the added sugar demand, up from 55 per cent now, and foreigners would get 32½ per cent, down from 45 per cent now. The 67½ per cent domestic slice would be shared 75 per cent by beet growers and 25 per cent by mainland cane growers.

Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands would not share in the quotas. Hawaii and Puerto Rico have not done this for years because of production troubles.

If domestic areas such as Hawaii and Puerto Rico fail to deliver their quotas, the shortfalls would be assigned to foreign producing areas. This would partly offset the increased share for domestic growers, but still would benefit U. S. cane refiners who derive about two-thirds of their business from refining imported raw sugar.

DIRECTOR of the St. Olaf college band is Miles Johnson, a former resident of northern Minnesota who grew up in Elbow Lake and is a graduate of Concordia college in Moorhead. He received his masters degree from Western Reserve university, Cleveland, O. and, prior to joining the faculty at St. Olaf, was music director at Hawley, Minn. high school, where the band, under his direction, took first place in the band contest at the 1957 Minneapolis Aquatennial. The St. Olaf concert band, under Johnson's direction, will play a concert in the Lincoln high school auditorium at 8 p.m. Feb. 8. The band's appearance here is sponsored by the Trinity Lutheran church choir.

Annual Meeting of TRF Jobs Inc. Set Tuesday Evening

To Hear Annual Reports and Elect Five Directors at Session in Elks Club

The annual meeting of Jobs Incorporated will be held at the Elks club rooms Tuesday evening, February 6, at 8:00 o'clock, Rolland Larson, secretary, announced today. Besides the election of five directors, there will be reports on several activities and discussion of possible developments.

Progress reports will be made on the Dow Key Co. and the Polar Manufacturing Co. Dr. Orion Belch, Fred Sorenson and James Engelstad will talk on potato industry problems, and Mayor Orin Green will lead a discussion on community planning.

Directors whose terms expire are Stuart McLeod, Carl Lee, Robert Wurst, L. B. Hartz and W. E. Dahlquist. At the close of the meeting a stag smorgasbord lunch will be served. Mr. Larson stressed that this is a public meeting and interested citizens of the Thief River Falls area are encouraged to be present.

School Board Orders Preliminary Sketches

Approval of a diagrammatic room schedule and ordering of preliminary sketches for proposed new educational facilities in Thief River Falls were accomplished by the board of education at a special meeting with the architect Monday evening. Preliminary sketches are expected to be ready and another meeting of the board held late in February.

Richard Hamel and George Klein, members of the architectural firm retained by the school board for the building proposal, were in the city Monday for the meeting and remained here Tuesday for further consultation with school officials. Cost estimates will not be available until a completed plan has been drawn and exact requirements determined.

Included in the diagrammatic room schedule is a combination elementary and junior high school designed to accommodate approximately 1,000 pupils. The two school areas are designed as separate units with connecting corridors and office space basically between the two units. The combination would permit joint use of library and cafeteria facilities to a large extent.

Basically, the elementary segment of the plan, as approved by the board Monday, would include eight classrooms with 900 square feet of floor space each, two special education rooms, large kindergarten, smaller rooms for visually handicapped, remedial reading, office and nurse quarters, in addition to lavatories and some storage areas.

The junior high school section would have 14 academic classrooms, three science rooms, two music rooms, two industrial arts rooms, two home economics rooms, one art room and physical facilities including a gymnasium. The cafeteria, library, offices, storage and kitchen would be located in this area.

Since more than one type of construction is being considered, exact area of the building is not known at the present time. The elementary school is planned to accommodate in excess of 300 youngsters while the junior high school would provide facilities for 625 to 650 students. An enrollment of 631 junior high school students in the local school system is predicted by 1965-66. Previous predictions, based on the annual school survey of children in the community, have proved extremely accurate.

Upon receipt of the preliminary sketches ordered Monday, the school board will further study the needs to weigh them against possible estimated costs. Revisions will likely be made before a final plan is ordered.

Seed & Feed Show Prizes Announced

Prizes for exhibitors in the annual Thief River Falls Seed and Feed Show which will be held in this city Friday were announced today by Silas Hanson, chairman of the Pennington County Crop Improvement Association sponsor of the show and donor of the prizes. Names of exhibitors will be entered in the drawing which will take place at the afternoon program.

First prize will be 50 pounds of certified Climax Timothy seed, a variety which commanded a premium price last fall several times the price of other varieties. Second prize will be four bushels of certified Pembina wheat and third prize will be six bushels of certified Portage oats. All varieties of seed to be awarded as prizes are in strong demand and command premium prices.

Men and women in the Thief River Falls area are invited to view the exhibits which will be on display in the city auditorium and to attend the special afternoon program. Of special interest to dairymen will be the afternoon program dealing with forage and milk production. Women will receive worth while information on meat cuts and preparation at the afternoon event scheduled for them.

Indications are that in spite of the generally poor crop year in the area, entries in the feed and seed exhibits will be quite large again this year, Hanson said.

HEADING the Pennington County Home Council for the coming year will be Mrs. Adam Lendobeja who was elected president of the organization at the recent annual meeting held in Thief River Falls. In addition to home council work, she has been a long-time adult leader in the county 4-H club program.

Oliver Howland Renominated As SCD Supervisor

Marshall-Beltrami Dist. Hears Phillip Manson on Drainage Matters

Oliver Howland, Grygla, was renominated as supervisor of the Marshall-Beltrami Soil and Water Conservation district at the annual meeting of the district held Friday afternoon at the Grygla school gymnasium. The supervisor for a five-year term will be elected in the township elections early in March.

Presentation of the outstanding conservation farmer in the district was made during the meeting to Oscar Hagen. Dr. Phillip Manson, professor of agricultural engineering at the University of Minnesota, was the guest speaker at the meeting. He stated that surface drainage such as then used in field drainage systems in this area has no appreciable harmful effect on water tables but that it can destroy wildlife habitat.

Oscar Houske, rural Thief River Falls, chairman of the Pennington County Soil Conservation district board of supervisors and president of the northwestern Minnesota area of the state association of district supervisors, attended the meeting. Howland presided at the meeting and reviewed activities of the district during the year. About 75 persons were in attendance.

Local Girl Scout Group Opposes Council Merger

50 at Meeting Monday Adopt Resolution Calling for Holding Status Quo

Adoption of a resolution calling for maintaining the Girl Scout program in Thief River Falls on the present basis rather than merging into a larger area as proposed by the Girl Scouts of America was accomplished at a meeting of local Girl Scout officials, leaders and mothers Monday evening in the municipal auditorium.

As a further action at the meeting which was attended by about 50 interested local persons, Mrs. R. J. Dryden was elected local chairman to succeed Mrs. Milo Gulbranson who has resigned that position. Mrs. Dryden was instructed to write to the other 15 communities in the Northwestern Minnesota Girl Scout Council to advise them of the local decision.

The national organization had proposed as "inevitable" a merger of six existing councils into one area encompassing much of northwestern Minnesota and into North Dakota. Four professional scout executives would be supported by the area and headquarters would be in Grand Forks. This would mean vacating the current council office in Thief River Falls.

Rejections of the proposal locally was based on the financial increase which would be necessary under such a merger, travel distance involved and a question as to the benefits to be received under such a program. Scouting here in the past has made greater progress than in other areas where the larg-

Further details will be announced later by Jarvis Prichard, exalted ruler.

375 Complete Program

Student Nurses Train Here

Four nurses from Lutheran Deaconess Hospital in Minneapolis are currently enrolled in a six-week training session at Northwestern Hospital in Thief River Falls as part of the student nurse program which has been in operation here since September of 1953. The girls are senior students at the Deaconess hospital school of nursing.

Twelve hospitals in Minnesota originally participated in the student nurse program but the number whas now dwindled to only four including hospitals at Grand Rapids, Hibbing and Worthington in addition to Thief River Falls. Sending hospitals have decreased to seven from the 13 which at one time participated in the program.

First students to come to Thief River Falls under the program were six nurses from Fairview hospital in Minneapolis in September of 1953. Since that time approximately 375 students have received supervised training here and about eight of these have returned to Thief River Falls to continue in the profession upon graduation from school.

Each year the hospital receives eight groups of nurses for six-week training periods. The program is in operation the entire year with the exception of the last two weeks in August and first two weeks in September. Students beginning their senior year in nursing school comprise those who take part in the program which is coordinated locally by Mrs. Francis Hamerlinck.

As part of their duties while here, the nurses receive practical train-

Election of chairmen for the nine standing committees of the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce and discussion of projects to be accomplished during 1962 took place in a two-day series of meetings Tuesday and Wednesday under the general theme of "1962 Skidoo". Joe Holter, 1962 chamber president who attended several of the meetings, acclaimed the series an "encouraging success"

With 108 members on the nine committees, attendance of 62 at the meetings was considered to be above expectations. "There is a feeling of enthusiasm which a person can sense as we move into the 1962 program of work," Holter said. "With this spirit there is sure to be much accomplished in the coming year."

Among the ideas to come out of the meeting series was a proposal in the transportation and communication committee that the chamber establish a travel service during 1962. This was believed to be a service to the community and an aid to rail, air and road travel agencies in the city. Lloyd Quesnell was elected chairman of the committee which also heard of modernization proposals from James Koller, manager of the local Northwestern Bell Telephone company office, and reviewed many facets of transportation and communication.

80 Will Pay over $500 in P.P. Taxes

A legal publication that is certain to be carefully scanned appears in this issue of the Times in the form of the 1961 personal property tax list for Pennington county. The tax is due and payable before March 1, but the tax, if in excess of $10 may be paid in two installments, with the last half payable before July 1.

A total of nearly 80 county taxpayers, 70 of them in Thief River Falls, will be called upon to pay in excess of $500 this year, while 12 are assessed more than $3,000 each, compared to nine a year ago.

The Lakehead Pipeline company, whose lines pass thru five townships in Pennington county, is by a wide margin the biggest payer of personal property taxes with a bill for $45,249.12, considerably more than last year.

In the city of Thief River Falls, Land O'Lakes Creameries this year replaces L. B. Hartz Stores, Inc., as the heaviest taxpayer, the two enterprises being assessed respectively $14,280.04 and $13,271.76.

Other firms assessed more than $3,000 include Bridgeman Creameries, Forsberg and Sons, Great Northern Railway, Minnkota Electric Co-op, Gamble-Robinson Co., Peterson-Biddick Co., Shetler's Hatchery, TRF creamery and Farmers Co-op Grain and Seed assn.

Open House Set At Joppru Plant

Persons interested in the processing of potatoes in the most modern fashion are invited to attend an open house to be held Saturday from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. in the Joppru potato warehouse and wash plant located one mile west and one mile north of Thief River Falls. Free coffee and doughnuts will be served during the open house, according to Melvin Joppru, manager of the operation.

Rulien Receives 76 Votes in Poll for Dist. Judge

Results of the plebescite in the Ninth Judicial district at the request of Governor Elmer L. Andersen were announced recently at a district bar association meeting in Bemidji. Governor Andersen requested the poll of attorneys in the district before making an appointment of a successor to the late Hon. Paul A. Lundgren of Thief River Falls as district court judge.

L. W. Rulien and Gordon LaBree of Thief River Falls were placed on the ballot following nominations and voting was granted to all attorneys in the district. Results showed that Rulien received 76 votes, LaBree was given five and Alfred Schmidt, Bemidji, write-in candidate, was awarded 19 votes in the plebescite.

One vote was cast for Chester Rosengren, Fergus Falls, who is outside the confines of the Ninth Judicial district, and two attorneys abstained from voting since they did not know the men on the ballot.

Auditor Explains Reason for Rise In Property Tax

Many county residents who find substantial increases in their personal property taxes this year are victims of a change in law made at the last session of the state legislature, according to C. W. Rodekuhr, Pennington county auditor. The change in all instances will involve persons with household goods of low value.

Under the former law, $100 assessed valuation was automatically allowed as household exemption. The revised law provides a maximum of $100 for household exemption but the amount above assessed valuation of actual household items (under $100) may no longer be applied to other property.

For instance, a farmer with assessed valuation of $50 on household goods formerly was permitted to use the remaining $50 of the household exemption to apply on farm machinery. If the household goods are valued at $50 under the revised law, the $50 exemption is all that will be allowed and tax will be levied on the entire assessed value of machinery.

Heart Sunday Set for February 25

Mrs. R. Looker, Chairman, Announces Solicitation

Plans for conducting the 1962 Heart Fund drive in Thief River Falls were nearing completion this week as February, traditional month for raising funds to fight heart disease, arrived.

Mrs. Robert J. Looker, local chairman, announced the highpoint of the drive would be the week-end of Heart Sunday, February 25th when a corps of volunteers would collect contributions from door to door throughout the entire community, in support of the programs of the Minnesota Heart Association. Heart dollars collected here will be credited to the county goal.

"We hope to give everyone an opportunity to join the fight against heart diseases," Mrs. Looker emphasized. "Such diseases cause more death and disability than all other ailments combined."

The Minnesota State Heart Fund drive has a goal of $510,000.

Viggo Fischer, 1961 Exchange Student in TRF, Writes Rotary

With a touch of humor that was apparent during his stay in the United States, Viggo Fischer has written to the Thief River Falls Rotary club from Denmark where he has now returned and is attending school. Since a large number of people in this community came to know him while he was attending Lincoln high school, the Times publishes part of the letter which was received at the Christmas season:

Dear Rotarians,

It is my hope that this letter will fly fast enough across the pond to reach you for your Christmas meeting which I remember I was fortunate to attend last year.

Well, that was a year ago and now is a whole semester since I left T. R. F. and Minnesota. When I look back at that period I think it was such a wonderful time I had in your city. It was always very pleasant to come to your meetings in Rotary; I sincerely want to thank you that I might come there, and for all your kindness to me and for your sponsoring of my year in the United States.

It was such a rich experience. Also the time afterwards on the bus trip touring the Eastern states. We were in Washington, D. C., Philadelphia and New York. Capitol was very interesting to see and also the White House where President Kennedy was so very kind as to speak to us all 1,800 A. F.S'ers.

I also had the privilege to visit your Congressman Odin Langen. I think he is a very good representative for you in Washington—not that I'm going to start an early campaign for him—I'd like to—but I think he is a very able politician.

Then we went home to restless Europe, and I have now been going to school all the time and have been very busy. Some of the squares among the teachers have complained a bit about my accent but that hasn't been too bad. On the foreign front it has been very bad, though; the Russian pressure on Scandinavia is really stepped up now, likewise in Berlin; but few Danes seem to care though, we have got better nerves than old Krushchev thinks.

Well, I joined the Home Guard as my own private precaution and got an old 30-06 Remington to "play" with; otherwise everything is fine over here, especially economically. There is a shortage of workers in Denmark; that is a very unusual situation.

Well, I hope everything is fine in Thief River Falls and I send you my best wishes for a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to all of you.

Sincerely Yours,
Viggo Fischer

Highway Patrol TV Interference To Be Studied

Dealers and servicemen who deal with sales and service of television sets in Thief River Falls have been invited to attend a meeting Monday at 8 p. m. in the Minnesota Highway Patrol radio service shop in this city, according to Neil E. Stone, station supervisor.

Discussion will be held on the interference problem that has occurred since the highway patrol radio station went into operation. Attempts will be made to demonstrate the possibility of reducing the interference by the means of re-tuning the IF stages in a television set.

GOP & DFL Caucuses Slated for February

Minnesota's two political party chairmen today issued a joint statement calling for full citizen participation in the Republican and DFL precinct caucuses to be held during the month of February.

Republican state chairman Bob Forsythe and DFL state chairman George Farr, issued the following joint statement: "February 1962 is one of the most important months for Minnesota voters. It is during this month that citizens in every county in Minnesota will have the opportunity to discharge their responsibility as active participants in grass roots politics by attending the precinct caucuses of the Republican and DFL parties.

"The Republican party will hold its precinct caucuses during the period of February 5 through February 17. The DFL party will hold its caucuses on February 27. Too many of our citizens feel that they can fully discharge their responsibility as a free participant in politics by voting on election day in November. We urge that Republicans and DFL members fulfill their obligation by attending their precinct caucuses.

"The caucuses will be held for three main purposes:

1. Electing delegates and alternates to the county conventions.
2. Electing officers of the voting precincts.
3. Participation in the discussion of important issues and prospective candidates for public office from the local to the national level.

"Minnesotans' right to attend the caucus of the party of their choice is established and protected by state. The law can only establish this basic right. The citizen must take the appropriate action to exercise this right."

Stan Mortenson, Pennington county Republican chairman, stated this week that plans for caucuses in this county have not yet been completed.

'62 School Safety Patrol Plans Set

Training Program Opens at Legionville June 10

The opening of the 25th annual summer training program for school safety patrol officers was announced jointly today by the American Legion and the Minnesota highway department, co-sponsors of the activity.

The program will be held at the Legionville School Safety Patrol Training Center on North Long Lake, northeast of Brainerd. Here the American Legion operates a quarter of a million dollar facility devoted to safety training. Eleven weeks are scheduled for schools beginning June 10. The first eight weeks are for boys and the last three for girls.

During each of the last several summers, more than 1,700 boys and girls have received intensive training in school safety patrol operations from Minnesota Highway Patrol officers. Each spent one week in the center where safety classes stressed swimming and first aid, as well as bicycle, pedestrian and school safety.

Cost of registration per student is $20.00 per week and must be sent to the American Legion, St. Paul 1, at the time reservation is made. A deadline of May 1, 1962 was set for reservations in order that proper schedules could be arranged. Camp officials pointed out that the name of the boy or girl need not be forwarded until three weeks prior to the camp period assigned.

Library Friends To Meet Monday

Plans for an open house for children and their parents will be made when the Friends of Carnegie Public Library meet Monday at 4 p. m. in the board room at the library in Thief River Falls, according to Mrs. Otis Weld, president of the organization.

Also to be accomplished at the meeting will be the selection of a nominating committee for the annual election to be held in April. Tentative date set for the open house is Saturday, March 10. All others interested in the library are encouraged to attend the meeting.

er system has been in effect, Mrs. Dryden said.

Persons attending the meeting Monday went on record decisively against the merger proposal, to the extent that they stated local leaders of the program would look to other phases of providing activity for girls in the program if the proposed change is effected.

A. Pilkey, Former Member of N.W. School Staff, Dies

A memorial service is planned at the First Presbyterian church in Crookston for Alvin M. Pilkey, 66, a member of the staff of the Northwest School of Agriculture for nearly 39 years, who died Friday in Sarasota, Florida.

The announcement was made Monday by Dr. B. E. Youngquist of the Northwest School, who said final plans for the service will be announced later this week after the arrival of Dave Pilkey, a son.

Funeral services were held Monday for Mr. Pilkey at Tole Chapel, Sarasota, Fla. The body will be returned to Crookston for burial.

Mr. Pilkey joined the staff of the Northwest School in 1922. Prior to his retirement on Oct. 20, 1961, he served as assistant professor and poultry husbandman.

St. Olaf Concert Band To Appear In City Feb. 8

Director Miles Johnson In Familiar Territory On Current Band Tour

Director Miles Johnson will be in familiar territory when he takes his St. Olaf College concert band on tour Feb. 3-11 through northern Minnesota and North Dakota and into Canada. The band plays at the Lincoln high school auditorium here Thursday, Feb. 8, at 8 p. m.

The dynamic young director was born in North Dakota and spent his youth in Elbow Lake. He attended Concordia College, Moorhead, where he was soloist with the Concordia band and principal hornist with the Fargo-moorhead Symphony orchestra.

After graduating cum laude from Concordia, Johnson attended Western Reserve University, Cleveland, Ohio, where he received his master of arts degree. While at Western Reserve he also played with the Cleveland Philharmonic Orchestra and directed a Cleveland church choir.

Johnson served in the army during the Korean War and then became music director at Hawley high school. Under his direction the band attended the Minneapolis Aquatennial and the Chicagoland Music Festival in 1955. In 1956 the band was invited to the Regina Exposition in Regina, Saskatchewan, Can., and in 1957 it took first place in the band contest of the Minneapolis Aquatennial.

In 1957 Johnson came to St. Olaf as director of the concert band and assistant professor of music. In the summer of 1960 he was invited to conduct the orchestra at the Peninsula Arts Festival concerts, Fish Creek, Wis., an honor bestowed on a select group of young conductors each year.

The St. Olaf Band's appearance here is being sponsored here by the Trinity Lutheran Church choir. Tickets are available at Larson's Music Store, Union and Northern State Banks and from any member of the Trinity Choir. Walter Larson is head of the concert committee.

Fair Group Will Meet Tonight on Member Campaign

Formulation of plans for continued reorganization of the Pennington county fair will take place tonight at an adjourned meeting of the Pennington County Fair Association, Inc., to be held at 8 p. m. in the meeting room of the county courthouse in Thief River Falls. All members of the expanded committee are urged to be in attendance.

It is expected that discussion will center around sale of memberships in a new non-profit organization which will assume operation of the county fair upon dissolution of the present stockholder group. Members of the committee are also urged to bring along interested neighbors to the session.

Trinity Senior Choir Elects New Officers

Elected officers of the Trinity Lutheran church senior choir recently were Walter Larson, president; Einar Barstad, vice president; and Mrs. Inga Geving, secretary-treasurer.

Local National Guard Unit in Rifle Matches

Last Sunday the local National Guard unit played host to Bemidji and Crookston units as they competed in the Battle Group semi-final rifle matches at the local armory rifle range. The competition was with .22 cal. target rifles. Scoring in the match found Crookston's experienced team walking off with the honors as a team, followed by Bemidji and Thief River Falls. Team scores were 1217, 1190 and 1168 respectively.

High individual honors went to Sgt. Denny of Bemidji who fired 267 out of a possible 300. Local talent wasn't out of the running, however, as Lt. Keifenheim of Red Lake Falls fired a 249 to lead the local unit. According to Captain Joe Forberg, Company Commander, the Battle Group finals will be held at Detroit Lakes on Sunday, February 4th.

First Sergeant Ivan Bundy stated that several recruits have been enlisted over the past two weeks. The new men are Alec N. Moe of Grygla, Roger A. Smith also of Grygla, Bernard Elseth of Newfolden and Edwin G. Ellefson of Middle River. These men will be going on to 6 months active duty sometime between now and next June. Recently returning from 6 months tour of duty, according to First Sergeant Bundy, were Harold Steinhauer of Holt and Hurby Lund of Thief River Falls. Both of the young men were stationed at Fort Ord, Calif.

Sgt. Ronald Anderson, captain of the local unit basketball team stated that they had scrimmaged St. Hilaire at the opponents school gymnasium last Friday night. A game with the St. Hilaire Independent team was scheduled for a later date, according to Anderson. Members of the local units' team are Ron Anderson, Jim Kempel, Warren Stone, Harlow Johnson, Robert Wold and Wayne Dahl.

Student Nurses In Training at NW Hospital

ing in most phases of hospital nursing work while serving on actual duty under full supervision. They also attend classes which are provided for them. All students reside at the William Jensen home where arrangements have been made for their lodging.

In addition to regular duty and class routine, the students are given tours to view health, education, welfare, sanitation and community operation in the city. They visit the water filtration plant, sewage disposal plant, police and fire departments, Oakland Park nursing home, county welfare office and other centers in the city associated with any of the above phases. As part of this training, they attended the annual Chamber of Commerce meeting last week.

Depending upon the season of the year, students also assist Mrs. Margaret Race, school nurse, with pre-school clinics and help with the crippled-children's-clinic which is held in Thief River Falls each year.

Although Northwestern formerly received students from Fairview and Northwestern hospitals in Minneapolis and Mounds-Midway hospital in St. Paul, the program has now been revised. The local hospital receives students only from Deaconess and Deaconess sends students only to Thief River Falls, Mrs. Hamerlinck said.

"Although one of the initial hopes of the program locally has not materialized to any extent—that of attracting trained nursing personnel to our hospital—there are other benefits of the program," stated Norman Peterson, hospital administrator. "The training program helps our personnel and the various departments are kept extremely aware of hospital procedure since they are constantly being observed by the students who are studying here."

Students in the current class include Misses Marlene Jackel of Norwood, Judy Winge of Waseca, Mary Snyder of Sleepy Eye and Sally Faber of Lake Lillian.

January Departs, Leaves 18 Inches of Snow Behind

—20 Reading Reported This Morning at City Airport Weather Station

January closed the books on one of the coldest, snowiest months in recent history Wednesday, with the official low temperature of 35 below zero and a whopping snowfall of 18.3 inches, practically all of which is still with us. Snowfall in January, 1961, was 7.5 inches by contrast.

February got off to a slow, cold start with a 20-below reading just to remind us spring is a "fur piece" away and that no matter what Br'er Groundhog does Friday, we're still due for six weeks of winter weather. Latitude, not groundhogs, is the determining factor in upper midwest weather.

Temperatures since Monday have ranged from a high of 9 above Monday to today's 20 below zero. Here is the day-to-day rundown: Monday, high 9, low -4; Tuesday, -4 and -14, and Wednesday, 4 above and -10. There was an inch of new snow Monday and 2.5 inches fell Wednesday.

The forecast is for fair skies and colder weather today and Friday. Scattered light snow expected northwest tonight, not so cold extreme northwest tonight and Friday. Highs expected are 5 above to 5 below and the low tonight, 0 to 10 below.

Willis Warring, 77, Dies January 29; Rites Held Today

Willis Warring, a lifelong resident of Thief River Falls and community, died suddenly Monday evening at the age of 77 years.

Funeral servce will be held today Thursday, February 1 at 2 p.m. in the Green Funeral Chapel, Rev. Henry Friedman will officiate with interment in the Greenwood cemetery. The body will lie in state at the Green Funeral Home until time of service.

Willis Edward Warring was born on September 22, 1884 in Excel townshp, Marshall county. He was educated and grew to manhood there, and also farmed for many years. The past 20 years he had made his home in Thief River Falls. He was a member of the Young Pine Lodge IOOF in this city for many years.

He is survived by three nieces, Mrs. L. A. Meyers of Thief River Falls, Mrs. J. A. Baumann of St. Paul and Mrs. Emil Johnson of Duluth.

He was preceded in death by one sister and two brothers.

Phone Company Offers Almanac to Local Patrons

A Minnesota man is featured in the new Telephone Almanac for 1962, Jim Koller, Northwestern Bell Telephone Company manager, said today.

"The exciting story about telephone cable splicer Bob Hark's disarming of an escaped convict is presented as an example of the telephone tradition of service, "he said. "For his courage and personal risk, Hark was presented a cash award and a Silver Vail Medal."

This story is one of many appearing in the Almanac, a widely-distributed annual publication. The general theme for this year is space exploration.

While supplies last, copies of the Telephone Almanac may be obtained from the Northwestern Bell Telephone Company business office, at Fourth St. and La Bree av. N.

Radio Speaking Contest for 4-H Slated Saturday

Seven entries are listed in the 4-H radio speaking contest for Pennington county which will be held Saturday at 1:30 p. m. in the courthouse in Thief River Falls. Topic of the contest this year is "How Would You Present the United States to the World?"

Entrants include Faye Stucy, Deer Park; Bruce Howick, City View; Robert McCrum, Smiley; Carol Peterson and Deanna Burtness, Silverton; Margie Vik, St. Hilaire; and Kathleen Torgerson, Steiner. Winner of the county event will compete in the district contest to be held February 19 at the Red River Valley Winter Shows in Crookston.

MENTOR YOUTH NOMINATED FOR AIR FORCE ACADEMY

Senator Hubert H. Humphrey Tuesday nominated 11 Minnesotans to take a competitive examination for an appointment to the United States Air Force Academy in Colorado.

The examination, to be conducted in March of this year, will determine selection of one applicant for appointment to the Academy.

Among the nominations is that of Thomas J. Neibauer, 18, of Mentor.

Signup Opens Feb. 5 In Feed Grain Program

Growers of winter or spring wheat, grain sorghum and spring-planted barley may now sign up to take part in the 1962 feed grain program, according to Marshall and Pennington county offices of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. Sign up period will extend from February 5 through March 30, with operation of the program to be similar to the 1961 feed grain program.

Objectives are also the same—to increase farm income, further reduce the excess feed grain stocks, reduce government costs of farm programs, reduce the risk of serious overproduction of meat, poultry and dairy products and assure consumers of fair and stable prices for these products.

All producers of corn, grain sorghum or spring barley are eligible to take part in the feed grain program, which calls for the diversion of acreage formerly planted to one or more of these crops into an approved soil-conserving use. The program is voluntary, but program participation by farmers who produce these feed grain crops is required if they want to be eligible for price support on their feed grain crops, including oats and rye.

For corn and grain sorghum there must be a minimum reduction of 20 per cent from the farm's 1959-60 average acreage of these crops and the producer (other than certain producers of malting barley) must not exceed the farm's barley base. For barley (except certain malting varieties) there must be a minimum reduction of 20 per cent in the farm's average 1959-60 barley acreage, and the producer must not exceed the farm's corn and grain sorghum base.

Producers of oats and rye will be eligible for 1962-crop price support if they comply with either the corn-grain sorghum program or the barley program.

National average support prices for 1962 feed grains are as follows: corn, $1.20 per bushel average for all grades; grain sorghum, $1.93 per hundredweight for grade No. 2 or better; oats, 62 cents per bushel for grade No. 3; rye, $.102 per bushel for grade No. 2 or better, or grade No. 3 on test weight only; barley, 93 cents per bushel for grade No. 2 or better.

Carleton Is Given $50,000 by Widow of Steel Co. Head

Carleton College has been named the recipient of a $50,000 scholarship in honor of a former trustee, the late Rudolph T. Elstad, it was announced today by President Laurence M. Gould.

The new fund is to be known as the Rudolph T. Elstad Memorial Scholarship Fund and the income from the grant is to be used to aid students studying science, mathematics and pre-engineering. The scholarship was established by his widow, Mrs. Elizabeth D. Elstad of Edina, Minn.

Mr. Elstad had been a member of the Carleton board of trustees from 1952 until his death in December, 1959. He was president of the Oliver Iron Mining Division, United States Steel Corporation, Duluth.

Mrs. Elstad and two daughters are Carleton graduates.

'62 Feed Grain Price Support Levels Listed

Prices for the 1962 crops of feed grains have been established at national average support levels, according to reports received from the Marshall and Pennington county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service offices. National average support levels are as follows:

Corn, $1.20 per bushel average for all grades; barley, 93 cents per bushel for grade No. 2 or better; grain sorghum, $1.93 per hundredweight for grade No. 2 or better; oats, 62 cents per bushel for grade No. 3; and rye, $.102 per bushel for grade No. 2 or better, or grading No. 3 on test weight only.

These supports are the same as the 1961 crop supports. The 1962 support prices reflect approximately 74 percent of the January parity for corn, barley and oats, 69 percent for rye and about 78 percent for grain sorghum.

Feed grain legislation provides that the secretary of agriculture may set the support level for corn at not less than 65 percent of parity for the 1962 crop. The $1.20-per-bushel support price was determined as the price that would effectively meet the objectives of the feed grain program.

Support for the other feed grains requires consideration of several factors, including supply in relation to demand, ability of the Commodity Credit Corporation to dispose of stocks acquired under price support, ability and willingness of producers to keep supplies in line with demand, feed value of grains in relation to corn and support levels for other commodities.

After considering these factors, the support prices for barley, oats and rye were set directly at their feeding value relationship to corn and the support price for grain sorghum was set at 90 percent of the feed value of corn — the same as for 1961.

Salvation Army to Experiment with Store This Week

Used Clothing, Furniture on Sale Friday, Saturday in Central Lumber Bldg.

As an experiment to determine the need and use of such a facility, the Salvation Army will operate a store in the former Central Lumber Company offices Friday and Saturday, according to envoy Carl Paulson of the local Salvation Army unit. If considered to be successful, the store will be open on other days in the future.

The Salvation Army store will sell used clothing, stoves, furniture, radios, rugs and other items which it collects for the purpose of distribution to needy families. Items will be very moderately prices to enable most families to purchase items that they need.

Included in the merchandise offered for sale will be that which has been contributed to the local unit but has not been distributed to families in the area. Other items which area residents wish to contribute to the unit for sale through the store will be gratefully appreciated, Paulson said.

"We will continue to give aid in the form of clothing and furniture without cost where it is needed," Paulson stated, "but we feel that many families which have received gratis items could pay a small amount for them. Any money raised through the sale of these items will be used for welfare and general operation of the local unit"

Red Lake Electric Slates Meeting in TRF Next Monday

Director to Be Nominated at District Session in Basement of Auditorium

Members of District9 of the Red Lake Electric cooperative, including the area in Pennington county west of Thief River Falls and St. Hilaire will meet Monday evening, February 5, at 8 o'clock in the assembly room in the basement of the TRF city auditorium.

The board of directors of the co-op announced that the purpose of the meeting is to nominate a member for the position of director, in preparation for the annual election to be held in Red Lake Falls April 4. This district is currently represented by Leonard Melin, president of the board. The Black River 4-H club will serve lunch at Monday's meeting, and movies and other entertainment also will be provided.

The board also announced that an informational meeting will be held Friday, February 9, at 8 p. m. in the Highlanding hall. The past year's operations and plans for the future will be discussed at the informal meeting and lunch will be served.

Phone Co. Agency Seeks Spectacles for World's Needy

Telephone Pioneers Are Sponsoring Collection of Discarded Glasses

Collection of used eyeglasses as part of the work of New Eyes for the Needy, Inc., is being handled locally by the Telephone Pioneers of America, according to A. J. Cummings, equipment man for Northwestern Bell Telephone company in Thief River Falls. A collection box has been placed in the local phone company office for that purpose.

"We need metal frames in any condition, unbroken plastic frames with or without lenses, safety or sunglasses, soft eyeglass cases and bits of precious metals such as gold, silver and platinum in old watches or broken jewelry," Cummings stated. New Eyes for the Needy, Inc., is an international, volunteer, non-profit and non-sectarian organization.

The organization has been in operation for 27 years, and collects discarded eyeglasses, sorts them and distributes them to hospitals and medical missions throughout the world. Any money needed to buy new prescription glasses for the needy is realized from the sale of the metal in metal framed glasses and of precious metals collected. Approximately 225,000 persons have been helped by the organization.

Telephone Pioneers of America is an organization of telephone people who have more than 21 years of service to the industry. Members in this area include A. J. Rau, Roy Johnson, Verna Wold, L. G. Hetland, Louise K. Steenerson, Susie E. Schalz and Cummings.

Paul Bunyan Week at Bemidji State

College to Open 14th Annual Event on Sunday

Trimming beards, pressing levis and plaid shirts, campaigning for their favorite Paul and Carrie candidate are all popular activities on the Bemidji State College campus this week as final preparations are made for the observance of the 14th annual Paul Bunyan Week which starts Sunday, Feb. 4th.

Reigning over the festivities will be Paul, the campus image of Paul Bunyan, and Carrie, his legendary spouse. Primary elections for these coveted positions will be held today and Friday.

Tuesday will be "Ugly Lumberjack" day on campus with members of the colleges Vet's club competing for the honor. Vets will dress incognito in the most unbecoming lumberjack garb and students will vote throughout the day by awarding their favorite a dime. The winner will be determined when the dimes are counted and the proceeds will go to the March of Dimes.

At 9 p. m. Tuesday the beards which have been growing profusely on the campus since Christmas will be judged, with Larry Jorgenson of Thief River Falls in charge of this event. Following the judging, students will join in the Ugliest Lumberjack Dance.

Saturday afternoon at 2 p. m. the students will adjourn to nearby Buena Vista for Ski Day.

Beards and plaid shirts will come off that evening to be replaced by the student's best "Bib and tucker" as the week will be climaxed by the traditional Woodchopper's Ball in Memorial Hall and Sourdough Sam's cabaret in the Beaver union. The cabaret plans three complete floor shows starting at 8 p. m. while the ball starts at 9 p. m.

Rotarians Hear About Africa at Monday Meeting

Carroll Ellertson Shows Slides On South Africa Mission Field Area

Insight into the problems and perplexities of a growing Africa was given by Carroll Ellertson, missionary to that continent, at the Monday meeting of the Thief River Falls Rotary club. Ellertson was formerly an intern at Trinity Lutheran church in Thief River Falls.

Using colored slides to show the animal life of the continent as well as its people and architecture, Ellertson told of the quest for knowledge which seems to be a driving force in the majority of native Africans today.

"Africa is finding its place in the industrial era today," he told the club. "Progress which has been made is truly remarkable. Education is now required and Africans are eager to learn. The disheartening thing is that products of our mission schools are leaving by the thousands to receive higher education in Russia where such education is offered to them."

The missionary noted that there are 3½ million whites in South Africa but that relations are strained between whites and native Africans. Laws prohibit inter-marriage and whites are not permitted in native areas after 5 p. m. each day. He also noted that time is not important in the thought pattern of the African but that unanimity of opinion is considered most necessary and often results in extremely long meetings on controversial issues.

Next Monday's meeting, which will be held beginning at 11:45 a. m. to permit a special program for a combined gathering of Rotary and Lions club members, will feature a native African speaker. Grenson H. Lukwesa, a Fullbright scholar from Northern Rhodesia, will be the guest speaker at the meeting. All members of both organizations are requested to note the starting time for the meeting.

City Court Hears Few Cases Monday

Three Offenders Fined, While Two Forfeit Bonds

Monday's session of municipal court was the lightest of the year to date, with only three persons appearing to face Judge Stanley N. Mortenson. There were five cases all told, with two forfeitures.

All but one of the cases were brought by the highway patrol. Dennis F. Sorenson, Red Lake Falls, pleaded guilty to a speeding charge and was fined $15, while Frank T. Cotroneo, St. Paul, forfeited $17.50 bond for non-appearance on a speeding charge.

Speed was also the charge against Paul D. Eggebraaten, Fisher. He was found guilty of the charge after trial and fined $15.

Glen R. Sistad, Grygla, pleaded guilty to driving without a driver's license and was fined $25.

The lone city police case was that of E. Patrick Cosgriff, Fargo, who did not appear to face a charge of permitting an unlicensed driver to operate a car and forfeited $30 bond.

Local Production Credit Officials at State Parley

"Agriculture, now one of the higher-capital-using industries, can be expected to use even more borrowed money in production", said Phillip L. Bergland, manager of the PCA of Thief River Falls. Bergland has just returned from Minneapolis, where he met with managers and directors of all the production credit associations in Minnesota, North Dakota, Wisconsin, and Michigan, and officers of the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of St. Paul.

"These associations", said Bergland, "loaned [illegible] million to farmers in the four states to carry on their feeding operations last year." The PCA's maintain 130 offices in the 4-state area.

Accompanying Bergland to the Minneapolis conference were Brynolf Grahn of Roseau, Archie Wilson and Oldrich Hoffman of Goodridge, Adolph Erickson of Grygla and Samuel Genereux of Brooks. These farm operators make up the board of directors of the Production Credit association in Thief River Falls.

CORRECTION

LeRoy Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Peterson of Washington, D. C., and formerly of Middle River, will appear on Channel 4 Sunday at 4 p. m. rather than 7 p. m. as previously announced. His violin number will be part of the Ted Mack amateur hour.

Minn-Kota EAA Chapter to Meet Here February 15

Election of Officers On Schedule of February Aircraft Group Session

All members of Thief River Falls' Minn-Kota chapter 121, Experimental Aircraft Association, are urged to make an extra effort to attend the monthly meeting of the chapter at the TRF municipal airport Thursday, Feb. 15 at 8 p. m.

Election of officers, postponed due to extremely cold weather which caused several absences at the January meeting, will definitely be held at the February meeting. Also, it is desired that all charter members be on hand to sign the chapter charter. The area chapter has been assigned No. 121 by Val Brugger, national EAA hq. chapter correspondent.

As usual, the meeting will feature a film on EAA activities and refreshments will again be served, following the business session. Everyone interested in grass-roots aviation is invited to the meeting.

All area aviation enthusiasts will also be interested to know EAA has protested the FAA ruling that no aircraft may land at an FAA controlled airport without two-way radio. EAA members and other non-commercial lightplane pilots feel the federal government is showing unfair discrimination in favor of commercial airlines in the use of facilities built with public tax funds.

By membership and support of organizations such as the Experimental Aircraft Assn. pilots' protests may be more effectively voiced to Washington officials.

Reduction Seen In Support for Soybean Crop

Slight reductions in the 1962 support price for soybeans as compared to 1961 and a slight increase in flaxseed supports were announced recently by the Pennington county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation service office. National average support prices have been announced for the 1962 oilseed crops.

Soybeans will be supported at $2.25 per bushel averages for all grades and flaxseed at $2.90 per bushel for No. 1 grade. The 1962 support prices reflect about 78 per cent of parity for flaxseed and about 78 per cent of the January parity for soybeans. Adjustments were designed to achieve a better balance in the supply and price relationships among various commodities.

Under the law, whenever the price of either cottonseed or soybeans is supported, the support price of the other must be at a level which enables these commodities to compete on equal terms on the market.

INCOME TAX ADVICE

By Minnesota State Bar Assn.

The Standard Deduction

(This is the eighth in a series of articles on income taxes made available as a public service by the Minnesota State Bar Association, Public Relations Committee.

The standard deduction is available to you if you do not itemize your personal deductions which are authorized by law such as real estate taxes, charitable contributions and medical expenses.

These deductions are deductions from a figure which is called "adjusted gross income". Adjusted gross income is defined as gross income less business expenses, exclusions such as pay while sick, expenses incurred in connection with property which you hold for the production of rents or royalties, deductions for traveling expenses while away from home on business and those expenses for which you have been reimbursed by your employer.

The standard deduction amounts generally to 10 per cent of this adjusted gross income figure. It, however, is limited for all taxpayers to $1,000 where the 10 per cent figure exceeds this amount. The standard deduction is a substitute method allowed in lieu of itemized deductions and is given to you whether or not you keep records of deductible expenses or actually have these expenses.

The determination of whether or not you should use the standard deduction must be the result of comparing the net tax which you will pay under both methods of filing your return. The final method used should be based upon a consideration of the amount of tax payable under each method and the relative ease of filing under either method.

A general rule of thumb is that you will pay less tax by itemizing your deductions where you own your own home and pay substantial real estate taxes and mortgage interest. However, in many other situations the itemization method will also benefit you taxwise.

Later articles will discuss various types of personal deductions allowable to you in computing your taxable income.

(This column, based on Minnesota and Federal law, is written to inform, not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of a trained expert who knows the facts, because the facts may change the application of the law.)

Memorial

In loving memory of wife and mother, Mrs. Henry Klemmetson, who died February 3, 1961.

Mother's Love
There was no other love like her's
That ever patiently endured
The heartaches, worries, pains and cares
Through all the long, unseeing years.
I'll ne'er forget my Mother's love
It follows me where'er I rove
For through her loving eyes a soul
I saw, that spoke of love untold.
You owe to her for what you are
She ever was your guiding star
For you upon this roughened road
Of life, she bore a double load.
Perhaps someday you'll realize
Her life was not all Paradise
The joys she got from out this land
Were giving love and a helping hand.
To you who have your Mothers yet
Her Mother love—do not forget!
In recompence, return her love
For soon she'll seek a home above,
She'll leave and ne'er return no more
For another home, God's mystic shore
And then like her you'll take your stand
By giving love and a helping hand.
By Mrs. Ernest Roisland

Sadly missed by all: Henry Klemmetson, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Tharp and Family, Mr. and Mrs. Taral Kveste and Donna, Mr. and Mrs. Henford Roisland and Family, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Roisland and family. 1t10c

Alaskan Grosbeck Flock Seen in TRF by Quentin Jones

Quentin Jones reports that a flock of Alaskan Pine Grosbeaks are visiting in this community and may be seen in the neighborhood of the Frank Tunberg home at 421 North Arnold Ave. The Alaskan Grosbeak may be mistaken for a robin, the male Grosbeak having a colored breast somewhat like the robin. Jones says this is the first winter he has seen these birds so far south.

'61 Mallard Count Dangerously Low

Poor Outlook Reported for the Coming Season

Mr. Greenhead is in trouble, says Forrest Lee, waterfowl biologist with the Conservation division of game and fish.

Mallard populations have been dropping for several years and are now at a dangerously low level, with prospects for next year not good. This is true despite fairly good mallard hunting at some places in Minnesota last fall.

Appearances were deceiving, Lee states, because drought in the plains caused concentration of mallards in Minnesota waters.

Production of young mallards, upon which future hunting depends, was low in 1961. Ratio of young to adult birds in hunters' bags in southwestern Minnesota was 0.53 to 1 and to maintain the population a ratio of 1.3 to 1 or better is required, Lee says.

Evidently, last summer only about one hen mallard in five succeeded in raising the usual brood of six ducklings. The young birds are especially vulnerable to hunting and other causes of loss and it is likely that only about 25 per cent of the young birds that started south this fall will return to the breeding grounds this next spring.

With present water conditions on the prairies, Lee says, this will not be enough and we can expect a further decline in the mallard population.

Hunting Results on Ruffed Grouse Stable Last Fall

The conservation department today released information on hunting success gathered during the 1961 ruffed grouse season by field personnel of the department's game and fish division.

Figures show that ruffed grouse hunting success remained relatively stable as compared with a year ago. The exceptions were in the northwest — specifically in the Red Lake and Thief Lake areas — where hunting results, in terms of the number of birds taken per hour of effort, doubled that of last year.

Regional game manager Milt. Stenlund of the Department's game section coordinated the state-wide survey.

Hockey Prowlers Win over Hallock and RLF

In winning a pair of games this week, coach Gene Sack's hockey Prowlers solidified their third place position in the Region Eight hockey conference standings. Roseau, defeating Warroad in an overtime game at Warroad on Tuesday night, are in first place; while the Warroad Warriors are in second place. The victories posted by the Prowlers in conference play this week were over the Hallock Bears, 5-1, at Hallock on Monday night; and 7-1 over Red Lake Falls here on Wednesday night.

The Prowlers will travel to Roseau for a game against coach Oscar Almquist's state champion Rams on Friday night; and on Saturday night, the Baudette Bears will meet the Prowlers on the Arena ice here. The Prowlers will conclude their pre-tournament schedule on Tuesday night, Feb. 6, when they play coach Bill Sullivan's Crookston Cathedral Blue Wave on the Arena ice here.

Monday night's win over Hallock was featured by the three-goal performance of center Larry Poole. Larry hit the nets for two goals in the opening period, and then closed out his "hat trick" effort by scoring at the 8:39 mark of the second period. Tom Morben and Elroy Froiland were the other Prowler goal-scorers.

On Wednesday night, on the Arena ice sheet, the Prowlers defeated coach Mike Hajostek's ever-trying Red Lake Falls Eagles, 7-1. Larry Poole again placed the Prowler scoring, getting a pair of tallies. Tony Poole, Don Mathieu, Elroy Froiland, Joh Weigelt and Ron Kvikstad added singles to the Prowler scoring total.

Red Lake Falls' long goal, scored in the second period, came at the 9:34 mark when Dick Demarais, from in close banged a shot past goalie Tom Teal and into the north net.

	W	T	L	Pts.
Washington	7	0	0	14
Northrop	4	1	2	7
St. Bernard's	1	2	4	4
Knox	0	1	6	1

Results of Saturday's games:
Northrop, 1, vs. St. Bernard's, 1
Washington, 2, vs. Knox, 0

Schedule, Saturday, Feb. 3
Knox vs. Northrop, 9:00 a.m.
Washington vs. St. Bernard's, 10 a.m.

With but five week's of play remaining in the city grade school hockey league schedule, and holding a seven-point lead in the standings, coach Gayle Halvorson's Washington Wildcats have ambitions of registering an unbeaten season.

Last Saturday, the Wildcats, with Rich Holmes and Arlen Overbye scoring goals, defeated an improving Knox Tigers squad, 2-0. This week's slate will find the Washington club pitting their unbeaten mark against the St. Bernard's Broncos.

The Northrop Indians and the Broncos played to a 1-all tie in the opener on Saturday's twin bill. Cal Wicklander, ramming home Billy Olson's rebound, scored for coach Dick Brooks' Northrop club. Bobby Kleinvachter scored for St. Bernard's.

The Northrop club, holding second place in the league standings, have two games remaining on the schedule with the Washington squad, and coach Brook's Indians entertain hopes of upsetting the high-scoring Wildcats.

Record 10 lb. Bass Was Taken in 1961

The year 1961 saw a new record set for the largemouth bass in Minnesota when a 10 pound, 2 ounce specimen was taken in Prairie Lake near Grand Rapids. Previous record was one weighing 9 pounds 14 ounces caught in 1937 at Little Horseshoe Lake. Information on record fish and the various fish species to be found in state lakes as well as information on resorts and restaurants in contained in the 1962 edition of "Minnesota Outdoors".

Newfolden Cagers Bow to Roseau but Win from Hallock

Nordics Lose to Roseau Friday Evening 49 to 46 in Overtime Thriller

The Newfolden Nordics split two games this past week as they lost to the Roseau Rams, 49 to 46, in overtime on the home court on Friday night, and traveled to Hallock Saturday, where they defeated the Bears, 38 to 28. This gives the Nordics an overall season record of 5 victories and 6 defeats and a conference record of 3 victories and 4 defeats.

On Friday, Feb. 2, the Nordics will journey to Badger for a conference tilt. And next week, Newfolden will be enjoying the advantage of the home court as they play three conference games, meeting Middle River on Tuesday, Feb. 6; Greenbush on Friday night, Feb. 9; and Williams on Saturday night, Feb. 10. The results of these games will be a vital factor in determining the Nordics' rating in the pairings for sub-district tournament play.

The Nordics took the lead right at the start from the Rams but couldn't hold off a last minute Ram surge as the Rams led 10 to 9 at the end of the first period stop. The Nordics moved ahead as the second quarter started also but in the last two minutes of the second quarter the Rams forged ahead again to go to the Locker room at half time with a 23 to 18 margin.

In the third period, the Nordics fought back to take the lead again, but again the Rams forged ahead at the end of the quarter, this time by a 33 to 23 margin. In the fourth period, the Rams went ahead by as much as eight points, but this time the Nordics turned on the steam at the end of the period and Verne Hagenbeck's field goal with seconds remaining tied the score at 42-42 at the end of regulation play.

In the overtime, the Nordics were called on so many traveling violations and threw the ball away so many times, they couldn't get going as the Rams outscored them 7 to 4. The Rams showed a balanced scoring attack led by B. Nordvall and Dennis Olson with 11 points apiece followed closely by Fugleberg with 10 and Heistad with 9. For the Nordics, Ricky Inman took scoring honors for the evening with 19 points. Jim Dahl was also in double figures with 11 points.

In a poorly played game at Hallock, the Nordics outscored the Bears in every period to gain the victory. They led 11 to 5 at the end of the first quarter, increased this to 18 to 11 at halftime, and were leading 23 to 15 at the end of the third period. Rick Inman led the Nordics with 10 points followed by Jim Dahl with 9 and Shern and Bakke each had 8 points. J. Anderson of Hallock took scoring honors for the evening with 13 points.

Slides Shown at Sportsmen's Club Annual Bean Feed

Slides on wildlife and plant life in the marsh were shown by Jim Thompson of the Agassiz National Wildlife refuge at the annual bean feed of the Pennington County Sportsmen's club held Wednesday evening in the Thief River Falls municipal auditorium. Approximately 75 persons attended the event.

James Lee, president of the local organization, gave the welcome and an outline of proposals for the club's 19-acre site south of the city were reviewed by Loren Borsheim, past president. Slides of fly-fishing for trout in Montana were shown by Robert Farmes, area game manager in Thief River Falls.

Guests at the meeting included Vernon Gunvalson, regional game manager from Bemidji, and a delegation of members from the Warren Rod and Gun club.

Americans seem to like foreign movie stars regardless of sex, which is not a bit easy to be regardless of.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Plenty of Activity

There will be hockey for all ages at the Arena on Sunday afternoon. Starting at 12:30 p. m. there will be a game between the Eagles' Bantams and the East Grand Forks Bantams (in a previous game between the two clubs, the local squad scored a 1-0 win); and at 1:30 p. m. coach Mouse Efteland's V. F. W. Midgets will play the East Grand Forks Midgets coached by Jim (Itts) Williams, (and these two teams played to a draw in their last encounter). At 2:30 p. m. the feature attraction on Sunday's program will get under way, with the senior hockey Thieves playing the Roseau Cloverleafs.

If you have missed the senior and kid hockey this season, Sunday's date will give you an opportunity to watch this brand of hockey. And it is interesting.

It Seems Strange

The latest compilations on the college basketball (for the benefit point-shaving and game-fixing in of the sure-thing gamblers) indicate that thirty-seven players from twenty-two colleges are involved in the "scandals".

But what seems strange is that in all these reports of fixing, and confessions of point-paring by the players, there hasn't been one instance of an official or a coach being involved. Not implying that these officials (referees or umpires) are guilty or involved in the game-fixing, but it seems odd that not one official has ever been approached by a gambler and offered a proposition. It would be refreshing to hear that a referee had been tendered a deal.

A college player, usually on a scholarship, perhaps has more at stake and more to lose in setting up a fix than has an official who "works" a game. The officials call these games at a modest fee, and they would be vulnerable to an offer of a bundle of loot. And the outcome of a game of basketball, being subject to numerous judgment calls, can easily hinge on some strategic calls by a referee or umpire.

And consider the advantages that would accrue to a gambling syndicate if they could "own" a set of officials! A player, and he is usually in his junior or senior year when he becomes entangled with the fixers, is lost to the combine, either through graduation, or suspension, in a year or two, and new contact must be made. But an official, who succumbed to the gamblers, would be of value for a number of years. It strains the credibility that not one instance of an official being approached or contacted by gamblers has been made, or revealed.

A Rugged System

Of the Bemidji Lumberjack basketball team that won the Region Eight title last season, and which was runner-up to Duluth Central in the state tournament finals, four of the starters—all-state choices Larry Higgins and Lee Fawbush, and Larry McDowell and Spence Price—have been lost, through graduation, for this season's play. Only right forward Jack Phelps, a southpaw, is available for this year's play.

But don't be surprised if next month's tournament play, in the district and regional tourneys, finds the Bemidji Lumberjacks installed as favorites. Basketball at Bemidji operates under a rugged, and successful, system.

When the Prowlers played at Bemidji a couple of week's ago, the game program listed the Jacks' varsity squad at only ten players. And of this ten-man squad, four of the boys saw action in the 'B' squad preliminary game. That small-squad method has been in use at Bemidji for a number of years, and it has its advantages for it gives the players a greater amount of play and practice. It is probable that a Bemidji varsity player, when he reaches his senior year in school, has been subjected to the equivalent of an extra season of play or practice when compared to the members of other teams in this area. Whether or not this concentration of effort — and coaching on the select few is wholesome is debatable.

And there isn't much sentiment in evidence in connection with Bemidji basketball. For instance, Jim Neuenfeldt, who was a squad member on last season's championship club, and who started several games for the Jacks this season, was "cut" from the squad a couple of weeks ago. Jim, a senior, isn't resentful about being cut from the squad, as he realized that he wasn't making the contribution to the teams that is expected of a senior.

Phil Buhn, who had success when he coached the Mentor high school team in district 30, is now the 'B' team coach at Bemidji, and he expressed amazement at the difference between small team coaching and the system in vogue in Bemidji. As an example, and a minor detail, is the matter of making lay-up shots. Coach Bun Fortier insists that the right-handed players make the drive-in lay-up shots with their right hand. The natural left hander, and Phelps is one, makes his lay-up shots with the left hand. It is Fortier's contention that it is asking too much of a high school player to be ambidexterous, and that the indecision of the player, whether or not to make the shot with the right or left hand, will cut down the percentages of the success of the shot. And basketball is a game of percentages.

This season, though, is the brightest for teams in district 29 and Region Eight to defeat the Jacks in tournament play. Reports indicate that Bemidji has the strongest freshman squad in many years, including such sturdy boys as Bob and Dick Fortier (the twin sons of Bemidji's varsity coach) and Jeff Musberger.

Local Students on UMD Dean's List

Fifteen students at University of Minnesota, Duluth branch, achieved straight "A" honors during fall quarter, according to Academic Dean Thomas W. Chamberlin.

He said 247 students made grades of "B" or better and were placed on the Dean's list. The include Paul Kristiansen of Thief River Falls.

Prowler Wrestlers Whip G. Forks 38 to 12

Coach Al Shaff's wrestling Prowlers, won their fifth consecutive match, and boosted their season's record to eight wins, one draw, and two losses, on Tuesday night when they scored a 38-12 win over the Grand Forks Central squad in a match held at Grand Forks.

The Prowler wrestlers next competition will be against coach Dean Erickson's Warren Ponies here on Wednesday evening, Feb. 7. In an earlier match between the two squads, held at Warren, the Prowlers marked up a 29-19 win.

One of the features of Tuesday night's wrestling was the performance of Ray Ulrich in the 147-lb. class. Ulrich, making his first appearance as a Prowler varsity wrestler, pinned Grand Forks' Dennis Fladeland in forty-six seconds.

And Terry Nelson, who normally wrestles in the 156-lb. class, was edged out on points, 4-2, by Grand Forks' Ed Frazier in the 167-lb. class. Nelson had a pin-hold on the Central wrestler when match time elapsed.

Roy Delorme, the Prowlers' ever-winning 97-lb. wrestler, defeated Grand Forks' Ron Paulson by a pin, winning in 1:36.

The summary:

97-lb.—Roy Delorme (TRF) pinned Ron Paulson (GF), 1:36.

105-lb.—Don Berggren (TRF) pinned Tom Ristad (GF), 1:47.

114-lb.—Roger Wilson (TRF), won by forfeit.

122-lb.—Bob Hallenbeck (GF), decisioned Steve Skadsen (TRF), 10-8.

129-lb.—Melvin Lembke (GF) decisioned Gary Nereson (TRF), 9-0.

135-lb.—Ted Johnson (TRF) pinned Herb Debban (GF), 3:49.

140-lb.—Mike Soeby (TRF) decisioned Charles Porter (GF), 7-6.

147-lb.—Ray Ulrich (TRF) pinned Dennis Fladeland (GF), 0:46.

156-lb.—Joe Taylor (TRF) pinned Tom Foster (GF), 3:35.

167-lb.—Ed Frazier (GF) decisioned Terry Nelson (TRF), 4-2.

177-lb.—Ron Aniel (GF) decisioned Roger Miller (TRF), 10-0.

Heavyweight — Dwight Slyhrer (TRF) pinned Bill Lembke (GF), 1:36.

No Health Hazard Now from Fallout Levels

Fallout levels resulting within Minnesota and the rest of the United States from the September-October, 1961, series of Soviet nuclear tests do not warrant undue public concern over health hazards, according to a detailed report recently published by the Minnesota department of health.

Fallout levels have shown some increase attributable to the Russian detonations, but they are still well below the point where public health measures designed to reduce human intake of these radio-active materials in air, water, or food are indicated, according to an article in the December issue of "Minnesota's Health."

"However, present increased levels of radioactivity do warrant continuous intensive evaluation and consideration of protective measures which might be taken if it should become necessary to reduce human exposure to fall-out," states Dr. Robert N. Barr, executive officer of the state health department.

From a health standpoint iodine-131 and strontium-90 are among the most important fallout constituents. Iodine-131 has a rather short half-life (the time required for a radioactive substance to lose half of its radiation strength). It is present in large amounts only during and for a few weeks following testing periods.

Strontium-90 is important because it has a very long half-life (27 years), and because it is deposited in the bones of the body. Strontium-90 and calcium, the major bone mineral, have similar chemical properties which make it impossible for the body to distinguish entirely between the two.

Pooled milk samples collected at processing plants in eight communities during October and November showed an average radioactive iodine level of 200 micromicrocuries per liter. (A micromicrocurie is a millionth of a curie, which, in turn, is the equivalent of the radioactivity f one gram of radium). Not unexpectedly, some of the levels were considerably below the average level, and levels measured from other sampling stations were higher. Since the middle of November the concentrations of iodine-131 in the resumption of nuclear weapons testing reveal an average concentration of 9.2 micromicrocuries per liter in eight samples taken at five sampling stations.

This compares with an average level of 10.3 micromicrocuries per liter during the previous six-month period. It is anticipated that there will be a rather sharp rise in strontium-90 levels this spring when rains will carry radioactive material from the stratosphere to the earth.

Besides the milk sampling program the state health department carries on a general radioactivity surveillance program that includes air, ground and surface waters, rainfall, food, soil, plant materials, river bottom sediments, fish, and other aquatic life.

Rep. Odin Langen Urges Caution in Buying UN Bonds

Says Other Countries Should Pay up Arrears Before U.S. Pays More

Congressman Odin Langen Saturday declared that under no circumstances should the United States bail out the United Nations without safeguards to protect our investment. Langen, who personally visited the world organization in New York a week ago, said we as a nation out to be unalterably opposed to the President's proposal for the buying of 100-million-dollars worth of UN bonds unless there are provisions to force other nations to pay their full share of past obligations.

Langen noted that 86 nations out of the UN membership of 104 are delinquent in paying the assessments that were levied to finance the world body's activities in such places as the Congo. The Minnesota congressman said he had no quarrel with the theory that some nations need more time in which to raise the money for these assessments.

"But," added Langen, "if the United States is to buy bonds to keep the UN solvent, there should be a provision in the agreement that would cause any nation to forfeit its vote if its financial contribution wasn't made in a reasonable length of time." Langen said such a provision would tend to compel delinquent nations to fulfill their obligations in a businesslike manner.

"However," he warned, "we must in no way relinquish either our desire or willingness to participate in any and all efforts designed to accomplish peace with justice throughout the world."

The United Nations, concluded Langen, can only cintinue as an instrument for world peace if each nation backs its declared intentions with financial evidence.

Honey Support Set at 11.2 Cents

National Average Is 74 Per Cent of Parity

Prices for the 1962 crop of honey will be supported at a national average price 11.2 cents a pound, according to Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committees in Pennington and Marshall counties. This reflects 74 percent of the January parity price adjusted to a 60 pound container basis. It is the same as the support announced for the 1961 crop.

Support loans on honey offer interim financing for some 200,000 beekeepers to help them in marketing their crop in an orderly manner. While the cost of the honey support operation to the Government during the past decade has been negligible, the program has provided market stability to producers. It has also served to encourage producers to maintain the population of bees, which are vital for the pollination of important seed, vegetable and fruit crops. Beekeepers receive little remuneration for this function, with most of their income resulting from honey — the byproduct of pollination.

Price support on honey is authorized by law at a level between 60 and 90 per cent of parity.

Potatoes Top List of Plentiful Foods During February

Other Vegetable Crops Were Severely Damaged by Cold Weather in South

February is a good month to surpise your family with special treats prepared from the variety of foods listed as plentiful by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Potatoes, which top the list, are low-priced party fare, whether eaten as chips with dips or served in pancakes. They contribute variety and important nutrients to everyday meals when they're served in different ways—baked, au gratin, escalloped, creamed, hash-browned, mashed.

Because the cold weather in the southern states severely damaged vegetable crops, no other vegetables are on the February list of plentiful foods.

Main-dish foods to feature during February are turkey, broiler and fryer chicken, lamb, eggs, dry pinto beans and pea beans for baking, reports Mrs. Eleanor Loomis, extension consumer marketing specialist at the University of Minnesota.

Turkey and chicken are both low-priced. Since the forecast is for egg prices slightly lower than last February, this is a good time to make meringues, baked Alaska and other desserts using eggs generously.

Large supplies of frozen and canned cherries are available for pies, ice cream toppings, tarts and cakes to celebrate Washington's birthday. The 1961 pack of frozen red pitted cherries is the largest on record.

Grapefruit and apples are other fruits that will be in good supply this month. Most of the grapefruit will be small in size but of excellent quality.

Newfolden School Menu Is Listed

Monday, Feb. 5: Bean soup or chile con carne, soda crackers, peanut butter sandwiches, bread, butter, orange Jello fruit dessert, chocolate chip cookies, milk.

Tuesday: Hamburger gravy on mashed potatoes, buttered whole kernel corn, white and dark bread, butter, honey, dill pickles, milk.

Wednesday: Fresh vegetable beef stew, cocoanut creme pudding with whipped cream, white bread, butter, cheese wedges, milk.

Thursday: Snow capped meat loaf buttered green beans, white and dark bread, butter, sweet pickles, pear sauce, milk.

Friday: Creamed tuna on baking powder biscuits, buttered peas and carrots, plain bread, butter, apple sauce, milk.

Bell Co. to Stage TV Show Dealing with Time Feb. 5

Can you imagine how confusing it might be to live in a world without time? No clocks to wake people up; to tell them when it's time to eat, go to work or go to sleep. And no calendars to keep track of work days, holidays, birthdays or seasons of the year.

The new Bell System Science Series program, "About Time", tells the story of man's struggle to tell time—from the stone age to the space age. The hour-long colorcast will be shown over the NBC-TV network on Monday, February 5, at 7:30 p. m.

One section of the program is devoted to the construction of the calendar. Another section deals with the development of clocks, and the final portion will cover a discussion of relativity and Einstein's theory.

"About Time" stars Dr. Frank Baxter, who has appeared in previous shows in the Science Series. He uses both documentary film and animated diagrams to illustrate stages in man's progress in the measurement of time.

"Man must be doing something, or fancy that he is doing something, for in him throbs the creative impulse; the mere basker in the sunshine is not a natural but an abnormal man."

—Henry George

Billions to Trillions

The New York Times reminds us that the $92.5 billions President Kennedy thinks is necessary to pay the cost of the federal government during the next fiscal year, is more money than the total national income in any year before World War II. There is this difference that should be noted however, those 1963 dollars will be worth considerably less than 50 cents, and the budgets will be much more impressive in the years ahead when we get those trillions of 10-cent dollars.

Population Booms

The latest projections by the Census Bureau indicate a population of 200 million people in this country by 1966, an increase of approximately 20 million. Some farm land will have to be taken out of production to provide the additional housing these people will require, and these 20 million people will want bacon and eggs occasionally too, and turkey at Thanksgiving. And when we realize that our population growth is less than the average thruout the world, we wonder if we are not getting pretty close to the end of the period of food surpluses.

Our State Debt Limit

Minnesota has a Constitutional debt limit of $250,000, which would of course be ridiculous even with good dollars. But only recently has this constitutional limitation been recognized, and the present recognition is due to a Supreme Court ruling that the limitation casts a shadow on the validity of our state's promises to pay. As Don Brown of the Waseca Herald puts it:

> "Really we have not stayed within the limits. We have winked at the law. We have made a mockery of the constitution. We would condemn to high heaven juveniles who took the same attitude toward the law, yet we have gone on until the mockery became so nauseating that the Supreme Court rightly clamped down on our perfidies."

There is no limitation on debt in our federal constitution but Congress has established a limit by law, which in this era of reckless spending has become meaningless. Until a measure of integrity is restored to our federal government, Congress can just as well declare that there no longer is a limit. At both the state and federal levels we look foolish, and that is not good.

If we actually are going to be serious about this state debt limit business, and we think we should, then we should have a little more discussion of the overall problem of public debt and sound fiscal policies. There are some states that have a much better record than Minnesota in the management of public business and maybe we should make a few inquiries on what steps might be taken to improve our position. If we do amend the Constitution to establish a new debt limit, then let's be sure that new limit will mean something.

Peace Corps in Reverse

Writing in the Christian Science Monitor, Godfrey Sperling, Jr., tells an inspiring story of a Peace Corps program in reverse that was started by three young men, seniors at the University of Kansas. They had become interested in the problems of international students attending the University.

Living conditions for the foreigners in some instances were deplorable, a survey revealed. They were not getting to know Americans or the way Americans do things. Then the young men went to work, as Sperling tells it:

> "Many of the foreign students needed jobs, in order to come back to school this fall. By scurrying around the state they and their friends found 56 summer jobs for these visitors. Then they arranged a number of visits and tours for the individual foreign students, into homes, factories, farms. Foreigners of both white and dark skins were, with this student impetus, given a special welcome into the community life of Lawrence, Kansas. The citizenry's welcome soon extended to invitations for students to live with them.

Out of this beginning has grown a national volunteer organization that will reach into the schools of every state. Financial assistance has been made available. William Dawson, one of the three leaders, said enthusiastically:

> "Think of the possibilities. These are the people who will be their nations' leaders when they go home. Previously they always had negative or inadequate impressions of us. Now they can feel our warmth, and return to their countries with a friendly feeling toward us.
> "Right now there are about 70,000 foreign students in America. This number is increasing by 10,000 to 15,000 each year.
> "So we can reach these foreign friends of ours right here in America. And it won't cost the government a cent."

It seems that few of the colleges and universities around the country have had an effective program of intergration for foreign students, and for most of these visitors our way of life is completely new and strange.

Under this new brother-sister program each arriving international student, upon making application to the university, is corresponded with by personal leter from an American student. His American brother then meets him upon his arrival and helps him become oriented—finds housing for him, takes him to social functions, shows him how to use a phone and how to get his laundry done, etc., helps him become accustomed to our way of life.

Emperor Orville

Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman has proposed that the Farm Extension Service be converted into a political machine, according to an Associated Press dispatch published last week in the New York Sunday Times. His discussion of the need for such activities was presented at an annual conference of the Extension Service.

According to the report, Mr. Freeman said,—it was not enough under present day conditions that this agency limited itself to helping farmers become more efficient. He said the service should enter what he called 'the long neglected area of public policy,' of bringing improved economic conditions to agriculture. The report quotes Mr. Freeman as saying:

> "I think it is clear that the problems of agriculture cannot be met by continued emphasis on increased productivity, so the role of extension will become more multiple purpose than has been the case.
> "Some would prefer to avoid this new role because it deals with controversial matters, because it relates to the formulation of public policy, because it deals with matters that cannot be proved or disproved by chemical analysis or controlled experiments."

The Extension Service employes more than 14,000 specialists. They include county agricultural agents, home demonstration agents and 4-H club leaders to make available to farm people what Mr. Truman's budget report called "results of agricultural and home economics research."

The service is a partnership between the Agriculture Department and each of the state land-grant colleges or universities, involving the cooperation of local governments —usually counties—and local people. The Federal Government contributes roughly one third of the cost, the states one third and local governments one third.

The report did not elaborate on how this political machine would function but we presume it would be a sort on an ideas-from-the top-down club. Our guess is that the plan will not be approved. The Minnesota legislature probably would refuse to appropriate money to support such an organization and, at the local level, the injection of politics would destroy the effectiveness of the present excellent program.

We now have several farm organizations that are expressing themselves on political issues, and that is as it should be. Various segments of agriculture have their own ideas of how their particular problems should be handled. There never will be complete agreement. The way to kill the Extension Service would be to have it move into this highly controversial field and start throwing its weight around.

It appears that Orville is attempting to create a massive empire for himself.

UN Delinquent List

(Memphis Commercial Appeal)

If the United Nations was a club with a bulletin board on which the names of delinquent dues payers were posted, most of the members would be posted now.

Or, if the United Nations had the once-standard requirement that a man must have a record of tax-paying—at least poll tax paying—before he could get a ballot, there would be very few United Nations voters. As a matter of fact there is a United Nations procedure which cuts off the vote after two years of delay in paying on the regular budget but lets the assessments, like the Congo expense, go unpaid.

So there is a roll with 104 members. But the paid-up membership is a very exclusive and extremely short list.

The distinguished names are: Canada, Denmark, Ireland, Luxembourg, Netherlands, Norway, Turkey and United States.

Interesting Opinions

"The historical cycle of the body politic indicates that man progresses from bondage to spiritual faith, from spiritual faith to courage, from courage to freedom, from freedom to abundance; then comes the waning, from abundance to selfishness, from selfishness to apathy, from apathy to dependency, and from dependency right back into bondage again."

—Dr. John H. Stambaugh, Vice Chancellor of Vanderbilt University.

Borrowed Nonsense . . .

"Bill," said a sailor looking up from his writing, "do you spell 'sense' with a 'c' or an 's'?"

"That depends," replied his friend. "Do you refer to money or brains?"

"Aw, I don't mean either of them two," was the reply. "What I want to say is, 'I ain't seen him sense'."

Non-farmer Share of Food Cost Explained

A brand new kind of farm-city "parity" is due to arrive during 1962; it is part of a long-term trend in which food costs push higher year by year, says the family economics bureau of Northwestern National Life Insurance company.

For the first time in our history there will now be as many workers engaged in transporting, processing and selling food as are engaged in producing it on American farms, the bureau points out.

During 1961 there were an average of 5⅓ million persons working on American farms as their main occupation. At the same time there were 5-and-one-third million equivalent full-time workers engaged in transporting, processing and selling food products.

The number of farm workers is shrinking steadily; the number of food workers continues to expand; the two figures are due to reach equality this year, the study calculates.

In mid-1961 the farmer's share of the retail cost of food edged back down to its 1959 post-war low of 38 per cent. This was the same percentage the farmer received in pre-war 1939, the study points out. But prices received by farmers now stand at two and a half times their 1939 average, and the level of retail food prices has risen in almost exactly the same proportion.

That 62-per-cent portion of retail food prices which the farmer does not get is made up of food processing and distribution costs, and represents the well-known farm-consumer "price spread."

Food industry costs, the report predicts, will continue their steady rise, and the "spread" paid by the consumer will increase further. A major force behind the trend, the report declares, is affectionately called The Little Woman.

Each year Mrs. American Housewife "hires" more workers to do more things to her family's food as they move it from farm to store, says the report, at wage rates which have risen 90 per cent since 1947.

Today she can and does buy potatoes (formerly known as the lowly spud) pre-prepared in 40 different forms. Among them are 15 varieties of frozen potatoes, including Frech fries not only in their usual plump oblong shape, but also in shoestring, crinkled and rippled styles; many different canned and dehydrated packs, plus cellophaned potato chips with standard undulations, also rippled, corrugated and with barbecue and other special seasonings.

Hundreds of new processed and packaged food products are introduced on grocery counters each year. In the past quarter-century the number of different items offered in supermarkets has multipiled from around 1,000 to over 7,000; most of the increase is in food products.

1962 Dry Bean Support Prices Announced Here

National Average Price Set at $6.32 Per Cwt.; 70 Per Cent of Parity

National average support price for 1962-crop dry beans will be $6.32 per hundredweight, announce Marshall and Pennington offices of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. This reflects 70 percent of the January parity price and is the same as for the 1961 crop.

Continuation of this level of support is expected to maintain farmers' returns from the crop and at the same time will help to keep production at levels needed to fill needs for this valuable high-protein food.

Price support for dry beans is set under legislation authorizing make support available on any nonbasic agricultural commodity. In determining support levels for such commodities, consideration is given to such factors as supply in relation to demand, ability of the Commodity Credit Corporation to dispose of stocks acquired under price support, support levels for other commodities and the importance of he commodity to agriculture and the national economy.

Traffic Records Show 90 Per Cent Rise in 20 Years

Average daily traffic on Minnesota's rural trunk highways increased almost 90 percent during the 20-year period between 1941 and 1961, according to a report issued today by the state highway department based on data compiled by automatic traffic recorders located at 26 points on trunk highways throughout the state.

Last year's traffic increase only 1.1 percent over the 1960 figures. This was due in large measure to as sizable decrease in December caused by unfavorable driving conditions throughout the state.

The 5.8 percent decrease in December of 1961 was highlighted by a very substantial drop in traffic reported on U. S. 169, south of Onamia, because of spearing restrictions and generally poor fishing results. The counter at this location registered 18.4 percent fewer vehicles on an average day than in December of 1960.

Feb. 2 Deadline for King Agassiz Naming

Citizens in the counties supporting the Winter Shows have until Friday, February 2, to name a deserving young agriculturist as their King Agassiz nominee. Local banks in the area are serving as depositories for such nominations.

While the search is on for a 1962 King Agassiz, the Winter Shows special events committee headed by Marlin O. Johnson, Crookston, assistant Polk Co. Agent and Fred Heck, Warren, Marshall Co. Soil Conservation agent, is preparing plans for the coronation of King Agassiz II, to be selected from among the county King Agassiz nominees.

The coronation will be held on Wednesday evening of Winter Shows week, February 18 to 23. An outstanding and colorful ceremony is planned that will be one of the highlights of the week. The committee has selected special apparel for King Agassiz to wear. The official "uniform" for the "King" will be his fifty dollar Stetson, a blue suit coat with a white and gold breast pocket insignia of his rank.

King Agassiz I, as the symbol of progressive agriculture in the Red River Valley, will officially commission the Winter Shows facilities for service at the dedication ceremony on February 14.

Dana Andrews in 'Madison Avenue' at Falls Tonight

Dana Andrews portrays a typical ruthless public relations "build-up boy" in the new 20th Century-Fox drama, "Madison Avenue," co-starring Jeanne Crain and Eleanor Parker opening tonight at the Falls Theatre.

Andrews always had a hankering to play a man in a gray-flannel suit. In "Madison Avenue" he accomplishes with gusto the job of portraying the unscrupulous P R man, employing every kind of chicanery to get ahead in the jungle of big business.

Governor's Safety Meeting Saturday

Session Is Scheduled on "U" M St. Paul Campus

The largest number of persons to gather at a Minnesota safety meeting is expected on Saturday, February 3, when the first annual Governor's Citizens Traffic Safety Conference opens in the auditorium of the University of Minnesota St. Paul campus beginning at 9:00 a. m. and extending throughout the day.

Representatives of various population groups will present their views during the morning session under the theme of "It Can Be Done By—," to emphasize that people must make motoring safe.

Governor Andersen will present his 1962 traffic safety program in a major talk at 9:30 that morning. Highlighting the morning session will be an address, "The Need is Today" by Fletcher M. Platt, highway safety director for the Ford Motor Company, Dearborn, Michigan.

Six "Action Now" discussion groups will afford those attending the afternoon session the opportunity of presenting their programs and ideas. The groups are: business, industry and labor; civic, service organizations; women's and religious groups; schools and educational organizations; professional drivers and enforcement.

"The conference staff will keep a complete record of the proceedings and issue a report of the conference which I hope will provide Minnesota with the strongest traffic safety program in its history," the Governor said.

Navy Cites Available Fields in Nurse Corps

The U. S. Navy nurse corps has served an integral part of the U. S. Navy for more than 50 years. Today's modern nuclear navy has a continuing need for qualified, professional nurses, reports the Thief River Falls naval recruiting office.

The wide scope of duties available to navy nurses include general nursing, clinical nursing, operating room management, anesthesia, nuclear nursing and teaching. Medical, neuro-surgical, and cardiac nursing are included in the clinical field. In the field of administration, ward management, nursing supervision, and nursing service are offered.

Nurse corps officers serve in dispensaries and hospitals in the United States and overseas. They serve aboard military sea transportation service ships, and in hospital corps schools. World-wide travel with the fun of exploring the different places and cultures of many countries is available to the navy nurse.

Advanced education has become important in the nursing profession in recent years, and in step with this trend, the navy nurse corps has been placing heavy emphasis on education. A variety of programs are available, from the tuition-aid program for courses taken during off-duty hours, to advanced programs at civilian colleges and universities leading to a graduate or undergraduate degree. In-service education programs in effect in all naval hospitals encourage professional growth and development.

Professional nurses between the ages of 20 and 34 are eligible to apply for the navy nurse corps. Nursing students may make application up to six months prior to graduation. Commissions are given in the ranks of ensign through lieutenant, depending upon the experience, education and age of the applicant. Starting pay and allowances are excellent, with periodic pay increases. Thirty days paid vacation each year and free medical care are some of the other benefits available in the navy nurse corps.

To many young women, the navy nurse corps means unlimited opportunities for challenging work, educational advancement and security, while they serve their country and advance professionally.

Arizona Stamp To Commemorate 50th Anniversary

Commemorating the 50th anniversary of Arizona statehood will be a four-cent stamp which will be first placed on sale at Phoenix, Ariz., on February 14. The stamp features the flowering arm of the giant saguaro cactus, bearer of the state flower, and the moon depicted behind a cloud bank and reflecting on the valley below creates a typical desert night scene.

The stamp will be issued in panes of 50 with an initial printing of 100 million. It will be colored in blue, green, yellow and red with the picture arranged on a vertical stamp. This is the first United States issue on which the engraving has been extended into the normal gutter between the stamps to produce a bleeding effect and was accomplished as a result of extensive experiments in the bureau of engraving and printing.

Collectors desiring first day cancellations may send addressed envelopes, together with remittance to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed, to the Postmaster, Phoenix, Ariz., and must be postmarked not later than February 9. Envelopes should be endorsed "First-day Covers 4-cents Arizona Statehood Stamp and orders for covers must not include requests for uncanceled stamps.

THE CALL FROM MOSCOW

"WE WILL BURY YOU," growled the harsh voice at the other end of the line.

"WHAT!" cried Ed Bryson, hardly believing his ears.

"Your belief in God . . ." the voice went on. ". . . an out-worn superstition leading to foolish notions about democracy and freedom and human rights. Communism will correct this."

"Who do you think you're talking to?" blustered Ed.

"To you, Mr. Bryson. The Party needs you to liberate your countrymen. Encourage them to forget morality for it is a myth. Conscience, it is cowardice. Worship, it is weakness . . ."

"NO," Ed exploded! "NYET if you understand that better! We aren't going to forget the spiritual principles that make the Free World strong. Our kind of liberty is built on God's Truth—and you'll never bury That. Go sell your party line somewhere else. I'm on my way to Church!"

Of course, it was just a dream, Ed admits. (Too much pie at bedtime.) And, thoughtfully, he adds—it shouldn't take a nightmare to make us realize what we believe—and how to preserve that Faith.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

BULLETIN:
FOA-5X additive in Shell Heating Oil helps protect your fuel system winter after winter

THERE'S a new additive in today's Shell Heating Oil. Called FOA-5X®, it works round the clock to help guard your fuel system—from storage tank to burner head.

FOA-5X helps reduce the build-up of heat-robbing deposits that can collect in sensitive areas of burner nozzles. It lets Shell Heating Oil burn in a radiant, even flame. It helps reduce service calls and expense. The result: more warmth per gallon of fuel—top heating performance at minimum cost.

Before you buy your next gallon of heating oil, call us. We will give you complete details about Shell Heating Oil with FOA-5X and about our services.

Valley Home Group Has Loan Approved

Government Approves $390,000 Loan to Build Home for Aged in T.R.F.

Full approval to a loan request for $390,000 for building construction of a home for the aged in Thief River Falls has been approved for the Valley Home Society of this city, according to a telegram received by Waldie Christensen, chairman of the board of directors.

Sent by Ralph B. Cornell, Communities Facilities Administration, Washington, D. C., the telegram read as follows: "Commissioner Wooler instructs me to inform you that full approval has been given your loan application. Valley Home Society loan agreement being prepared for transmittal to you within 10 days."

Over a lengthy period of time the society has been negotiating with the federal agency for a loan to construct the home for the aged which will replace the present building located at the intersection of Horace av. N. and East Fourth st. The new 67-bed capacity building will be built on a new site located along the west side of highway 32 approximately west of the armory at the south edge of the city.

Plans call for construction of a one-story, "T" shaped building with face brick exterior, Wells & Denbrook of Grand Forks is the architectural firm working on plans for the building and complete blueprints are expected to be ready by mid-February. Site of the new building is slightly over four acres in size.

Full approval of the loan application means that preliminary drawings and site have been approved, Christensen said. Final plans must also be submitted for approval but the society hopes to be ready to call for bids on the new structure by mid-April. It is possible that constuction will be completed this year.

Bar Groups Vote Against Merger of 2 District Assns.

Action Taken at Joint Meetings of Districts 14 and 15 in Bemidji Tuesday

The mid-winter convention of the 15th District Bar Association was held Tuesday at the Bemidji Elks clubrooms, the Bemidji Sentinel reports. Guests of the group were members of the 14th District Association which, with the 15th compromise the Ninth Judicial District.

A new constitution was adopted by the group and committees appointed. Plans for the annual celebration of Law Day, May 1, were discussed and formulated.

A plan which would have combined the two associations was discussed, but rejected because of the extreme distances involved. Instead, the two groups decided to work for the separation of the judicial district into two districts and a committee was named to meet with the legislature on the matter.

The 15th District includes Beltrami, Lake of the Woods, Hubbard, Cass, Clearwater, Crow Wing, Aitkin, Itasca and Koochiching counties, while the 14th takes in Kittson, Roseau, Marshall, Pennington, Red Lake, Polk, Norman and Mahnomen counties.

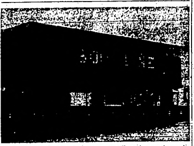
Of the 114 lawyers who are members of the two associations 55 were in attendance at the meeting. The associations include almost all of the practicing attorneys in northwestern Minnesota.

At the evening banquet, the association hosted the Ninth District judges who concluded a two day session Tuesday at Bemidji.

Brian Mostue to Give Scout Report to N.D. Governor

Mr. and Mrs. George Mostue and son Brian will leave Thursday for Bismarck, N. D., where Brian will represent the Lake Agassiz Boy Scout Council in making a council report to Governor William Guy of North Dakota. Accompanying them on the trip will be Ed Bilek, district scout representative stationed in Thief River Falls.

Brian is entered in competition with scouts from 15 other councils in Region 10 to make a report to President John F. Kennedy later this year.



FIRST delivery in the piggy-back rail service now in use by the Soo Line railroad was made to Thief River Falls last week. The process involves the transportation of a loader trailer on a flatcar so that a tractor can be attached for transporting the goods further at point of destination. The service has been offered for some time but this is the first time it has been used here. The trailer van contains a load of mattresses for Poppler's Furniture company.

Good Forage Pays, Says Agronomist

"Farmers can make $22 more per acre by harvesting two and one-half tons of good forage as compared with 'roughage'," stated Dr. William Hueg, extension agronomist, as he addressed a large crowd attending the Thief River Falls Seed and Feed Show Friday in the city auditorium. He and other specialists presented information on how to bring in more dollars from crops and livestock in this area.

In his talk on quality forage production, Dr. Hueg emphasized handling hay and pasture as a cash crop. "It will be sold in the form of meat or milk," he said, "and fertilizing, good seed, weed control and time of harvest are very important." Twenty-two dollars extra income per acre was based on data obtained from plots on the Bernard Wells farm just east of the eastern Pennington county line.

Hay conditioners are good investments where acreage warrants their use, the specialist added. Cutting in the bud stage of bloom and getting the first crop off the field

3 Boy Scouts Will Advance to Eagle Rank Next Monday

Annual Court of Honor Will Be Conducted in St. Bernard's Basement

Three Eagle Scout awards, highest possible rank in the Boy Scout program, will be included in an impressive list of awards to be presented at the annual Court of honor to be held Monday, February 12, in the basement of St. Bernard's Catholic church in Thief River Falls. All three troops of the local scout organization will take part in the event.

Qualifying for Eagle Scout rank this year are Brooks Mostue, Larry Larson and Bruce Gilbertson, all of Trinity Lutheran scout troop 60. Parents of scouts and interested citizens of the community are urged to attend the event. A special invitation has been extended to leaders and troop committee of the scout organization which has recently been organized at Badger.

Flag ceremonies will be in charge of scouts from Troop 57 and the invocation will be given by Rev. Pryor of St. Bernard's. Tenderfoot awards will be made by Elling Iverson, second class by Robert Protz, first class by George Mostue, merit badges by Clarence Knutson, star awards by Evonne Olson, life awards by Doug Remick, palms award by Florian Kritz and Eagle awards by Quentin Jones.

Dr. Ralph Fjelstad Heads Committee on Constitution

A 17-member committee to recommend changes in the state constitution which can be obtained through the amendment method was named Thursday by Gov Elmer L. Andersen.

Dr. Ralph Fjelstad, professor of government at Carleton College in Northfield was named chairman.

Dr. Fjelstad is the son of the late Dr. R. M. Fjelstad, former pastor of Trinity Lutheran church in Thief River Falls and later president of the Northern Minnesota district of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of America.

City Band Will Rehearse Tonight

Members of the Thief River Falls city band are reminded of the rehearsal scheduled for this evening, February 5 at 8 p. m. in the city auditorium. This is the first rehearsal that has been held this year and all old and new members are urged to attend.

2 Highway Mishaps Reported in Area in Sunday's Storm

Cars Suffer Damage In Rear-end Collisions Near St. Hilaire and Plummer

Poor winter driving conditions and low visibility were given as the main cause for two traffic mishaps on area trunk highways Sunday, according to the highway patrol. Both mishaps were rear-end collisions.

The first occurred at 1:20 p. m. Sunday, about three miles north of St. Hilaire, when a car driven south on highway 32 by Winton Fellman, Northwest Trailer Court, was struck in the rear by another southbound car driven by Douglas Remick, Oklee.

Damage was estimated at $400 to the Fellman car, $150 to Remick's.

An almost identical collision occurred at 2 p. m. Sunday, three miles north of Plummer on U. S. 59, when a southbound car driven by Robert Reed, Thief River Falls, was struck in the rear by another southbound vehicle driven by Kenneth Sorenson, Oklee.

In this instance, however, the lead car sustained only $100 estimated damages, while the rear car damages were estimated at $200.

Most roads in the area were open today but are heavy and icy in some spots, according to the patrol. Visibility was also poor, due to blowing snow. However, no travel warnings were issued except, as usual, drivers should always be on the lookout for hazardous conditions and should adjust their driving to the conditions which prevail.

RLF Twins Born on Separate Days

The unusual happened last week, when twins, a son and a daughter, were born to Mr. and Mrs. Omer Sauve of Red Lake Falls on different days. The boy was born Monday and the girl Tuesday at St. Francis hospital in Crookston. Their births were not far apart, one baby arriving shortly before midnight Monday and the second shortly thereafter.

$850 Collected In Mothers' March In City Tuesday

Special Mailings To Go Out Soon To Rural Area from National Foundation

Five organizations assisted in conducting the Mothers' March of Dimes Tuesday evening with a total of $850 being collected and turned in to date, according to Richard Mabey, chairman of the Pennington county chapter of the National Foundation. A few more envelopes are yet to be returned.

Any persons not contacted in the Mothers' March are encouraged to send their contributions to the campaign to Box 44, Thief River Falls, Mabey said. All workers are also requested to turn in their envelopes to the respective organization they represented or to Mabey at his office in the basement of the city auditorium.

Special letters will be sent throughout the county within a few days, the chairman added, and residents of the county are urged to send in their contributions as soon as possible. Return address is printed on the envelopes which will be received.

"We especially wish to thank the following organizations, their helpers and all others who so kindly gave their time for the Mothers' March of Dimes," Mabey stated. "These groups included the American Legion auxiliary, Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary, Eagles auxiliary, B. P. O. Does and the Business and Professional Women's club."

Goodridge PTA to Meet Wednesday

Bill Svendsgaard, exchange student to Switzerland, will be guest speaker at the Goodridge PTA Wednesday, February 7 in the gym. A nominating committee will be named and since this is "Founders Month' there will be a birthday cake for lunch.

A bus will be leaving Grygla for the meeting, and all Grygla people are invited to attend.

Sunday Snow Storm Lashes Midwest Area

Schools Here Closed As Blizzard Blocks Many Country Roads

Many motorists were stranded and schools were closed today over a wide area of North Dakota and Minnesota in the wake of a Sunday blizzard which brought transportation — and last week's pleasant weather to a screeching halt while the blizzard raged.

The high for the period since Thursday was 38 above on Friday. The mercury started to fall shortly after midnight Saturday as the storm moved into the area and had dropped to -1 by midnight Sunday. Some sleet fell here early Sunday but this quickly changed to peppery snow and began to fall in earnest around noon as the storm struck with full fury.

In Grand Forks a 15-car pileup was reported on University av. and seven vehicles, including a scout-filled school bus, were involved in a minor smash-up near Hawley as visibility became zero in virtually all areas of the storm.

The storm was caused by a deep low pressure system which moved to the northeast, dragging in its wake a massive Canadian cold air mass which now blankets a large portion of the nation's mid-section, as winds in the high pressure system circulate towards the low center. The temperature here this morning was a "bracing" 14 below zero.

In short, the weather since Saturday may be described with one word—"Ish!"

The day-by-day temperature rundown is as follows: Thursday, high 10, low 20 below; Friday, 38 and 10; Saturday, 36 and 30, and Sunday, 30 and 1 below. A total of 2.8 inches of snow fell during the period.

The forecast is for decreasing cloudiness and snow ending today, mostly fair and much colder thru Tuesday, with diminishing winds. The high today will be 0 to 10 above, the low tonight 15 to 25 below zero.

Red Lake Indian Council Asks Aid from U.S. Agency

An economic program for the Red Lake Chippewa Indian Reservation is being forwarded to the Area Redevelopment Administration in Washington for approval.

The plan, drawn up by the Chippewa Tribal Council, seeks loans for developing community facilities to provide more jobs and the training of Indians in technical skills, among other things.

CHECKING over the list of winners at the annual Thief River Falls Seed and Feed show held Friday at the city auditorium are Silas Hanson, left, president of the Pennington County Crop Improvement association, and Edgar Naplin, treasurer of the organization which sponsors the show. Naplin displays the premium checks to be awarded and he was the top recipient of premium awards. In the background is the display of new crops which attracted a great deal of attention at the show. They included onions and rutabagas grown by Mosbeck Brothers and Arlo Scholin and sunflowers grown by Skoglund Brothers of Holt.

164 Exhibits Registered

Seed-Feed Show Has Near Record Entries

Favored by excellent weather and a cooperative spirit of sponsors and exhibitors, a near-record number of entries was made in the annual Thief River Falls Seed and Feed Show held Friday at the city auditorium. A total of 164 exhibits were entered, just four short of the record 168 entries noted in 1958.

Included in the list of exhibits were 35 oats entries, 45 other grain entries, 53 hay and silage entries and 31 exhibits in the legume, grass, corn and potato exhibit. Of special interest to a large number of persons attending the show was a display of new crops grown last year. These included onions and rutabagus produced by Mosbeck Brothers and Arlo Scholin and sunflowers gorwn by Skoglund Brothers of Holt.

Quality was high in spite of the generally poor crop year noted in 1961, especially in the hay and silage samples which were double in number over last year's show. Attendance was good for the afternoon program which featured varied aspects of forage production and dairying which are covered in another story in todays Times.

In addition to winning premium money, champions in the feed and seed exhibits were awarded rosette-type championship ribbons. These champions include the following:

Oats, Loren Rasmussen, Middle

Open Forum Set on Civil Defense Tuesday, Feb. 13

Explanation of Civil Defense planning for Pennington county will be provided at an open Civil Defense forum to be held Tuesday, February 13, at the American Legion club rooms, in Thief River Falls, according to Kendall Gustafson, county Civil Defense director.

Co-sponsored by the American Legion and auxiliary in this city, the public forum is designed to give all county residents a basic knowledge of local survival planning. It is hoped to have area and state Civil Defense officials present to discuss the program and assist in answering questions at the question-and-answer session which will follow the speaking portion of the program.

A cross-section of duties done by service chiefs under the program will also be provided. Coffee will be served by the auxiliary at the conclusion of the meeting.

Request Public Assistance for Award Selection

To assist the selection committee in choosing a recipient of the 1962 Thief River Falls Jaycees "Outstanding Young Man" award, application blanks are now available to the general public at Northern and Union State banks and First Federal Savings and Loan association. Anyone may nominate a deserving young man for consideration in the competition and everyone is encouraged to do so.

Presentation of the award will be made at the annual Boss-Employee banquet to be held February 27, according to Marvin Lundin, banquet chairman. Also to be presented that evening will be an award to the outstanding boss of the year.

Candidates for the outstanding young man award must be between the ages of 21 and 35 years of age, inclusive, and residents of Thief River Falls or the immediate surrounding area. They do not need to be members of the local Jaycee chapter.

Judging of candidates will be based on occupational development, church, community activity, service and improvement, evidence of leadership ability and outstanding endeavor. Deadline for entries has been set at February 15. It is hoped that a large number of entries will be received to give the judges a varied list of persons as possible selections.

Entries should be mailed to "Outstanding Young Man," Thief River Falls Jaycees, Box 53, Thief River Falls, Minn.

Norman Johnson Hurt When Hit by Car Tuesday

A rural Thief River Falls youth escaped serious injury after being struck by a car at the corner of LaBree and Third last Tuesday.

Norman Perry Johnson, 14, rt. 5, was struck by a car driven by David A. Brue, Windom, who was driving west on Third st. The boy sustained bruises on the legs and hips but was released after examination at Northwestern hospital.

According to police, Brue was stopped at LaBree waiting for the traffic light to change before proceeding west. At the same time three cars were facing him across the intersection as they waited to proceed east after the light changed.

When the light changed Brue started across the intersection and struck Johnson, who ran from behind the three cars facing Brue after the light had changed. There were no tags issued, police said.

St. Olaf Band Will Play Thursday in H. S. Auditorium

Band's Appearance Here Is Being Sponsored by Trinity Church Choir

In 1906, the St. Olaf College Band performed in Europe as the first American musical group ever to tour the continent. Its director was the late F. Melius Christiansen.

Today, 56 years later, the St. Olaf Band continues the tradition of excellence established by the 1906 group.

The St. Olaf Band will appear in Thief River Falls at the Lincoln high school auditorium Thursday, Feb. 8. They are being sponsored here by the Trinity Lutheran choir.

If ticket sales by choir members is any indication, local music lovers are eagerly awaiting the band's appearance here, and a large audience is anticipated. Tickets are also available at Larson's Music Store and at both city banks, as well as from choir members.

Solely a concert organization, the band, led by its youthful director, Miles Johnson, concentrates on precision and balance without sacrificing any of the exuberance and excitement of a fine band.

The St. Olaf band plays a varied program of classical, semi-classical, sacred and contemporary music in addition to marches.

Fair Group To Open Membership Campaign

Members of the expanded board of the reorganization committee for the Pennington County Fair voted Thursday evening on several items of importance for the future of operations. Attendance at the meeting was curtailed by the stormy weather but those present agreed on the urgency of moving forward on the proposal.

Of major importance at the meeting was the determination of membership cost to assure a large membership in the organization and yet provide an amount of finances which would give the new organization sufficient operating capital.

After considerable discussion, members present voted to sell membership in the non-profit organization for a fee of five dollars. It was the concensus of opinion expressed by the group that this moderate sum would enable nearly all county residents to hold membership in the organization. Membership would provide full voting rights and the right to hold office.

Membership in the organization will not be restricted to Pennington county residents, it was announced at the meeting, but officers of the organization must be residents of this county. Purchasers of memberships must be 21 years of age or older.

Silas Hanson of rural Thief River Falls has accepted the position as general membership chairman and the county has been divided into districts corresponding to commissioner districts for the membership drive. Sub-chairmen will be in charge of each district with the exception of Thief River Falls where a six-member committee will be responsible for membership sales.

Rural districts and their chairmen include the following: District 1 (Odin Hanson, commissioner), Bernard Myers, chairman; District 3 (Woodrow Almquist, commissioner), Andrew Skaar, chairman; and District 5 (Glenn Tasa, commissioner), Merle Lundeen, Trail, chairman. Districts 2 and 4 are comprised of the city of Thief River Falls.

In order to accomplish most of the membership solicitation prior to the start of spring field work, members at the meeting Thursday indicated a desire to begin the campaign immediately. They approved the ordering of educational material to explain the existing situation and the reasons for fair reorganization as well as presenting the privileges which membership would provide.

"In setting the membership dues at five dollars for a lifetime membership, we hope to encourage husband and wife both to hold membership in the organization," stated Ray Oen, chairman of the reorganizational committee. "We realize that in some cases a $10 membership would be difficult for a family to purchase, and in these cases we will hope that the family will choose to purchase one five dollar membership in the association."

It was also pointed out at the meeting that the low membership cost is expected to encourage a large-scale membership in the organization. In order to provide an organization which is fully representative and operates according to the wishes of the majority of county residents, large membership is needed.

The five dollar memberships will entitle the holders to be members of the association for life. They will not be eligible to earn dividends, since the association is nonprofit in character, they will not be transferrable and they will terminate upon the death of the holder.

Within the city of Thief River Falls, business places will not be contacted to purchase memberships as such. Residents of the city will be contacted, however, to purchase memberships as individuals. Contributions above the cost of actual membership will be accepted from persons especially interested in continuance of the county fair.

Safety Council Issues Tips on Winter Driving

Snow and Ice Create Increased Hazards in Starting and Stopping

Winter is far from over and considerable driving on ice and snow is yet to be experienced by area drivers. The National Safety Council has issued a listing of proper ways to handle a car on slick streets and highways. These are as follows:

Starting and stopping are the most difficult parts of driving in snow and ice.

Accelerate and brake gently and slowly to reduce the dangers of wheel spinning and skidding.

Tire chains, cinders or coarse gravel under the drive wheels provide more traction if you can't keep wheels from spinning. Lowering tire pressure does not help.

Don't lock brakes. Pump the brake pedal up and down gently instead of using a steady, heavy pressure.

Remember that it takes from three to 12 times as much distance to stop on snow or ice than it does on dry pavement. Watch traffic ahead and allow that extra space for stopping.

Don't change speed or direction abruptly or you might skid. If you do skid, turn in the direction the rear wheels are skidding to correct it.

Slow down well in advance of a curve, then maintain your speed steadily through it.

If stuck in snow or icy ruts, rock the car. Spinning wheels make an icy hollow which makes your car stick worse.

A wet ice cube is more slippery than a dry one. In the same way, road ice at 30 degrees can be twice as slippery as at 10 degrees.

Farm Managers to Hold Short Course

One of Series of Three to Be at Bemidji Mar. 16

Dates were announced today by Robert R. Pinches, acting director of agricultural short courses at the University of Minnesota, for three one-day fair managers' short courses.

The courses will be held on the St. Paul Campus of the University March 12, the Morris Campus of the University March 14; and in the Markham Hotel, Bemidji, March 16.

Attending the courses will be county fair managers, superintendents and supervisors, county agents and others interested in fair management.

Subjects to be covered at the courses include exhibits, judging, entertainment and ticket sales. Instruction will be by means of speakers and panel discussions, according to Harold Pederson, University of Minnesota extension economist, who is chairman of the program committee.

Cooperating with the University of Minnesota's Institute of Agriculture in putting on the short courses are the Minnesota Federation of County Fairs and the Minnesota State Agricultural Society.

Information on registration may be obtained from Agricultural Short Courses, Institute of Agriculture, University of Minnesota, St. Paul 1.

1st Baptist Host to Sunday School Workshop Feb. 9

First Baptist church of Thief River Falls will be host February 9 and 10 to a Sunday School workshop which is expected to draw attendance from approximately 20 churches in this city and surrounding communities. Initial program will be at 8 p. m. Friday with Saturday sessions slated for 10 a. m. and 2 and 7:30 p. m.

Lee Kingsley, director of Christian education in the Minnesota Baptist conference. Subjects include Sunday School Methods, Worship Service, Sunday School and the Local Church, Christian Education Board and Monthly Worker's Conference.

The workshop has been arranged by the Red River Valley Baptist association but many other denominations will be cooperating in the event. All interested Sunday school and church workers are invited to share in the informative meetings. No charge will be made for attendance.

Two Accidents Noted Thursday By City Police

Two traffic mishaps occurred in the city since last Thursday, neither of which caused personal injury, police said today.

The first occurred at 4:10 p. m. Thursday, when a car driven north on Knight by James M. Langevin, city, struck a pickup truck driven east on Fifth st. by Thomas J. Mattson, rt. 4, in the right-rear fender.

Damage to the Langevin car was not stated in dollars but considerable havoc was wreaked on the entire front end by the collision. Estimated damages to the Mattson pickup was $50.

Reported to police but not investigated at the scene because both vehicles were moved afterwards, was a rear-end collision on First st. at the Soo Line tracks.

The mishap occurred Feb. 2 shortly before 4 p. m., when it was reported Melford Burrell, city, was westbound on First st. when he stopped at the tracks and was struck in the rear by a car driven west by Tilford Wardner, rt. 1, Fisher.

Estimated damage to the Wardner car was $100, to the Burrell pickup, only $5.

District Scout Leaders Discuss Scout Week Plans

Store Windows To Be Used in Promotion of Nationwide Observance

Boy Scout Week, February 7-13, was discussed at the regular meeting of the Boy Scouts held Thursday evening at the Rex cafe in Thief River Falls. Holt, Badger and Thief River Falls troops were represented at the meeting.

It was noted that all scouts are to be encouraged to attend church in uniform on Sunday, February 11, Boy Scout Sunday. Michael Dahlen and Brooks Mostue will receive Pro Deo et Patria awards at Trinity Lutheran church in this city that day. Local scouting units will also have displays in downtown store windows throughout the week. They were scheduled to be erected Saturday.

Quentin Jones of this city was named chairman of the planning committee for the spring camporee to be held at the Agassiz National Wildlife refuge east of Holt. Tentative dates for the event were set at June 8, 9 and 10 with physical fitness selected as the theme for the camporee. Others named to the planning committee were Hartley Peterson, Holt, Elling Iverson and Robert Protz, Thief River Falls.

Plans for the court of honor to be held Monday, February 12, at St. Bernard's Catholic church in Thief River Falls were also briefly discussed at the meeting.

Marshall Co. Court Term to Open Feb. 6

Petit Jury Summoned to Report for Duty Feb. 13

Only six civil and one criminal actions are scheduled for trial during the February term of Ninth Judicial District Court for Marshall County which will open at the court house in Warren on Tuesday, February 6, according to Edwin K. Rokke, clerk of district court.

Hon. Frank C. Forbes, Bemidji, one of five judges in the district, will preside at the coming term. This will be Judge Forbes' first visit to Warren as a presiding judge in the Ninth Judicial District.

Members of the petit jury are being ordered to report for duty on Tuesday, February 13 at 9:30 a. m., Mr. Rokke announced. The opening day of the term next Tuesday will be devoted to the call of the calendar and setting dates for trial.

A brief memorial service in memory of the late Judge Paul A. Lundgren, chief judge of the district, will also be scheduled some time during the term. Judge Lundgren had presided over the Marshall County court during each of the fall terms since the reorganization of the judicial district.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

MRS. JOHN NELSON

In doubt about what to make for breakfast? Mrs. Nelson finds this recipe for fluffy pancakes very quick and easy to mix. She also has a handy tip for interested homemakers using a salt bag made by putting 2 tblsp. salt in a small cheesecloth bag. Rubbing the griddle with this salt bag before frying each batch will prevent the pancakes from sticking and also eliminate the smoking which so often occurs when using grease.

FLUFFY PANCAKES

1 egg
¾ cup milk plus tbsp. milk
2 tbsp. melted shortening or salad oil
1 cup flour
½ tsp. salt
2 tbsp. baking powder
2 tbsp. sugar

Combine the egg, milk and shortening. Add sifted dry ingredients and beat until smooth. Bake on ungreased griddle. Makes twelve small cakes. Serve with hot maple syrup or spread with fruit jam or jelly. Repeat salt treatment after every batch during frying.

Mr. and Mrs. John Nelson live on a farm north of Gully where they raise beef cattle. Mrs. Nelson's greatest interests are baking and sewing and she also enjoys baking and decorating fancy wedding cakes.

CHAMBER L.I.F.E.

Living-Industry-Farming-Education

By Rolly Larson
Manager Chamber of Commerce

This week there are several things that I should like to discuss briefly with you. The first is that the annual Seed and Feed Show was highly successful last week due to the cooperation and participation of everyone in the area that has a vital interest in it. The Seed and Feed Show can be a very educational program for any one who exhibits or attends and the knowledge learned can repay a man many times over for the time involved.

The second matter involves the Thief River Falls Newcomers Club which held its annual Valentine Dinner Dance last Saturday evening. This group does what other groups find to be very difficult. The Newcomers obtain the names of incoming and newly established families, invite them to join their group and then proceed to make them feel welcome in Thief River Falls. It was particularly interesting to note that there are many new faces in the organization again this year and that these individuals are becoming settled here. Many agencies, businesses, etc., are expanding and are requiring additional and talented personnel regularly and it is largely this group that has shown a decided interest in the Newcomers organization.

The third matter is unusual. Mary Pikop from Diamond-Ess Sewing Center tells me that there are some individuals in Thief River Falls who are coin collectors and that some effort could be made to establish a coin collectors club in Thief River. Apparently, and much to my surprise, coin collecting (old coins) can be a fairly lucrative hobby if a person goes about it in a deliberate manner. Therefore if any of you are collectors or know of anyone who is would you please contact Mary and maybe you can get a club going to help all of you.

The weekend blizzard threw a monkey-wrench into lots of things I suppose, but when it clears up and the roads are open we can all cheer up and celebrate as we Shop and Trade Where Bargains Are Made—In the Heart of Northwest Minnesota, Thief River Falls.

War Reporter to Speak at Lincoln

Dickey Chapelle to Tell Monday of Experiences

The next in a series of lyceum numbers being presented in the Lincoln high school auditorium under the sponsorship of the student council is scheduled for Monday morning, February 12, at 9 a. m., when Dickey Chapelle, famed war correspondent, will speak on "The Reality of Terror".

For nearly fifteen years Dickey Chapelle has been touring and reporting from all parts of the world.

In the past few years Dickey Chapelle has covered four revolutions, working under fire with the Hungarians, the Algerians, the Lebanese and the Cubans. She has served in the field with the British paratroops, the Arab Legion, the Turkish infantry (who once offered her a lieutenancy), and the Mediterranean operations of the Sixth Fleet and the U. S. Marines. In 1942, fresh from a Midwest upbringing, she became the youngest accredited American war correspondent. She covered the battle of Iwo Jima and Okinawa, wrote post-war stories of reconciliation and refugees in fourteen countries in Europe and told of U. S. technical assistance (Point Four) in Iraq, Iran and India.

The lecture by Dickey Chapelle has been arranged by the University of Minnesota Program Service.

Miss Barb Benson spent the weekend at Fargo where she visited with a former classmate, Miss Marie Weng.

Farm Income Reveals Improvement in 1961

Minnesota farmers took in more money in 1961 than in 1960 as total income from the sale of farm products climbed for the second year in a row.

Cash receipts from the sale of Minnesota farm products were up $45 million or 3.2 percent over those of 1960. Greater prices for hogs, milk, and soybeans accounted for the bulk of the increase.

According to Elmer Learn, University of Minnesota agricultural economist, net farm income increased even more than cash receipts—an estimated 15 percent—but may have fallen short of the $556 million received in 1958, Minnesota's best economic year since the Korean war.

Learn reports preliminary estimates based on information from government sources in the current edition of "Minnesota Farm Business Notes," an Agricultural Extension Service publication.

Direct government payments to farmers rose from $32 million to $79 million. Payments for land retirement under the emergency feed grain programs for 1961 and 1962 amounted to $47 million. Storage payments for Commodity Credit Corporation resealed grain stored on Minnesota farms were $8 million in 1961.

Despite severe drought conditions in northern Minnesota and a 2-percent reduction in feed grain tonnage due to the emergency feed grain program, total crop production in the Gopher State for 1961 was 2 percent above the previous record set in 1960. Higher production of some crops, mainly soybeans, was responsible for the increase.

Cash receipts from crops increased to $386 million, compared with $374 million in 1960.

Yields of corn, the state's leading cash crop, averaged a record 64.5 bushels per acre in 1961—10.5 bushels above the 1960 yield. Despite an increased support price, overall market prices for corn averaged only slightly higher than in 1960.

Soybean acreage in the Gopher State rose last year for the first time since 1958. A 24.0-bushel-per-acre yield from 2,341,000 acres piled 56,184,000 bushels of beans in Minnesota bins, the highest total yield on record.

Higher market prices and an increase in support prices to $2.30 per bushel were factors that led to increased production and higher cash income from soybeans.

Total sales of livestock and livestock products increased nearly $40 million over 1960, due mainly to higher prices for dairy products and hogs. Cattle continued as the most important single cash income source for Minnesota agriculture, with dairy and hogs in second and third positions.

Cash receipts from sale of cattle and calves rose slightly to $359 million in 1961. Prices averaged close to 1960 levels. Five percent more cattle went to market, offsetting a 15 percent decline in marketings of calves.

Hog producers enjoyed their best year since 1958. A 7-percent rise in prices combined with slightly increased production to boost cash sales to $231 million, 22 million above 1960.

Minnesota dairy farmers pocketed $315 million from milk and cream sales in 1961 as cash receipts for dairy products exceeded $300 million for the first time. Production remained relatively constant, but average prices received rose more than 5 percent.

Turkey numbers grew by 32 percent in 1961 and Minnesota retained its position as the nation's leading turkey producing state. Production increased in other states also. Drastic price declines resulted and growers' net incomes were severely depressed as average turkey prices in Minnesota fell about 15 percent.

Egg production continued to decline. Cash receipts fell from $77 million to $75 million, even though average prices changed but little. Egg sales now account for only 5 percent of the state's total cash receipts from agriculture compared with about 10 percent from 1945 to 1954.

Prices of farm chickens and broilers were at extremely low levels, averaging only 7 and 15 cents per pound, respectively.

Boys Change Into Bears—

"Every parent is aware of the fact that there is a time in every little boys life when he fancies himself to be some type of animal. "TWO LITTLE BEARS" is a heartwarming story about two little boys who fancy themselves to be bears. During the picture, they change from bears to boys and boys to bears and back again. You can't imagine the hilarious situations that arise. Viewing TWO LITTLE BEARS is not only enjoyable to the children, but also for you, the parent, if not entirely from the picture, then certainly from the enthusiasm, joy, and delight expressed by the children. "TWO LITTLE BEARS" in my opinion, has a great deal of the flavor that "SHAGGY DOG" and "ABSENT MINDED PROFESSOR" had. Treat yourself and your youngsters too a fun-filled evening by seeing "TWO LITTLE BEARS" which starts Thursday at the Falls Theatre."

Marshall Co. ASC Permits Increase in Durum Acreage

Prospective Producers Must File Applications, Says Chairman E. Johnson

To increase production of durum wheat, now in short supply, producers in Marshall County will be able to increase for durum production their 1962 wheat allotments, according to Edward A. Johnson, chairman of the Marshall county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation county committee.

Producers who increase their durum acreage in line with program provisions will be eligible for price support, and they will not be subject to marketing quota penalties if they remain within their increase allotments, the chairman declared. However, such producers will not be eligible for payments under the 1962 wheat stabilization program.

The special program for durum wheat was authorized by legislation enacted last year so that specific steps could be taken to help assure more ample supplies for the future. The program is limited to counties that are capable of producing durum and that have produced it for commercial food products during one or more of the years 1957-61, inclusive.

Under the program, Mr. Johnson explained, producers may increase for durum production their 1962 wheat allotments (the allotment after the 10-percent mandatory reduction required under the Agricultural Act of 1961) by an acreage equal to 40 percent of their 1960-61 average plantings of durum (Class 2).

Producers who take part in the special durum program will be given assurance of greater price protection through differentials which will be added to basic county wheat price-support rates. These will be 10 cents per bushel for ordinary durum, 25 cents for amber durum, and 40 cents for hard amber durum.

Chairman Edward A. Johnson stressed the fact that producers who wish to participate in the special durum program for 1962 will have to file applications for participation at their ASCS county office.

of Rhyme & Reason

BY [illegible]

WHAT IS GOOD FOR SOME is not always the best for all. So says Dr. Walden Schoenheider, president of the Minnesota Chiropractic association. He is primarily concerned with the current gymnastic dance craze which he says "may be suitable for African natives but is inadvisable for sedentary Americans."

"The twist is tough on the sacroiliac and lumbar spinal vertebras, the limbo induces lumbago while the cha cha, mambo and samba irritate the lower spine to the point where sciatic nerve involvements often result," the doctor says. He predicts that a new dance on the American scene, the chan goo from the Amazon jungle, will increase patient load for orthopedists and chiropractors. He urges only persons in top physical condition to "go native".

Now all of this advice may be lost if something better does not come of it. It behooves the American public, if they wish to be part of the crowd and keep up with things which everyone else is doing, to channel these fads in a more suitable direction.

Since the current dance crazes use musical instruments only to cover the sounds of shuffling feet, snapping garters and creaking joints, and are not concerned with any sort of rhythm, music would be secondary. The problem is to provide a "dance" which could be done by everyone without strain.

Let me give you a for instance. Let's say that an elderly couple returns to New York from a trip to Europe. They tell their friends, to cover the embarrassment of having spent a month buried in the sand on some crowded beach on the French Riviera, that they met an extremely interesting person on the boat trip. This fellow, an African explorer who spent 12 years deep in the interior of the dark continent, taught them the fundamentals of an ancient tribal dance.

And then, since they have no special talent and are basically liars, they are booked on the Jack Paar television show to demonstrate the new dance called "The Vulture". Finally, as inebriates across the country who are afraid to go home at that time of night view the program in their favorite bar, the basic fundamentals of "The Vulture" are unfolded.

These are as follows. The couple takes two chairs and place them at random about six feet apart, facing each other. They climb unto the seats of the chairs, spreading their arms parallel to their shoulders while in a standing position, and slowly settle into a comfortable crouch, simultaneously bringing their arms downward to a rest position against their sides. As they do this a small boy beats unmercifully on a drum to simulate tribal music.

Then the "dancers" simply remain in that position, occasionally moving the elbows away from the sides, and, stretching their necks, peer intently downward. The drumming continues until the boy tires of beating on the drum or someone falls asleep and topples from the chair. Instantly the bar patrons rush home to tell their wives of the educational evening which they spent and a new dance is formed. No strain—no exertion—no high priced orchestra. Just pure social recreation. American ingenuity knows no bounds.

A rather profound fact was announced recently. It was noted that the trouble with today's individualists is that it is getting more and more difficult to tell them apart.

THE SHOES BLUES

Once upon a time, 'tis told,
A lady stubbed her toe,
And from this act in days of old
Comes sorrowed tales of woe.—

This ancient then invented shoes
To cover her bruised digit,
And since then gals have cried the blues—
In too-tight shoes they fidget.

For other women in posthaste
Adopted them with passion
As shoes became a thing of taste
And victim fell to fashion.

Now fashion dictates to the world
With discomfort resulting,
For shoes which leave the toes uncurled
To style are deemed insulting.

So women now set their own plight
When in the store they holler,
"This shoe is one that fits just right—
I'll take two sizes smaller."

2 Local Men Take Training Course in Aviation Radio

Neil Stone, Stone's Mobile Radio Service, and his assistant, Warren Stone, last week attended a five-day "Omni Maintenance School" sponsored by the Minnesota department of aeronautics in the Centennial Building in St. Paul. The course was advanced training for their duties as maintenance men for the VOR station at the Thief River Falls municipal airport.

The school was conducted by Tom Messler, instructor at the Federal Aviation Agency Aeronautical Center, Oklahoma City. Subjects covered included antenna and radiation patterns, phase comparison analysis and special omnirange equipment features.

Part of the training included inspection of KSTP-TV transmitter equipment, a tour of FAA traffic control facilities at Minneapolis-St. Paul International Airport and inspection of the air-to-ground communications equipment in a Northwest Airlines Boeing 720B jet airplane.

Local Officers at Discussion of Youth Problems

Police Chief Elton Cummings, Sgt. Don Myers and Sheriff Charles Richards were the three local law enforcement officers who attended an institute on juvenile problems for law enforcement officers and the University of Minnesota Jan. 22-24.

Speakers at the institute were Judge Theo. B. Knutson, district court family division, Hennepin county; Lynn Swanson, of the U. S. Children's Bureau, Washington, D. C.; Glenn Dornfeld, Dayton's protection dept., Minneapolis, and others.

A wide range of topics, including new legislation relating to juveniles, police procedure in handling children, juvenile shoplifting, etc., was covered during the institute, Cummings stated.

January Weather Is Marked by Snow, Cold

Low Average Reading Is —10.42 Degrees; Snow Totals 18.3 In.

While January, 1962, is not the coldest January on record by any stretch of the imagination, it did top some recent marks by being the coldest and snowiest in several years.

For instance, January snowfall the previous years was 3 inches in 1959, and 7.5 inches in 1960 and 1961. January this year featured 18.3 inches measured at the airport, with a total accumulation of 22 inches Feb. 1 as compared with the 5 inch cover Feb. 1, 1961.

The snow came an inch or two at a time starting the 4th with 2.5 inches and fell in varying amounts on 11 days during the month. Six inches fell the last five days of the month.

As for temperatures, these ranged from a high of 35 January 2, 3 and 24 to the low of 35 below reached January 17, which is a 70-degree spead any way you slice it. The month started off on a mild note but the mercury hit the skids shortly afterward and stayed down most of the month except during a brief mild period January 22-26.

Over the nation as a whole, the winter was rough and tough also, with over 100 deaths blamed on the stormy period over the first weekend in the month. The snow and abnormally low temperatures reached deep into Dixie, causing untold misery and ruining fruit and vegetable crops there.

Here is the day-to-day rundown for the month:

Date	High	Low	Pepn.
1	25	1
3	35	20
4	30	2	2.5-in. snow
5	—2	—25
6	16	—22	2.0-in. snow
7	15	—4	1.8-in. snow
8	0	—11	2.1-in. snow
9	—10	—15
10	—3	—22
11	—23	—5
12	21	—7
13	17	—1	1.0-in. snow
14	15	—15
15	—2	—18
16	—10	—26
17	—15	—35
18	—11	—27
19	—5	—29
20	—5	—24
21	—3	—19	2.0-in. snow
22	9	—12	1.0-in. snow
23	17	—15
24	35	15	.9-in. snow
25	30	5
26	32	—4
27	—5	—19	1.5-in. snow
28	7	—16	1.0-in. snow
29	9	—4	1.0-in. snow
30	—5	—14
31	4	—10	2.5-in. snow

Average high temperature for the month was 9.65 degrees above zero while the average low was 10.42 degrees below the zero mark. Average temperature for the month was a chill .38 degrees below zero.

On 13 of the 31 days the temperature did not rise above zero, with the longest period when the mercury did not rise above zero extending from January 15-21. The coldest day was January 17 when the high was 15 below, the low 35—likewise below zero. The warmest day was the third when the high was 35, the low 20, both readings above zero. On six days only did the mercury fail to dip below the zero mark. There were 25 days during which there were sub-zero temperatures, 18 days when the mercury went above during the "heat of the day."

Bin run barley championship was won by Clarence Lian of Middle River with a sample of Kindred while bin run oats championship was won by Roger Rupprecht of route 2, Thief River Falls. A listing of first, second and third place winners in each division will be published in Thursday's edition of the Times.

More than 400 persons took part in the event as exhibitors or attending the afternoon program, reported Silas Hanson, president of the Pennington County Crop Improvement association, sponsor of the show. More than 300 heard the afternoon talks and viewed displays and an additional 50 homemakers took part in a discussion on meat cuts and meat prices led by Laura Duerst, Pennington county home agent.

Twenty-six FFA members from four vocational agriculture departments in area schools took part in a grain clinic. Scoring highest in the FFA contest was Dwight Peterson, Middle River, who was awarded a gold medal. Mike Johannson of Goodridge and Roger Hamm of Goodridge were second and third respectively and won silver and bronze medals in the event.

The youth program of the show was coordinated by Peter Probosco, vocational agriculture instructor in the Thief River Falls school, and Wilbur Hallstrom, vice president of the crop improvement association. The over-all show serves as a forum for promotion of improved farm practices, both in agronomy and animal husbandry, and is sponsored annually by the crop improvement group in the interests of better farming in this area.

Good Forage Is Important Part of Dairy Program

by the middle of June is important to get the most feed from each acre. A yield of two and one-half tons of good forage provides the same amount of cattle food per acre as 70 bushels of corn, an exceptional yield of corn in this area.

Dr. William Mudge, extension dairy specialist, discussed dairy calf and cow feeding and pointed out a few simple rations which can help develop calves into high producing cows. Calves should not be fattened since this may develop "meaty" udders, he said, but they must be well-fed in order to develop properly.

Dr. E. C. Frederick, dairy specialist at the Northwest School of Agriculture and experiment station at Crookston, completed the afternoon program. He used the actual reporduction organs of two cows to illustrate how problems related to breeding may be solved.

Accurate records and consultation with a veterinarian were listed as essential in solving problems such as encysted ovaries, chronic "bullers and identifying cows in heat. If the dairyman can learn to identify the problems, the solution can be more easily reached, Dr. Frederick said.

In a cow judging contest sponsored by the Pennington county Dairy Herd Improvement association, four of 134 entrants had perfect scores. They included Merle Lundeen, Trail; Larry Foley, Goodridge; Wayne Naplin, Red Lake Falls; and Robert Perrault, Plummer.

Cooperating with the crop improvement group in staging the show were the Chamber of Commerce, Pennington county commissioners, banking and loan firms, feed-seed-fertilizer-chemical dealers; rural electric cooperative; and fertilizer distributors. A highly active part in the show was taken by the dairy industry as a different phase of livestock enterprise is emphasized each year.

JC Orientation Program Is Held Thursday Night

Officers Review Duties On Educational Program for Prospective Members

Orientation for new members and prospective new members of the Thief River Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce was held at the regular meeting of the organization held Thursday evening in the Elks club rooms. Officers and directors of the chapter spoke on their respective duties in Jaycee work.

Ralph Foster, chapter president, reviewed the organizational structure of the local unit, listing persons in charge and their project work. Roger Dorn, secretary, outlined the duties of his office and Warren McIntosh, treasurer, told what was expected of a treasurer in the organization.

James Carlson, first vice president, introduced directors serving under him as head of interal affairs. They included Silas Glere, Phil Bergland and Larry Evenstad. Gene Beito, second vice president, introduced directors who included Lloyd Tanem, Al Doerr and Marvin Lundin.

It was noted that the local chapter's entry in the Region 2 bowling tournament held in connection with the Jaycee regional at Bemidji the previous afternoon and evening placed second in the event. Kenneth Oaken, member of the team, took high honors for the tourney with a 630 series.

Reports were given on Jaycee Week and the Boss-Employee banquet by Lundin and it was announced that William Ness would serve as ticket sale chairman for the banquet. The annual event will be held February 27 at the Elks club rooms with Bert Jones, state Jaycee president, to be the main speaker. Others named to the ticket committee were McIntosh and Keith Spindler.

Following discussion of other coming events and completion of the business session, a social and recreation period was held with a barbecue and beans lunch served at 11 p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Duwayne Nelson and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wettestad spent last weekend in the Cities visiting relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Egil Peterson and Larry left Monday morning for Albany, Oregon, where they will visit a few weeks with their daughter and family. Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Larson and other relatives and friends. Mr. and Mrs. Erick Peterson are staying at the Peterson farm while they are gone.

Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Hanson visited Saturday of last week at the Wm. Lindahl and Gene Hanson homes in Thief River Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Pelton were Sunday dinner guests at the home of Rev. and Mrs. G. Achison in Red Lake Falls.

Mrs. Rodney Hallquist accompanied Mr. Ole Salte of Thief River Falls to Grand Forks Tuesday, where they met Mrs. Don Shuman of Antler, N. D. who will visit a few weeks with her parents, the Saltes.

Mrs. John Loven, Mrs. Ruth Gresly, Mrs. David Nelson and Mrs. B. A. Hanson were Thursday evening visitors at the Oscar Schenkey home.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Strong and Tracy of Finland, Minn. spent last week at the Rodney Hallquists. Mr. Strong was hospitalized in Thief River Falls from Monday until Friday, undergoing minor surgery.

Mr. and Mrs. Ing. Gullikson, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Johnson and Mrs. Carrie Struble were last Sunday dinner guests at the Melvin Griffin home.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Geer visited Monday evening at the Jens Bach home.

Mr. and Mrs. Aksel Gormsen of Gatzke and Mrs. B. A. Hanson were Wednesday evening supper guests at the Oscar Schenkey home and Mrs. Effie Scramstad and Lowell were Friday visitors.

Those from the Middle River School who attended the District Student Council Convention at Bemidji Saturday were Calvin Anderson, Julie Halme, Muriel Lundsetter, Armand Kiel and Leslie Biskup and their advisor, Kenneth Haapaja.

TRF Principals at State Institute

Elementary Principals Met at Rochester Feb. 1

Thief River Falls principals, Olga Bloomsness of Knox School, Kenneth Swenson, Northrop, John Elsbrener, Washington and George Stockman, elementary director, participated in the 8th annual Minnesota Elementary Principals Institute at Rochester on February 1 and 2. Attendance at the two day, in-service institute was approximately 500 elementary principals from all over Minnesota. The general sessions were held at the Mayo Civic Auditorium under the direction of Stanley Gilbertson, President, from Bloomington. The theme of the convention was "A Principal Needs to Know About Contemporary Issues in Elementary Education."

Outstanding speakers of the convention were: Dr. Willard Goslin, professor of education, George Peabody College, Nashville, Tennessee; Dr. E. H. Rynearson, Mayo Clinic, Rochester; Dr. Arthur Lewis, assistant superintendent, Minneapolis public schools; Dr. Francis Gamelin, assistant superintendent, Robbinsdale schools; Dr. Mary Hletko, reading consultant, Summit, Illinois; and Erling O. Johnson, state commissioner of education.

Involved in the convention were area visitations. Principals visited the Mayo Clinic, Methodist Hospital, Medical Science Building, St. Mary's Hospital, IBM Plant, Rochester Art Center, Rochester city schools, and other places of interest.

DFL Party Plans Dinner March 10

Corland J. Silver, St. Paul business executive and Minnesota civic leader has been named chairman of the Minnesota DFL's annual Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner to be held Saturday, March 10 at the Radisson Hotel in Minneapolis. The appointment was made by state DFL chairman George Farr. The dinner is a major fund raising project of the DFL. Similar dinners are sponsored at various times during the year by Democratic party organizations in all fifty states.

Ness Typha Plant To Show Product On TV Thursday

Olaf Ness Featured as Part of Area Products Show Held in Fargo

Olaf Ness, Holt, who has been experimenting for a number of years with the possible uses of typha (cattail fluff) in manufacturing, will appear on WDAY-TV, Channel 6, at 4:30 p. m. Thursday, February 8. The presentation will be part of a telecast of entries in the Area Products Show to be held February 8, 9 and 10 in Fargo.

A previous entrant in the show with several locally-produced items Ness will this year feature a special dog mattress which he is producing. These are composed of an exterior of awning cloth and filled with a blend of typha and cedar leaves. They are made in four main shapes and sizes.

Ness states that the mattresses are desirable for a number of reasons. The cedar leaves provide a fragrance offensive to small insects but attractive to dogs. Since typha is mold and mildew resistant and has high buoyancy, the mattresses can be easily stored and cleaned with a brush and water.

Also on display at the show will be the rolling pins manufactured by Lokstad Products of Newfolden. Lokstad made nearly all of his manufacturing equipment and was featured in the Times several years ago.

50 Women Told of Meat Selection

Group Hears Laura Duerst at Feed and Seed Show

Fifty women attended the homemakers part of the Seed and Feed Show Friday. They heard the discussion of selection and preparation of meats given by Miss Laura Duerst, home agent, in the courthouse meeting room.

Some of the items pointed out in the discussion were the factors to consider in selection. Connective tissue determines to a great extent the method of cooking, because the amount and character of the connective tissue are related to the tenderness of the cut.

In judging quality of good beef the homemaker should look for a moderately thick covering of fat over most of the exterior and a much thinner covering over the interior surface of the ribs; there also will be liberal deposits of fat between the larger muscles and a generous distribution along the connective tissue and between the muscle fibers. She also pointed out the other good qualities to look for in veal, pork and lamb.

MIDDLE RIVER . .

Mr. Vernon Stardig, manager of the Middle River creamery and Marion Cater, Wm. Halvorson and Marlin Augustine of Holt went by special plane to Madison, Wisc., Wednesday where they attended meetings pertaining to the creamery business, returning to Thief River Falls by plane Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Rantenen returned home Friday evening from the cities where Mr. Rantenen attended a Minnesota Airport operators meeting at the Lowry Hotel in St. Paul, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Mrs. Rantenen visited relatives and stayed at the Bernard Taberg home and also attended the banquet Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Johnson and Susan spent the weekend at the Birger Streed home at Baudette and Mr. and Mrs. Loyal Johnson were guests at the Henry Johnson home. They also attended the basketball games between Middle River-Baudette Friday evening and Middle River-Williams Saturday evening.

Pastor and Mrs. Duane Thompson and family of Gatzke visited one day last week at the Rupert Haugen home.

Nominations Due for State Premier Farmer-sportsman

Names to Be Submitted to County Agents; Winner to Be Announced In April

The campaign is now on throughout Minnesota to select the state's most outstanding farmer-sportsman. This is the 15th annual event for this beneficial honor which, according to Parker Anderson, chairman of the state selection committee, is recognized as one of the nation's top awards.

All nominations go to the county agents. They select the county champions who are entered in the state finals. The state committee selects the champion, four regional winners and four runners-up.

The state champion and his wife and the county agent and his wife from the champion's county are awarded an all expense paid trip to the Northwest Boat, Sports & Travel Show, in the Minneapolis Auditorium March 30 thru April 8. They will be honored at a banquet on Saturday, April 7 and presented awards from the auditorium stage at the show on Sunday, April 8.

All regional champions, runners up and county winners will be awarded citations with presentations being made in their home counties by the Sports Show.

The previous county and regional title winners are again eligible for the state honor.

Roseau County Is Conducting Vote on Sale of Liquor

Special Election Being Held Today; 1950 Vote Won by Prohibitionists

A heavy turnout of voters is expected at the polls in Roseau county today, Monday, when ballots will be cast on the question "Shall the sale of intoxicating liquor be prohibited in Roseau county?"

Wording of the ballot is declared by law. A "yes" vote in this instance means sale of liquor will be prohibited. A "no" vote will permit the legal sale, says the Roseau Times Region.

A vote on whether or not liquor stores should be permitted in the county failed on January 9, 1950 by 2,158 to 2,503. A simple majority can carry the issue or can defeat the issue.

If the question passes, it does not mean the automatic establishment of liquor stores. Each village desiring to establish a store must vote again individually on that question, according to Roseau County Attorney Bert Hanson. If a village vote favors the establishment of a liquor store the village can then establish such a store or can issue licenses.

The village of Warroad, which has a liquor store, must vote in favor of the sale of intoxicating liquors or that store will be closed by law, it is reported. This is true whether or not the present question is carried by "no" vote.

Tools and Radio Among Stolen Items Reported

A voltage regulator and box of tools were pilfered from parked cars and a transistor radio was stolen from a local store last week, Thief River Falls police reported today.

The voltage regulator was taken from a parked car behind Wetch hotel sometime prior to Wednesday, when the owner of the car, Ole Hegtvedt, reported the theft to police. The wires on the car were also cut.

The tool box, valued at $50, was taken from a parked car owned by Harvey Finnerud, Grygla, who was parked in the 300 block on Third st. when the theft occurred. He reported the theft to police Wednesday.

The transistor radio valued at $20, was reported stolen February 2. It is violet in color and is slightly smaller than a package of king-size cigarets, police said.

INCOME TAX ADVICE

By Minnesota State Bar Assn.

Sick Pay Exclusion

(This is the ninth in a series of articles on income taxes made available as a public service by the Minnesota State Bar Association, Public Relations Committee.)

If you were sick or were injured during 1961 and under a wage continuation plan, your employer continued to pay your wages or make payments in lieu of wages while you were away from work, you may be entitled to exlude from your gross income the amount you received as pay during part of all of the period you were away from work. The law also provides the health and accident insurance coverage provided by your employer or the payment of medical expenses by your employer is not includible in your gross income.

Your W-2 record of total wages paid will generally show the amount of wages which you received during the entire year without consideration of possible exclusions based upon this provision of the law. The sick pay exclusion is allowed whether or not you itemize your personal deductions. This exclusion is limited, however, to $100 of wages received per week.

If you were injured, the period during which the exclusion is applicable begins on the first day of date you return to work.

If, however, you are absent from work due to illness, the sick pay exclusion starts on the eighth day of your absence unless you are hospitalized for at least one day. If you are sick and are hospitalized, the computation of the sick pay exclusion begins with the first day of your absence and terminates with the day you return to work.

The computation of the sick pay exclusion must be based upon the facts of your actual employment and the amount of wages your employer actually pays you while you are absent. Thus, if you are sick on Saturday and Sunday and normally do not work on these days, no sick pay exclusion can be taken for these days. It is allowed to you only for those working days when you are not at work if your absence is the result of sickness or injury.

The sick pay exlusion is allowed on both your Federal and Minnesota tax returns. You must, however, substantiate your right to the exclusion by submitting adequate information to justify the amount of the exclusion taken. This information normally includes a statement as to your normal work week, the actual days you were absent, the rate of pay you receive from your employer, the nature of your illness or injury and the actual amount you received as pay from your employer during the period of absence.

The Internal Revenue Service provides Form 2440 to assist you in making the proper computations of the sick pay exclusion.

(This column, based on Minnesota and Federal law, is written to inform, not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of a trained expert who knows the facts, because the facts may change the application of the law.)

GATZKE . . .

Visiting at the David Nelsons in Middle River Wednesday were Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Nelson and Dean, Jay Haroldson, Mrs. Willie Tale, Ruby Larson and Mrs. Aksel Gormsen.

Paul Klamar left via plane Friday for Louisiana where he will be stationed in an army camp.

Mrs. Floyd Jesme attended funeral services for Mrs. Ella Palm held at the Bethlehem church at Skime Friday. Interment was at Palmville cemetery.

About the only thing that's the matter with promoting good old-fashioned Americanism is that is seems to offend those good old-fashioned communists. — Bishop, (Calif.,) Inyo Register.

Week's Record in Gatzke Area

Mrs. Aksel Gormsen, Gatzke

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Canaday of Goodridge called at the Elvon Hamilton home and were supper guests at the Arthur Johnson home Thursday.

Don't forget to turn your television dial to channel 4, Valley City, Sunday, February 4, at 4 p. m. and listen to the famous violinist, LeRoy Peterson, who will appear on the Ted Mack Amateur hour. LeRoy will be remembered in this community as the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Peterson, formerly of Gatzke. LeRoy is presently attending the Academy of music at Baltimore, Maryland. The past two summers LeRoy and his brother appeared at many concerts in various cities in the vicinity and I am sure be would appreciate if his many Minnesota friends would send their votes in his favor, at his appearance on TV February 4th.

Junior Basketball Team Defeats Gully

The Gatzke Junior basketball team again was victorious Friday afternoon when they played against the Gully players at the Goodridge gym. Ron Simmons provided transportation, via bus, for the players, 7th and 8th graders and the cheerleaders. On Tuesday they journeyed to Roseau where they defeated the Roseau players 46-31. The Gully-Gatzke score was 9-47.

Visiting with Ole Aune at Northwestern hospital in Thief River Falls the past week were Mrs. Ole Aune, Mrs. Ingvald Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Tale, Mrs. Petra Larson and Ruby Larson. Mrs. Tale and Ruby Larson also visited Mrs. Roy Gilbert and infant son, Jeffery Allan. Mrs. Gilbert will be remembered as Ruth Johnson, a former teacher of the first and second grades in the Gatzke school for several years.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lian and Ruby Larson were luncheon guests at the John Olufson home Wednesday evening. Afternoon luncheon guests at the Olufson home were Mrs. Ed Engelstad, Mrs. Walter Lunsetter and Mrs. Lyle Blahauvietz.

Mr. and Mrs. John Loven visited at the Mrs. Annie Lian, Bernard and Franklin homes Tuesday evening. Mrs. Alton Anderson is spending some time at the Lian home caring for her aged mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Nelson and Dean visited at the Vernon Backlund home at Roseau a week ago Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Grondahl returned to their home at Thorhult after spending a few days at the Glen Larson home.

Mrs. Bill Bernstien and Tommy visited at the Bernard Engeviks Thursday afternoon while Bill attended funeral services for Gilbert Warne at the Grace Lutheran church at Grygla that afternoon.

Sunday afternoon and evening visitors at the Selmer Larson home were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kiel and Armand of Middle River.

Larry Hagen left for Minneapolis Tuesday to spend the remainder of the week visiting friends. He was a guest of Roger Loven, Elwood Gormsen, Knut Sveinar and Ronnie Moen.

Entertained to supper at the Martin Abrahamson home Tuesday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Willie Tale, Mr. and Mrs. Aksel Gormsen, Mr. and Mrs. Mylan Abrahamson, Baryth, Bryce, Bradley and Betsy, and Ruby Larson. The occasion was the birthday anniversary of Martin Abrahamson.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Lunsetter, Ingvald Anderson and Miss Marlys Olson chaperoned the 8th grade students of the Gatzke school as they attended a movie, a hockey game, and enjoyed some bowling, at Roseau Friday evening. The students earned this trip by selling Christmas and occasional cards and stationery.

Prowlers Tip Pirates in Overtime 63 to 62

For the second successive game the basketball Prowlers were forced into an overtime period to edge out a win; and for a second successive game it was Paul Klungness, the graduate of Sunnyside school in Agder township, who provided the Prowlers with the winning margin over Crookston.

With one second of the overtime period remaining, Klungness was fouled while in the act of shooting. Given a two-shot foul, Klungness dropped his first try into the east basket, breaking a 62-all tie, and his second try bounced off the rim, and before any player could control the ball the game had ended and coach Jack Junkers team had registered an exciting 63-62 win over the Crookston Pirates in a district conference tilt played her Friday night.

On Saturday night, Feb. 10, coach Bun Fortier and his Region Eight champion Bemidji Lumberjacks will invade the local court. In an earlier game between the two clubs, the Jacks scored a 53-34 win.

In the first two periods of Friday night's game here, coach Al Droen's Crookston team played the better basketball. The Pirates held a 16-10 first period lead, and a 30-20 lead at the intermission, and the visitors earned their lead.

In the third period the Prowlers, led by the hard-driving play of John Aune and some accurate outside shooting by Gary Kelly, turned in a 22-point effort, overhauling the Pirates to take a 42-41 lead.

Five successful free throws and a field goal by Dave Sorenson, shoved the Prates into a 48-42 lead in the opening minutes of the final period. But the Prowlers, on field goals by Wayne Bjerken, Klungness, and Tom Lindberg, knotted the game at 48-all with 5:35 to play.

The game teeter-tottered through the final minutes, with Kelly's two tosses from the outside giving the Prowlers a 56-51 lead with 1:53 to play. Crookston's Jerry Anderson drove through the lane for a layup with 1:28 to play, and the game was knotted at 56-all.

In the overtime period, John Aune, driving in from the left scored on a layup; but Jim Johnson's long shot brought the game into a 59-all deadlock. Klungness, on a one-and-one, scored two points from the free throw line. Johnson again hit on long shot, to even the score. Tom Lindberg, on a pivot shot, looped in a field goal, again giving the locals the lead, but Johnson, from close in, scored a two-pointer for Crookston, to tie the game at 62-all. Klungness, with a second to play, then dropped in a free throw to give the Prowlers the win.

Grand Forks Quintet Whips Locals 70 to 46

Except for Paul Klungness, who racked up 30 points on eleven field goals and eight free throws, the Prowlers were a cold-shooting club as they dropped a 70-46 decision to coach Marv Skaar's Grand Forks Central squad in a basketball game played at Grand Forks on Saturday night.

The well-balanced Grand Forks squad sped away to 17-8 lead in the first period. Klungness accounted for the entire point-output of the Prowlers in the opening stanza. The Redskins boosted their lead to 43-26 at the intermission.

An indication of the balanced scoring punch of the 'Skins is noted by the fact that four players tallied in double figures, led by guard Ron Bergh who accounted for 19 points. Aaron Monson had 12 points; Bob Evenson scored 13 points; and Dave Lee tallied 12 points.

TRF Quint Suffers Second Loss of Season Saturday

Coach Joe Mrkonich's Prowler 'B' squad absorbed their second loss of the season when, in a preliminary game played at Grand Forks on Saturday night, the locals dropped a 55-49 to the Central 'B' squad.

The Prowlers B's, with Kenny Larson and Rick Jensen leading the scoring, held a 12-11 first period lead; but the Redskins, with a 15-point second half, pulled away to lead 26-22 at the intermission, and a 43-37 margin at the end of the third period.

Prowlers Register Easy Victory Friday Evening

Coach Joe Mrkonich's Prowler 'B' team handled coach Linton Lehrer's Crookston 'B' team with considerable ease in a preliminary game played here Friday night, winning by a score of 63-31. The locals, with Kenny Larson and Rick Jensen leading the scoring, piled up 14-5 first period lead, and a 36-12 advantage at the intermission.

The local B's have lost but one game during the season, that being a 48-38 loss to the Bemidji B squad. The locals will have an opportunity to avenge that loss on Saturday night when the Bemidji 'A' and 'B' squads invade the local court.

Rock Collectors Meet at Bemidji Tuesday, Feb. 13

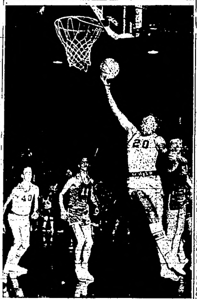
Young rock collectors will organize a club Tuesday, February 13, at 7:00 p. m. in the American Legion clubrooms in Bemidji.

The Headwaters Rock and Mineral Club, which is sponsoring the "pebble pups" group, invites all interested to attend the junior club meeting at 7 p. m. Under discussion will be the club's by-laws and a regular meeting date and place.

A panel will try to identify all specimens that are brought to the session. Refreshments will be served and door prizes awarded. The charter membership class will be closed at the end of the meeting.

Richard L. Lee of Bemidji was named president of the new club at its first meeting last month.

Things have reached the point now where a bricklayer who wants to sharpen a pencil must give it to a carpenter for sharpening.



DRIVING the base-line for a nifty reverse lay-up, John Aune of the Prowlers scored two points in this action photo of Friday night's 63-62 overtime victory over Crookston Central. From the camera angle the shot looks impossible, but Aune's leaping momentum carried him beyond the bottom of the backboard as he lofted the ball through the hoop. It was his finest game of the season as he scored seven field goals and a charity toss for 15 points and a tie for top honors for the Prowlers with Tom Lindberg (40) moving in at the left. Don Cameron (51) vainly attempts to stop the shot while Dave Sorenson (11) moves in for an expected rebound.

Jackie to the Nationals

Coach Connie Pleban and Manager Bob Fleming of the United States Nationals hockey team, which will represent the United States in the world's hockey tournament next month, named six players to their seventeen-man roster on Saturday. Jackie Poole, a Prowler all-state high school tournament center in 1956, was one of the six named. Other players selected in the first draft were Roger and Billy Christian of Warroad; Oscar Mahle of International Falls; Ken Johannson of Rochester, and Dave Brooks of St. Paul.

It was announced that Pleban and Fleming will complete the squad roster in the next few days.

Jackie's selection to the U. S. Nationals marks the third time that a former Prowler hockey star has been given this honor. Bob Baker was named to the U. S. Nationals in 1948; and Marv Jorde was with the Nationals a year ago.

Jackie, who is in the army, has been given a furlough to try out for the Nationals, and he has been playing with the Green Bay Bobcats in the U. S. hockey league the past couple of weeks. He also played with the Nationals last year.

Good Luck, Jim

An interested spectator at Friday's night basketball game between the Prowlers and the Crookston Pirates, and disappointed with the outcome, was Jim Turner, a former Crookston all-round great.

Jim, after a career in football, basketball, and baseball at Crookston, graduated last spring, and the Turner family now resides in Iowa.

Jim, a fast-balling righthander who pitched the Pirates into the state tournament a couple of seasons ago, has signed a contract with the Cincinnati Reds of the National league. Jim was given a modest bonus for signing the contract, and he will report to the Reds training base in Tampa, Florida, in March. In preparation for the training drills, Jim says that he is doing considerable running and engaging in calisthenics.

We wish Jim all kinds of good luck as he embarks on a career in professional baseball.

Playing Alaskan Hockey

Jimmy Reese, a fast-skating winger for the Prowlers several seasons ago, is playing hockey in Anchorage, Alaska.

Jim, who has been in Alaska for several years, is playing with the Hohn Plumbers team in the Anchorage city league, and in a game last week, Jim connected for a three-goal "hat trick" performance to lead the Hohn's to a 7-5 win over the Elmendorf Rockets. The win gave the Hohn's an even record in state tourney play, as the Plumbers had dropped a 4-3 decision to the Anchorage Merchants the previous night.

Seed Growers of RRV Meet Feb. 21

Session Arranged as Part of Valley Winter Shows

A special meeting for seed growers will be held Wednesday, February 21, in connection with the Red River Valley Winter Shows at Crookston, it has been announced by Harley Otto, extension agronomist at the University of Minnesota.

The meeting will be held at 10 a. m. in the livestock pavilion at the Northwest School of Agriculture. Robert Potts, Crookston, area representative of the Minnesota Crop Improvement Association, will be in charge.

Speakers will include Mervin Syverson, deputy commissioner of agriculture for the state of Minnesota. His topic will be "What Seed Merchandisers Are Thinking."

Clarence Sande, vice president of Agsco, Inc., Grand Forks, North Dakota, and formerly of Thief River Falls, will speak on "Present and Future Use of Certified Seed."

"Whose Job Is It to Advertise Certified Seed?" will be discussed by Carl Ash, Crookston, county agricultural agent for West Polk county.

Howard Abraham of the Minnesota Crop Improvement association, St. Paul, will speak on "Seed Testing of the 1961 Crop."

Otto will discuss "Seed Production and Use."

41 Students On Honor Roll at Plummer School

Forty-one students at Plummer high school were listed on the honor roll for the past six-weeks period with seven gaining mention on the "A" roll and 34 being placed on the "B" listing.

On the A list were Bonnie Hesse, Jane Linder and Don Vandeventer, grade 7; Jackie Hoflus, Kathleen Koskola and Cherie Ydstie, grade 11; and Donnie Fox, grade 12. Included on the B list were the following:

Susan Jorganson Janet Martell, Diane Roese and Betty Waldal, grade 7; Robert Carlson, Gary Carpenter, Karen Eskell, Joanne Fallon, Marie Frolland, Jolayne Greenwald, Shirley Hesse, Arnold Schjelderup and Larry Westerlund, grade 8; Scharlene Carlson, Lucy Delage, Sandra Erickson, Charlotte Hinkley, Dick Mandt and Raymond Novak, grade 9;

Also Cheryl Hanson, Cheryl Heupel, Dennis Hyde, Elaine Linder, Carolyn Parr, Sheryl Peterson, Sandra Robidoux, Carol Sorenson and Marshall Waterman, grade 10; Mary Delage, grade 11; Margie Gallant, Ruth Howard, Sharon Milligan, Richard Vigstol and Diane Wilkens, grade 12.

Holmes Overtime Goal Gives TRF Win Over Roseau

Largest Crowd In Years Braves Blizzard To See Victorious Thieves Sunday

Gus Holmes skated in to hit the net unassisted in a sudden-death overtime period Sunday afternoon to give the Thief River Falls Thieves a 5-4 win over Roseau in a thrilling hockey contest at the local arena. A crowd estimated at 400 persons, the largest in recent years, braved the blizzard to watch the event which Holmes decided in the third minute of sudden-death play.

The Thieves jumped off to an early lead with Chip Strand scoring on an assist from Gus Holmes, with two minutes gone in the initial period. Dick Johnson, on an assist from Dick Roth, tied the game at one-all with four minutes gone to complete first period scoring.

Roseau took a 2-1 lead in the second period when Johnson scored his second goal of the game at 2:20. Joey Poole of the Thieves and Johnson each received high-sticking penalties at 6:10 of the period.

Roseau moved to what appeared to be a commanding lead in the third frame when Wayne Hites scored unassisted at :07 of the period and Johnson hit the net at 6:01 on an assist from Roth for his third goal and a hat trick.

Out-shooting the Roseau club throughout the contest, the Thieves finally got past goalie Darwin Johnson later in the period. Dale Wennberg scored unassisted at 6:31 and Marty Markstrom followed at 7:01 with an assist from Jack Houfek. Joey Poole tied the game at four-all with an assist from Mike McMahon at the 9:20 mark in the final period.

Ken Sauve was in the goal for the Thieves and made five saves in the first period, one in the second, four in the third and two in overtime for a total of 12. Darwin Johnson had a busy afternoon for Roseau, making 18 stops in the first period, 12 in the second, 11 in the third and two in overtime before Holmes slipped thru to score the winning goal.

Next Sunday the Thieves host the strong All State Property team which is the league-leading team in St. Paul and has already won a berth in the state tournament. The club is comprised of a number of former St. Paul Johnson players and will give the Thieves a real battle in the 2 p. m. contest.

Prowler Six Defeats Baudette Here 2 to 1

Coach Gene Sack's Prowlers clinched third place in the Region Eight conference standings by defeating the Baudette Bears, 2-1, here Saturday night.

The Prowlers will close out their pre-tournament schedule on Tuesday night, Feb. 6, when they meet the Crookston Cathedral Blue Wave on the Arena ice. The locals have been playing their past couple of games without the services of their co-captain Tim Teal, who is hospitalized with a liver ailment. It is extremely doubtful if the sturdy defenseman will be available for the regional tournament which opens on Monday, Feb. 12.

In Saturday night's game, the Baudette Bears, on a goal from close in by John Amundson at the 4:36 mark of the first period, took an early lead. The Bears made several dangerous rushes in the opening period, but goalie Tom Teal turned in a stand-out game to turn aside the rushes.

In the second period, at the 9:55 mark, Tom Morben's long shot, from just inside the blue-line, was deflected into the Baudette net by a Bear defenseman, tying the game at 1-all.

And it was at the 10:42 mark of the final period that left wing Elroy Frolland banged a bouncing shot past Roger Koster and into the net for the game-winning tally.

Playing at Roseau on Friday night, the Prowlers were beaten, 3-0, by a smooth-passing Roseau Rams club. The Rams, with Paul Rygh having a stick on all the goals, tallied in each period.

Tom Teal had 24 stops in the Prowler net; while Gary Johnson, the Roseau netminder, was called up to make but seven stops.

Curling in Spotlight As Top Winter Sport

by Marvin Lundin
City Editor

"My lead was on the broom but drawing a little heavy and laying in the back of the house. They were drawing light and raising good enought to be sticking. My third had a couple of good take-outs but they were still counting four when I was just a little too light to chap and lie on the last rock. They needed a big end to win but they sure made a strong comeback!"

And so the story of the final end of a curling match was told as skips of several rinks gatherd to discuss the evening's activities. It could have been in the warming area of the curling building at the Pennington county fairgrounds in Thief River Falls where the winter sport is now in full activity.

While the game is extremely simple (only 18 rules govern the sport), avid curlers find it to be also extremely complex. And while the casual observer may think it looks a little bit silly, the enthusiasts are very serious about every aspect of the sport. Whatever personal opinion may be, however, the game is highly competitive and steeped in interesting tradition.

Believed to have originated in central Europe, curling was adopted by the Scots who have generally been credited with the widespread acceptance of the sport. In the early 1800's they brought the game with them to North America after it had been the "bonnie game" of Scotland for more than 300 years. More than 1,000 curling clubs are active in the United States and Canada today.

Rocks or stones used in the game are just that—hand-hewn chunks of impervious granite mined at low tide under water off the Scottish coast at Ailsa Craig Island. They are 11 and 15-32 inches in diameter, 4½ inches high and weigh 42 pounds. Both top and bottom are cupped with the bottom having a small riding surface about 5½ inches in diameter and one-half inch wide. A handle is bolted through the rock to provide ease in delivery.

Curling gets its name from the action of the stone when delivered down the long sheet of ice. "In curl" or "out curl", a slow spinning action created by release of the stone, causes it to curve or "curl" in the direction it is spinning. Rocks will last a number of years without re-sharpening and some used at the local curling building are more than 25 years old.

The ice sheet itself is about 130 feet long, 114 feet from tee to tee (button to button) and 14 feet wide. The scoring area is a target (house) 12 feet in diameter. Scoring is done similar to horseshoe in that only the one team may score in any one end and only the rocks of that team which are closer to the center of the house than an opponent's rocks are counted.

Each team or rink has four players, a lead, second, third and skip. The latter directs the strategy and throws the final rocks for his rink. Each member of the rink throws two rocks— a total of 16 rocks delivered in each "end." A 10-end match takes about 2½ hours.

Locally the enthusiasm for curling has been growing since the sport was first started here in 1955, primarily under the organization of Tom Cochrane who has since moved to Crookston. At that time the sheets were located in the drafty horse barns at the fairgrounds where ice was uneven and facilities poor.

The present 158x60 building, accommodating four sheets of ice, was built by the county agricultural society and leased to the curling club. The club sold debenture bonds to raise $6,400 in prepaid rent for use of the building. Club officers note that it takes about $2,000 annually to operate the club which hires a caretaker and maintains heat and utilities.

Current membership in the organization totals 108 men and 48 women at an annual respective membership fee of $25 and $10. The building is open from 8 a. m. to midnight every day and members may curl as much and as often as they like. Officers of the organization include Charlie Smith, president; Curtis Swanson, vice president; Jerry Amundgaard, secretary; Clifford T. Jorde, treasurer; Russ Embury and Herb Hartje, directors.

"We are looking forward to our annual States-Dominion bonspiel which will be held here February 16, 17 and 18," Smith said. "There will be 32 rinks from Minnesota, North Dakota, Manitoba and Ontario taking part with local entries

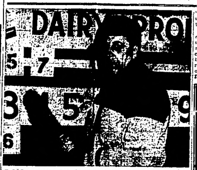
INSPECTING the riding surface of rocks used by the Thief River Falls curling club are Curtis Swanson, left, vice president, and Jerry Amundgaard, secretary of the local organization. The rocks weigh 42 pounds and were purchased in Winnipeg at a cost of $67.50 per pair. They are made of hand-hewn impervious granite and are imported from Scotland. Riding surfaces may be re-sharpened after six or seven years of use but the rocks themselves will last through a number of sharpenings.



SCORING is a confusing matter to casual observers of curling matches at the local curling building. Actually, it's a simple matter. Charlie Smith, club president, indicates above that the score is 4 to 3 at the completion of seven ends with the white team leading. The running score is noted in the center of the scoreboard with the end in which the team scored noted above or below. As indicated above, the score was 3 to 3 at the completion of six ends and the white team scored once in the seventh end.

DELIVERY of a rock at the Thief River Falls curling building is being made in the above photo by Clifford T. Jorde, treasurer of the local curling club, while Herb Hartje, director of the club, prepares to follow the rock and sweep it into scoring territory. Accuracy is important in the sport as is the "weight" or speed at which the rock is thrown. Scoring area is a target or "house" 12 feet in diameter at either end of a 114-foot sheet of ice 14 feet wide. Only the rocks of one team closest to the center of the house are counted.

"America's juvenile criminality is directly traceable to the failure of adults to meet their moral obligations. In all too many cases, the primary responsibility rests with the parents. If respect for law and order and for the rights of others were instilled in children at an early age and if parents set a proper example for their children, we might keep juvenile delinquency from becoming the door to careers in crime."

—J. Edgar Hoover

Greater University Fund

Thirteen years ago the University of Minnesota established a Greater University Fund and solicited financial support from "Alumni and Friends." Since then the Fund has received $3,362,199 and officials are hopeful that the total will soon pass the $4 million mark.

The fact that the University is supported by tax dollars does not relieve graduates of a responsibility that prompts graduates of private schools to contribute liberally to their Alma Mater. Those who benefited by the opportunities that were made available to them through the University owe the school much more than does the average taxpayer, and a recognition of this obligation in the form of an occasional contribution, in addition to the contribution that the tax collector exacts from all of us, is very much in order.

The University, and other tax supported schools, should be encouraged to seek income from sources other than the taxpayer.

Fourth Largest

In total population our country is now in fourth place in the world, according to a recent report by the Population Reference Bureau. Our population now is about 180 million. The U.S.S.R. is the third largest with a population of 209 million. China, with an estimated population of 700 million, and India with 440 million, are in first and second place respectively.

At the present time the two largest nations are the weakest, and our country, the smallest, is the most developed and the strongest. It cannot be said that we are on really friendly terms with any of the other three, our relations with India having deteriorated a great deal recently. We are not on speaking terms with the Chinese, and the U.S.S.R. is our excuse for preparing for war on a scale that threatens our fiscal solvency.

Fortunately the three largest are not getting along well with each other either. Both Russia and India fear China, and there are some indications that Russia is having serious internal trouble.

But the most encouraging development in the world today, from our standpoint, is the emergence of a strong and united Europe. That is not yet an accomplished fact but progress in that direction is being made, and it is through union with western Europe that we must seek our own economic and political freedom.

The next hundred years probably wil be just as exciting, and interesting as have been the last hundred.

School Aid Short Again

State Treasurer Val Bjornson has made his biennial report to the effect that there will be a deficit in the school aid funds. Well, that's it. The guessers guessed wrong again.

Maybe it would be well to adopt a policy that would require the local school districts to share in the responsibility for wrong guesses. They are the pressure group that seek constantly for appropriation increases, and those who speak for them know that after the appropriations are made the state is morally obligated to pay. By their pressure they encourage optimistic guesses.

There was a time when the state had many millions of dollars in the school aid fund that served as a comfortable reserve from which it was easy to make the transfers that occasionally were necessary to adjust for wrong guessing. That comfortable reserve was too much of a temptation for the pressure groups and they milked it dry in a hurry.

Stupidity, selfishness and greed lead inevitably to trouble, and the school aid funds are in trouble again. The next legislature should add a rider to its appropriation bill that would provide that only as much money as became available would be distributed. Then the educators at the local level would have to plan their school activities a little more like Ma and Pa have to plan their home management problems — they would have to be prepared to curtail expenditures if for some reason or other the income didn't turn out to be as much as they had hoped for.

Canada Remains Calm

Our Canadian neighbors are accepting the possibility of nuclear war with comparative calm and appear to be a little amused over the tendency of Americans to panic. The Financial Post, published at Toronto, suggests that their impression about the Americans in this respect may be traced to our more sensational reporting. Foreigners judge us to some extent by what they read in our newspapers and magazines. Considering this angle, we can understand why so many foreigners have concluded that we are constantly on the verge of nervous collapse.

The Post suggests that maybe they are getting the wrong impression of us. But we will let it speak for itself:

"It is probably a general belief in this country, fostered by many news reports from the U.S., that Americans are far more enthusiastic than Canadians about shelters, family or community, as protection against nuclear fallout.

"This notion, conforming with the theory that Americans tend to be emotional and Canadians austere or perhaps phlegmatic in their reaction to public dangers, is controdicted by at least one item of evidence. It comes from California, a state with a reputation for high emotional voltage.

"A San Francisco newspaper took a poll of its readers recently and found that 98% have not built sheltres. What is more, 93% have no intention of doing so; 92% oppose efforts by the government to persuade them to build; and as many as 70% are against community shelters.

"Only 9% regard shelters as "essential" to national defense, while 69% think them "dangerous" because "they make nuclear war acceptable." The same 69% believe that life would not be worth living after a "a devastating nuclear attack."

"These results were obtained after the American public had been subjected to intensive pro-shelter propaganda, in sections of the press, in many magazines and on the air.

"This propaganda, got up by the cleverest people in the business, was designed to convince them that nuclear war would be tolerable though tough, and that a great majority could survive it in health and good spirits. Evidently this campaign of indoctrination flopped, in northern California at least.

"All we can hope is that the Russian people feel the same way and both nations can convince their leaders that war is no longer—if it ever was—a rational method of setling differences."

Delayed Destiny

(Winnipeg Tribune)

Our sympathy and admiration go out to Lieut. Col. John H. Glenn, the American astronaut. After years of training and five frustrating delays since Dec. 20, the brave colonel again was deprived of keeping his lonely destiny with space this weekend.

Across the Atlantic 15,000 men in 24 ships and 60 aircraft were ready to welcome him back to earth. Around the world 500 technicians in 18 tracking stations were ready to record the flight of the "third man in orbit."

Beyond this great apparatus of technoolgy and science, the colonel was aware that only in the past week two great rocket experiments had gone astray. He had five hours to think about this as he sat alone inside his space ship Saturday awaiting the signal which never came. When he stepped outside again, he said simply, "Well, there'll be another day."

The world hopes so. He's more than earned it.

Kismet and Capitalism

(Manchester, England, Guardian)

In innumerable Eastern tales a poor proletarian like Aladdin suddenly becomes rich by a whim of destiny. In Mr. Bashir Ahmed's case the genie was Vice-President Lyndon Johnson. Mr. Ahmed is a camel-driver in Karachi; he happened to be at hand when the Vice-President, during his Asian tour last year, wanted to meet the people, and no doubt to his bewidlerment, he found himself invited to the United States. Eventually a magic carpet whisked him off.

To say that he has become rich since his return is still an exaggeration. According to an Associated Press report in the "New York Times," he has not left his old hut, although the Government offered him a three-roomed house in a middle-class district. But he now wears middle-class clothes (including Texan boots); he has become an elder of his clan, and he hires an assistant to drive his camel. Vice-President Johnson gave him a pick-up truck, and when that arrives he expects to earn four times as much as he could in the old days.

Thus he becomes a capitalist—so far a most dignified one, to judge from his recorded utterances—and the Eastern legend merges into the American dream. If Texas has done its work his next aim is the first million.

"Yield" Signs

(Morris Tribune)

The "yield right of way" signs recently erected in Morris are an innovation for the community and, to a lesser extent, for the drivers of the community. Perhaps the whole idea is a bit new yet, but this observer is convinced that the signs will work out well once the public has become accustomed to them.

Perhaps it is a bit revolutionary to suggest that the yield signs might well be given much broader application. Not that they should be used on a number of additional residential streets in Morris but rather that yield signs might very well replace many of the stop signs currently in use throughout the city, the state and the nation. Such signs have been found to be very effective along many of the nation's thruways.

Very few drivers could honestly claim to come to a full stop at every stop sign they see. Some drivers stop at nearly all signs, others treat stop signs as if they were yield signs, stopping whenever there is any traffic on the through street or highway, slowing down and not really stopping when there is no traffic in sight.

While the latter procedure can get one a traffic ticket and is not recommended, its widespread usage would suggest that the public would rather see more yield signs and fewer stop signs.

from

Governor Elmer L. Andersen

A Coincidence of Greatness

It was just a coincidence that Oscar Knutson was sworn in as Chief Justice of the Supreme Court on Friday, January 26th, the same day that the children of the Angle Inlet School visited the capitol. But there was significance in the coincidence.

In the more than one hundred years of our history as a state there have been only fourteen chief justices of our supreme court. Our courts are the ultimate protection of the rights of each and every citizen. The Minnesota Supreme Court is the final appeal on matters relating to state law and our state constitution. We respect and accept its judgments.

In this beautiful courtroom of our magnificent state capitol building decisions rendered can have the most profound effect on individual welfare. There can be mighty victories and heart rending disappointments. Yet, one greatness of our society is that we have learned to accept these decisions, to live by them. In a civilized society there must be an ultimate decision or physical conflict will result. For our state that ultimate decision is in the Chief Justice and his six associates. It is no wonder, then, that it is a profound moment when one chief justice steps down and another succeeds him.

So it was on Friday January 26. I was glad to be there as a spectator. Chief Justice Roger Dell was concluding a brilliant record of solid contribution to the organization, operation and judgments of our judicial system. Associate Justice Oscar Knutson, highly respected scholar of the law, solid citizen, and experienced jurist, was succeeding him. The ceremony was brief, but everyone there recognized that it was an important moment in Minnesota history. The children of the Angle Inlet school were there too.

Last September (on the 26th also, interestingly enough) I visited the Northwest Angle, that bit of Minnesota up on Lake of the Woods, which, until Alaska became a state, was the northernmost part of the United States. After concluding a session with the community of some 30 permanent residents it was suggested that I visit the school. This I did — a school of seven children, four from one family, including twin girls. It was a wonderful experience to meet these bright youngsters in this distant part of our state. I told them that if they could ever get down to St. Paul I would be happy to have them visit me at the capitol. They didn't forget, their splendid teacher Mrs. Krull cooperated, and down they came, on January 26th.

My wife Eleanor and I had lunch with them in my office and discussed many things—wild animals of Northwest Angle and the making of the birch bark canoe filled with wild rice which they had brought us. It was heart warming. To me it signified another greatness of our way of life—the importance, the equal importance, of every single individual among us. We live together, we work together in equality under the law—every individual possessed of dignity and worth equal to that of every other individual.

This ran through my mind as my eye looked across the Supreme Court Chamber from the swearing in of the Chief Justice to the awed faces of the children of the Angle Inlet school—the essential dignity of every individual—the majesty of our supreme court.

In these months that I have been Governor, although each day is filled with a multitude of experiences, I find myself becoming increasingly aware of the enormous importance of the fundamentals. A great part of the genius of America is in securing the God given rights to each individual and permitting him to protect them thru courts of integrity and understanding.

I will long remember the swearing in of Chief Justice Oscar Knutson as the children of Angle Inlet school watched. It was a coincidence, but a coincidence of greatness.

Word Meanings Change

Critical View Presented On Current Terminology

by V. M. Draper

Ever think of various meaning to words as used in different countries or even in different localities in the same country? It has become more and more apparent in recent decades that, although some words look and sound alike, they are altogether different in usage.

Let's take that happy word "liberation," for instance. Back in the years of 1943 and 1944, as far as the Western allies were concerned, liberation meant "set free" It become quite a popular terminology. Russia was "liberating" countries right and left from 1944 on—but when that country got through with the word it had a distasteful connotation. For instance, even thieves began to use it — they didn't steal something from its rightful owner, they "liberated it."

In other words, liberation nowadays apparently means "take possesion of," or "separate from" the previous owner.

"Bonnet" is headgear in the U. S. In Merrie Olde England a bonnet is that part of the car we call the hood. And, the Limeys consider a battery to be an artillery unit, not an electrical device for the storage of electricity. That's an accumulator.

To us in the U. S. "lift" means something a strong man does to show off but in England the word is a noun which describes those little conveyances which transport people between floors in tall buildings. You can get stuck with them in either country.

To the best of our knowledge no one has compounded a word which adequately describes English coffee.

Back to the Russians, the word "negotiate" must be synonymous with "surrender." Or so we must judge from their performance at various parleys.

In Washington the word "simplify" apparently means "add to in greater detail." "Expedite" means to send something through more channels than usual. Nor is anything finished when it is completed, it has to be "finalized." "Irregardless" of the obstacles in its path.

An early American patriot, Nathan Hale, said just before his execution, "I regret I have but one life to give for my country." Adlai Stevenson is no cheap skate though—he apparently would give thousands of American lives at some later date to dislodge an entrenched Communist regime in Cuba, rather than risk some fleeting world disapproval by letting our jets knock off the infant Cuban air force and strafe to assure some limited success in the ill-fated Cuban invasion of some months ago.

Meanwhile, India knocks off Goa without so much as a slap on the wrist. Apparently we're more concerned about world opinion than our own welfare.

Now there's an investigation into the muzzling of military men by civilians in Washington. In our humble opinion, some of our people in the state department and U.N. should not be muzzled but should also be chained to the wall. Mark our words—the fate of thousands of young Americans may have been sealed when we failed to support that Cuban invasion attempt.

In closing, a note to Club Langevin—we thought you were talking in the first person when you told about that trip out east in a motorboat. We'll take it all back if you'll tell us who did take that boat ride. On the other hand, Roy, I'm getting so confused perhaps it could have been someone else who spun that yarn!

Curling is Top Winter Sport

limited to 10 rinks."

Curling is a game of sportsmanship and relatively free of commercialism. Handshaking before and after each match is a tradition religiously followed and most of the rules that apply to the sport are courtesy rules. Rinks are known by the name of the skip rather than a sponsoring group, organization or business. Even if a team has organizational sponsorship, the skip's name still appears rather than that of the sponsor.

A great deal of time is required to get the ice in proper condition and to maintain the surface. To give a proper curling surface, the sheets are "pebbled" with a fine sprinkling of water after each match. James Olson of Thief River Falls is the caretaker of the building and his wife operates the lunch counter in the warming area of the building.

Other information concerning the sport of curling and the local situation may be obtained by contacting any of the local curling enthusiasts. A finer view of the sport may also be obtained by witnessing some of the matches in the forthcoming States-Dominion bonspiel.

'U' M. to Observe Its 111th Birthday February 11 to 17

To Pay Homage to Land Grant Colleges During Annual University Week

The University of Minnesota will pay homage to the Land-Grant Centennial as it celebrates its 11th birthday during 1962 University Week, Feb. 11-17.

The Land-Grant Act of 1862, signed by President Abraham Lincoln, set aside public lands for each of the states for the creation of state-supported institutions of higher learning open to the general each of the states for the creation population.

From the sale of the 120,000 acres received by Minnesota, a perpetual endowment fund was set up which still provides more than a million dollars in interest annually toward the University's support.

In connection with University of Minnesota Week, displays depicting the University's teaching, research and public service activities in terms of the Land-Grant philosophy will be on exhibit in 38 Minneapolis and St. Paul business firms and in several out-state communities.

The Land-Grant Act, in addition to its philosophy of "education for the general population", provided that schools benefiting from terms of the Act should "teach such branches of learning as are related to agriculture and the mechanic arts", and other scientific and classical studies as well as military tactics. Today Land-Grant colleges and universities award nearly 40 per cent of all the doctoral degrees in the country.

Marshall County Sheriff's Office Active in 1961

591 Cases Handled As Fines Total $8,098 and Jail Terms Hit 863 Days

Marshall County Sheriff Oscar Erickson's annual report reveals activities of his office were much broader and busier in 1961 than in 1960, as he and his staff investigated 591 cases.

His office handled 19 accidents involving two or more cars compared to 13 the previous year and 24—1-car accidnets in 1961 and 23 in 1960. He also handled 4 stolen vehicles and 9 accidents involving only property damage. Total injuries in the accidents last year were 31 compared to 24 the previous year with estimated damage done to vehicles in 1961 at $17,860 compared to $11,380. His office also recovered 1 auto stolen from another state.

Fines and court costs received in cases handled by the sheriff's office totaled $8,098 last year, up sharply from the $4,927 of 1960. The sheriff's efforts also brought restitution of $3,011 on 166 checks compared to $1,962 on 129 checks the previous year.

Sheriff's office brought 216 cases to justice court and 15 to district court compared with 133 and 7 respectively in 1961. Collections on delinquent taxes totaled $3,076 collected in 1960. The office handled 346 civil cases, an increase from the 273 of 1960. The sheriff had 2 sheriff's sales last year and 17 executions, 10 more than in 1960. His office handled 23 state commitments and 94 commitments to the county jail for a total of 863 days compared to 57 and 338 days in 1960.

1962 Turkey Outlook Somewhat Brighter

Whether or not marketing orders are put into effect, there already is a strong indication that fewer turkey breeder hens will be kept in 1962 than in 1961 and that the number of poults hatched and turkeys raised will be lower.

The trend started with fewer turkey poults hatched during September-November, 1961, compared with the same months in 1960. That's according to William Dankers, extension economist in marketing at the University of Minnesota.

Dankers reports on the turkey enterprise in the current edition of "Minnesota Farm Business Notes" an Agricultural Extension Service publication.

Output of turkey poults in the U.S. exceeded 101 million during the first 7 months of 1961, up to 24 percent from the same period a year earlier. During that period Minnesota growers produced more than 21 million birds.

Per-capita consumption of turkey meat has increased substantially in recent years—from less than 4 pounds in 1950 to 6.3 pounds per person during 1959-60. Also, the export market for poultry meats has expanded during the last several years and there may be a good potential for more expansion.

Increased consumption, a brighter export picture and the favorable U. S. consumer income situation combine to provide an overall favorable demand situation for turkey meat.

However, Dankers says the situation still doesn't look favorable enough to take care of the current large supplies of turkey meat at prices considered favorable to producers. But with fewer poults hatched and turkeys raised, turkey producers should see brighter days in late 1962 than they saw in 1961.

Long-run trends are less certain.

Social Security Man Here Feb. 6; Payroll Taxes up

A representative of the Grand Forks district office of the Social Security administration will be in Thief River Falls at the city Auditorium Tuesday, February 6, at 10 a. m. Individuals who have questions regarding social security or who wish to file claims may contact him on that date.

Beginning January 1, 1962, payroll deductions for social security were increased to 3 and one-eighth per cent each for the employee and the employer and a total of 4.7 per cent for the self-employed.

Law Enforcement Officers Meet At Grand Forks

Highway patrol, county and city law enforcement officers from Thief River Falls and Pennington county were among the 90 officers from the area who attended a meeting of the Red River Valley Peace Officers Association last Thursday at Grand Forks.

Attending were Capt. Frideen of the highway patrol, Irving Swanson, Elton Cummings and Marshall Kays of the police department and Sheriff Charles R. Richards.

Guest speakers were W. H. Williams, special agent in charge, Federal Bureau of Investigation, Minneapolis; Chief Constable Robert Taft of Winnipeg, and Lt Col. James W. Lovenbury, commander of the 15th O. S. I. District, Malmstrom Air Force Base, Great Falls, Mont. Topics discussed included bank robberies, cooperation between countries in law enforcement work, and military-civilian law enforcement matters.

Jobs, Inc., Hears Reports At Annual Meeting Tuesday

5 Directors Elected And Progress Stated by Committee Heads

A well-attended annual meeting of Jobs Incorporated was held in the Elks hall Tuesday evening. Activities of the past year were reviewed in several reports and five directors were elected for two-year terms. In the absence of William LaFave, president, vice president J. J. Womack presided.

Gordon Dow reported on the progress of Dow Key Company. The expansion program is nearing completion, he stated, and the new addition will be occupied in another 30 days. The company now has 20 employees and the prospect for expansion in the manufacture of coaxial relays is excellent.

Mayor Orin Green reported on the progress in the forming of a planning commission. He read the report of the steering committee which will be presented to the city council at a special meeting next Thursday.

Dr. Orion Belch reviewed the activity of the organization in the interests of potato growing and marketing, and Fred Sorensen, who conducted a survey of farmer interest in potato growing, reported that because of market uncertainties during the past year prospective growers had been hesitant about committing themselves. There is much interest in potatoes as a future crop, he said, and stated that there is enough acreage in the area to justify local warehouse facilities.

James Engelstad, speaking for the growers, stated that a group of farmers, including some who already are growing potatoes, are considering the organization of an association to either acquire the Melvin Joppru warehouse and washing facilities or build a new plant. He was hopeful that something definite would be done in the near future.

Edgar Hetteen, president of Polar Manufacturing Company, reported on his organization's progress in the manufacture of steam cleaners and the development of the Polar all-season vehicle. This latter machine has proven itself in many tests through snow and bog and he expressed confidence in acceptance as a practical means of surmounting travel problems under difficult conditions.

Harley Kelly reported for the committee named to prepare an industrial survey and was asked to continue the work that has been started.

Elected as board members for terms of two years were Robert Wurst, Carl Lee, James Winjum, L. B. Hartz and W. E. Dahlquist.

Research Group to Aid in Solving Area Jail Problem

The Legislative Research Committee LCR will assist in a study of possible new prisoner detention facilities in eight northwestern counties, following a proposal by state senator Donald Sinclair of Stephen and Rep. Ben Wichterman of Plummer at a meeting Tuesday in St. Paul.

Wichterman said the survey had been asked by county boards and legislators from the area because of generally inadequate jail and rehabilitation facilities. The territory includes Kittson, Roseau, Pennington, Marshall, Polk, Red Lake, Norman and Mahnomen counties.

Wichterman said the LRS role would include drawing up of an enabling act for construction of such a main institution, probably a work farm similar to that maintained by St. Louis County. Area hearings also would be held on the project.

Word has been received from Robert A. Nelson, chairman of the art department at the University of North Dakota, that paintings by Donald Lerud, art instructor at Lincoln high school, will be on display for three weeks at the university's education building.

The one-man art show will open February 11 and will feature paintings by Lerud who has been doing work on an advanced art degree at the university.

Thomas Lynskey Finalist in Merit Scholarship Test

Thomas Lynskey, senior student at Lincoln high school and son of Mr. and Mrs. John X. Lynskey of Thief River Falls, has been selected as a finalist in the National Merit Scholarship competition, according to word received yesterday at the school.

Attaining the rank of national finalist places him among fewer than 10,000 students in the United States—a number equivalent to one-half of one per cent of the nation's school population. It is now likely that he will be eligible for a scholarship to continue his education in the field of his choice.

Thomas' brother, John Lynskey Jr., won a National Merit Scholarship in 1956, and studied at the University of Minnesota.

17 Night Classes for Adults Open

Seventeen courses are listed on the class schedule for the winter session of adult evening classes at the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical school, according to Art Aune, director. Most classes will begin next week and enrollment will be taken at the first regularly scheduled meeting of each class.

Classes are open to all adults within travel distance of the Thief River Falls schools and no prior certification or high school diploma is needed to enroll. Fees are payable at time of registration and will not be refunded unless the class in which a person enrolls is withdrawn due to insufficient registration.

Courses offered, first meeting date, hours, place, fee, number of weeks and instructors include the following:

Education Board Picks Evensen as Its Fiscal Agent

Another step toward a forthcoming bond election for construction of school facilities in Thief River Falls was taken at a special meeting of the board of education Monday night. The T. G. Evensen firm was retained by the board as fiscal agent for consultation on the issue.

Donald Swenson, representative of the firm, was present at the board meeting to review the services which a fiscal agent provides in such matters. M. R. Hankerson, superintendent of schools, will confer with the architect and state department of education officials in the Twin Cities later this week in regard to the proposed construction of a junior high school and elementary school in this city.

Goodridge Will Try Again with Mayor Election

To elect a mayor for the village of Goodridge to fill a vacancy now occurring in that position, a special election will be held Tuesday, Feb. 27. The mayor will be elected by write-in vote on a blank ballot since no provision is made for advance filing.

All ballots for mayor in the December 5 election were declared void by District Judge J. H. Sylvester of Crookston due to a discrepancy in the election procedure. The election had been contested by one of the aspirants for the top village post.

Offices to Close Monday, Feb. 12

County court house and city offices will remain closed next Monday, February 12, in observance of Lincoln's birthday, it was announced today.

Five Nominated for 4 Places on Tri-Co. Beet Board

Election Is Scheduled at Annual Meeting to Be Held in City on March 2

Four directors for three year terms were nominated for reelection at a meeting of the nominating committee of the Tri-County Beet Growers association held Tuesday in Thief River Falls. At least one of the directors currently serving will be opposed by another aspirant in the election.

Nominations by petition, signed by three members of the organization, may be made until March 2, according to Kenneth Onken, city, secretary of the association. The seventh annual meeting of the growers will be held in Thief River Falls on Friday, March 2.

Directors whose terms expire and who were renominated Tuesday are B. M. Wichterman, Plummer, Red Lake county; Melvin Torgerson, rural Thief River Falls, Marshall county; David Nelson; Clearbrook, Clearwater county; and Harry Oen, rural Thief River Falls, Pennington county. Nelson will be opposed by Palmer Horn of Gonvick for the Clearwater county directorship.

Members of the nominating committee included John Glass, Red Lake Falls, chairman; Clifford T. Jorde, rural Thief River Falls; Stanley Radniecki, Oklee; and Earl Wagner, Gonvik.

TV Interference Reviewed Monday At Patrol Shop

Several possible causes of television interference were discussed at a service clinic held Monday evening at the state highway patrol radio service shop in Thief River Falls, according to Neil E. Stone, station supervisor. Main consideration was given to interference caused by the highway patrol radio station.

Various methods of curbing the interference were discussed and a demonstration was given on reducing the interference by means of re-tuning the IF stages of the television receiver.

Attending the session were Iver Torfin and Elmer Gutterud of Sjoberg Appliance, Ted Booth of Ted's Radio and TV Service, Mel Burrell of Prior Electric, Ted Mills of the area vocational school staff, Dennis Hanson from Hanson's Antenna Service, Ray Johnson of Western Auto, Raymond Bergquist, supervisor of highway patrol radio operations in St. Paul, and patrol radio technicians of Thief River Falls.

Two Boys to Get High Scout Award at Trinity Sunday

Brooks Mostue and Michael Dahlen will receive Pro Deo Et Patria awards on Boy Scout Sunday, Feb. 11, at Trinity Lutheran church The awards will be given at the 10:20 service.

Brooks made a miniature altar as his special project. It will be used as a help in teaching the liturgy of the church and the place, the characteristics, and the seasonal paraments of the altar.

Michael's project, completed last summer, was the placing of silencing material in all the hymn book racks.

Besides this both boys have completed over 150 hours of service to the church and fulfilled other requirements.

Rotary-Lions Hear African Speaker Mon.

Rhodesian Tells of Education Problems And Political Views

"Africa is no longer the dark continent. It is now the awakening continent." So stated Grenson H. Lukwesa, Fullbright scholar from Northern Rhodesia, when he addressed a joint meeting of the Thief River Falls Rotary and Lions clubs Monday noon at the Elks club rooms.

Lukwesa criticized the colonial powers in Africa for their lack of regard for the natives in not providing adequate education. As a few students began to leave the country to take advantage of educational opportunity in other nations, they began to see the injustice done to their people under colonial rule.

"There are now two major problems in Africa," the Rhodesian elementary school principal told his audience. "They are the rise of nationalism and the lack of edication."

Although Britain is the best of the colonial powers in Africa, Lukwesa said, and Northern Rhodesia is a British protectorate, the government can not meet the needs and demand for education. There is no room in the schools for half of the children and so selection of students is made on a competitive basis. In addition, competitive tests are given at regular intervals during the educational process, with only the highest ranking students being allowed to continue in school.

A class of 120 students may start school and half that many may

Plans Progressing for Reunion of '40 Lincoln High Class

Plans are progressing for the Lincoln high school class of 1940 reunion to be held the evening of July 7 in the Elks club rooms, according to Arthur Buringrud and Mrs. Olaf Dahlen, co-chairmen of the reunion committee. The class totaled 111 graduates.

Letters have been sent to all known class members, advising them of the reunion date and encouraging them to send biographical information for a pamphlet which will be published and made available to class members. Twenty-six of the graduates are living in this area and 28 others reside elsewhere in the state of Minnesota, Buringrud said, the remainder living in other states.

He reminded all members of the class to keep the reunion date open and plan to attend to renew acquaintances.

Roseau County Rejects Liquor Sale in Election

Roseau county remained without the municipal sale of liquor as a result of a county-wide election held Monday. Balloting on the question of "Shall the sale of liquor be prohibited in Roseau county" resulted in 2,088 'yes' votes and 2,007 'no' votes.

The balloting was about 500 votes lighter than the last election of its type held in 1950 when the vote count was 2,503 to 2,158 against the liquor sale. Vote counts in communities within the county this year were as follows: Roseau, 460 yes and 418 no; Warroad, 111 yes and 259 no; and Greenbush, 93 yes and 248 no.

Lyman Brink of Hallock Named District Judge

Kittson County Attorney Chosen by Gov. Anderson

Governor Elmer Andersen announced this morning that he has appointed Lyman Brink of Hallock to succeed the late Judge Paul A. Lundgren of Thief River Falls as District Judge of the Ninth Judicial District, effective May 1.

In his press release announcing the appointment, Governor Anderson stated that the appointment of Mr. Brink had the support of L. W. Rullen, Thief River Falls attorney, who led the bar poll conducted in the district. Mr. Brink had been nominated but had told the poll committee that he would not accept the appointment if offered to him and his name has not been submitted for consideration in the poll.

Governor Andersen stated that he appreciated very much the attitude of Mr. Rullen and he was satisfied that the appointment of Mr. Brink would meet with approval of a large majority of the members of the district bar.

Brink is a graduate of the University of North Dakota Law school where he completed schooling in 1934. He was admitted to the Minnesota state bar the same year and that fall was elected Kittson county attorney. Continuing to practice law at Hallock, he served as county attorney from 1934 to 1950 and from 1952 until the present time. In 1950 he was defeated for one term by Bert Tunberg.

Mr. Brink is a member of the Hallock Lions club and the Thief River Falls Elks lodge. He reported to the Times in a special telephone interview today that he will continue to make his home in Hallock and that his law partner, Dennis Sobolik, will carry on the law practice in that city.

Local Chapter of Nat'l Foundation Seeks Donations

Letters Mailed out to County Residents by Chairman R. G. Mabey

Unique letters containing an attached universal check blank have been mailed to Pennington county residents this week by the local chapter of the National Foundation. The request for funds to aid in the fight against birth defects and arthritis is made in a letter signed by Richard G. Mabey, county chairman, and Charles Rodekuhr, special gifts chairman.

Noting that support of the March of Dimes in the past has made possible the Salk and Sabin vaccines and the virtual elimination of polio epidemics that once terrorized the nation, the National Foundation is using the theme, "Your Dimes Will Do It Again."

"Birth defects involve the tragic conditions that can develop within the body of a child before it is born, most often without any apparent reason," the letter states. "The resultant death and crippling constitute the nation's primary child health problems. Arthritis cripples millions in the prime of life. It's cause is also unknown.

"The March of Dimes research programs that brought about control of polio are being applied to the disease areas of birth defects and arthritis. These new programs are under the leadership of the

Roy Barzen Again Named President of the Park Board

Officers of the Thief River Falls park board were reelected at a reorganizational meeting held Monday evening. Roy Barzen, who has headed the board for the past 25 years or more, was renamed president, with Lawrence Bjorkman renamed vice president and Ben Frolland reelected secretary.

Other members of the board are Frank Bond and James Dryden. Oscar Bakke was reappointed as park superintendent with James Kelly as assistant superintendent for the coming year. Discussion centered around landscaping and improvement of the shelter area and sanitation facilities at the tourist park on the south edge of the city.

$170,000 Bonds Sold for County Bridges

HONORED Monday evening upon completion of 20 years of service as city treasurer, Mrs. Hazel C. Olson was guest of honor at a dinner attended by city officials and department heads in the Rex Cafe. Remarks were given by Mayor Orin Green; Roy Lee, council chairman; Thomas Fuller, manager of the liquor store; and Palma Helgren, head cashier in the billing office. Forty-four persons attended the banquet as Mrs. Olson was presented with a rocking chair by the group. She is shown seated above accepting presentation of the gift by L. H. Thorstenson, city clerk who served as master of ceremonies. Also pictured is her successor in the treasurer post, Mrs. Morris Odegaard.

Twin City Banks Bid 2.7576% Interest To Purchase Bonds

Sale of $170,000 in bonds to finance construction of the St. Hilaire and Kratka bridges was accomplished Tuesday afternoon at the regular meeting of the Pennington county board of commissioners. First National Banks of Minneapolis and St. Paul submitted the low bid for bond interest at 2.7576 per cent among the five bids received by the board.

High interest rate among the bidders was 2.898 per cent submitted by Kalman and Company of St. Paul. Since project work is yet to be done on the two bridges, much of the money received from the bond sale will be re-invested by the county at a larger interest rate.

Following a request from the Thief River Falls city council and investigation by a county board committee, which made a recommendation Tuesday, the board voted to petition the state highway department to have Sixth street from Arnold avenue to the intersection with highway 59 west of the city included in the county state aid road system.

Joe Seidel, Pennington county highway engineer, was authorized to advertise for bids for diesel fuel and gasoline, grader blades, culverts and a new panel truck with bids to be opened at the next regular meeting of the commissioners March 6.

In compliance with an agreement made with Cloverleaf and Silverton townships in 1959 concerning work to be done on township roads, the commissioners Tuesday appropriated $1,035.11 for Cloverleaf and $3,277.88 for Silverton township. These amounts were the county's share of road improvement under the agreement.

Also appropriated and paid was a total of $1,254.33 as the Pennington county share of the probation officer fund for the last six months of 1961. The annual report of Dr. F. W. Hazard, county veterinarian, was read, approved and filed.

Upon receipt of a certificate from the clerk of School District 1561 in Numedal township, asking that the district be dissolved and annexed to District 445 at Viking, the board set a hearing on the petition for 1:30 p. m. on March 6 at which time testimony for and against the dissolution will be heard.

Mrs. Ernest Swanson, Goodridge, was appointed to a three-year term on the county extension committee to succeed her husband since it is required that two women be included in the committee membership. Gilbert Trontvet from the

Open Forum Slated On Civil Defense

MSA 3 Commander to Be Speaker at Legion Club Tuesday, Feb. 13

Sponsored by the Thief River Falls American Legion auxiliary in cooperation with the Pennington County Civil Defense staff, an open forum on Civil Defense activities will be held Tuesday at 8 p. m. in the American Legion club rooms. The public is encouraged to attend and ask questions concerning local operations.

O. E. Buckmaster, commander of Mobile Support Area 3, will be guest speaker at the meeting and members of the county Civil Defense staff will review the various phases of activity under the county operational procedure. Free coffee will be served by the auxiliary at the close of the evening program.

Kendall Gustafson, county Civil Defense chairman, will discuss home and public fallout shelters and Ellsworth Jorgenson, deputy director, will review local planning under the program.

Others appearing on the speaking program will be Paul Steimaschuk on anticipated duties of rural residents, Morris Owen on the warning system, Norman Peterson on hospital facilities, a school administrator on school planning, and Lawrence Brown and Charles Samuelson on radiological effects.

Persons with questions concerning any phases of the organization are invited to direct them to the Civil Defense staff at the meeting. Cooperating groups hope for a large attendance at the event.

R. Holthusen Trial Scheduled to Open in Bemidji Feb. 19

Charged with 2d Degree Murder in 1960 Death of Palmer Anderson of TRF

Reinhard C. Holthusen of the Grygla area was arraigned on second degree murder charges in Bemidji Tuesday and ordered to stand trial in Beltrami county district court Feb. 19. He is charged with the 1960 slaying of Palmer Anderson of Thief River Falls.

The suspect has been detained in the Beltrami County jail in lieu of $25,000 bond since his indictment by a grand jury Dec. 13, 1960. His trial will be held before Judge J. J. Hadler of International Falls, chief judge of the 9th judicial district.

The Minnesota supreme court ruled last week that the state has jurisdiction over criminal acts committed by non-Indians on the Red Lake Indian reservation.

Holthusen's attorney had argued that the state lacked jurisdiction because the reservation lands, where the slaying occurred, were never ceded officially to Minnesota.

Salvation Army Store Is Success

Satisfactory response to the Salvation Army store which was opened last week at the former Central Lumber company office in Thief River Falls has been noted by Carl Paulson, envoy of the local Salvation Army unit.

To further determine the response the store will be open each Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Envoy Paulson said. Articles which persons with to contribute for sale through the store will be collected by the local unit if notification is received at the local office.

St. Olaf Concert Band Will Play In City Tonight

Outstanding Musical Organization Sponsored by Trinity Church Choir

A good turnout is expected tonight when the St. Olaf College concert band plays in the Lincoln high school auditorium under the direction of Prof. Miles Johnson. The concert is sponsored by the Trinity Lutheran church choir.

A variety of selections will be offered by the fine St. Olaf aggregation which has garnered considerable fame in the years since it was the first such American musical group to tour Europe, under its founder, F. Melius Christiansen, in 1906.

The concert here is one of several to be presented by the band, in its tour of northern Minnesota, North Dakota and Manitoba. Director Johnson is a native of this area, having been born in North Dakota and reared in Elbow Lake. He studied music at Concordia College and Western Reserve University and after the Korean conflict, when he served in the artillery, he was band director at Hawley before joining the St. Olaf faculty in 1957.

Walter Larson is concert committee chairman. The concert will start at 8 p. m. and local music lovers are urged not to miss this outstanding musical event.

Beauty Lift Offered to Homes for Aged Residents

Residents of homes for the aged throughout Thief River Falls will be given a "lift" next week as local members of the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists association observe the 12th annual National Beauty Salon Week, according to Richard LeMoine, Thief River Falls, chairman of the Red River Valley unit of the state division.

The homes will be visited by special teams of professional hairdressers who will, free of charge, give beauty services which the shut-ins can not enjoy in the professional salon. An annual service tradition of National Beauty Salon Week, the program is aimed at giving a "spiritual lift" to thousands of shut-ins throughout America.

"National Beauty Salon Week slogan, "Get a Lift with a New Hairdo', will be supported by events planned to give a boost to everybody's outlook," stated Miss Joanne Wedul, local NBSW chairman. "It is safe to predict that the week's activities will result in new spring hairdos for many a local lady—and that, in turn, should give a boost to the spirits of this city's sharp-eyed masculine population too."

Since the free beauty treatment program for shut-ins began 12 year ago, doctors, nurses and institutional directors throughout America have had high praise for the program. They comment that an instant change comes over the patients, they look younger and brighter and morale is at a higher level. Psychologists believe that good grooming has a direct relationship to a patient's mental viewpoint.

Local beauticians will visit nursing homes on Tuesday, February 13, while the instructional staff of the area vocational cosmetology school and 20 girls from the course will visit Oakland Park Nursing home on Wednesday, February 14.

Louise Anderson Guest Speaker at Newcomers Club

Guest speaker at the Newcomers club meeting Wednesday, February 14 at 8 p. m. in the court house will be Miss Louise Anderson, teacher in the cosmetology department of the area vocational school. The topic of her speech will be good grooming and hair styling.

Hostesses are Mrs. Sandy Taylor and Mrs. Barb Poole. All alumni are welcome to come.

Any newcomers in town who are interested and want to join should contact Mrs. Henrietta Ness, MU 1-2253 or call MU 1-2680.

American Legion Auxiliary Meets Monday Evening

Members of the American Legion Auxiliary met in the meeting room of the Legion club Monday, February 5. They voted to again participate in the American Field Service program by donating $25 and to send $10 to the Gifts for Hospitalized Veterans project. It was announced that January 26 the Unit presented a flag to the city arena in conjunction with Youth Hockey week.

Mrs. James Dryden introduced Mrs. James Anderson who explained the process of becoming a citizen. Mrs. Anderson was a Canadian and became a citizen June 9, 1961. A discussion followed regarding what could be done to assist those desiring citizenship and for new citizens.

Mrs. Joe Larson, unit chaplain, is in charge of compiling a "Book of Prayers" to be entered in competition at the district convention in Thief River Falls in June. Any member who wishes to may submit either an original or a favorite non-denominational prayer.

Lunch was served following the meeting by the hostesses.

Verna Lewis is Bride of Harold Thompson Jan. 13

Nuptial vows were exchanged by Verna Geraldine Lewis and Harold Gene Thompson Saturday, January 13, in Zion Lutheran church with Rev. Leland Steen officiating at the single ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Lewis of Goodridge, and the goom is the son of Mrs. Glinda Thompson and the late Clayton Thompson of this city.

The bride wore a royal blue sheath with a white pill box hat accented with black accessories and her corsage was of feathered white carnations and pink miniature roses.

Attending as maid of honor was Gaylene Lewis of Goodridge, sister of the bride, who wore a winter white sheath with black accessories and her corsage was of white feathered carnations and miniature pink roses.

William Robson, brother in-law of the groom, served as best man. The men of the bridal party wore grey business suits with white carnation boutonnieres.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Lewis chose a figured dress of light grey with black accessories and Mrs. Thompson wore a figured dress of royal blue with black accessories. Their corsages were of white feathered carnations and pink roses.

Following the ceremony a reception for fifty friends and relatives given by the bride's parents was held at 422 North Kinney at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Robson, brother-in-law and sister of the groom. The serving table was centered with a three-tiered white and pink wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom, baked by Mrs. Gilfred Sannes and cut and served by Mrs. Thomas Matson, aunt of the groom. Mrs. William Robson poured coffee and assisting in the kitchen were a sister and sisters-in-law of the groom, Mrs. Bernard Casavan, Mrs. Erling Thompson, and Mrs. Clayton Thompson, Jr. Movies were taken throughout the afternoon by Bernard Casavan.

The couple left for a wedding trip to Old Ocean, Texas where the groom is employed during the winter months.

The bride is a 1960 graduate of Goodridge high school and Area Vocational school in 1961. The groom is a 1959 graunate of Lincoln high school and is presently employed as a bee keeper.

Eagles Auxiliary Meets February 5

At the February 5 meeting of the local Eagles Auxiliary President Edna Pederson conducted the regular order of business. Reports were made concerning the membership party of February 4. There had been 95 reservations made but due to the severe weather not all were able to attend. However, about 75 persons braved the storm.

A buffet supper was served from 6:30 to 7:30 p. m. followed by entertainment supplied by the auxiliary members. Darlene Davidson and Ann Tonder produced and directed the entire program. There were pantomimes with Darlene Davidson as narrator and Ruth Onken as "Betty Boop." A piano selection was played by Beatrice Nelson and there were "Rip Ban Winkle and "Cinderella" skits with Ann Tonder singing a few songs.

A contribution was made to the American Field Service program. A letter was received stating that Max Baer's brother, Buddy Baer, is in the Veteran's Administration hospital in Livermore, California due to a heart attack. All Eagles were urged to send cards and greetings.

Word was received from Winifred Wright, state president, that she will be in the TRF vicinity February 19 and will attend the next meeting. Present plans are that the officers of the auxiliary will take her to dinner, and any member who wishes to accompany the group is requested to contact one of the officers.

Door prize was won by Loretta Helle and the attendance prize was forfeited by Agnes Israelson for being absent. In charge of entertainment were Darlene Davidson and Orpha Ryan. Hostesses were Vina Neuman, Ann Irvin and Gladys Ballingrud.

The next meeting will be held Monday evening, February 19 and all members are requested to make a special effort to attend since the state president will be a guest.

HAPPY HOMEMAKING

by Laura Duerst

PENNINGTON COUNTY HOME AGENT

How many times a day do you have a cup of coffee? Have you ever wondered how the "coffee breaks" came about in this country?

The story of coffee is a romantic pageant that began before 1000 A. D. when it was first used in Arabia, carried by trade routes to Turkey.

Returning crusaders brought coffee to Venice and by the time bloody Ottoman invaders had beseiged Vienna and other European capitols in the 16th Century, coffee already was a widely-used beverage.

Before coffee achieved its status as a household standby, it was served solely in public coffee houses. Wills Coffee House of London, for one, was a popular meeting place for such writers as Sheridan, Swift, Johnson, Goldsmith, Addison, and others. These literary giants often wrote about coffee as a stimulating part of their stimulating lives.

Early Americans turned to coffee after tea had lost much of its popularity following the famed Boston Tea Party (which, incidentally, was plotted in a coffee house).

We have been a nation of coffee drinkers ever since. From our earliest days, a pot of coffee warming on the back of the kitchen stove has been an American tradition.

A mesh-like iron cover made of teflon is now on the market. Teflon is the material also used on no-stick fry pans. The new cover fits over a regular iron and is designed especially for ironing some of the newer fabrics which will not withstand high temperatures.

Today's consumers are becoming more and more sophisticated. They read labels of food packages and other goods, compare weights, demand quality, are more aware of prices than they were in the past.

Mrs. Albert Lafrenz returned Monday after spending the weekend in Minneapolis visiting her brother, George E. Berge, and also in Vergas, Minn. where she visited at the Harold Saasted home

Scouting Advances In Lake Agassiz Council for Boys and Leaders

Lake Agassiz Council of the Boy Scouts of America last year recorded a gain in the number of its members who advanced one or more ranks during 1961, according to John Bakke, Grand Forks, chairman of the council's advancement committee.

"A revealing finding of a study shows that scouts overwhelmingly approve of Boy Scout ranks and recognize them as a means of distinguishing themselves," Bakke said. "We see advancement as a source of motivation and incentive," he continued.

"Advancement skills by themselves have little meaning. But when they are thought of in terms of a boy's preparedness to help other people, acceptance of responsibility, they take on vital meaning," Bakke commented.

Last year 387 boys in the Lake Agassiz Council attained Second Class rank; 177 became First Class; 50 reached Star Scout; 21 became Life Scouts and 14 attained the highest rank of Eagle Scout. In 1960 some 21,175 Scouts and Explorers throughout the nation attained the Eagle Award, an increase of 3,815 over the previous year.

Scout leaders feel that the advancement record is evidence of real growth and a development experience on the part of thousands of scouts. Advancement becomes the means of placing attainable and attractive goals in the pathways of boys.

In the process of learning to make such goals, boys discover that life itself is filled with hurdles and that one's own ability to live successfully is dependent upon one's ability to surmount these obstacles.

In 1960 there were 568,630 men and women volunteer leaders who participated in 44,280 training courses. The Lake Agassiz Council, Boy Scouts of America, last year trained 241 adult leaders in 92 training courses, it was announced by E. Neil Mattson of Warren, chairman of the council's leadership training committee.

"Our adult education program," Mattson said, "is designed to be flexible enough to reach leaders as close to where they live as possible, through training courses made available in institutions, neighborhoods, and communities, as well as in districts.

"The content of each training session is specifically designed to help each scouter understand the purposes of scouting and to learn how they may be achieved through a program of activity that will attract and hold the interest of boys."

Co. Extension Office Shares in 'U' M. Week

The Pennington county extension staff will join other University staff members in celebrating University of Minnesota Week, February 11-17.

County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk explained that extension agents are members of the faculty of the University of Minnesota and represent the University in the county. The county extension program is actually a joint undertaking of the county, the University and the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Extension staff members are responsible to all three.

Primary direction of the county extension educational program is determined by the county extension committee, which includes the county auditor; two commissioners; and six others appointed by the county commissioner, two of the six must be women.

The University of Minnesota provides educational and program help to county officers and jointly hires and sets standards for professional staff members.

Univerity of Minnesota Week is especially significant this year Stelmaschuk said. The reason is that the Land-Grant College system is celebrating the 100th anniversary of the Morrill Act signed by President Lincoln in 1862. This act set up the land-grant college system.

The land-grant college tradition since then has come to include such ideas as:

- Making college education available to the many, not the few.
- Providing college education in the mechanical arts and agriculture,
- Conducting research in agriculture and related industries by state colleges and extending the results of this research to all people through the agricultural extension service such a we have in Pennington county now.

Methodists Plan Church Dinner

Stewardship Emphasis Is Basis for Special Event

One of the high points in the current month's emphasis on Christian Stewardship at Community Methodist church will be a stewardship dinner to be held Tuesday, February 13, in the church dining room at 6:30 p. m. Limited seating capacity will limit the dinner to members and constituents of the church and young people from the seventh grade and older.

"The Will of Augusta Nash", a recently-released film, will be shown and a panel discussion on Christian stewardship will be held Five members of the church will comprise the panel with M. R. Hankerson serving as moderator. Orin Green is general chairman of the month's stewardship emphasis.

Included in the emphasis has been a reading program for members of Methodist churches and has also locally included a special series of stewardship sermons by the pastor. To cover expenses of the dinner a fee of 50 cents will be charged and those planning to attend should make reservations through the telephone committee or by calling the dinner chairman, J. M. Roche, not later than Friday, February 9.

Municipal Court Has Brief Session Monday

A rather brief session of municipal court was held Monday before Judge Stanley N. Mortenson. As in previous weeks there were relatively few offenders brought before the court.

There was one highway patrol case, that of Verlin A. Olson, rt. 2, Strathcona, who pleaded guilty to speeding and was fined $15.

There were three cases brought by the sheriff. Rodney L. Wayne, rt. 3, Goodridge, and Duane K. Kulseth, Aurora, each pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct and each was fined $25. Robert H. Anenson, Goodridge, pleaded guilty to fighting and was also fined $25.

All other cases were brought by city police. Howard M. Hoel, Jr., Clarence M. Isaacson and Leo J. Wald, of Thief River Falls, and Dennis W. Melby, rt. 1, Middle River, were all brought in on charges of making an improper turn. The offenders were fined $15, with $7.50 suspended, after they pleaded guilty, except Wald, who was required to pay the entire $15.

Melby was also charged with driving too fast for conditions, as the result of a traffic mishap, and was fined $25, with $12.50 suspended after he pleaded guilty to the charge.

Russell L. Culkins, St. Hilaire, pleaded guilty to speeding and was fined $20 and Mrs. Anna M. Holden city, pleaded guilty to driving without a license and was fined $30, of which $15 was suspended.

Stardig Elected Dist. Chairman Of Group Health

Annual Meeting Is Held Tuesday at Legion Club In Thief River Falls

Vernon Stardig of Middle River was elected chairman of District 8 of Group Health Mutual and association at the annual meeting held Tuesday afternoon at the American Legion club rooms in Thief River Falls. Edgar Skansgaard of Flom was elected vice chairman with Merton Roley of Warren named secretary-treasurer.

Elected to the district committee for the 1961-62 term were Stardig, Roley, Skansgaard, Pete Gerardy of Plummer and Earl Carlson of Holt. Chester Larson of rural Thief River Falls was nominated as candidate for the supervisory committee, the election for which will be held March 10 at the annual meeting of the company.

Ernest Swanson, Goodridge, member of the board of directors, reported to the delegates and members on the company's 1961 goals and progress made on each. Arnold Lindquist, general manager, noted the importance of teamwork among the policyholders, board of directors, management and staff. Philip Paulson, Detroit Lakes, area sales director, reported briefly on the progress of salesmen in his area.

Lindquist also noted that in 1961 life insurance sales increased, 65 per cent, that the company experienced an increased over-all operating gain of $313,000 and that approximately one out of two policyowners (including dependents) received benefit payments.

Special Films Will Be Shown At EAA Session

Aircraft Group Makes Films Available To Area Groups for Showing

The regular monthly meeting of the Thief River Falls Minn-kota chapter of the Experimental Aircraft Association will be held Thursday, Feb. 15, at the Thief River Falls municipal airport.

For the benefit of those who missed seeing the color slides of aircraft at the 1960 EAA fly-in at Rockford, Ill., a repeat show will be given, as well as a good color movie of the 1961 fly-in, which was reported to be the biggest and best ever. Over 100,000 persons attended the event last August, coming from all over the U. S., Canada and other western nations.

The film will show aircraft, from the old World War I Curtiss JN-4D "Jenny" through the Ford trimotor and up to the 4-jet B-47, in action at Rockford, as well as the more than 100 homebuilt and antique planes which were flown to the event.

It was also announced that any local group (Lions, Rotarians, schools, etc.) other than the EAA chapter may also view the film at special showings on request. Special showings this month may not be arranged after Thursday, Feb. 15, however, as the film must be returned to EAA headquarters the following day. This offer holds for any film sent the local chapter for monthly meetings, provided sufficient notice is given, in the future. Interested parties should contact V. M. Draper, acting chairman of the local chapter.

All members and others interested in aviation in the area are urged to attend. Meeting time is 8 p. m. Refreshments will be served.

Norman Larson, in State Senate 24 Years, to Retire

Veteran Minnesota State Senator Norman Larson of Ada, representing Norman and Mahnomen counties, announced this week that he will not seek re-election to the office which he has held for the past 24 years.

As one of the leaders in the Senate, Senator Larson is a member of the rules committee, Committee on committees, and chairman of the Senate highway committee. Under his leadership in the Senate, the highway laws were re-codified and Constitutional Amendment No. 2 was adopted, making a more equitable distribution of highway user funds.

In his 24-year tenure of office, he has had opposition for re-election only twice, which sets a record in the Minnesota Senate. He has a successful automobile antique, and auto wrecking business in Ada to which he plans to devote his time.

Farmers Reminded of Income Tax Date

Final Returns Due for Some Farmers Feb. 15th

Farmers who did not file an estimated federal income tax return for the year 1961 have until February 15 to file their final return, George O. Lethert, director of Internal revenue for the St. Paul district, said today.

He said farmers who filed an estimated return by January 15 and paid the tax due, have until April 16 to file a final income tax return and pay any balance of tax due. Otherwise, the law requires that they file their final income tax return and pay the full amount of their tax by February 15.

Mr. Lethert said this option is available to farmers only. The tax law defines a farmer as one who derives two-thirds or more of his gross income from farming.

He advised farmers that if they filed federal income tax returns last year, the necessary forms for 1961 have been mailed to them. For those who did not file, or who, for some other reason, did not receive forms in the mail, blank forms may be obtained from local postoffices or banks.

Paul H. Koglin, Formerly of TRF, Dies in Duluth

Paul H. Koglin, a former resident of the Thief River Falls area, died Thursday, February 1, in a Duluth hospital at the age of 65 years.

Funeral services were held Monday, February 5 at 2 p. m. in the Lenroot Funeral home and burial was in the Sunrise Memorial Park in Duluth.

Paul H. Koglin was born at Black River and grew up in the Steiner community. He had lived in Duluth the past 38 years where he worked as a machinist for the Duluth-Superior Transit company until his retirement in July, 1961.

He is survived by four sons: David, Richard, Dale and Bruce, all of Duluth and three daughters: Mrs. Henry Hausmann of Columbus, Ohio; Mrs. Ernest Nicholas of Baraboo, Wisconsin; and Mrs. Russell Sutherland of Duluth. Also surviving are three brothers: Edwin of Goodridge; Emil of Thief River Falls; Reynold of Cokato, Minn. and six sisters: Anna Koglin, Elsie Koglin, and Mrs. Adolph Lanska, all of this city; Mrs. Marshall Flack of Hornbrook, California; Mrs. Agnes Anderson of Crookston; and Miss Alvina Koglin of Los Angeles. Twelve grandchildren also survive.

TRF SOLDIER REENLISTS IN ARMY FOR SIX YEARS

Sp-5 James A. Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert G. Anderson, Thief River Falls, recently re-enlisted for six years in the Regular Army while serving as a radio repairman in Company B of the 1st Infantry Division's 121st Signal Battalion at Fort Riley, Kan. Specialist Anderson entered the Army in 1953. He is a 1952 graduate of Lincoln high school.

Comstock Farmer Succeeds Grange As Commissioner

Emil Zutz Selected at Board of Appointment Meeting Held Saturday

Emil Zutz, former operator of Zutz store in Radium and now a Comstock township farmer, was named to fill the unexpired term of Leslie Grange on the Marshall county board of commissioners at an official board of appointment meeting held Saturday at the county courthouse in Warren. A total of 12 candidates were considered for the post.

Others considered in the balloting were William Lindberg, Karl Turnlund, Sig Slines, P. E. Snyder, William Hennebry, H. R. Drews and Andrew Vansickle of Warren, Ralph Knudsen of Warrenton, Arthur Monroe of Comstock, Floyd Holmstrom of New Solum and Ragnar Stanghelle of McCrea. Zutz received five votes in the balloting and Vansickle was given three votes.

The new commissioner moved to Marshall county from Red Lake Falls in 1938, buying a farm along highway 1 southeast of Radium. He has served as assessor in Comstock township and prior to coming to Marshall county had been employed by the Red Lake county highway department.

Zutz will fill the vacancy created by the death of Leslie Grange, Warren, who died a short time ago. The term will expire January 1, 1963.

Acreage of Malting Barley May Be Hiked

Producers of malting barley who want price support on their 1962 crop are being urged to check first with their ASC county committee before planting this spring. Under certain conditions, such producers will be able to qualify for price support without reducing their crop acreage in compliance with provisions of the 1962 feed grain program. Signup under the program for spring planted barley is from February 5 through March 30.

Edward A. Johnson, chairman, Marshall County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, emphasized today that producers must file an intention-to-participate form with the local ASC county committee to be eligible for the malting barley exemption. The exemption applies in a 14-state area, including Minnesota.

Other conditions governing the exemption are: (1) Producers must have planted a malting barley variety for commercial purposes in one of the last 5 years in the 14-state area; (2) they may plant only the acceptable varieties in 1962; (3) their 1962 barley acreage may not exceed 110 per cent of the 1959-60 barley base acreage; and (4) their 1962 corn and grain sorghum acreage may not exceed the 1959-60 base acreage.

Acceptable varieties of barley under the feed program exemption include: Atlas, Barbless, Betzes, Forrest, Hanna, Naisa II, Hannchen, Heines Hanna, Idaho Club, Kindred Larker, Manchuria, Montcalm, Moravian, O.A.C. 21, Oderbrucker, Odessa, Parkland, Traill, Trophy, White Winter, Winter Club and Winter Tennessee. Barley producers who do not qualify under the malting barley provisions must cooperate in the 1962 feed grain program and divert a minimum of 20 percent of their barley acreage to conserving uses in order to be eligible for price support on the normal yield of their 1962 barley acreage. They will receive a diversion payment on the basis of the normal production of their diverted acres times the county support price.

wait outside the building for up to two months, hoping that there has been a mistake and there will be room for them. The 120 students will be reduced to 80 after four years, cut to 40 after six years and to 10 after eight years. Only one of 1,000 students is able to attend a university, Lukwesa said.

Children who are unable to get into the school or who are "pruned" at one of the cuttings, form youth brigades and attach themselves to political parties. In their frustration trying to convince the government of their educational needs, they become extremists and create violence. School principals are blamed for weeding out students and consequently become hated by many people in the communities.

"It is true that we cannot have an independent nation without education," the principal said, "but many of our people believe that we will not have an opportunity to gain this education under colonial rule. If we are not educated, it is not because we don't want education but because we have not had the opportunity to be given an education."

Lukwesa is currently staying at Warroad and visiting a number of schools in the area.

LHS Debate Team Finishes 5th in Regional Event

Members of the defending Region 8 champion debate team from Lincoln high school met stiff competition Saturday in the regional tourney held at Warren and finished fifth in the event with three wins and three losses. The fifth place finish left the debaters out of competition in the state event February 6-17 at the University of Minnesota in Minneapolis.

Ada high school finished first in the tournament by amassing the highest number of personal points although Fertile and Crookston, who finished second and third respectively, had the same overall 5-1 record as Ada. Greenbush was fourth in the event with a 4-2 mark.

The Lincoln high school negative team, comprised of Thomas Lynskey and Judy Larson, won two and lost one in debating Twin Valley, Fertile and Ada. The affirmative team composed of Linda Thorkelson and Kathy Hartje, won one and lost two in meeting Hallock, Erskine and Karlstad.

CONGRATULATIONS are received in the above photo by Commander Howard R. Lund, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lund of Thief River Falls, from Admiral Holtzworth of the Atlantic fleet as the former was given the captaincy of the communications ship Oxford. Commander Lund's ship was the first to receive successful communication from shore to ship via the moon. A message from Admiral George W. Anderson, chief of naval operations, was beamed at the moon and the deflected signal was picked up by Commander Lund's ship. The Oxford is a former Liberty ship which was brought out of mothballs in 1960 and recommissioned last July. It is based in Norfolk, Va., as a unit of the Atlantic Fleet Service Force.

RRV Water Resoures Topic at Shows Feb. 21

The program is complete for the Water Resource Seminar to be held Wednesday, February 21, of Winter Shows week at Crookston, according to Olaf C. Soine, president of the Red River Valley Development association. The seminar is scheduled for 10 a. m. and will be held at the Northwest School and Experiment Station, Crookston—Kiehle building.

Citizens of the Valley will have the opportunity to hear Dr. Loyd Glover, professor and head of the department of economics, South Dakota State College of Agriculture, Brookings. Dr. Glover will present one approach to the study and planning of water resource management by a group of people such as are here in the Red River of the North Basin. Professor Glover has participated in conferences dealing with watershed development in Berkeley, California; Manhattan, Kansas; and Brookings, South Dakota; and he was a consultant on the revision of the South Dakota Watershed District Act in 1959.

The Kerr Report to Congress during the 61st Session recommended that a basin such as the Red River Basin might wish to use a basin committee made up of representatives of the many different agencies interested in water resources and water management. It is this inter-agency committee approach to water resource study and planning that will be discussed by Dr. Glover.

Other approaches to the study of water resources in a particular basin will also be presented. The Winter Shows is sending invitations to governmental, educational, and other leaders in the Red River Basin to attend the meeting on February 21. The need for a full study of available water resources in the Red River Basin is at hand. How to proceed needs exploration. The public is invited to study the alternatives available at this time.

Cooties Given Thanks for Vets TV Presentation

Pup Tent 42 of the Military Order of Cooties has received a letter of thanks for the television set which the group presented recently to the Veterans Administration hospital in Fargo. The letter was sent by John R. Parrish, director of the center.

"The set has been placed on the ward and is currently giving one of our bed patients many hours of enjoyment," Parrish stated in the letter. "Television is one of the best means of recreation for the veteran patient who cannot leave his room.

"This gift of a television set was much needed and is deeply appreciated. Please accept our sincere thanks for this contribution. It is a pleasure to know that the hospitalized veteran remains uppermost in the hearts of your members."

Motoring to Fargo to make the presentation were Oliver Mosses-tad, seam squirrel of the local unit; Earl Gjernes, VFW post commander; Arnold Kelly, Howard Comstock and Olaf Kauppila.

Three from Area Enlist in Navy During January

Three men from this recruiting area enlisted in the Navy during the month of January, according to Chief Norman Capistran, Navy Recruiter in Thief River Falls.

They are Gary J. Mercil, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Mercil of Brooks; Errol A. Olson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Olson of Alvarado; and Manford S. Vesledahl, son of Mrs. Beatrice G. Vesledahl of Winger.

Olson and Vesledahl enlisted in the high school graduate training program, selecting the electronics field and mechanics field respectively. They chose San Diego, Calif. for basic training. Mercil enlisted in the new three year program and chose Great Lakes, Ill., for basic training.

Soo Credit Union Meeting Planned

Eighth Annual Session Arranged for March 14

Directors and committeemen of the Soo Line Employees' Credit Union, at a dinner meeting in the Rex Cafe Tuesday evening, made arrangements for the eighth annual meeting of the organization to be held in the Eagle's Hall in Thief River Falls on Wednesday evening March 14th.

The business portion of the meeting will include reports by the officers and committee chairmen, followed by election of officers from a slate to be prepared by the nominating committee and any additional nominations from the floor. Officers to be elected will be three directors, three supervisory committeemen and three credit committeemen.

The social portion of the meeting will be high lighted by the awarding of several door prizes, among which will be a table model four-speed automatic record player, an electric griddle and a kitchen radio.

Formal entertainment in the form of a guest speaker and films has been dispensed with this year.

The conclusion of the event will be the serving of a buffet supper by the Eagle's Auxiliary at no cost to the members.

Bird Watcher Sees Bohemian Waxwing

Seldom Seen Bird Noted by Mrs. Norman Strand

Bird watching seems to be a popular passtime for Thief River Falls residents as snow and cold weather have curtailed more active outdoor activities. And the fine feathered friends have responded by making their appearance at bird feeders and berry bushes throughout the city.

Mrs. Norman Strand of 420 Kinney av. N. called the Times Monday afternoon to report what appeared to be "some kind of pretty tropical birds" which were feasting on berry bushes in her yard. She said they were fairly small, active birds with tufts of feathers on their heads.

We referred her to Quentin Jones and his bird book and Jones promptly responded to the call. He informed Mrs. Strand, who in turn informed the Times, that the birds were Bohemian waxwings, occasionally but not often seen in this area. Mrs. Strand reported that she was not the only one at the household who showed an interest in the birds. Her two cats, including a 20-pound Persian, also had their noses pressed against the window.

One other note of interest for bird watchers is that a large, black bird which appeared to be a crow was sighted by William and Gene Hoglo near the Joppru property northwest of the city late in January.

Land Bank Loans up Sharply in '61

Warren Association Loans $1,392,300 Total

Almost 10,000 farmer-owners in Minnesota, Wisconsin, North Dakota and Michigan mortgaged an estimated 2 2/3 million acres of farm land to the Federal Land Bank of St. Paul and obtained approximately one hundred million dollars in loans during 1961. This is the largest volume of credit extended by the St. Paul Land Bank in any one of the past 25 years.

Over 40% of the loans were made for the purpose of buying farm land and for building and land improvement, according to M. D. Avery, President of the Bank. The remaining loans were used to refinance debts, buy machinery and livestock, or make other investments.

Harold Sorensen, manager of the Federal Land Bank association of Warren, serving Kittson, Marshall, Pennington, Red Lake and Roseau counties, stated that $1,392,300 was loaned through the Warren association to area farmers. This exceeded last year's volume by $586,300 and outstanding in these counties to bring the total land bank loans $3,911,380.

State FU Board Backs Farm Plan

Selmanson Represents County Group at Session

Adoption of an improved farm program to strengthen rural community purchasing power was urged at a statewide farm session in St. Paul Monday.

Members of the state board of directors of Minnesota Farmers Union, meeting at the Lowry hotel in a semi-annual full state board session, urged that the Kennedy administration's proposed "Food and Agriculture Act of 1962" be supported as the framework of a new comprehensive farm bill.

Ole Selmanson of St. Hilaire, chairman of the Pennington county Farmers Union, is a member of the state board and attended Monday's meeting.

The group heard Edwin Christianson, president of the state Farmers Union, term the proposed farm bill a vehicle for further economic gains in agriculture.

"At the time of the passage of the 1961 farm bills, we looked upon them as the most significant legislation in 25 years, and our confidence was vindicated with the 10 to 15 per cent net income improvement which took place" he declared.

"The new proposal would build on the foundations of the gains made in 1961 in bolstering farm income and in reducing excess production and wasteful surpluses."

Mercury Climbs from Depths of Sub-Zero Cold

—29 Recorded Tuesday for Week's Low; Cover of Snow Totals 22 Inches

The mercury got stuck below zero this week—way below zero, that is. Indications are, however, that the thermometer is limbering up a little and the forecast for the next two days sounds like a heat wave is approaching. After the temperatures since Monday anything zero or above IS a heat wave, comparatively speaking.

Since Monday the temperatures have remained below zero, with the low of 29 below reported Tuesday morning. The high for the period was 2 above Monday afternoon. Only a trace of precipitation has been recorded. The daily record is as follows: Monday, high 2 above, low 18 below, with about a half-inch of snow; Tuesday, -3 and -29; Wednesday, -7 and -28, and the low this morning was -24. It had warmed up to -14 at 8:30 a. m. today, and a general warming trend is evident throughout this area today.

The forecast is for variable cloudiness today through Friday, with warmer temperatures up to 15 above today. The low tonight will range from 5 to 15 above.

The amount of snow cover, as measured at the airport by North Central Airlines personnel who double in brass as official weather observers, is 22 inches.

Farmers Home Adm. Extends Its Field

Agency Now Offers Loans to Non-farm Rural People

Expansion of lending authorities by the Farmers Home Administration now permits specified types of home financing for nonfarm rural residents and persons living in towns and villages of 2500 population or less, which are not part of a metropolitan community, State FHA Director Arthur Hansen stated this week.

The amended Housing Act authorized the Farmers Home Administration to loan for construction, repair, improvements and remodeling of homes for qualified nonfarm residents who do not have credit available through commercial sources. Loans cannot be made for the purchase of dwellings, or other building, or refinancing of present debts on property. Those applying must own the land on which the building to be repaired, or new construction is located.

The lending program, which permits repayments up to 33 years at 4 percent interest, is designed to provide practical but modest housing for qualified rural and small town families, Director Hansen added.

Residents of Red Lake and Pennington Counties who wish to file loan applications should contact the Farmers Home Administration Office located at Thief River Falls in the Courthouse.

Residents of Red Lake County who wish to file loan applications should contact Mr. Rosengren, County Supervisor, who is in Oklee on Friday of each week in the Security State Bank building from 10:00 a. m. to 3:00 p. m.

Christine Baker Hit by Bullet at Mason City, Ia.

Ten-year-old Christine Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Baker who recently moved from Thief River Falls to Mason City, Ia., is reported to be improving at a hospital there after being accidentally shot Saturday at her home.

According to reports received by friends of the family here, Christine was struck in the mouth by a .22 caliber bullet at the Baker home. She was taken to a hospital where it was learned the bullet missed teeth and bones and lodged in the next muscle next to the spine. Her left arm was paralyzed but at latest report she was able to move her fingers and the paralysis seemed to be leaving.

Baker formerly managed the J. C. Penney store in this city and is now manager of the Penney store at Mason City. Persons who wish to send get-well cards to Christine may address them to the family at 217 Park Ridge Avenue, Mason City, Ia. No details on the manner in which the mishap occurred were available.

Electric Co-op. Meeting Monday Postponed Here

Postponement of the district meeting of Red Lake Electric cooperative which was to have been held Monday evening at the municipal auditorium in Thief River Falls was forced when attendance failed to constitute a quorum, it has been reported to the Times.

The meeting was re-scheduled for today at 1:30 p. m. in the auditorium basement meeting room. While about 20 persons attended the session Monday which was called to nominate a director from this district for the annual meeting, the attendance was two short of the 15 votes necessary for a quorum. Attendance was made up largely of husbands and wives who have only one combination vote in the cooperative.

A film showing the dangers to be avoided in use of electricity was shown to the group. Lack of attendance was attributed to heavily drifting snow blocked roads from the Sunday blizzard which paralyzed the area the day before.

Plummer School To Offer Adult Farmer Classes

Two adult classes for farmers in the Plummer area have been scheduled for the agriculture shop at Plummer high school, according to George Glum, school superintendent. Classes will start at 8 p. m. on Monday, February 12 and February 19.

The first class will feature a discussion on increased milk production, cattle feeding and more profit from hogs while the second session will center around information in making quality concrete. Coffee is to be served at both meetings and anyone interested is encouraged to be in attendance.

WILDLIFE in Minnesota
by JIM KIMBALL

This is the time of year when sportsmen and all conservationists start worrying about the effect of our winters on wildlife. Reports from the north indicate that for the sixth consecutive winter our deer appear to be getting along very well. Snow has not been excessively deep and the deer have not had to yard up to any great extent. Indications are that they will make it pretty well this winter.

We have had a few reports of pheasant starvation but detailed checks by field personnel have not revealed any problem. There are many dangers involved in pheasant feeding and a feeding program should not be started unless it is absolutely necessary.

Our biggest concern this winter has been for the fish. Long periods of snow-covered ice frequently result in "freezeouts". Actually, what is commonly known as a freezeout is really a matter of oxygen depletion under the ice. As long as light can penetrate the ice and snow the plants in the water below will continue the process of photosynthesis by which oxygen is manufactured. Interestingly, the thickness of the ice has very little effect on light penetration. It is the snow on top of the ice which inhibits light penetration and creates a real problem.

When 2½ per cent or more of the light which strikes the ice can penetrate, green plants in the lake will manufacture enough oxygen to compensate for the loss of oxygen. Usually we will get this 2½ per cent penetration if the snow is not over 3 inches deep, but when it reaches a depth of 5 inches the problem begins.

With inadequate light penetration, the green algae floating in the lake, and some of the rooted weeds, will die and start to decompose. This process of decomposition uses up oxygen and can remove so much oxygen from the water that the fish can no longer survive.

Some lakes do appear to be "going out" and a number of these have been opened to promiscuous fishing. However, considering how much ice and snow we have, most of our lakes are getting by a good deal better than we had anticipated. One reason for this seems to be that by and large the lakes are relatively clear this winter. That is, we went into the winter with less than the usual amount of algae in the water. This clear water permits light penetration and there is less algae to die and consume oxygen. It is also true that strong winds have blown snow off of the lakes in many places, thus permitting light to penetrate.

Frequently sportsmen want something done, or want to do something themselves, which will prevent oxygen depletion in the lake. There is no economically feasible way to do this on a large scale, but on smaller lakes sportsmen have in some cases helped by plowing the snow into ridges, leaving relatively clear areas for light penetration. This should not be done out in the middle of a deep lake but around the edges, particularly over weedy areas.

To sum it all up, this winter has not yet dealt a serious blow to either fish or game, but we realize it isn't over yet. If we are fortunate in having a thaw soon that will melt some of the snow off the ice, our fish will be out of trouble; but more snow lasting well into the spring could create problems. Barring unusually severe conditions in the north, our deer have it pretty well made. Pheasants seldom die of starvation but are susceptible to severe storms where their cover is not adequate. The pheasants are doing well up to now, but a severe storm in February or March can always deal them a blow.

Washington Six Wins 8th Straight

Blanks St. Bernard's 5-0; Northrop Downs Knox 6-1

Grade Hockey League

	W.	T.	L.	Pts.
Washington	8	0	0	16
Northrop	4	1	2	9
St. Bernard's	1	2	5	4
Knox	0	1	7	1

Results of Saturday's games:
Northrop, 6, vs. Knox, 1.
Washington, 5, vs. St. Bernard's, 0.
Schedule, Saturday, Feb. 10
St. Bernard's vs. Knox, 9:00 A.M.
Washington vs. Northrop, 10:00 A.M.

The front-running Washington Wildcats can clinch the city grade school hockey league championship by defeating the Northrop Indians on Saturday morning, Feb. 10. The Wildcats, coached by Gaylo Halvorson, have a record of eight straight wins, and a win on Saturday morning would boost the 'Cats beyond the reach of the second place Northrop Indians. In the two previous meetings between the two clubs, Washington, by scores of 3-1 and 3-0, were the winners.

In last week's play, the Northrop Indians, with young Cal Wicklander scoring three goals, and with single tallies from Billy Olson, Jerry Casavan, and Dana Stromberg, defeated the Knox Tigers, 6-1. Ronnie Bunger connected for the Tigers' long tally.

The Washington team, striving for an undefeated season, defeated the St. Bernard's team, 5-0. Rich Holmes scored a pair of goals, while single tallies came off the sticks of Dennis Reese, Stu Rugland and Tom Stromberg.

Saddle Club Will Elect Officers

Election of officers will be held at the Thief River Falls Saddle club meeting Sunday, February 11, at 2 p. m. in Noper's Fireside room. A door prize will be awarded and lunch will be served by the hostess. All members are urged to attend.

Mid. River Quint Revises Schedule

Final game of the season for the Middle River Skippers basketball team has been moved up to Monday, February 19, from its originally scheduled date of Tuesday, February 20, according to Jerry R. Snyder, head basketball coach at the school. The Skippers meet Greenbush in the season's finale.

Viking Trotters Meet Air Base

Viking Trotters basketball team will host the Grand Forks Air Force Base quint Saturday at 8 p. m. in a contest to be played in the Viking school gymnasium. The Trotters defeated the air base team in a previous encounter. Lunch will be served following the game.

Chamber Manager at State Meeting

Roland Larson to Speak to Chamber Executives

"Operation Blitz" and "1962 Skidoo", two revitalization programs used to a great degree of success by the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce, will be reviewed at the annual meeting of the Minnesota Chamber of Commerce Executives association to be held this afternoon, Friday and Saturday at the Hotel Normandy in Minneapolis.

Roland K. Larson, executive secretary of the local Chamber of Commerce, is attending the meeting and will discuss the two programs at the Friday morning session. The presentation will be one of 12 given by chamber executives who have made their ideas work in their local communities.

Other items on the agenda will be featured speakers on a number of activities with which chambers of commerce become involved, operations workshops and idea exchange. Larson also attended the state Dairy Day meeting Wednesday in St. Cloud where materials were ordered for Northwest Dairy Day 1962 and mutual problems were discussed by representatives of the various Dairy Day groups throughout Minnesota.

Mattie Leskinen Dies February 7 in Fergus Falls

Mattie Leskinen, a long time resident of the Middle River community, passed away Wednesday afternoon, February 7, at the Fergus Falls state hospital where he had been a patient for several months.

He was 83 years of age at the time of his death. Funeral arrangements are being made by the Collins Funeral home of Middle River.

A complete obituary will be published next week.

Olaf Simonson, 81 Dies February 5 in Minneapolis

Funeral services for Olaf Simonson, age 81 and resident of the Ebenezer Lutheran home in Minneapolis, who passed away Monday, February 5 at the Deaconess hospital in Minneapolis will be held Friday, February 9 at 1:30 p. m. in the American Lutheran church of St. Hilaire.

Rev. L. S. Gjerde of Beltrami, a nephew of the deceased, will officiate with interment in the Riverside cemetery at St. Hilaire. Visitation hours will be at Sinding's Funeral Chapel until 11 a. m. Friday and at the church one hour prior to services.

Mr. Simonson was born in Norway October 2, 1880. He came to this country with his parents to Nielsville, Minn., where he received his elementary education.

He attended Concordia college at Moorhead after which he taught school for several years. For many years Mr. Simonson operated an abstract office at Grand Forks and following this he lived in California for several years before making his home in Minneapolis in 1948.

Survivors include two sisters: Mrs. Theo. Veen (Martha); and Sally, Mrs. M. S. Gjerde of Pelican Rapids.

Inga York, Once of Newfolden, to Be Interred Feb. 10

Inga York, a resident of Minneapolis and a former resident of the Newfolden community, passed away Saturday, February 3 in Minneapolis at the age of 78 years.

Funeral services for Inga York will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday, February 10 at the Bethania Lutheran church, west of Newfolden. Rev. Elder Oscarson will officiate and interment will be in the church cemetery.

The body will lie in state from today until Saturday at 10 a. m. in the Green Funeral Home.

A complete obituary will appear in Monday's paper.

Farm Bureau and FU Plan Sessions at Winter Shows

Two of the major social-political farm organizations of the Red River Valley have planned meetings to be held during the week of the Red River Valley Winter Shows, Crookston, according to the "events schedule" recently released by President B. E. Youngquist's office.

For the fourth consecutive year, the Farm Bureau will conduct a Women's Workshop. This is scheduled for Monday, February 19, at the Northwest School, Kiehle building, beginning at 10 a. m. The Farm Bureau women will have their noon luncheon in the Dining Hall at the school.

The Farmers Union of the Valley has scheduled a Farmers Union Leaders' Conference on Wednesday, February 21, at the Northwest School, Kiehle auditorium, to begin at 1 p. m. sharp. They will adjourn at 4 p. m. at which time they will serve coffee.

Rev. Robert Pryor to Speak Tonight to Bemidji Group

Father G. Robert Pryor, assistant at St. Bernard's Church, will speak this evening at 7:30 p. m. at a meeting of the Bemidji State College Newman Club on the topic, "Medico-Moral Problems."

The talk will be the sixth in a series of lectures and discussions on the theme, "Morals and Modern Man."

Other topics in the series include "The Natural Law", "Human Behavior and Freedom", "The Population Problem", and "Courtship and Marriage."

Father Pryor will discuss the moral aspects of such matters as mutilation, transplantation of organs, abortion, sterilization, hypnosis, and mercy killing.

St. Bernard Pupils Giving Readings During This Week

The annual series of declamatory programs are being held at St. Bernard's school this week.

Each of the students in the school is given an opportunity to present a selection of memorized poetry before an audience of parents and friends, according to Sister M. Hyacinth, O. S. B., principal.

On Tuesday the third and fourth grade pupils presented their selections. Yesterday grades five and six gave their poems. Today the first and eighth grade students were on the program, and tomorrow presentations by the second and seventh grade pupils will conclude the series.

All of the programs were scheduled to begin at 2 p. m.

J. C. Penney Store Manager to Go to St. Louis Meeting

Morris Goddard, manager of the local Penney store, will be in St. Louis next week for the company's 60th anniversary convention of store managers in its Central zone.

Also attending the convention at the Chase-Park Plaza Hotel will be James Cash Penney, founder of the department store chain which bears his name, and other officials and personnel from the company's central office in New York.

Goddard will be one of 353 managers of Penney stores in the Central zone at the convention. Mrs. Goddard will accompany her husband.

Traffic Mishap Reported; Radio Recovered Also

Only one traffic mishap totaling over $50 in property damages was reported by police this week. The mishap occurred about noon Wednesday when a cab driven east on Nora st. by Harold G. Chapman, city, struck a car driven south on Crocker av. by Goodwin Hanson, city.

Police estimated damages at $65 to the car driven by Chapman, $300 to Hanson's car. No tags were issued.

Police estimated damages at $65 radio taken from a local store last week has been recovered. The juvenile who took the radio was apprehended as the result of his efforts to buy batteries for it and through the cooperation of local merchants. Charges in the case are pending.

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture

Off the critical list so far as present need for Public Law 556, flood control assistance, is concerned is Goodhue county's Spring Creek Watershed No. 2. According to Arnold Wiebush, extension soils agent, that's a welcome relief in a community where efforts to get flood control assistance date back to 1956. Farm ponds, strip cropping and diversions continue to go in at a rapid rate under ACP cost-sharing. With adjustments in land use and a trend to better adapted tillage practices, floods are beginning to ease noticeably.

"Our potato yield went up 150 to 200 bushels per acre due to drainage and other conservation practices," claim Barton and Marty Brown, farmers in Lake of the Woods Soil Conservation District. The Browns installed field ditches early last spring before they planted their fields. Harvest operations were not slowed down by wet fields and the drainage practices, installed with the assistance of local SCS technicians, really paid off.

From a bad gully to a fish pond—Tired of fighting a gully on his Waseca county farm, Cletus Hoehn put in a dam with a spillway and turned the gully into a 12-foot-deep stock and fish pond with about one acre of water surface. Waseca County Agent Cletus Murphy testifies that Hoehn and his neighbors now take blue gills weighing up to three-quarters pound and bass weighing 2 pounds and over from the pond. "Since its conversion that gully provides a lot of fun for my family," says Hoehn.

"Winter is the time to think about planting trees for windbreaks and forestry purposes," says Donald Berg, SCS technician at Waconia. "If the land is ready it will pay you to check with your local SCS office, state forester or county agent. Check your plans and order trees now. If you wait, you may not get the kind of trees you want for spring planting."

Potatoes to Be Topic at RRV Shows Feb. 20

Citizens of the Valley who are interested in growing, processing and conditioning potatoes will be interested in a special meeting set for Tuesday, February 20 at 10 a. m. at the Northwest School and Experiment Station, Crookston, in the livestock pavilion.

The purpose of this meeting is to take a realistic look at where we are heading in the potato processing business in the Red River Valley. Dr. Orrin C. Turnquist of the University of Minnesota, St. Paul, will speak on "A Critical Look at Potato Conditioning and Processing in the Red River Valley."

Potato processing and conditioning has grown in a revolutionary manner the last few years, and under these conditions it is always good to try to focus out beyond the smoke, according to B. E. Youngquist, superintendent of the Northwest Experiment Station.

A number of potato men in the processing business, as well as men interested in other aspects of the Red River Valley potato industry, will be on hand at the meeting to respond to questions raised by the audience. This will be a worthwhile meeting. The public is invited.

Following the general forenoon meeting, managers of the various potato processing plants who are in attendance will meet at 12:15 noon at Sidney's Cafe in downtown Crookston to have lunch together. This is the first official "get-together" of the potato processing plant managers here in the Red River Valley. They will talk informally and discuss what they might be doing in common to build the Valley as a potato processing area.

Fire at Taylor Home Tuesday Burns Interior

Fire of undetermined origin caused considerable damage to the home of Mrs. Sophia Taylor at 1007 Duluth av. N. before firemen arrived on the scene to bring it under control Tuesday morning. No estimate of damage was made, reports Roy Langevin, fire chief.

Ed. DeLap, who lives near the Taylor house, noticed smoke which nearly enveloped the building and reported the fire at 11:50 a. m. Tuesday. All rooms were considerably damaged in the three-room house and items in the kitchen and bedroom were reported to be badly scorched.

Chief Langevin stated the fire started in the area of the stove but the exact cause of the blaze could not be determined. Mrs. Taylor was not at home when the fire call was made. The loss was reported to be covered by insurance.

Evangelist Ost Returns To Hold Revival Series

Evangelist Daniel K. Ost, founder and president of Missionary Revival Crusade with headquarters in Laredo, Texas, has returned to the Assemblies of God church in Thief River Falls for a series of revival meetings.

He had previously taken part in the rally and banquet held in this city by Steer, Inc., and appeared at an evangelistic meeting at the Assemblies of God church in December. Vocal solos with guitar accompaniment in addition to gospel messages will be presented each evening. The public is invited to attend any or all of the meetings, according to Rev. Waldo Trask, host pastor.

Services will be held each evening Monday through Friday at 8 p. m. and on Sunday at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. through Sunday, February 18.

LEGAL NOTICE

Jan. 25-Feb. 1-8
ADVERTISEMENT FOR PROPOSALS

The Executive Committee of the Oakland Park Nursing Home, Thief River Falls, Minn., will receive sealed proposals for the installation of Fire Alarm System, until 2:00 P.M., Feb. 13th, 1962 at the Office of the Superintendent, Oakland Park Nursing Home, Thief River Falls, Minn. at which time all will be publicly opened and read aloud.

Specifications pursuant to which the work will be done are on file at the Office of the Superintendent, Oakland Park Nursing Home, Box 511, Thief River Falls, Minn.

Copies of said documents may be obtained by depositing $10.00 with the Superintendent. The amount of deposit fee will be returned to those submitting a bonafide bid and who return the documents in good condition within five days after the date set for the opening the bids. One-half of fee will be returned to non-bidders for documents returned in good condition within five days.

The work will consist of installing and furnishing material as specified in the specifications.

Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check or bidders bond acceptable to the Committee in an amount equal to at least five per cent of the total amount of bid, payable without condition to the Superintendent, Oakland Park Nursing Home, Thief River Falls, Minn.

In case the successful bidder fails to enter in to contract or to provide a performance bond as required by law, within the specified number of days of the award of the Contract, such check or bond shall be forfeited to the Home as liquidating damages.

The Committee reserves the right to hold all bids for a period of 30 days (Calendar) after the date set for the opening of the bids, and to waive any irregularities and to reject any or all bids as they deem to the best interest of the Home.

Prowler Six Tips Cathedral 3 to 1

In a rowdy and penalty-filled game played on the Arena ice on Tuesday evening, coach Gene Sack's Prowlers defeated the Crookston Cathedral Blue Wave, 3-1, to conclude their 1961-62 hockey schedule. The club posted a season's record of ten wins and eight losses, and now will begin preparations for the Region Eight tourney, the preliminary games of which will be played at Warroad on Monday and Tuesday.

The Prowlers, holding third place in the conference standings, will play the Baudette Bears, the sixth place team, on Tuesday night. The winners of the first round preliminary games will move over to Roseau on Friday and Saturday for the semi-finals and finals of the Region Eight tourney.

In Tuesday night's game, three players, Larry Delude and Rod McDonald of the Blue Wave, and Tom Morben of the Prowlers, were ousted from the game because of fisticuffs. And in addition to these major penalties, a number of minor infractions were whistled by the officials.

The Prowlers scored their three goals in the first period, with Ron Kvikstad hitting on a long shot, Tony Poole ramming in a goal during a melee in front of the Crookston net, and Elroy Frolland recovering his own rebound to beat goalie Dennis Brekken from close in.

The Blue Wave team, with a lineup that was riddled by the flu, with five players—Paul Jung, John Kelly, Don Wick, Tim Charron, and Gene Hutchins—being unable to "suit up" for the game, averted a shutout by tallying a goal in the third period. Greg Fries, from fifteen feet out, on an assist from Tom Wentzel, scored for the visitors.

In a preliminary game, coach George Schlieff's Prowler 'B' squad, by a 6-0 score, defeated the Crookston Cathedral 'B' squad.

The summary:

Thief River Falls H. S. (3)

HOLDERS of a 7-1-1 record with a loss only to the University of North Dakota freshmen, the Thieves senior hockey team is preparing for an invasion of the local rink Sunday by the All-State Property team of St. Paul. The visiting club is made up of former St. Paul Johnson players and has already qualified for state tournament competition by winning first place in its league. On Sunday, February 18th, St. Vital team will play here. Pictured left to right are the following: front row, Chip Strand, Joey Poole, Ken Sauve, Monty Markstrom and Dale Wennberg; back row, Gus Holmes, Arlan Hjelle, Mike Poole, Jack Houfek, Duane Glass, Dick Johnson, Cal Offerdahl, DelRay Offerdahl and Clarence Amiot. The 1961-62 schedule, except for Wednesday night's playoff games to determine the seventh and eighth place teams, was completed on Tuesday night. The Roseau Rams, with a 14 wins and no loss mark, are in first place, and the Warroad Warriors, with 14 wins and 2 losses (to Roseau) are in second place.

The Region Eight hockey tournament, preliminary round, will be played at Warroad on Monday and Tuesday. Monday's pairings will find Roseau meeting Red Lake Falls or Indus in the opening game, while Crookston will meet East Grand Forks in the second game. On Tuesday night's bill, the Warroad Warriors will play the Hallock vs. Williams winner in the first game, and the Prowlers will meet the Baudette Bears in the second game.

On Friday and Saturday, on the ice sheet in the Roseau Memorial arena, the four winners of the preliminary games will meet in the semi-finals and finals. Region Eight will send only one team, the regional champion, to the state tournament this season.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

It's Bonspiel Time

The local club is completing arrangements for the sixth annual States-Dominion bonspiel to be held at the Fair Grounds Arena on Feb. 16, 17, and 18. As usual, the 32-rink entry list will be monopolized by the Winnipeg rinks. And among some of the outstanding curlers from Winnipeg who expect to participate in this year's States-Dominion 'spiel are such well-known names as Frank (Mumbles) Cancilla Eeson Miller, Jimmy Doyle, Jerry Duguid, and others.

On Tuesday night, the Jon Larson rink, by an 11-10 score, defeated the Harold Halvorson rink, and earned the right to represent the local club in the state bonspiel to be held next week in Hibbing. On the Larson rink, Don Jorde throws the lead rocks, Curtis Johnson is second, Roger Nygaard is at third, and Jon Larson the skip. The Halvorson rink, which battled down to the last end, had Cliff Jorde at lead, Lester Halvorson at second, Lloyd Halvorson at third, and Harold Halvorson as skip.

The other week, the Rotary curling rink—L. L. Tygeson at lead, Russ Embury at second, Justus Larson at third, and Wally Tunberg as skip—participated in the Rainy River bonspiel. Forty rinks were entered, and the Rotarians were runnersup in the third event, and they brought home some loot.

The 74th annual Manitoba bonspiel, with nearly 500 rinks entered, got under way on Monday, and when the competition is ended and the final rocks have been cast, in a couple of weeks, one rink will be the grand aggregate winner and will represent Manitoba in the Canada's national bonspiel, the McDonald Brier.

This week the rinks are utilizing the numerous ice sheets of the various clubs in Winnipeg, but next week, with the huge entry list having been pared to twenty rinks, the 'spiel will move into the Winnipeg Arena for the windup matches. For curling enthusiasts, it is worth the trip to Winnipeg to witness these matches, called the British Consols.

Have Your Look

Basketball fans will have an opportunity to see coach Bun Fortier's Bemidji Lumberjacks in action when, on Saturday night, the defending Region Eight champions meet the Prowlers on the high school court. The look will give fans an opportunity to make odds on the chances of the Bemidji club to make a successful defense of their district and regional titles this season.

Except for right forward Jack Phelps, who is a superb player and a deadly southpaw shooter, and who is the only returning regular from last year's club, the Jacks are not an impressive team physically.

At left is Gary Suman, a lanky six-foot plus player; at center is burly Bill Rabe. Suman and Rabe give the Jacks adequate rebounding off the boards. At the guards are a pair of drivers in Bill Hanson and Dennis Aguiar. The two boys, who were members of Red Wilson's football squad last season, being backfielders, are stellar competitors, and they do some pressing on defense, picking up their opponents down the floor.

The Prowlers will be in an advantageous position to knock off the Jacks on Saturday night, for they will be meeting a Bemidji team that played a tough game on Friday night, playing Grand Forks Central at Bemidji.

And I must recommend that Prowler fans get to the gymnasium quite early so that they can witness several periods of the preliminary game between the Bemidji 'B' squad and the Prowler 'B' squad. The rivalry between these two squads is intense.

Newfolden Quint Trims Karlstad and Badger Teams

John Dill Scores 18 in Karlstad Tilt as Nordic Sophomores Show Strength

The Newfolden Nordics added two victories to their record this past week as they traveled to Karlstad on Tuesday to down the Rabbits, 40 to 35 in a non-conference game and then downed the Badger Rockets on their floor, 42 to 34, in a conference game on Friday, Feb. 2. This gives the Nordics an overall record of 7 wins and 6 losses and a 4-4 conference record.

Against the Karlstad Rabbits, the Nordics started slowly and were down 10 to 6 at the end of the first period and fell further behind at 15 to 8 at the halftime. The Nordics outscored the Rabbits 11 to 10 in the third period to remain on the short end of a 25 to 19 score, but then really went on a scoring spree the fourth quarter to outscore the Rabbits 21 to 10 for their final five point edge.

John Dill, sophomore guard, was high point man for the evening with 18 points on 8 field goals and 2 free throws. D. Oistad was high point man for the Rabbits with 14 points.

The Nordics had to come from behind against the Badger Rockets as the Rockets shot off to a 15 to 11 first quarter lead but cooled off in the second quarter to trail the Nordics 23 to 19 at the half. From here on out Newfolden maintained their mastery over the Rockets to lead 33 to 26 at the third period mark and finally win by 8 points.

High point man for the Nordics and the evening was Jerry Strandquist, sophomore center, with 16 points. D. Christianson led the Rockets with 14. Rick Inman, Jim Dahl and John Dill were sick as the Nordics went into the game with only nine men.

The Nordics play two conference home games this week which will go a long way to determine their final standing for the tournament. The Nordics take on Greenbush on Friday and Williams on Saturday.

Fish Rescue Crews Busy This Winter

Over 400,000 Game Fish Taken from Shallow Lakes

It's been a very busy winter for fish rescue crews of the Minnesota Conservation Department.

Fisheries supervisor, Hjalmar Swenson, reports that since last fall over 400,000 game fish have been removed from shallow lakes deficient in oxygen and transferred to other lakes where they can survive.

Approximately 240,000 of the fish were northern pike weighing approximately 100 tons. These fish prefer the shallow water lakes for spawning purposes but are often subject to winterkill.

Swenson said work was being carried on in many sections of the state. He added that some of the trap installations had to be watched day and night to prevent theft of the fish and destruction of equipment.

If you can't hear a pin drop, chances are there is something very wrong with your bowling — The Journal, Lansing, Illinois.

1962 Highway Dept. Map Offers New Look

Minnesota's official highway map, which will be available for distribution by February 15, has had a complete face-lifting.

Although at least 150 technical changes are made in the map each year, the 1962 edition features many large-scale revisions in design and appearance.

Following are the major changes:

All trunk highways are shown in black. Formerly, U. S. designated routes were in red.

The Interstate System is more prominently marked by a pair of red lines, with completed sections and sections under construction set apart by an olive green center.

Secondary roads are easier to follow because they are now shown in a bold, gray tint.

County lines are bolder for easy definition.

Population of cities can be more easily determined by new symbols which are keyed to the legend.

Railroad lines, formerly shown on a limited number of prints, are now shown on all copies, and denoted by cross-hatched black lines.

A directory of state parks, placed at the top of the map, shows location and facilities available.

All trunk highway and Interstate interchanges are shown with an indication of points of access.

Hours of operation are listed for Canadian ports of entry.

The greatest improvements in the map are the insets for large cities. The corporate limits have been emphasized by showing the whole city in a solid yellow block. Minor streets have been removed to eliminate clutter and to accentuate through streets and highways.

In addition to being available daily at the Highway Building in St. Paul, maps may also be received from the State Tourist Bureau, chambers of commerce, all state highway district offices, or by direct mail. Several thousand are also given out each year at the State Fair.

Printed on the mailing side of the map is this important message. "This map is not to be used for promotional, commercial or political purposes, and is furnished free of charge by the Minnesota Department of Highways for travel information only."

The Times gets into homes you want to reach with your advertising. These papers are invited guests and are thoroughly read.

EAA Applies for Federal Approval On Flight Area

Experimental Aircraft Group Plans To Use Area Northwest of T. R. Falls

An application was filed late last week with the Federal Aviation Agency, by two members of Thief River Falls' area chapter No. 121, Experimental Aircraft Ass'n., for a flight test area north and west of Thief River Falls. The area would be available to anyone conducting flight tests in the immediate area and is not restricted against other aircraft.

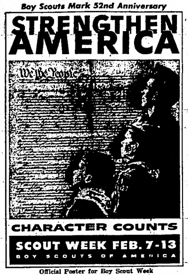
The flight test area would run roughly from the municipal airport to Middle River, westward to near Stephen, south along the west side of highway 75 to within approximately four miles of Angus, thence eastward to the Y in highway 1 and from there southeast to the Thief River Falls airport.

That part of the test area from south of highway 1 to the airport and westward to the Y would serve as a flight corridor to the test area proper, which lies mostly north of highway 1. It permits access to the local airport by Dale Stark, one of the two local amateur aircraft builders who will use the flight test area in the near future. Stark will operate mainly from his farm airstrip but will also use the municipal airport for fuel and other services. The plane built by V. M. Draper will use the Thief River Falls airport as base of operation when completed.

All amateur-built aircraft must be flown in such a test area for the first 50 hours of flight, after which restrictions may be lifted and they may be used practically the same as any factory-built plane but not for hire. The immediate area surrounding the municipal airport would also be open to use by amateur-built planes in the normal traffic pattern for takeoffs and landings. The Warren airport will not be used.

Routine flight testing of aircraft will probably not be noticed by residents within the area and planes will not fly over any city or town inside its borders. Altitudes will range from surface elevation to 12,000 feet above sea level. Approval of such a flight test area takes some time and all airmen are notified of the area in the EAA's monthly publication, "Notices to Airmen." Duration would be for one year only.

Boy Scouts Mark 52nd Anniversary



Official Poster for Boy Scout Week

Under its current program of national purpose, "Strengthen America . . . Character Counts," the nation's 5,235,000 Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, Explorers and adult leaders observe the 52nd anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America during Boy Scout Week, Feb. 7 to 13. Through its new program the movement seeks to "Build a Strong America, Serve the Cause of Democracy, and Achieve the Purposes of Scouting." The observance will dramatize how Scouting contributes to better family life. Typical Scout families will be honored.

Wild Game Dinner Slated by 40 et 8

Annual Event Scheduled at Legion Club Feb. 24

Area Legionnaires and auxiliary members are invited to attend the annual wild game dinner to be staged Saturday, February 24, at 7 p. m. in the Legion club rooms in Thief River Falls, John Elsbrener, chef de gare of the local 40 et 8 voiture, sponsoring organization, announced today.

The menu will include venison, bear, antelope, moose, duck, pheasant, grouse and smoked turkey, together with all the trimmings. A fee of $1.50 per person or $2.50 per couple will be charged.

Prizes will be awarded, and a blue chapeau dance will close the evening's activities.

To Offer Tribute to School Safety Patrols Feb. 17-24

Special Week to Honor Groups Is Designated by Gov. Elmer L. Andersen

Governor Elmer L. Andersen will issue a proclamation this week, setting aside the week of February 17-24 as "School Safety Patrol Week" in commemoration of the dedicated service of the school safety patrol program, according to George Kaisersaft, state safety chairman of the American Legion.

The week also will commemorate the 41st anniversary of the state school patrol organization.

In proclaiming the special week, Governor Andersen urged "all citizens to extend support to the School Safety Patrol Week by displaying recognition of the courageous and loyal services that are volunteered daily by safety patrol members, their associated sponsors and supervisors.

"We, as individuals or as members of organizations, should make an effort to find some way this week to show our gratitude for the protection these youngsters offer their student comrades," Governor Andersen said. "Whether we do so directly or indirectly, our recognition of this community project is well-deserved and will be received appreciatively."

Special programs are expected to be sponsored by Legion posts, schools and various other community organizations throughout the week in recognition of the more than 30,000 patrol members within the state.

Rep. Langen Gives Flag for Winter Shows Facilities

The dedication ceremony for the new Winter Shows facilities at Crookston Wednesday, February 14 will be enhanced by the large United States flag recently presented to the Winter Shows board of managers by Congressman Odin Langen. The large flag is one that has flown over the capitol building in Washington, D. C. The dedication ceremonies are set for 7:30, and the public is invited to attend this historic event.

Unit for Retarded Seeking Members

Asks Support of Persons Interested in Problem

February is membership month for the Associations for Retarded Children throughout Minnesota which are joining together in statewide campaigns to increase their memberships, of reaching out to as many people as possible to enlist them in a common cause—help for retarded children and adults.

The membership drive is not a fund-raising campaign, explains Mrs. Richard Mosbeck, president of the Pennington-Red Lake Association for Retarded Children. The association's annual campaign for funds was held in October, as part of the United Fund Drive.

Membership in the association is open to anyone interested in helping Minnesota's more than 100,000 retarded children and adults, including professional workers, friends, relatives, and, above all, parents of retarded children.

Anyone interested in joining the association or wanting more information may contact Mrs. Morris Odegaard, secretary, Thief River Falls.

Editorials . . .

"Collective bargaining, we have learned, can exist only in the environment of political freedom. Where there is no individual liberty, there is no free trade union movement either. Every dictator, from left to right, as a first step in the consolidation of power has sought to destroy free trade unions. And so we are dedicated to freedom, not only political but economic, through a system of private enterprise. We believe in the American profit system. We believe in free competition. The American private-enterprise system, despite some defects, has achieved far greater results for wage earners than any other social system in history."

—George Meany

—And Keep Trying

The Geneva atomic test-ban conference has ended, as was to be expected, without results. After 353 negotiating sessions extending over a period of 39 months, the conference ran into the usual stalemate. The result is not surprising. No doubt things worked out much as the Soviets had planned they would.

Getting along with the Russians seems hopeless, and yet we have to keep on trying. Maybe out of the next generation there will come a different type of leadership. Being farther removed from the bitterness of revolution and war, they may come closer to being normal in their dealings with other nations. Khrushchev's son-in-law appears to have some possibilities.

But all we can do is wait and hope—and keep trying.

More of the Same

Cotton has been mentioned as an example of what government control can do for a crop. Cotton growers are paid a high price for their crop because of government subsidies. It is sold on the world market at competitive prices because our government pays another subsidy to foreigners to buy the surpluses stored in government warehouses.

American cotton manufacturers are compelled to pay the support prices established by the government. U. S. textile manufacturers are not permitted to buy cotton on the world markets to compete with foreign mills.

This sort of thing is what the Kennedy farm plan proposes to give us more of. The more government we get the more messed up our economy becomes.

New Farm Program

President Kennedy's proposed farm program is going to be a hot political issue and Congress should move slowly in adopting a plan that would have such a far-reaching effect on our agricultural economy. The Kennedy plan would extend the allotment system, that has been used to control tobacco production, to other crops, and, in dictatorial fashion, the President has said it must be this or nothing at all.

The allotment plan was fine for the big tobacco grower but it was of no value for the small operator. The grower who was given a large acreage allotment acquired a vested right to produce the crop and sell it in a protected market at the expense of those farmers whose operations were limited to the production of crops that were less profitable.

There is an interesting debate now under way among the growers of potatoes who are confronted with this problem. The Packer, a newspaper that is recognized as a leading publication for the national fresh fruit and vegetable industry, has invited potato growers to express their opinions on the acreage allotment proposal, and a good argument is already under way.

The letters generally indicate that the large growers favor the plan, growers who have had large acreage in production and who therefore would be given a large allotment base. The smaller growers favor marketing controls by the industry itself. Here are some interesting excerpts from these letters:

> "To The Packer: As one of the large potato growers, I feel there must be government controls, with acreage allotments, and farmers made to comply as with wheat, to curb potato production. Not enough farmers will comply voluntarily to cut production effectively.
> Also, there should be an organization to promote potato sales and push the use of potatoes as one of our best foods.
> Richard Gumz
> North Judson, Indiana

> To The Packer: As the New Jersey editor of the American Agriculturist for the past 30 years, I find in talking with growers in all parts of our state, that the majority believe acreage reduction on a voluntary basis is the only solution to the problem of overproduction. I have learned that most growers would be willing to reduce planting by 10 per cent.
> It is very doubtful if New Jersey would be inclined to go along with mandatory reductions. It views the proposed potato plan as not being any more satisfactory than other marketing programs.
> If all growers who plant over five to ten acres would reduce plantings by 10 per cent it is believed that production can be brought in line with demand and prices would be stabilized at a reasonable level.
> Amos Kirby
> N. J. Editor
> American Agriculturist
> Mullica Hill, N. J.

> To The Packer: I've been a grower for the last 25 years and started growing four acres and today possibly 100 acres. If we have government controls I can just as well quit and encourage more to sit back and do the same. Then we'll go to the Welfare Board and let the big growers give us a living. That seems to be what some of our politicians want!
> Come on, Potato Growers, let's STOP, LOOK and THINK, not listen to what the promises are but THINK of what the losses may be. My feelings are the losses will be disastrous.
> C. Mullenburg
> Hollandale, Minn.

Fortunately it is not likely that the new programs can be made effective for the 1962 growing season which means that the growers themselves will have a chance to cut production voluntarily. A drastic program that would be certain to create hardship, as well as accomplish some good, should not be adopted as the result of one year's bad experience. For many years the potato growers, and the turkey growers, have managed to get along, taking the bad years with the good.

Regimentation in any form should be looked upon with suspicion.

Another Success ?

We may assume that President Kennedy's pulling of the "stockpile" plum out of the pie last week was well timed. The President is an astute politician and he does not resort to sensationalism carelessly.

Just what might be disclosed, he did not reveal. He was a member of the Democratic Congress that authorized the stockpiling and of course has been aware of the billions of dollars that have been spent since that time for stockpiling purposes.

But a look-see into this matter is certainly justified and we share the hopes of Senator Byrd that Congress will direct the President to sell enough of the stockpile to balance the budget and make it unnecessary to increase the debt limit.

But getting back to the timing of the President's "off-the-cuff" remarks, we suspect that this was what is known in the trade as a diversionary attack. Things were not going well for the administration down in Uruguay, where Secretary of State Dean Rusk was having difficulty in getting the Organization of American States to agree upon even a comparatively mild rebuke of Castro. What he got was far less than what he had asked for and, if we may judge by the reports from the friendly foreign press, the venture will have to be written down as another blunder.

Charles Lynch of the Southam News Service, reporting from Ottawa, stated:

> "The view here is that there was no decision of any substance taken at the Punta Del Este conference. The U. S., unable to get the strong action it wanted against Cuba, finally accepted a face-lifting resolution that was meaningless.
> "It is felt here that the attitudes of Mexico, Brazil, Argentina and Chile, four of the nations opposing the strong line urged by Washington, are very close to the feelings of the Canadian government on the Cuban matter."

In another Southam News Services report from Ottawa it was stated:

> "This week's fiasco within the Organization of American States over Cuba has ended any chance of Canada accepting OAS membership in the near future, it was learned here today."

The Economist of London, leading British financial publication, suggested that as a result of the failure at Punta Del Este, "Kennedy's Alliance for Progress may be in jeopardy."

The President's sudden recollection of a stockpile problem did divert the nations attention from the bad reports from Uruguay.

More Reading of Books

(Spring Valley, N. Y., Leader)

While Fathers and mothers everywhere demand more education for their children, they're reading like-mad themselves to keep up with the world.

Book sales are double 1952's figures in dollars, in spite of competition from all kinds of recreation and other entertainment. What we like to hear is that 49 per cent of the people would feel quite lost without the newspaper, while only 28 per cent would feel that way if the TV broke down. According to the survey that developed these figures, said to be the most comprehensive of its kind ever made, we're doing better than we thought.

The new size Dodge Dart has the most powerful standard six engine in the business. It develops 145 horsepower from 225 cubic inches. It takes a V8 in other cars priced near Dart to keep up with it. Even then most of them can't. Dead weight and useless overhang have been all but eliminated in the '62 Dart. What results is an astonishing power-to-weight ratio that makes a Dart-6 act like an eight. And remember, this is the same six that got better than 23 miles to the gallon in last year's Mobilgas Economy Run. Frankly, we don't think anybody but a pro can get this kind of mileage. But it does give you an idea of the engine's potential. Repeated tests in the new size Dart prove that it will deliver at least 5% better gas economy than last year. See your Dodge Dealer now and drive the new size Dodge Dart. There's no better value on the market today.
